Eggs—Unsettled; receipts, 24,294. States, Pennsylvania and nearby henmery, white, fancy, 35c to 40c; do., henmery, brown and mixed fancy, 29c to 30c; do., gathered brown, fair to prime, 27½c to 28½c; western, first, 27c to 27½c; seconds, 26c to 26½c; refrigerators, 23c to 25½c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Firm—Further Advances in Hogs at Buffalo.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—Liverpool and London cables quote live cattle (American), firm, at 12¾c to 13¾c, dressed weight; refrigerator beef, firm, at 9½c to 10c per pound.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Feb. 24.—The railways reported 110 carloads as the receipts of live stock at the City Market for Wednesday and Thursday, consisting of 1680 cattle, 1805 hogs, 375 sheep and lambs, 178 calves and 4 horses.

Exporters.

We did not hear of any cattle being bought for export, but there were some of export weights sold for butcher purposes at as high as $6.35 per cwt. Export bulls sold at $4.75 to $5.40, and one extra quality bull was sold by McDonald & Halligan at $5.60.

Butchers.

Geo. Rowntree bought 580 cattle for the Harris Abattoir Co.: Butchers steers and heifers at $5.10 to $5.75, and a few prime cattle, 1200 to 1400 lbs. each, at $5.75 to $6.35; cows, $3.60 to $4.85; bulls, $4.25 to $5.10 per cwt.

Stockers and Feeders.

Harry Murby reports very little doing in these classes. Mr. Murby bought about 80 cattle, mixed butchers and stockers, at prices ranging from $3.50 to $4.75 for cattle weighing 700 to 800 lbs. each.

Milkers and Springers.

Deliveries of milkers and springers were large, the demand good and prices firm, at $35 to $60, a few good cows sold for a little more, and two extra Holstein springers brought $80 each. See the many sales quoted below.

Veal Calves.

Upwards of 200 calves sold at $4 to $4.75 per cwt., with a very few choice quality new milk fed veals at $5 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

The demand for sheep and lambs is becoming more or less limited on account of the high prices, people refusing to buy. Good quality lambs sold from $7.25 to $8 per cwt.; common lambs, at $6 to $7 per cwt. Sheep, ewes, sold at $4.25 to $5.50; rams and culls at $3.50 to $4.25 per cwt.

Hogs.

The feature of the live stock market is the continued upward tendency of prices for hogs. Since our last report of the hog prices, in Wednesday's issue, prices have again advanced another 15c per cwt. Selects fed and watered at the market sold readily at $9.00, and $8.85 f.o.b. cars at country points. Altho there were 1800 hogs reported there were not enough to supply the demand. It looks like $9 hogs next week if receipts do not increase.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

Veals—Receipts, 75 head; active and 50c higher, $6 to $11.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 900 head; active and 10c to 15c higher; heavy and mixed, $10 to $10.05; yorkers, $9.75 to $10; pigs, $9.70 to $9.75; roughs, $9.30 to $9.40; dairies, $8.75 to $9.90.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 2800 head; active and 25c to 35c higher; lambs, $6.25 to $9.50; yearlings, $8.50 to $8.90; wethers, $7.50 to $7.75; ewes, $6.75 to $7; sheep, mixed, $6.50 to $7.

New York Live Stock.

Veals, $8 to $11; culls, $6; yearlings and barnyard calves, $3.75 to $5; city dressed veals, 11c to 15c; country dressed veals, 9c to 14½c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 2516; market quiet, but steady; ordinary to fair lambs, at $8 to $8.62½.

Hogs—Receipts, 3208; feeling, firm; state hogs, sold at $9.90.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—Cattle—Receipts, 11,000; market, steady; steers, $5 to $8.10; cows, $4 to $5.75; heifers, $4 to $6; bulls, $4.50 to $5.50; calves, $3 to $10; stockers and feeders, $4.25 to $5.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 22,000; market steady; choice heavy, $9.60 to $9.65; butchers, $9.40 to $9.65; light mixed, $9.35 to $9.50; choice light, $9.45 to $9.55; packing, $9.25 to $9.35; pigs, $9 to $9.25; bulk of sales, $9.30 to $9.60.

To Boycott Chinese Labor.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 25.—The special despatches from San Francisco, mentioned as having been received in Tokio, are believed to have been inspired by a resolution adopted by the Labor Council advising all unions "not to unionize or permit their members to work in houses where oriental labor is employed."

The adoption of the resolution followed a discussion on a proposal to boycott saloons where Chinese and Japanese help is employed.

SPORTING NEWS

GEORGE STREET TEAM SPRUNG A SURPRISE ON THE LEADERS

Defeated St. Andrew's Team Last Night by 6 Goals to 5 and Have a Chance to Sew Up the League

HARD FOUGHT GAME

A big surprise was pulled off in the Church Hockey League last night, when the George Street team walloped St. Andrew's, last year's champions and leaders this year, by six goals to five, in a warmly contested game.

The Presbyterians were ahead at half-time and with only a few minutes to play in the last half were out in front by 5 to 4, but George Street finished on the bit and Curtis and Parnell scored in quick succession, giving a well-earned victory to the Methodists. The result makes a tie up in the league likely, provided George Street can turn the trick again and win the play-off of the tie game between the two clubs earlier in the season.

Last night's game was interesting all the way, although the close checking made spectacular hockey out of the question. The pace was terrific and the play, at times, was not the cleanest possible variety, slashing and heavy body-checking being noticeable factors in the play. St. Andrew's outscored the Methodists in the first half by four to two, but the winners had much the better of the second period, disturbing the twine four times, while the Saints added only one tally.

St. Andrew's — Goal, Patterson; point, Stanton; cover, Clarke; rover, Currie; centre, Rae; right wing, Leitch; left wing, Sills.

Some Early Gossip In Ball World

"Far be it from criticism of that eminent marshal, Joseph Kelley, of Toronto, but just at present he doesn't seem to have much class to his infield. Diehl will play first, the fastest company he has ever moved in; Mullen looks like the second sacker, with Frick and Vaughan on the other side of the diamond. A fair fielding bunch but outside of perhaps Diehl, not a hitter in the bunch. However, Joe has the swatters in the other works, with Delehanty, Grimshaw, and his own highness, and probably will have that infield, looking better when the bell rings."

There is no Diehl on the Toronto team. The first baseman wil be Jack Deal, one of the fastest men on his feet playing the bag and a .300 hitter. Jimmy Mullen is not going to play second, but Fitzpatrick, a speedy youngster, whose record last year was better than any other second baseman in the country, not barring Johnny Evers, Eddie Collins and all the celebrities. Frick and Vaughan won't be regulars on the other side of the diamond. Eddie McDonald will play third base, and when the new shortstop is secured the Buffalo critic will be surprised, so that the Toronto infield will have to be considered again by the Courier expert.

Any talk about Jersey City getting Bud Sharpe is all bunk. Newark has an agreement whereby if Bud comes back from Pittsburg before August he goes to Newark, And furthermore no matter who may play first for the Indians when the lanky one comes back, said first sacker will decamp. But—and it's a but, too—Bud won't come back for a while yet. He will go south with Pittsburg and fight it out with Flynn for Bill Abstein's job. By that time, if the Pirates wanted to send him back to Newark, waivers would have to again be asked for and J. J. McGraw, of New York, would never, never let him get out of the league. McGraw could use a poorer first sacker than Bud Sharpe.

It is said that George Simmons, whom Detroit lifted from Rochester, will probably be the regular Tiger first sacker. Simmons never showed any glaring first base ability in this league, and only medium class at third. He was a whale of a hitter, though, and should fill Rossman's shoes, anyhow.

Eddie Zimmerman, who held down the third sack for the Harrisburg Tri-State team last last year, was sold by that team to the Newark (Eastern League) club, sent his signed contract to Manager McGinnity of Newark. He will report at Danville, Va., about March 10th, for spring training.

It was learned that the board of directors, in determining that it had jurisdiction in the case of William Murray, former manager of the Philadelphia National League Club, who claims $15,000 salary on an unexpired contract, stood as follows: Favouring Murray — Herrmann, Dreyfuss, and Murphy. Against Murray — Brush, Neutral—Ebbets.

Ed Barrow is trying hard to get Mike O'Neill off his hands via the trade route. However, a lot of managers in this league have a hunch that Mike was responsible for a whole lot of Jimmy Casey's troubles at Montreal, particularly last year. Therefore nobody seems to be in a frenzy of eagerness for the services of Mr. O'Neill.

Now that Chicago has let Atz go to to Providence, it looks as though Jimmy Collins' infield problem is solved. Jakey will fit in grandly at short, making the team look like this: First case, Arndt; second base, Ritchey; shortstop, Atz; third, Collins; catchers, Peterson, and Fitzgerald; outfield, Moran, Welday, Hoffman, and Long, John Anderson; pitchers, Lafitte, Barry, Hardy, Cronin, and probably two to get as Lafitte and Cronin are the only heavers of winning Eastern League class.

Skin Diseases.

Under this name such troubles as Salt Rheum, Eczema, Erysipelas, Tetter, Shingles, Psoriasis, Scurf, Itching Rashes, Eruptions, Boils, Pimples, etc., are included. Skin diseases, as a rule, are not dangerous, but are unsightly, irritating and often terribly annoying to the sufferer; they depend mainly on bad blood, from one cause or another, for if the blood is pure and the circulation good no skin disease can exist, except it arise from lack of proper cleanliness or from contagion.

To get rid of skin diseases it is necessary to observe strictly all the laws of health; maintain regular action of the bowels; avoid high living, eating only plain nourishing food. Cleanse and keep the blood pure by taking Burdock Blood Bitters, which unlocks all the secretions, and makes new rich blood by acting on the entire system.

Had Salt Rheum Six Years.

Mrs. E. M. Myers, East Jeddore, N.S., writes:—"I don't think there is anyone in this Dominion can recommend Burdock Blood Bitters more than I can. I suffered terribly with Salt Rheum for six years, and did everything for it without relief. For curiosity sake I bought six bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters, and it completely cured me. I would advise others to use it."

KEELER HAS HIT .300 FOR 14 YEARS

Willie Keeler, released outright by the New York Americans, has had a long and honourable career in the major leagues. His first game in fast company was played on the Polo grounds as a member of the New York Nationals on September 30, 1892. In 1893 the Giants let Keeler go to Brooklyn, from which club Ned Hanlon got him that fall for the Baltimores, the swap pulled off by "Foxy Ned" being Treadway and Shindle for Keeler and Brouthers.

Billy helped the Orioles win three pennants, twice leading in the National League in hitting, while a member of the Monumental City's team. He rejoined the Superbas in 1899, when the Baltimore and Brooklyn clubs were consolidated. Keeler stayed in Brooklyn until 1908, when he jumped to the American League and joined the Highlanders.

The great hitsmith has played 2,099 championship games in the big leagues, has scored 1,714 runs, and has made 2,948 base hits. His grand batting average from 1892 to 1909, inclusive is .346. Billy's highest awat credit was .432, made with the Orioles in 1897. Ten years later, with the Highlanders, he bingled for .234. For fourteen consecutive seasons Keeler was a member of the Society of the Three Hundred.

RENFREW AND THE WANDERERS TO-NIGHT

Ottawa, Feb. 25.—The Renfrew and Wanderer teams clash at the Creamery town to-night, in one of the most important games of the National Hockey Association. Both the Wanderers and Renfrew clubs now have a chance against Ottawa, but the loser of to-night's game will be practically out of the running.

Russell Bowie and Duncan Campbell will be the officials, and every seat in the Renfrew rink has been sold, interest being at a fever heat, with Renfrew 3 to 2 favourites in the betting. The Renfrew players returned this morning from Cobalt and Haileybury, and are backing themselves to win the Stanley Cup. There will be no change in either team.

BERLIN AFTER THE STANLEY CUP

Berlin, Ont., Feb. 24.—Last evening's victory at Waterloo by the Flying Dutchmen gives them a grip on the Ontario Pro. League championship that no other team can oust them from. As a result of the commanding position, a challenge for the Stanley Cup was sent to Ottawa. The Berliners would have the games pulled off as soon as possible after the close of the Ontario League's season, and feel confident that they can make a better showing than any of the challengers so far this season.

The King's Daughters will hold a Sale of Home-made Cakes, etc., in W. H. Hamilton's Store, Simcoe Street, on Saturday, February 26th. 3d42

GARRISON BOWLING

A meeting of the Privates of the garrison was held in the armouries Wednesday evening, and a bowling league was formed. Teams of three men, all the men to be from the same company or unit, may be entered. Games will be played every Monday and Thursday evenings. All teams wishing to enter are requested to leave the name of their team captain with Lieut. J. D. Clarke (Examiner office) at once, in order that the league may be got under way. The first games will be played on Monday evening next, Feb. 28th.

CONCERT LAST NIGHT WAS A MOST GRATIFYING SUCCESS

The concert under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Mission Circle of Charlotte Street Methodist Church in the Sunday School room last night was a most gratifying success from the standpoint of a large attendance and a most artistic programme. Every number was heartily received, with the result that the programme was practically doubled in response to the applause.

Miss Jessie Alexander, the popular elocutionist, who is ever a favourite with Peterborough audiences, was in rare form, and her numbers were received with every mark of approval.

Miss Kathleen Wallis was heard to great advantage in her violin solos, while the vocal numbers of Miss Pringle and Mr. Lee were delightful additions to the programme which was opened by a skilful duet by Misses Clarry and Campbell.

The young ladies of the Mission Circle are to be congratulated upon the success of their efforts.

The complete programme was as follows:

The Mills Of Justice Grind Slowly In Henderson's Case

Robert Henderson was informed this morning that the charge, which has been preferred against him has been changed from assault to the serious indictment of murder. "That you did kill and murder Margaret McPherson" isthe wording of the new charge. He will receive a preliminary hearing next Thursday in Norwood. This is chiefly to await the issue of the inquest which will be continued on Monday afternoon next. Mr. Wood suggested that he be tried immediately after the inquest, but there were a number of circumstances, which interposed and this arrangement was given up. Mr. Kerr is defending the prisoner and contrary to the statement of an evening sheet not so very far away there are no influential relatives to assist the prisoner in his defence, in fact his financial condition is quite the reverse. Mr. Kerr asked that the press and others be prevented from seeing the prisoner, the clergy alone being excepted. Henderson will not be taken to Norwood on Monday afternoon to testify at the Coroner's inquest. He was not asked to plead or elect this morning.

OTONABEE COUNCIL

Considerable Business Transacted at Last Regular Meeting.

The Otonabee Council met on Feb. 21st, when the following business was transacted:

The following by-laws were passed: Closing up the old road through lot 12, con. 11, and opening one in lieu of it across the same lot to the Campbleton wharf, one to confine certain payments made to the treasurer, one appointing D. H. Moore sanitary inspector.

The auditor's report was presented, showing the total receipts for 1909, including a balance from 1908 of $1,916.39, to be $23,823.86. Total payments for 1909 $20,629.61, leaving a balance to 1910 account of $2,194.25.

On motion the report was received and adopted and 150 copies to be printed for distribution.

Owing to the large increase in the work in connection of the clerk and treasurer's office, he asked for an increase of salary. An increase of $15 was granted. The following accounts were passed: John Shaughnessy $13.75 for 56 rods of wire fence and W. J. Tully $5.00 for 20 rods. These accounts were approved in 1909. Previous to the motion to discontinue pay ing for wire fences and road allowances, Percy Elmhirst $3.75 for lost time, when the overseer wasn't present to go on with the work and he (Elmhirst) hadn't been notified, John Carter, care of water tank $1.50, J. LIVELY RUNAWAY

Considerable excitement was occasioned on Water St. when a horse driven by Mr. George Schneider took fright at something in front of the police station and became unmanageable. Mr. Schneider and his son who was with him, were thrown out of the cutter, but escaped unhurt. The horse twisted his hind feet, but otherwise was uninjured.

PURIFIED HIS BLOOD
Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Healed Mr. Wilson's Sores

When the sewers of the body—bowels, kidneys and skin ducts—get clogged up, the blood quickly becomes impure and frequently sores break out over the body. The way to heal them, as Mr. Richard Wilson, who lives near London, Ont., found, is to purify the blood. He writes:

"For some time I had been in a low, depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicine for the blood and used many kinds of ointments, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood, and I looked about in vain for some medicine that would accomplish this.

At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were brought to my notice, and they are one of the most wonderful medicines I have ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, sores healed up, my indigestion vanished. They always have a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cleanse the system thoroughly. Sold by all dealers at 25c a box. 6

CARNIVAL TO-NIGHT

Event at the Brock Street Rink Promises to Attract.

There is a great sheet of ice ready for to-night's big carnival at Brock St. rink and the indications are that a large crowd will be on hand for the event. The attractive prices have heightened the interest that is always taken in a masquerade event here and there will be an unusually large number in costume. The skating race will be a feature as the field includes all the well known speed merchants of the city. Mr. Edge Hartley will give an exhibition of fancy skating and there will be other attractions. It will be the last event of its kind of the season.

PROCESS OF MANUFACTURE OF THE INCANDESCENT LAMP

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 26.—The ordinary incandescent lamp is a very simple device, yet the manufacture of the lamp itself is a very complicated and laborious process, calling for the very best of engineers, inventors, and skilled labour. Each lamp in the making passes through twenty-five different departments and through nearly one hundred hands before it is ready for shipment.

The glass bulb, when received from the glass factory, looks very much like the completed lamp, except in place of the brass screw there is a glass tube about three inches long. Four foot lengths of glass tubing, in two sizes of diameter, seven sixteenths and seven thirty-seconds of an inch; fine copper wire, with platinum ends; fine steel wire, filament of carbonized celluloid, a paste of secret composition and the brass screw ends or bases are the other materials used in making up the lamp.

The young women sitting at tables, on which is a small, common file embedded in wood, draw the glass tubes across the file, causing them to break in even lengths of an inch and a quarter. The larger sized tubes go to form the stems.

A machine that is operated by two young women, but works partly automatically, moulds the stem to proper shape and embeds in it the two pieces of copper wire with platinum ends and the thin bit of steel with wonderful detail of operation. On a steel disk are mounted six swivel arrangements at equal distances apart.

Forming of Bulb.

At the third station crossed jets of heat from the blowpipes heat it to pliability and a small reamer automatically presses the end into flange form.

At the fourth station the girl on the opposite side of the disk places in the tube the two small copper wires. At the fifth station the bottom of the tube is given preparatory heat. At the sixth station, which is the most remarkable piece of automatic work, intense heat is blown on it, a clamp presses it into shape, sealing in the copper wires, and the small steel wire is forced up into it, also becoming embedded in the solid glass. They are then placed in wooden trays and allowed to cool. Each stem is carefully inspected before it goes along to form part of the lamp. The carbonized celluloid filaments, those hairlike loops that emit light in the incandescent lamps as we see them, are doubled end to end, two filaments making four ends, which are placed in the slots of a small machine which clamps them and holds them perfectly steady, while the young woman places the two platinum ends of the copper wires of the stems against them and drops a bit of clamp paste on them.

The paste is a secret composition, composed mostly of phosphorus. There are also six clamps on this machine, and when one has passed around the disk, the paste is set and the filaments held firmly intact with the platinum ends of the stem.

After a special operator has shaped the filaments so they will hold the middle of the bulbs when placed in them, they are inverted on spindles or trays holding 100 each. They are then taken to brick ovens, of which a section of the bottom lowers and raises with a hand lever. A tray is placed in an elevator and firmly set up into an interior chamber of cast iron that is air tight and about which gas torches create an intense heat, baking out the slightest moisture left in the clamp paste.

And now it is necessary to return to the tube cutting department and follow the smaller tubes. The ends of these are first glazed by turning on them a gas blast of intense heat. Then they are dipped in a solution which is necessary to obtain an absolute vacuum in the bulb, explained later.

Reaming of Base.

And now the bulb comes into the process. It is just as it was unwrapped in the receiving room, perfectly round at the top as originally blown at the glass works and with its long tubular neck. The top of the globe is connected to compressed air and placed over a thin jet of white heat from a blow pipe and a very small hole is quickly melted in it. It goes still hot to another machine, where the small tube is placed against it and melted into it, leaving a small hole. Now the bulb has its long neck and a tube at its top also.

Now the stem with the mounted filament and the bulb meet at a machine. The bulb is suspended over cross jets of heat from blowpipes which quickly melt off the long neck close to the shoulders of the bulb. The melted glass runs together and closes the opening, but instantly a long arm of pipe with a rubber socket closes down on the opening of the other end, and a puff of compressed air blows out the film of glass that covers it. And now the bulb is placed on a revolving machine that has several stations.

The base of the bulb is again heated to pliability and reamed to the same size as the reamed end of the stem. The reamed end of each is then heated to the melting point, the filament being placed inside the bulb and the two reamed together so that they join or literally run together. And so perfectly is it done that one cannot afterward discern the joining point of stem and bulb.

And now the lamp is ready for the air to be exhausted, which is the most interesting feature of lamp making. It is necessary that there be a perfect vacuum in the lamp to secure a bright light and long commercial life of the lamp. A small quantity of oxygen even will cause it to be quite purple and of no practical use. And here is demonstrated the purpose of placing the small tube in the top of the bulb.

This tube is placed in a suction nipple on which is a suction force of thirteen pounds to the square inch from an air pump. It removes nearly all the air, but does not form an absolute vacuum. Then a smaller individual pump is placed on the same nipple. This removes all but the least bit of hydrogen. And now comes the explanation of dipping the small tubes in a solution which is mostly phosphorus. Heat applied with a blow pipe to the tube evaporates this solution, which clings to the inside of the tube, and the evaporation mingles with the hydrogen and neutralizes it so that the perfect vacuum is formed. Then this tube is melted off and the hole is sealed by its melting leaving the little sharp point on the top of an incandescent lamp.

Given Final Test.

And here is a most peculiar bit of knowledge. The lamp was taken into a dark room, where a single lamp is attached to a high potential induction coil, giving about 1,800 volts. The tester places one hand on this lamp, and holding the lamp to be tested in the other hand, places it against the other hole of the induction coil. If a purple light appears in the lamp tested it is not a perfect vacuum.

If a flash of light appears at all it is not entirely perfect but marketable. An absolute vacuum will not show the least flicker of light. The electricity passing from the induction coil through the human body and back to the coil tells the tale. Placing a small felt disk in the small opening left in the bottom of a lamp serves two purposes. It fills the hole and holds the two copper wires apart, preventing short circuit.

Photometering means testing the lamps as to their candle power and voltage. And here is another unique and interesting scientific demonstration. A photometer is a long box in which are set two small mirrors at right angles, the angle thus formed being directly opposite a square opening covered by a hood so that the face of the tester being pressed in it darkens the box. An object is placed so that it causes the same sized reflection in each mirror. Now, a pilot lamp, or rather one of standard brightness, is placed in one end of the box and the light from each meets at the mirrors.

Then the voltage of the pilot lamp is changed, increased or diminished, until the spots on each mirror are exactly alike in the distinctness of their reflection, at which time the exact voltage, candle power and efficiency of the lamp under test will be registered on a volt and ampere meter. The lamp tested is then removed and its candle power marked on its base.

Leaving the photometer, the lamps are sorted as to candle power and placed in racks. Then they go to the basing department, where the brass screw ends are filled with a thick paste and solidifies the combination. The small protruding ends of copper wire are then cut off and soldered to obtain absolute solidity. They are then washed in hot water and labelled as to their voltage.

THE HEARTS OF YESTERDAY.

A Short Story.

"Soft o'er the fountain lingering falls the southern moon, while o'er the mountain——" The harp accompaniment ceased abruptly, and the sweet, clear voice of the singer trailed off into silence.

It was twilight and June and the summer wind that floated in through the open window seemed to breathe of the many seas it had travelled over. the restless amethyst waves it had gently rippled, the countless flowers it had caressed, the wonderful bird melody it had listened to, and the fragrance of the pines it had lightly passed through in its journey of the day—or at least so it seemed to the fanciful girl half lost in the shadows that filled the magnificent library.

It was the last night of her girlhood freedom; tomorrow was her wedding day. Just across the hall the gleaming satin and billowy lace of her bridal gown and veil were being carefully arranged for the morrow, but the echo of happy laughter and gay voices floating into the shadowy room fell unheeded on the ears of the girl who with wistful eyes watched the great white moon slowly rising beyond the church on the hill, whose gilded cross seemed to rest dreaming against the star-gemmed velvet of the evening sky.

She was not thinking of the morrow nor of the great house into which she was marrying; neither was she thinking of Paul Lydington, tall, dark, and grand, whose bride she was to be, but her thoughts were back in a tiny faraway town bordering on a crooning sapphire sea, and with a little boy and girl who dwelt there in the golden long ago.

Theirs had been a beautiful childhood; she could not remember when she didn't know Bobby Carlington. They had played together on the yellow sand in the days of mud pies and pinafores, digging caves and peopling them with ancient giants and fairies, gathering the delicate pink shells that were strewn on the shore and building them into tiny castles for the fairy queen, they said, and when the sun in all its golden splendour shone full upon the beautifully tinted shells they flashed back such wonderful shades of rose, pearl and opal that the children cried in delight that the fairies were dancing in their pink-shelled castles.

And when the days of babyhood were passed they were friends and companions still. Her every wish was law to him even in early schooldays. At her first party, because she had carelessly expressed a wish for violets, although still very early for their dainty little heads to appear above the frozen ground, Bobby had scoured the woods for the delicate flowers and had arrived late at the party with scratched, soiled hands, but his basket triumphantly filled with the beautiful purple bloom. Half unconsciously her hand strayed to the violets of her belt. They were the choicest blossoms of the Lyndington conservatory, but to her they could not be compared with the beautiful purple velvet violets to be found in the Cliffhurst woods.

And so their lives intertwined from babyhood bade fair to be joined for life, for their affection and allegiance to each other never wavered as the years flew by, and one night, in the rose garden of the Vernons, Robert Carlington slipped a magnificent diamond on the slender finger of the fair Helene.

But their happiness was short-lived, for the next day the bank of which Bobby Carlington's father was treasurer and the Vernons the largest depositors, closed its doors; unwise speculation had brought about its ruin. The shock killed Helene's father, already weakened by a long illness, and the Carlingtons left the village.

They pledged faith to each other on the moonlit shore where they had built pink-shelled castles for the fairies, and dug caves in the days of childhood, and the star-reflected waves breaking in on the shore in gentle ripples listened to their long, last farewell.

Many-paged letters passed between them at frequent intervals during the first months of their separation, but finally Helene found it necessary to leave Cliffhurst and accept a position as governess in the Brewster mansion in the far-away city, and with her departure from their old home the links in the chain of their friendship seemed to weaken. Bobby's letters grew short and irregular. He was not feeling well, he complained in one of them; the climate was not agreeing with him. Then they ceased altogether. Helene worried and fretted, but receiving no answer to her inquiries she, too, ceased writing, and their friendship became but a memory.

Meanwhile she accepted the routine of the Brewster household and quietly slipped into the position of leading the children along the rocky road of learning, and but for Mrs. Brewster's brother's kind attentions this would often have been a difficult task. The children were mortally afraid of their Uncle Philip when he chose to be angry and often their tricks would have tried the patience of the martyrs of old. Only Paul Lydington's presence in the schoolroom made teaching the Brewster children at all bearable.

The heartache of losing Bobby either by illness or death as she fondly believed, was becoming dulled as time went by, and when Paul Lydington asked her to be his wife the tired little governess consented, and only for the memory of the old days at Cliffhurst she would have given him all the love of her heart.

"Alone, Helene?" The girl started nervously as Philip Lydington stood in the doorway with a letter in his hand. "I will be back presently," he said gently as he handed her the letter. She appreciated his thoughtfulness in allowing her o read the letter uninterrupted.

One glance at the writing and she stifled the cry that rose to her lips. It was from Bobby Carlington. Mingled emotions of surprise, delight, indignation, anger and pride swept across her face as she read the letter. He had been ill for many weeks, he wrote—so ill that he knew nothing of what was going on around him, and but for the untiring devotion of a girl who lived nearby he would have died. To her he owed his life and she was now his bride. They were staying a few days at Cliffhurst and would like to have Helene run down and see them.

Helene finished the letter between a gasp and a laugh that had a touch of

THE SCORCHER.

Story of a Girl Ambitious to Run an Automobile.

By FRANK H. SWEET.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

This is an age in which women have not only progressed in making for themselves new fields of labor, but they have done a great deal in the way of manly sports. Our great-grandmothers when they were girls were content to ride at a slow pace on horseback on a pillion, holding on to a man. Now our girls ride straddle, taking fences and ditches by the way. Whether or no a girl has ever run a locomotive we don't know, though we do know that girls have not yet adopted that work as a profession. But, as the bicycle was a forerunner of the automobile, so may girl chauffeurs be preliminary to women locomotive engineers. At any rate, Miss Tyson placed herself in the line of promotion.

"You're crazy, man! The idea of Edith Tyson in an automobile by herself, much less scorching! It's preposterous!"

"I know it; but, unless my eyes deceive me, she is doing that very thing and scorching like mad too. You had scarcely left my auto and gone into the store when there was a sudden rush, a scurrying of people without regard to the order of their going, a yell and threat from a policeman, and then the thing was past and disappearing in the distance. Lucky the street was wide and comparatively clear. I've been fined in this very town for half that speed."

His companion looked at him skeptically.

"If you'd substitute the name of Kate Conway the tale might go," he said. "She is reckless enough to dare even this close town. But Edith Tyson! Why, I took her down to the races last week, and she wouldn't let me run the auto faster than a horse pace for fear I mightn't be able to control it and wouldn't even touch the lever herself. Edith's a nice girl, but I never figured her as being cut out for a scorcher. She's too bookish for one thing, and—well, too much of a lady for another. Her style seems out of place on a bicycle or driving an auto."

"SLOW DOWN," HE ADMONISHED. "IT'S AN AUTOMOBILE."

"Let's see," abruptly, "she's a sort of cousin, isn't she?"

"Sort of—third or fourth, I believe. But we've been more like brother and sister; live next door and that sort of thing, you know. But why do you ask?"

"Because I want you to take me to see her some afternoon," promptly. "I've met her only once informally at the Catsons', and that would scarcely entitle me to a call. And, to tell the truth candidly, I haven't thought of making one until today. Miss Tyson struck me as belonging to the pale, stately type which—excuse me—haven't much life or individuality about them—society ornaments and inanimates, one might call them. But the vision of her as she flashed by just now," his face brightening, "thoroughly undeceived me. I tell you, Clarkson, she was simply glorious—hair flying, face firm and kindling, eyes flashing and commanding the road—in fact, a veritable goddess who had the right of way and compelled its recognition."

Clarkson laughed.

"I don't recognize Edith by that description," he objected. "It was Miss Conway you saw. She fits into the 'goddess' and 'glorious' exactly. Now, I"—

"Oh, tut, tut, man! The two can't be mentioned in the same breath. I know Miss Conway. She is of the earth earthy, without a particle of the angelic quality which raises Miss Tyson above the rest of our common herd."

"Have your own way, Cone," resignedly. "You met her once informally, when she struck you as not having much individuality of her own, so you ought to know. But suppose we make a start. There's the golf at 2 o'clock, and we must get round and home to lunch before that. We'll have to do a little scorching on our own account after we leave town limits."

He stepped into the automobile, and Cone followed and grasped the lever. A moment later they were moving slowly along the street, watched from the opposite sidewalk by the baleful eyes of a policeman.

"That fellow's just aching for us to go a little above regulation speed," Clarkson observed, "but we can't afford the time to be hauled in just now. He's sore over Edith's passage through town. I wish I could warn her to make a wide detour of the place when she returns. To be arrested by a policeman would seem an overwhelming disgrace to her."

"We'll go and warn her, then," he said calmly. "I was a brute not to think of it at first. But, you see, I have grown to look upon arrests as merely incidental but necessary annoyances of a day's run. I was held up three times last week. Now," as the policeman on the sidewalk was being dropped behind, "we'll try a little scorch to make up for lost time."

"But how about the golf," asked Clarkson disgustedly, "and the lunch? I'm getting hungry already."

"It will be good for your welfare to fast a little, then," was the unfeeling answer. "You are becoming altogether too gluttonous, Clarkson. As for the golf, I had already given that up for the day. You may recollect that you promised to take me out to see Miss Tyson."

"But not this afternoon," in dismay.

"This afternoon is the accepted time. It might rain tomorrow, the next day or any of the days after. Never put off till tomorrow, Clarkson. That's procrastinating."

Clarkson grunted, then laughed.

"Funny," he said; "it seems to be a mutual case of the god and the goddess. Only yesterday I heard Edith speaking about you."

His companion turned quickly. "About me?" he asked eagerly. "What"—

"Oh, it was only in the abstract," indifferently. "She doesn't know you except as something she met informally at Catsons. But, like everybody else she has heard rumors of your foolhardy recklessness. She rather admired the way you rescued the child in front of your automobile, and I have heard her allude to that act on the river and to several other of your slight attacks of bravado. But, of course, a more personal knowledge of you will dispel the illusion. There, that's right," as Cone suddenly speeded his machine to a third greater velocity. "Now it's something like. We can probably keep this up to the next town if some tool cow doesn't get in the way."

They were beyond the town limits, with an almost straight road ahead. Little by little Cone increased their speed until they were going fully a mile a minute. From time to time Clarkson nodded his head approvingly.

Twenty minutes of this, then he suddenly leaned forward, shading his eyes from the rush of air which their speed created. A peculiar dark spot had appeared in the road ahead, rapidly resolving itself into something tangible. Ten seconds later he touched Cone's arm.

"Slow down," he admonished. "It's an automobile, and the chauffeur appears to be a woman. Of course it's Edith. I think the machine is standing still."

Thirty seconds later their automobile came to a stop beside the other, a closer view of which brought a low whistle from Clarkson. And, as he had surmised, the chauffeur was Edith.

As she saw and recognized them the corners of the chauffeur's mouth, which had been drooping, rose in perceptible relief.

"I was never so glad to see any one in all my life," she called fervently. "Here I've been sitting five whole minutes, wondering what in the world I should do next."

"And I've been wondering for a whole half hour what in the world started you out as a scorcher," retorted Clarkson dryly, "and, if my eyes are not at fault, I think I recognize the machine."

"Yes, it's yours," meekly; "but please don't scold. I've had an awful time. I went across to your house and was looking the automobile over when it started. You had left it out in the road, you know. I suppose I turned a lever or screw or pulled out a plug or something. Anyway, it went off like a race horse, and I didn't know how to stop it. I've often watched you steer, so I managed to keep it in the road. But I thought the journey never would end," plaintively. "I suppose the monster is run down. I—I hope it isn't broken."

"Of course it isn't," reassured Cone warmly, "automobiles often act that way. Clarkson and I can fix it all right in a few minutes. But you must feel awfully used up, Miss Tyson. Don't you think I'd better take you home at once?"

"Yes, indeed, if you don't mind," gratefully, "and it will be such a relief to find myself in an automobile with some one else responsible for whatever it runs into."

Cone laughed and, sprang to the ground, followed by Clarkson. It took but a few moments to assist the girl from her machine and into his own; then Cone stepped in beside her.

"You'll be able to fix the machine all right without me, Clarkson," he called. "Miss Tyson is in a hurry to get home." Then, over his shoulder as the automobile began to glide away: "If you get back in time for the golf don't wait for us. Miss Tyson may be too tired for a quick run. We will go round by the Lake Shore road. That will be pleasanter. And, say, you needn't bother about that afternoon call. I don't think it will be worth while now."

There were a honk and a clatter, and away the automobile sped, leaving a cloud of dust and a smell of burnt lamp wick behind.

The Blue Danube.

The Danube still retains its ancient splendors. The Rhine is the river of vine clad, sunny hills, ruined castles on rugged crags, mediaeval history and modern glory in war and in peace, a river bright as the warble of a bird in the wood. The Danube hills carry immense, almost untouched, forests, higher and grander than the heights of the Rhine. In the midst of this rich, deep green verdure lonely white mountains break in on the eye. There are many wayside chapels, too, on the banks. In solemn, awesome, majestic beauty the Danube far excels the cheery, pretty Rhine, and it must be called a pity that so few American travelers take a tour on this indescribably superb river.—Omaha Bee.

A Royal Vocalist.

The Maori Princess Piara Nene—direct descendant of the chiefs who ruled the Ngapuhi tribe long before New Zealand was discovered—possesses between a tenor and a bass. She has just made her debut in London, singing, "Come into the garden Maud" with great force. Her dress was one of the most gorgeous things ever seen on a concert platform, and is stated to be one of "the finest specimens of embroidery in existence."

A Talkative Mute.

"She is so garrulous!" said the first deaf mute, speaking of a friend who was similarly affected.

"Is that so?"

"Yes. Why, do you know, when no one is around for her to talk to she makes her right hand talk to her left."

VERY FINE BIRDS.

His Wife's Comment on the Result of His Hunting Trip.

The braggadocio of the common variety of husbands generally sooner or later falls before the keen insight that most women have of human nature in general and bragging husbands in particular. A witty southern woman was married to such a man, who, though invariably unsuccessful as a hunter, was continually boasting of his killings.

As he was returning home one evening after an all day hunting trip it occurred to him that the usual accompaniment of an empty game bag was not in accordance with his oft boasted skill as a hunter and that his wife would again have the joke on him, so he went to the market and purchased two brace of partridges.

As he entered the house he threw them on the table with great eclat and exclaimed, "Well, you dear old doubter, you see that I am handier with the gun than you give me credit for being, after all; now don't you?"

Milady picked up the birds and examined them very carefully. As she looked up after the examination he said:

"Fine birds, my dear—very fine birds, are they not?"

"Robert," responded the wife, turning up her nose, "you were only just in time in shooting those birds today. Tomorrow it would have been everlastingly too late."—St. Louis Republic.

EATING AN APPLE.

What You Take Into Your System With the Fruit.

"Do you know what you're eating?" said the doctor to the girl.

"An apple, of course."

"You are eating," said the doctor, "albumen, sugar, gum, malic acid, gallic acid, fiber, water and phosphorus."

"I hope those things are good. They sound alarming."

"Nothing could be better. You ate, I observed, rather too much meat at dinner. The malic acid of apples neutralizes the excess of chalky matter caused by too much meat and thereby helps to keep you young. Apples are good for your complexion. Their acids drive out the noxious matters which cause skin eruptions. They are good for your brain, which those same noxious matters if retained render sluggish. Moreover, the acids of the apple diminish the acidity of the stomach that comes with some forms of indigestion. The phosphorus, of which apples contain a larger percentage than any other fruit or vegetable, renews the essential nervous matter of the brain and spinal column. Oh, the ancients were not wrong when they esteemed the apple the food of the gods—the magic renewer of youth to which the gods resorted when they felt themselves growing old and feeble. I think I'll have an apple," concluded the doctor."—New York Tribune.

Strange Lapse of Memory.

Cases of forgetfulness on matters of interest are on record. While Dr. Priestly was preparing his work entitled "Harmony of the Gospels" he had taken great pains to inform himself on a subject which had been under discussion relative to the Jewish Passover. He wrote out the result of his researches and laid the paper away. His attention and time being taken with something else, some little time elapsed before the subject occurred to his mind again. Then the same time and pains were given to the subject that had been given to it before, and the results were again put on paper and laid aside. So completely had he forgotten that he had copied the same paragraphs and reflections before that it was only when he had found the papers on which he had transcribed them that it was recalled to his recollection. This same author had frequently read his own published writings and did not recognize them.

The Harder Part.

"It is hard to teach an old dog new tricks," quoted the wise guy.

Well Bred.

Gentleman—That looks a well bred dog. Owner—I should think he was well bred. Why, he won't have a bit of dinner till he's got his collar on!—Punch.

Palpitation of the Heart.

One of the first danger signals that announces something wrong with the heart is the irregular or violent throb. Often there is only a fluttering sensation, or an "all gone" sinking feeling; or, again, there may be a most violent beating, with flushings of the skin, and visible pulsations of the arteries.

There may also be experienced a smothering sensation, gasping for breath, and feeling as though about to die.

In all such cases the action of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills in quieting the heart and restoring it to its normal beat, is, beyond all question marvellous, as our thousands of testimonials will show.

Mrs. Martha Mason, Maribank, Ont., writes:—"Just a few lines to let you know what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me. I have been troubled with weakness and palpitation of the heart, would have severe choking spells and could scarcely lie down at all. I tried many remedies but got none to answer my case like your pills did. I can recommend them highly to all with heart or nerve trouble."

Attention Sick Women

If you had positive proof that a certain remedy for female ills had made many remarkable cures, would you not feel like trying it?

If during the last thirty years we have not succeeded in convincing every fair-minded woman that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured thousands and thousands of women of the ills peculiar to their sex, then we long for an opportunity to do so by direct correspondence. Meanwhile read the following letters which we guarantee to be genuine and truthful.

Lindsay, Ont.—"I think it is no more than right for me to thank Mrs. Pinkham for what her kind advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. When I wrote to her some time ago I was a very sick woman, suffering from female troubles. I had inflammation of the female organs, and could not stand or walk any distance. At last I was confined to my bed, and the doctor said I would have to go through an operation, but this I refused to do. A friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now after using three bottles of it, I feel like a new woman. I most heartily recommend this medicine to all women who suffer with female troubles. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills and think they are fine."—Mrs. Frank Emsley, Lindsay, Ontario.

Melbourne, Ia.—"I am thankful for the great good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I suffered many years from chronic inflammation and bearing down pains. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to health."—Mrs. Clara Watermann, R. D. No. 1, Melbourne, Iowa.

There is absolutely no doubt about the ability of this grand old remedy, made from the roots and herbs of our fields, to cure female diseases.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

Your dealer—every dealer—will be supplied with fresh picked "Sunkist" oranges.

Here is fruit that is fresh as that eaten by your California friends, for it comes to you as fast as this special express freight train can bring it. It has the right of way wherever possible. The California Fruit Growers' Exchange can allow "Sunkist" oranges to fully mature on the tree because they get them to you so quickly after picking.

Picked By Gloved Hands

Picked by experts wearing gloves to keep the deep tinted skin intact — thus insuring perfect oranges. "Sunkist" oranges are tree-ripened — observe the deep tinted skin — that's Nature's guarantee for the matured lusciousness within. There are no other oranges like these. Place them on your table at every meal. Your family will appreciate "Sunkist" oranges as they do no other food.

Physicians recommend oranges for their food value to brain and nerve cells.

Be Sure You Get "Sunkist" Oranges

In order that you get the choicest of the 5,000 groves in which "Sunkist" oranges are grown, be sure the oranges you buy are wrapped in tissue paper upon which is printed the "Sunkist" label. Oranges without this wrapper are not "Sunkist" oranges. Insist upon getting "Sunkist" oranges only—then you are insured of the finest fruit it is possible to grow.

"Sunkist" Lemons

are rich in strong lemon juices. They are thin-skinned, firm, tree-ripened and hand-picked. They answer every purpose better than any other lemon in the world. That's because they are carefully cultivated by most expert hands.

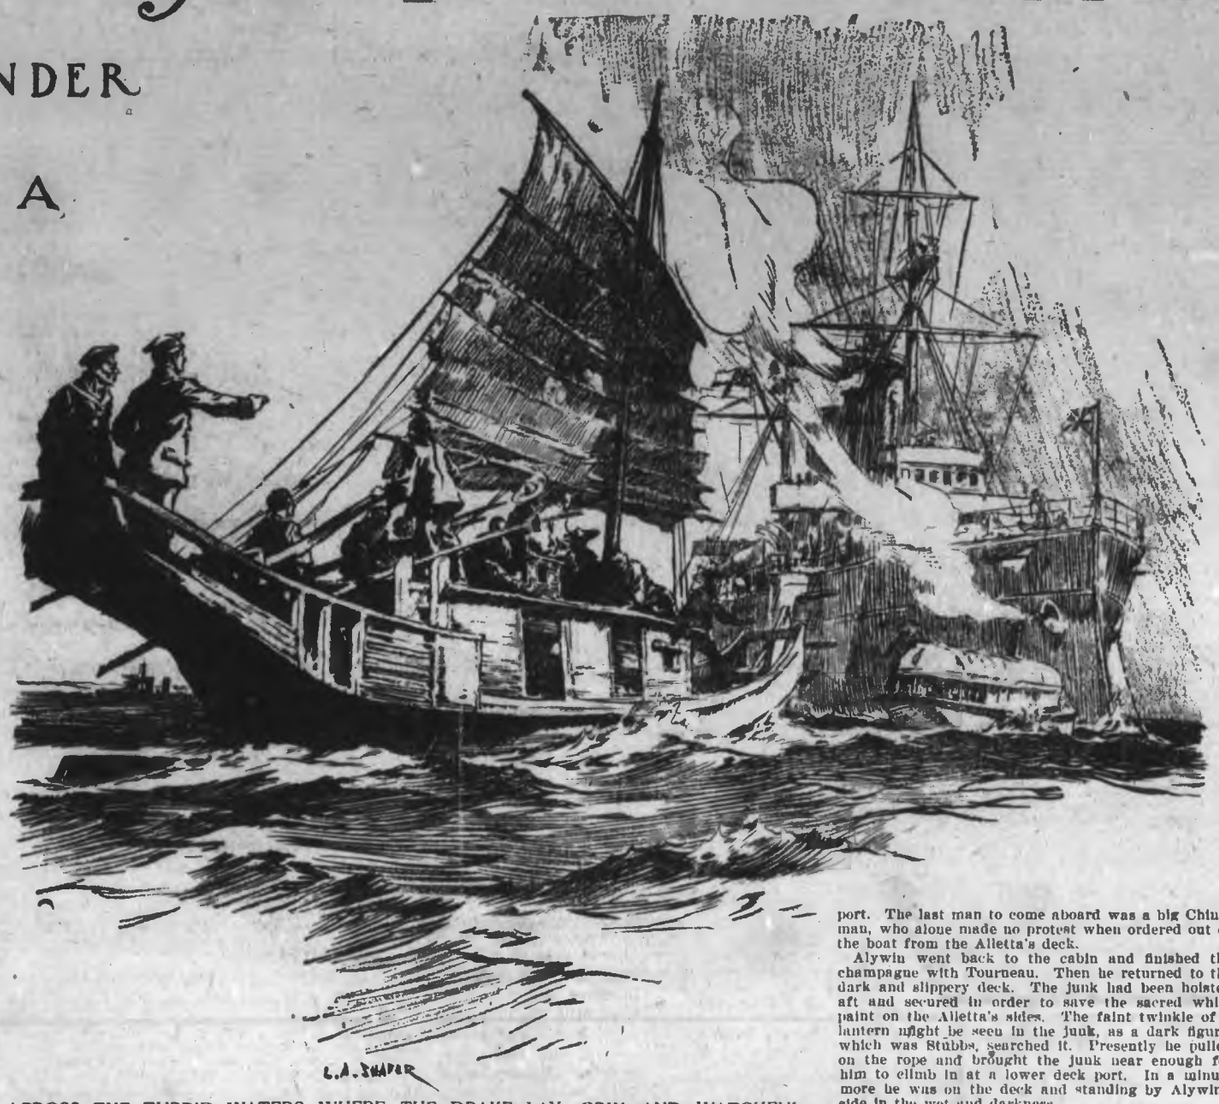
TALES of the CHINA SEAS

No. 1
The COMMANDER of the ALETTA

By Foxcroft Davis



ACROSS THE TURBID WATERS WHERE THE DRAKE LAY, GRIM AND WATCHFUL.

THE Yang-tse, Yellow River, four hundred miles from Hankow, is not the pleasantest winter cruising ground in the world, and so said, in unmistakable language, Chief Quartermaster Stubbs, of the American gunboat Alletta.

Stubbs was reckoned a pious man on shore and a frequenter of the Seamen's Bethels, and a naval adjunct to the Salvation Army. The minute, however, he felt the spokes of the wheel in his brawny hands a steady stream of profanity trickled forth uninterruptedly from between his clenched teeth. In the performance of his professional duties Stubbs was the enemy of all mankind, especially the Chinese. A nation which habitually eschews lights on big junks and gigantic rafts in the fairway of ships is likely to incur the ill will of quartermasters. Besides the ten rules of the road at sea fixed by international agreement Stubbs had added another, which read as follows, in large printed characters:—

RULE XI. TAKE IT FOR GRANTED THAT EVERY VESSEL YOU MEET IS COMMANDED BY A DAMNED JACKASS, AND GIVE HIM A WIDE BERTH.

Beneath it was inscribed in Stubbs' own handwriting, homely but clear, like himself:—

'And you won't never have no collusions.

The chief quartermaster, for some occult reason, preferred to use the word collusion where the dictionary called for collision. The idiosyncracy was by no means objected to by the Alletta's temporary commanding officer, a smooth faced pink and white twenty-six-year-old lieutenant, Alywin by name, who thanked God from the bottom of his heart that in the present emergency he had Stubbs at the wheel—a sort of maritime Casey at the bat.

A slight nervousness on Alywin's part was natural; the Alletta's captain was laid up at Shanghai with rheumatism, while Richardson, the executive officer, was nursing a broken leg in the Chinese hospital at Hankow, and the command of the Alletta had devolved upon Alywin. Instead of being comfortably housed in at Hankow or Shanghai, and the officers going to European balls twice a week, the Alletta was nosing about the overflowed regions of the Yang-tse, in the month of November, when the water was receding, and not even the native pilots knew all about the ever changing bottom.

Ostensibly the gunboat was looking for Chinese pirates, but the presence of the third class German cruiser Cecilia, apparently on the same errand, told Alywin plainly enough that there was something else in the wind besides junk loads of Chinese freebooters. It looked more like an uprising, with murder in the air. And then, the Alletta having crept cautiously up the river, the British torpedo boat destroyer Viper, with a couple of torpedo boats, casually appeared next day. Some days after, a French baby gunboat, L'Hirondelle, much smaller than the Alletta, having come up from Shanghai, the British second class cruiser Drake, without any apparent reason, also appeared.

Looking for Pirates.

Alywin knew this little peculiarity of the British navy; that wherever a few war ships were gathered together in foreign waters there was certain to appear, within twenty-four hours, a British naval force at least twice as strong as all the other ships combined.

In the present instance it was given out that the Drake, which flew a flag officer's pennant, had come up from Hankow in obedience to a freak of Admiral Harbord's concerning torpedo boat practice. The Admiral, a large, vindictive man, explained this, in language as soft as a lady's magazine, to the commanding officers of the other vessels. This pretty tale was believed by all except the people on the Alletta.

Everything Admiral Harbord said and did was of great consequence to Alywin, and also to Tourneau, who commanded the French gunboat by seniority, and not by accident.

For were there not two beautiful Harbord girls, of which it was openly known in Hankow, Shanghai and most of the treaty ports that Mary Harbord was adored by Alywin and Clarice Harbord by Tonneau? And it was also known that Admiral Harbord adored neither the young American nor French officer, and regretted with great bitterness having allowed his daughters to come to China at all.

The Alletta had been cruising around in the great river, which had become a vast and turbid sea, and on this particular afternoon was returning to her station in the vicinity of the others ships, where there was good anchorage.

The chief quartermaster's relief having reported, Stubbs, obeying a signal from the bridge, went up and engaged in cheerful conversation with Alywin.

It was about five o'clock on a dull afternoon and the Alletta ploughed her way across the muddy waters, with their swirling tides and unknown sets and mysterious currents. Afar off was the low line of hills, upon which the people clustered during the overflow, and strung out in a semi-circle, down the river, were the British torpedo boats, the Drake cruiser holding the middle of the line. At one end lay the German cruiser, while at the other the little French gunboat tugged restlessly at her anchor.

Stubbs in his heart yearned like a mother toward Alywin. A gunboat with a main battery of 6-inch rapid fire guns and a secondary battery of 4-inch guns was a big command for a man whose commission was only five years old, and who had a British admiral and a French and German commander looking on. Stubbs would have considered it rank insubordination to instruct his commanding officer, nevertheless he managed to convey a good deal of information to Alywin, the twenty-six year old.

"I've been in the service twenty-seven years, four months and seventeen days, sir," remarked Stubbs, "and I aint never been a foreign port nor seen no other ship there, with so much as a 6-inch gun on her, that in a day or so there warn't a couple of British vessels alongside and a very perlite young lieutenant coming aboard with the captain's compliments and the usual remarks."

Alywin encouraged Stubbs by a nod and a muttered word or two to continue.

"If the race was to the swift and the battle to the strong, sir, we wouldn't stand no show at all with the British navy. But if you look back, you'll remember we've had a severe jolt in days past. I've always held a opinion, sir, that the scripter alluded to the British nation when it said, 'Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth.' What them Britishers don't inherit, they grab, and that's a fact, and so they do it, you know, sir."

Alywin was in the mood then to be critical of the British navy, and who would not in his shoes? He recalled with joy in his heart that the Alletta was lately out of dry dock at Shanghai and could leg it very comfortably at a seventeen knot gait. Likewise, she had a supply of extra good coal, and her smoke could not be seen more than five miles away. The Drake, however, had experienced extraordinary bad luck concerning coal, and at that very moment was burning a mixture of dirt and slag, and out of her funnels was pouring a black smoke, warranted to be seen at least thirty miles away.

With the conviction that the Admiral's eye would be upon the Alletta when she came down the river, Alywin felt a burning desire to have Stubbs at the wheel, but was a little bashful about mentioning it; temporary commanders are proverbially bashful as well as nervous.

"I think, Stubbs," said Alywin, clearing his throat, "that we want to take up a good berth at the end of the line, and to do so in style. It might be just as well for you to have an eye on the man at the wheel when we get close enough."

"I'll do it, sir," promptly responded Stubbs. "I'll keep an eye on the man at the wheel, sir, even as a hen gathered with her chickens under her wing. It ain't worth while to take no account of native junks as may be prowlin' about. The chances is ten to nothin' they are pirates, and if, by the blessings of Providence, we run down a few of 'em it would be in great gain.

Garlic Their Armor.

"The Chinese have a way of protectin' themselves against pirates. They rub themselves all over from head to heel with garlic, but I never heard as it kep' any pirates away. When a pirate gets brilliantly successful, sir, and smites his enemy hip and thigh the Viceroy of the province writes him a mighty pretty letter, all full of compliments and such, and invites him to become a big Taitao, presiding over a court of justice. This is a great compliment, sir, they never pays to any except extry good pirates."

Alywin had heard this story before and laughed at it.

"Curiously enough," he said, "I hear that these pirates make excellent judges, and foreigners stand a better chance before them than any other sort of Chinese judge."

"Goin' to sea long enough, sir," replied Stubbs solemnly, "qualifies a man for most anything except the kingdom of heaven. If you'll excuse me, sir, I'll take a extry turn at the wheel."

This Stubbs proceeded to do, swearing softly to himself as the Alletta went rushing along at a sharp trot and made several very pretty turns in the whirling and treacherous waters before pulling up sharp at her anchorage, which was next L'Hirondelle.

The daylight lasted until the Alletta had dropped her anchor, and then a brown fog, like a world ghost, slipped up the wide reaches of the great river and wrapped the earth and waters and ships in its cold embrace. The foghorns from all the ships began their frightened wailings, like children crying in the night.

Alywin, dining in solitary magnificence in the captain's cabin, meditated deeply upon Chinese pirates, British admirals and their daughters, and the sailing directions for the Yang-tse, which say:—"Easterly winds bring gloomy weather; southerly winds heavy fogs." His Japanese boy had just given him his soup when a hail was heard under the Alletta's quarter. Alywin, jumping up, ran out on deck. A shadowy launch crept out from the unknown and a voice replied in French-English to the chief quartermaster's hail:—

"This is the launch of L'Hirondelle, with her commanding officer, Lieutenant Tourneau. We were caught in the fog trying to make our ship."

"Come aboard, Tourneau," called out Alywin, who knew how Tourneau stood with Clarice Harbord, just as Tourneau knew how Alywin stood with Mary Harbord. "You can't make your ship until this infernal fog lifts."

"All right," responded a voice.

The next moment Tourneau was clambering over the side, while the boat was being hoisted up—it does not do to leave boats out at night in Chinese waters.

"Just in time for dinner," said Alywin, showing Tourneau into the cabin.

Tourneau was short and dark, with the indomitable French eye and smile. He was profusely apologetic for getting lost in the fog. All the officers in that little international gathering were acutely conscious that the others were looking on.

The Japanese boy ran down into the galley and borrowed a quart of soup from the wardroom cook, and a leg of mutton which was about to be placed upon the wardroom table. These, with a tin of mushrooms and a bottle of uncooled champagne, made a very respectable dinner for an unexpected guest.

Visitors Aboard.

Alywin, during the density of the fog, required ten minute reports from the chief quartermaster, and, in his turn, apologized to Tourneau for this extra precaution.

"My friend," said Tourneau, in a burst of confidence, "let us be frank. I am at this moment in a state of the greatest nervousness concerning my ship. I see you are the same. Let us encourage each other."

There is great comfort when a man is uneasy in finding another man in the same circumstances equally uneasy. The two plunged into confidences while the fog held, and even reached the point that Tourneau inquired anxiously of Alywin, who had left Hankow after him, concerning Clarice Harbord.

"For I dare not ask the Admiral," he plaintively remarked. "English fathers are very peculiar."

Alywin's answer to this was:—

"Clarice has been sent up the Linkiang River with a party of ladies visiting the convent at Howchin Kwang."

Tourneau rose from his chair at that, and carefully closing the cabin door, so as to be secure from the orderly's prying eyes and the intrusion of the Japanese boy, proceeded to execute a skirt dance without a skirt, whistling meanwhile the popular café chantant song "Ma Belle, Ma Belle."

Then returning to his seat and leaning forward, his black eyes dancing, he said to Alywin:—

"Look you, my friend, my sister is superior of the convent at Howchin Kwang. It will go hard if I cannot find some sort of disturbance at Howchin Kwang which will require the presence of my ship there."

Alywin leaned over and the two gripped hands. Tourneau continued:—

"My sister is about as large as this decanter and has a meek voice, but she is the bravest man in the family, though I and my three brothers all bear arms. She, with the other sisters, all French women, live in a state of siege every hour of their lives. Do they get frightened? A thousand times no. But my brothers and I get frightened about my sister often, and I long to give a drubbing to those heathens at Howchin Kwang which would teach them to respect Europeans a little more than they do."

"How bloody mad Admiral Harbord will be when he finds that he has sent his daughter to your sister," chuckled Alywin.

"A good expression," he said.

Then they began to whack the champagne joyfully. Alywin, with some bashfulness, inquired of Tourneau concerning a rumor that Admiral Harbord had himself picked out a prospective spouse for Mary Harbord.

"So I have heard it whispered—a red headed Scotch lieutenant by the name of Kenneth McKenzie. The Admiral, you know, is a torpedo—what shall I call it?"

"Crank," suggested Alywin.

"Ah, yes, torpedo crank, and it is the joke among the British officers that the Admiral selected McKenzie simply because, in the matter of torpedoes and torpedo boats, he is considered a—what would you call it?"

"A torpedo sharp," advanced Alywin.

"Yes, yes, yes; the best torpedo sharp on the China station."

As Alywin had resorted to the champagne in his moments of exhilaration, so now he was forced to do the same thing to raise his drooping spirits consequent upon Tourneau's news.

Just as Alywin finished the bottle he heard a sound that brought him to his feet—a boat scraping against the Alletta's side. The door opened and an orderly appeared with a report from the officer of the deck that a Chinese junk, lost in the fog, had bumped against the Alletta's side. Alywin ran out and in the gangway butted into the chief quartermaster.

"A Chinese junk full of pirates, sir," Whispered Stubbs. "They don't want to come aboard, sir—afraid we'll search their junk."

Alywin, taking the hint, remarked to Tommy Jones, who had the deck:—

"Have all those Chinese brought aboard, and the chief quartermaster will examine the boat."

Alywin went forward, and leaning over the side watched a dozen chattering Chinamen crawl in the port. The last man to come aboard was a big Chinaman, who alone made no protest when ordered out of the boat from the Alletta's deck.

Alywin went back to the cabin and finished the champagne with Tourneau. Then he returned to the dark and slippery deck. The junk had been hoisted aft and secured in order to save the sacred white paint on the Alletta's sides. The faint twinkle of a lantern might be seen in the junk, as a dark figure, which was Stubbs, searched it. Presently he pulled on the rope and brought the junk near enough for him to climb in at a lower deck port. In a minute more he was on the deck and standing by Alywin's side in the wet and darkness.

"It's a regular arsenal, sir," whispered Stubbs. "There's a kinder false bottom to the junk, and in it is thirteen rifles and eight pistols, with the mark of the British Admiralty on 'em. Likewise a whole outfit of sailors' slops, and"——

"A admiral's full dress uniform, cap and all, marked 'A. G. H.' That is to say, sir, Alford Greatorex Harbord. No doubt stole from the Drake; all except the rifles. 'Taint no easy job to steal rifles from a British ship, and it won't be no merry jest to the Drake's armorer when it's found out."

Stubbs' sympathies were plainly with the petty officer, but Alywin's heart was with the Drake's captain, when the loss of the rifles should become known.

Ten minutes afterward the plunder was brought in and piled upon the cabin table. There were, as the chief quartermaster had said, thirteen rifles and eight pistols, all bearing the mark of the British Admiralty; also a dozen suits of blue jackets' clothing and a handsome admiral's uniform and cap, in which Alywin's prophetic eye could see the tall and commanding figure of Admiral Harbord. Alywin gazed with rapture at the cap marked "A. G. H.," and Tourneau, blowing a kiss to the uniform and cap, said:—

"Blessings upon you, beloved father-in-law."

The Giant Chinese.

As the chief quartermaster said, the loss of the clothes, and even the pistols, could be easily accounted for, but the loss of the rifles was something of which the British Admiralty would take cognizance. Alywin's soul was filled with rapture when he realized what Admiral Harbourd's feelings would be when the loss and recovery of the rifles were reported to him. Then Alywin asked the chief quartermaster:—

"You know something of the Chinese language, Quartermaster. Could you get anything out of these people?"

"Yes, sir," replied Stubbs, coolly. "If you will make out a watch bill for a summary execution tomorrow morning at six o'clock, sir, I think I can get at the truth from that strapping big Chinee, Ah Fong, who is at this blessed moment stuffing himself in the for'ard galley on pea soup and bacon, as is the property of the United States government. I have been interviewin' that gent, and he is a-layin' on as he don't know a word of English. So you can supply the details of the hangin' in his presence, and he won't know nothin' about it."

Stubbs was incapable of winking at the commanding officer, but there was a gleam in his eye which not only Alywin but Tourneau perfectly understood.

"Tell the master at arms to bring me the Chinaman Ah Fong," Alywin directed the orderly, and then said to Stubbs:—"You will remain here, Quartermaster."

In a little while the master at arms appeared, escorting a big Chinaman, with a face like hammered brass and voice like a peacock with catarrh. He stood stolidly, his arms folded and his eyes on the floor. Alywin proceeded to interrogate him, but at every question he merely shook his head and declared in Chinese he did not understand.

"Ask him," demanded Alywin of the Chief Quartermaster, "how he came by these arms."

Stubbs put the question in Chinese. At the sound of his own language the Chinaman started, and his folded arms dropped to his side. He answered, however, in a loud chatter, the Chief Quartermaster's question.

"He says, sir," repeated Stubbs, "that the clothes were bought in a pawn shop in Shanghai, and so were the arms."

"Tell him he lies," responded Alywin.

Stubbs conveyed this remark with considerable force. The Chinaman, however, only shook his head, and a contortion of the mouth, meant for a smile, revealed a set of jagged and wolfish teeth.

"I perceive," continued Alywin, "that this man will not tell the truth. These things found in the junk are conclusive that, instead of being a traffic boat, it is a pirate junk. Master at arms, here are your orders:—All up and aft at six o'clock in the morning to witness the hanging of pirates at the yardarm."

Stubbs repeated this to the Chinaman. He merely shook his head with the same wolfish grin.

"And keep them in double irons until they are up for execution," added Alywin. "Master at arms, take your prisoner away."

Here the master-at-arms laid a heavy hand on the Chinaman and marched him away. It was now nine o'clock at night and the long drawn hooting of the string of ships still penetrated the fog. The master at-arms came back and reported:—

"Handcuffs and leg irons on twelve Chinamen, sir, all down in the brig."

Just then there was a sudden cessation of the wailing foghorns; the fog was lifting and flying of seaward, like a disturbed ghost.

Tourneau jumped to his feet.

"How I wish I could see the dénouement of this, my friend! But you will let me know as soon as possible?"

To this Alywin replied significantly:—

"I shall go aboard the Drake at ten o'clock tomorrow morning to turn over these things and the people and the junk to Admiral Harbord."

At this the two young commanders grinned sympathetically.

Divers Get the Rifles.

Alywin had not got much sleep since the command of the Alletta devolved upon him, and he hardly closed his eyes for joy that night. On Alywin's last visit to the deck Stubbs confided to him the belief that Ah Fong would not be likely to weaken before half-past five in the morning, the execution being ordered for six. It was therefore an agreeable surprise when, about four o'clock, earth and sky and water still being black as night, the Chief Quartermaster's stubbly bearded face was poked into Alywin's sleeping cabin.

"I put the Chinee into the sweat box, sir," remarked Stubbs, with an accent of suppressed triumph. "He broke down so quick I don't believe they'll ever promote him to be a judge. It's all straight enough about gettin' the clothes and the admiral's uniform at a pawn shop at Hankow. 'Taint so awful hard to steal a few revolvers, them being easy hid, but how they got the rifles puzzled me. It turns out, sir, that it all come from the coxswain of one of the Drake's boats not a-heedin' the eleventh rule of the road; 'Take it for granted as every vessel you meet is commanded by a damned jackass, and give him a wide berth.' Consequently a collusion resulted."

"Was it at Hankow last month?" asked Alywin, recalling something that occurred there and then.

"Yes, sir. You remember at the celebration of the Emperor's birthday, when there was a big blowout ashore, there was a lot of marines landed from the Drake, and in gettin' back to the ship about dusk the last boat got run into by a big Chinee raft without lights, accordin' to the custom of them heathens. The Drake's boat was upset and all the men was rescued, but some of 'em, thirteen in fact, bein' an unlucky number, lost their rifles. The Chinee gent, Captain Ah Fong, admitted to me just now, with the sweat running off him in rivers, that he was in charge of the raft, and run into the launch a-purpose, and with a view to rifles. He got a awful damnin' and swearin' from the coxswain and from everybody in the Drake, but the native divers that night got the rifles."

Alywin heard this with open rapture, and would not for a year's pay have missed the joy of returning the rifles to the Drake.

The Quartermaster could not refrain from saying:—

"I don't consider, sir, as Captain Ah Fong is reely a success as a pirate. There's something a little amatoorish in the way he broke down and told everything. He ain't of the stuff to make a first class pirate, or judge either."

"He couldn't be better for my purpose," responded Alywin, still with the vision floating before his eyes of his coming visit to the Drake, and the Admiral's countenance when the rifles should be returned.

The morning dawned dull and stormy, but to Alywin it was one of the brightest days he had ever known. He might have sent Tommy Jones, or even an ensign, to take the Chinamen and the junk to the Drake, but concluded, by Machiavellian reasoning, it would be more respectful, considering his twenty-six years, to go in person—and far more interesting.

At ten o'clock, therefore, the launch was lowered, and, towing the junk with the twelve Chinamen, pulled across the turbid water to where the Drake lay, grim and watchful. By a singular coincidence, when the launch put off from the Alletta, another launch put off from L'Hirondelle, and in it sat Tourneau. L'Hirondelle's launch reached the Drake some minutes in advance of the Alletta's launch, and as Alywin came over the side Tourneau himself was standing by the gangway talking to the ruddy lieutenant who had the deck.

Handing Over the Loot.

The sight of the Alletta's launch towing the junk full of Chinamen attracted the attention of everybody in the Drake, and the Admiral as well as the Captain awaited Alywin on the deck. Following Alywin came three sailors bearing the arms and clothing. It would have been more than human nature could compass to have covered up the loot when bringing it on board, and in particular the Admiral's uniform and cap on the top of the first armful shone resplendent.

Admiral Harbord took in everything at a glance while shaking hands with Alywin.

"I have much pleasure, Admiral," said Alywin sweetly, "in returning you your personal property and also in handing over these people in the junk."

Like Stubbs, the Admiral easily accounted for the presence of the sailors' clothes and his own uniform, as well as the revolvers.

"Stolen," he said briefly.

His glance lighted upon the rifles and a lurid gleam shot into his eyes, which boded ill for everybody in the Drake. The Drake's captain, a small, resolute man, turned a trifle pale. If the rifles were stolen it meant a court of inquiry for him and probably the ending of his naval career. For the British Admiralty is not an indulgent parent to commanding officers from whose ships thirteen rifles are stolen. Alywin himself suddenly and lately become a commanding officer, felt acutely for the Drake's captain and hastened to say:—

"The rifles were those lost from the boat that was run into and upset last month at Hankow. It was a prearranged scheme by these pirates, and you recall they represented it to be a market craft and had women aboard. That night, however, the rifles were all doled up. So Ah Fong, the junk's captain, confessed."

The Drake's captain drew a quick breath and his eye lost its troubled look.

"This junk," continued Alywin, "got lost in the fog last night and we took the crew off and searched it with the result before you."

Tourneau, still deeply in conversation with the officer of the deck, saw Admiral Harbord's red face grow redder. Everybody in the Drake knew how things stood between the Harbord girls and the young American and French commanders; in fact, it might be called a piece of international information, as far as the ships at Hankow were concerned. Some junior lieutenants, remembering how things stood between Alywin and Tourneau and the Admiral, grinned slyly at each other. The officer of the deck looked slightly uncomfortable. Tourneau had mentioned having dined on the Alletta the night before, and it looked to the officer of the deck as if the young French commander and Alywin were fellow conspirators.

"Thanks, awfully."

"If I can be of any further use pray command my services," said Alywin.

The Captain would have liked to ask Alywin to remain to breakfast, but dared not do it under the Admiral's infuriated eye.

Curiously enough, Tourneau went over the side at the same time as Alywin, and accepted an invitation to go back to the Alletta for breakfast. As soon as they were aboard and in the cabin Alywin shut the door, and, holding out his arms to Tourneau, the couple of them waltzed ecstatically around the room, Alywin shouting "Mary is mine!" while Tourneau yelled "Clarice is mine!"

They were interrupted by a knock at the door. Outside stood Stubbs, a large grin fixed upon his weatherbeaten countenance.

"I think, Stubbs," said Alywin, gratitude radiating from his eyes, "you made a pretty good haul last night. It's something, you know, to return a lot of rifles to a British cruiser."

"It is, sir," replied Stubbs, who knew in which corner sat the wind; "it is, sir, and this here little incident is just what I've often seen all things work together for them as loves the Lord."

Five Roses, Madam, Gives You Better Pastries Cheaper

Who started that moth-eaten, bewhiskered fallacy, Madam, that the best all-round family flour should be made from soft winter wheat?

Then, again, what great and eminent exponent of the culinary art would risk his reputation on such a delusion?

Once again and then some, we ask, who was it?

For behold FIVE ROSES, coming from the heart of the hard, sun-ripened Manitoba Spring Wheat, for bread unbeatable, for pastry peerless—behold FIVE ROSES, Madam, ready to prove them wrong, woefully wrong.

If it's starch you want, Madam, and not gluten—starch is cheaper and more plentiful in potatoes.

Wheaten flour is valued above all for its protein content, which is the real breadstuff.

And Manitoba wheat is ever so much richer in gluten and protein than the soft winter article.

• • • •

Of course, Madam, you already know the wonderful breadstuffs in the FIVE ROSES barrel.

But think of the pastries and the goodies you could make from that selfsame flour.

Take any standard recipe, Mistress Housewife—same quantities of shortening, water, salt and other ingredients.

Then, owing to its higher absorbing power, you require ONE FIFTH LESS OF FIVE ROSES than of so-called "pastry" flour.

Just mix your dough and set aside awhile before rolling, and roll thinner than usual.

• • • •

And for the same reason your cookies and cakes, etc., will keep longer, fresher, more melting, because FIVE ROSES holds the moisture.

Your FIVE ROSES pies, your cakes, biscuits, griddle cakes, all contain that exceptional nutritive value lacking entirely in soft wheat flours.

And they invariably raise higher, with a clearer, richer, more delicate appearance.

In tenderness, crispness, texture, we who have used FIVE ROSES twenty-one years have never been shamefaced.

The baking aroma gives you an idea of the flavor: is there any perfume to compare with that coming from a hot oven full of FIVE ROSES goodies?

You sniff blissfully and think not.

• • • •

If you want more pastries with less labor—more nutritious, more appetizing dainties—if you want to save temper, time and trouble, and money.

If you want to reduce his meals downtown and have him home at noon—Then, Madam, you will use FIVE ROSES.

W. H. HILL, Esq.,

Manager Sun Life Assurance Co., of Canada

PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

DEAR SIR,—About five years ago my late husband took out $1,000 00 insurance in The Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada, on which he only paid the first three premiums. Shortly after his death, which occurred on the 6th inst., although I was under the impression that his policy had lapsed, I called at your office to inquire if anything could be done whereby we might get something out of it. You can imagine my surprise and genuine gratitude to learn that, owing to your non-forfeiture privilege, the policy was still in force at his death, and that I was entitled to the full thousand dollars, less only the two unpaid premiums and interest.

This seems to me such extraordinary and generous treatment that I wish to add my expression of most sincere thanks and appreciation to the many others your Company must receive.

I also wish to acknowledge and thank you for your courtesy and promptness in procuring for me a cheque to-day covering th policy and to state that if my endorsation of the already mentioned feature of your policies is of value you are quite at liberty to use it.

Gratefully yours,

MARGARET LONG,

WEDDING AT HASTINGS

Nuptials of Miss Marion Rutherford and Mr. Louis Stinson.

Special to The Examiner;

Hastings, Feb. 21.—"Pine Grove," the home of Mr. Arthur Rutherford, of Percy, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday, when his sister, Marion, was united in marriage to Mr. Louis Stinson, of Hastings. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. W. Barrett, of town, while Miss Mae Huycke played the wedding march. The bride was gowned in a princess gown of white silk, trimmed with lace and insertion and wore the customary veil and orange blossoms. Little Miss Beatrice Merrill, dressed in white organdie, carried the ring in a basket of beautiful roses. After the customary congratulations, the company repaired to the dining room, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful pearl brooch, and to the flower girl a gold bracelet. Mr. and Mrs. Stinson left on the afternoon train from Norwood to spend a short honeymoon at Toronto and points west, Mrs. Stinson wearing a beautiful tailored suit of green broadcloth, with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Stinson have a host of friends who join in wishing them "bon voyage" through life.

We understand that Mrs. Sharpe and children who were removed to Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, a short time ago, are doing as well as can be expected.

Friends in Hastings of Mr. Richard O'Connor sympathize with him in his loss by death of his son Richard, and also of his mother, Mr. O'Connor also lost his wife less than two years ago, when residing in Hastings.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard are rejoicing over the birth of a son.

The local hockey boys played a game with Norwood on Friday night, which resulted in favour of the home team, the Norwood boys, however, doing some good work.

Mr. Yourex, of Norwood, is trying to make final arrangements for the building of a cheese factory here and requests the support of all interested.

Mr. Patrick Crowley, who lives in this vicinity, was unfortunate enough to have 11 sheep killed by dogs on Friday of last week. Mr. Crowley is on the outlook for the owners of the dogs.

Rev. D. A. Thomson, Hastings, was the officiating clergyman at the marriage of Miss Mary Barrie, of Dummer to Mr George Barr, of the same township.

Miss Maggie and Mr. Willie Oakman left here last week for a month's visit with friends in Perth Co.

Miss Rae and Mr. Ralph Humphries of Otonabee, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Humphries last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Tierney, of Trenton, have been guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hess.

Mrs. Jesse Harns, of Allisonville, was the guest of her friend Mrs. Valleau over Sunday.

FARMERS AT HALL'S GLEN SELLING HOGS

Examiner Special.

Hall's Glen, Feb. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. A. Hunter of Maple Lane, are spending their winter vacation with friends in Lakefield.

Mr. Jos. Matthews has recently purchased the Crowe Bros. property and will take possession in a few weeks.

Mrs. A. arling spent a few days with friends in Lakefield last week, and enjoyed the outing very much. Her daughter, Willa, accompanied her.

We regret the departure of one of our most intimate neighbours, in the person of Mrs. Mary M. Little, from our midst; we wish her long life success and happiness in her new home at Lakefield.

Mr. Wm. Carveth, who was obliged to retire from work last week, on account of ill health, has again resumed his usual duties.

A number of the farmers of this vicinity are taking advantage of the high price paid for hogs, and consequently a large shipment was made lately to Lakefield.

Mrs. Wm. Carveth, who has been spending a few days with her many friends in Lakefield, has returned, and reports having had a very enjoyable time.

The state of affairs and conditions o fthe roads are rather against the young men who are in the habit of spending Sunday evenings a considerable distance from home. It is also feared that the change of lights will impair their sight.

Mrs. J. Hunter of Lakefield, passed through the village on Saturday, en route to Mrs. A. L. Davis' cottage, "Stony Lake," where she will spend a few days.

The roads in this locality have been almost impassible during the past week, but are improving at present.

The Warsaw rink is well-patronized by the young people of our village, as well as by some of the older ones; the elements cut no ice with them, they say.

Our stage driver finds it very difficult to make his regular trips in the limited time, owing to the conditions of the roads. We are sure he could not endure such hardships had he not been favoured with a strong and rugged constitution.

WE NEED FEWER DOGS

From Farm and Dairy.

The recent regulations for the prevention of rabies in Western Ontario, sent out from Ottawa and approved of by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council for Ontario, providing that all dogs within certain counties mentioned must be either securely chained, kept under lock and key or muzzled in a manner satisfactory to the Department of Agriculture of the Dominion of Canada, aside from its effect upon the prevention of rabies, should have a most beneficial indirect bearing upon agriculture. While a good dog, efficiently trained, is a most useful animal, there are few that can be rated as such compared with the many worthless curs roaming through the country in the vicinity of towns and cities and which are a constant menace to live stock, particularly sheep.

The order will bring home to many the responsibility that is theirs when they keep a dog. Dogs unworthy of the attention called for in the newly issued regulations will, let us hope, be destroyed. The country would be much better off with fewer dogs and our live stock interests would then prosper to a greater extent.

KIND WORDS HELP A WIFE

From Farm and Dairy.

A vital way in which a man may help his wife is to assure her occasionally by word and deed of the continuance of his love for her. Of course she knows that he loves her, not only as much but a great deal more than before they were married, the husband reasons, and it is absurd and unreasonable for her to doubt it.

She does not really doubt it. Deep down in her heart she is as sure of it as she is that little Billy's eyes are the same deep gray as yours. If, indeed, she really doubted it, life would lose all its colors. It is an especial privilege of women, and a thing which you must take into consideration, as she has to reckon on annoying masculine traits of yours.

It is an easy thing to remind her that you love her, to tell her that she is far prettier as a matron than she was as a maid—she won't believe that latter statement, but it will sound sweet in her ears, nevertheless.

Try it the next time she looks tired and discouraged. And instead of writing out a check for her, and telling her to buy herself something when you want to make her a present on some special occasion, bring her a little gift as you used to do in the old sweethearting days.

MARKETING FARM PRODUCTS

From Farm and Dairy.

The farmer who depends on raising grain and selling it for his income always finds that the expense of marketing the grain is an important item and generally cuts into his profits pretty heavily. With the dairyman the case is quite different and especially so with the man who is using a hand separator and selling cream.

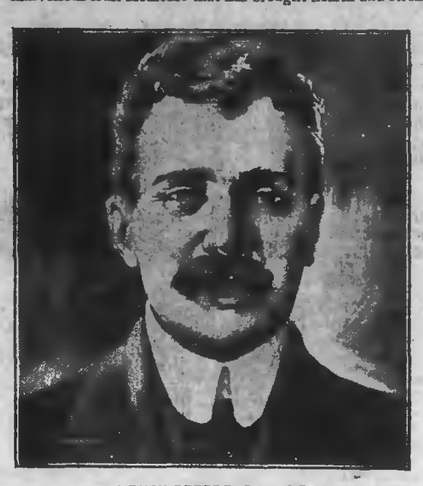
Cream in proportion to its bulk and weight is the most valuable of all farm products. It can be handled more cheaply and more easily than any other product. Then, too, the grain raiser has to wait a whole year before he gets any returns from his investment, but dairying brings returns in the form of ready cash every few days. This in itself allows the dairyman to be more independent than the grain farmer and puts added life and vigor into his work.—Delaval Monthly.

A WELL KNOWN MAGISTRATE SAVED AS BY A MIRACLE

REDUCED TO A SKELETON AND Doctors Pronounced Case Incurable

'SAYS HE OWES HIS LIFE TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Magistrate Speers' signed statement illustrates the unfailing curative and tonic properties of "Fruit-a-tives"—the marvellous fruit medicine that has brought health and strength to thousands in every part of the Dominion.



HENRY SPEERS, Esq., J.P.

MOORFIELD, ONT., March 25th, 1909.

"I feel that my complete recovery from what seemed inevitable death, is practically a miracle. I suffered from severe indigestion for nearly two years, and became almost a skeleton. I could not work—could not even walk. Two experienced doctors pronounced my case incurable. They could do nothing for me as they said my heart was affected. I looked forward to death in a short time. I not only had the doctors but tried many remedies and treatments, but got no better.

"My son asked me to try "Fruit-a-tives", and from the outset of taking these wonderful tablets, I was better and gradually this medicine completely cured me, and I have gained over thirty pounds in weight. I am well, thanks to "Fruit-a-tives". I am so well that I have sold my farm and bought 200 acres more land. I make this statement voluntarily for the sake of humanity, as I believe my recovery is a miracle, and I am convinced that "Fruit-a-tives" is a wonderful cure for Stomach Trouble".

HENRY SPEERS, J.P.

"Fruit-a-tives" cured Mr. Speers because "Fruit-a-tives" is the most wonderful stomach, heart and nerve tonic in the world. "Fruit-a-tives" acts directly on the stomach, insures sound digestion, regulates bowels and kidneys, purifies the blood, and relieves the distressing irritation of the heart.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world that is made of fruit juices. By the marvellous discovery of a well known physician, fruit juices are combined with heart and nerve tonics in such a way, that a new compound is formed. It is this new compound—one of the greatest discoveries of the age—that has saved thousands of lives. It is why "Fruit-a-tives" cures when all else fails—why "Fruit-a-tives" gives instant relief when even the doctors cannot relieve the trouble. We state it, without hesitation, that "Fruit-a-tives" will positively cure every case of Indigestion and Dyspepsia, if properly used.

Remember, there is nothing else "just as good" or "just the same" as "Fruit-a-tives". Insist on having "Fruit-a-tives" and see that you get the genuine. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50 or trial size, 25c. At dealers or sent post paid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Imperial Guarantee & Accident Insurance Company of Canada, was held at the Head Office, 46 King Street West, Toronto, on the 10th inst.

Mr. E. W. Cox, President of the Company, in reviewing the business of the year, made reference to the growing popularity of Accident Insurance, and its effect on the success of the business of the Company during the year. The amount of Insurance written was over $26,270,000 00 an increase of $1,640,000.00 over the business taken out in 1908. This is considered exceptionally satisfactory in view of the fact that the business of the Company is confined to Personal Accident and Guarantee Insurance.

The Gross Income for 1909 amounted to $215,741.76.

That being an increase over the year 1908 of $4,917.24.

The Assets now total $366,974.00, and, after allowing for Reserve for unearned premium calculated on the full Government standard, and all other liabilities, the surplus for the protection of policyholders has increased to $213,447.19.

DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Toronto,

A FORWARD MOVE IN FORESTRY

From Farm and Dairy.

A strong and representative deputation from the Counties' Council of Northumberland and Durham interviewed the Ontario Government last week in regard to the re-forestation of the 11,000 acres of waste land in the united counties. Ever since the publication of the article that appeared in the March 18th issue of Farm and Dairy last year, pointing out the need for a re-forestation policy in old Ontario, and explaining a simple manner by which the counties having large areas of waste land might co-operate with the Government in re-foresting it, members of the Counties' Council of Northumberland and Durham have been actively engaged in promoting a thorough consideration of the proposal.

The policy then outlined by Farm and Dairy has since been unanimously endorsed by the Counties' Council, with the result that last week a deputation from the council waited on the Government and asked the Government to advance whatever sum of money may be necessary to re-forest the waste land in question, and to take entire charge of the work. In return the Counties' Council will guarantee to pay the Government the interest on the money thus advanced. As soon as the timber has reached marketable dimensions, portions of the yearly growth will be sold and from the money thus derived the principal will be paid back to the Government.

A FAVORABLE RECEPTION

The deputation was received by Hon. James Duff, Minister of Agriculture, and Hon. Mr. Cochrane, Minister of Crown Lands, and was given an unusually lengthy interview, indicating that the Government is alive to the importance of the proposal. The deputation was introduced by Mr. J. H. Devitt, M.L.A., of Blackstock. The speakers included Warden A. L. Boyce, of Dartford, ex-warden A. A. Powers of Orono, and Reeve A. A. Colwill of Newcastle, who presented the case for the deputation. Others who spoke included Messrs. C. J. Thornton, of Kirby; S. Clark, M.L.A., of Cobourg; S. Nesbitt, M.L.A., of Brighton and J. J. Preston, M.L.A., of Bethany. The speakers from the Counties' Council presented their case clearly and forcibly. Unfortunately, Mr. S. Clark, their local member, who did not seem to understand the Counties' Council had considered the matter carefully, and was unanimous in its demand, introduced considerable irrelevant matter in the course of his subject which was more or less at variance with the desires of the deputation, and therefore he might better have said nothing. The speech of Mr. S. Nesbitt, another of the three local members, also was not especially helpful.

Mr. Colwill stated that the deputation believed that the project was thoroughly feasible and a safe financial undertaking. This led Hon. Mr. Cochrane to ask why the Counties' Council was not willing to finance it itself. Hon. Mr. Duff stated that the members of the York County Council had asked for power to purchase waste land in order that they might re-forest and control such land themselves. The York County Council did not expect any financial assistance from the Government other than, possibly, the giving of a few trees for re-forestry purposes.

Mr. Colwill replied that in the case of Northumberland and Durham the project was too big a one for the Counties' Council. He pointed out that the work could only be undertaken to the best advantage by a bureau of forestry which would have a continuity of purpose impossible with the average county council. He contended also, that the Government was in a better position to obtain the money required, at reasonable rates than was a smaller municipal body.

Ex-warden Powers presented the case clearly and forcibly for the Counties' Council, he having given it a great deal of attention and study. He stated, that while the method of re-forestation that they desire to follow, was the one that had been suggested by Farm and Dairy, it was also one that had commended itself to the Counties' Council after careful and thorough consideration on several occasions. The proposal had been discussed at local meetings held throughout the united counties and had been endorsed. It was one which had been endorsed as thoroughly practical and feasible by Dr. Fernow, the Government forestry expert. Public sentiment in the united counties, he had been informed by Professor Zavitz, was more advanced on the forestry question than anywhere else in the Province except, possibly in Norfolk County, where the Government had a reserve. He expected, therefore, that the Government would give Northumberland and Durham the first consideration when dealing with this forestry question.

Both Mr. Thornton and Mr. Colwill gave evidence that the land was suitable for the growing of splendid pine. Mr. Thornton claimed that trees, if given proper care, would make splendid growth within 30 years.

Hon. Mr. Duff, on behalf of the Government, expressed their realization of the importance of the matter and promised careful consideration of the proposal.

The members of the deputation, besides those mentioned were Messrs. Alex. Weatherson, Warkworth; Joseph Hickson, Mount Horeb; Charles Sherwin, Roseneath; Alex. Wight, Bowmanville; R. Caldwell, Osaca; James Byers, Blackstock; Daniel McColl, Wooler; Herbert Rosevear, Port Hope.

One of the Essentials

On your winter vacation you will most certainly want a bottle of Herpicide. This is doubly true if your trip contemplates a visit to a warmer climate. It is under conditions of warmth and humidity that the viciousness of the dandruff germ is particularly noticeable.

AS IMPORTANT AS HER TOOTH BRUSH

"I find Newbro's Herpicide very beneficial for dandruff. I would no more think of going on a journey without a bottle of Herpicide than I would without my tooth powder. By using it often and thoroughly I find I do not require a shampoo as frequently and my hair is much nicer."
Middlebury, Vt. Mrs. M. J. Wiltse.

AN OPINION FROM THE WORLD'S GREATEST LADY RIFLE SHOT

"Travelling as I do—almost continuously, I have been troubled a great deal with dandruff and falling hair and until I tried Herpicide I never found a remedy that was satisfactory.
Herpicide is a delightful preparation and fulfills the claims you make for it and no lady's toilet is complete without it. I heartily recommend it to my friends."
Nutley, N. J. Annie Oakley

The germ is always busy. There is no escape except in the use at regular intervals of Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide can be sure and certain death to this germ and is the one really reliable remedy.

An imitation or something just as good won't do. Insist on having genuine Herpicide.

The greatest invention in concentrated foods during the last half century—

OXO

in cubes

OXO in bottles has long been known the world over for its purity, its strength and its delicious flavour.

It has taken ten years to learn how to concentrate all OXO'S goodness into Cube form. Here it is at last—a boon to everybody.

OXO Cubes are so highly concentrated that it takes ½ pound of choice lean beef to make each single cube. A tin of ten cubes, made from 2½ pounds of beefsteak, can be slipped into the vest pocket.

It's now as easy to make a cup of OXO as to sugar a cup of tea.

Ask your dealer for OXO in bottles or for the new Cubes in tins of 4, 10 or 50. 26

THE GENUINE ALWAYS SUPERIOR TO THE IMITATION

The experienced buyer never permits the shrewd merchant to convince him that an imitation is superior to the genuine advertised article. In refusing a substitute he protects himself and the manufacturers who have expended enormous sums in giving the public information regarding their products.

Advertised articles have stood the test of public approval on their merits and materials embracing their make-up. The mere fact that they are imitated is competent testimony of their worth.

HAVELOCK'S LATEST BUDGET OF NEWS

Examiner Special.

Havelock, Feb. 28.—Miss Loretta Bennett returned home yesterday from Ottawa where she has spent the past three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Green entertained a few friends at their home on Wednesday night in honour of their guest, Mr. Flynn.

Mrs. Webb and daughter, Miss Lillian were in Toronto on Friday, where the latter was trying her examinations in music.

Messrs. Sawyers & Browning, successors to Jas. Thompson & Co., opened for the first on Friday with a complete line of new up-to-date spring goods.

Mrs. Covet and daughter, Miss Ettie of Cobalt, arrived in town on Wednesday and will spend the remainder of the winter with her brother, Mr. Jason Roe of Preneveau.

Mrs. Tiddy Pace, of Cordova spent the week with friends at Toronto.

Dr. and Mrs. Holdcroft spend Monday in Peterborough.

Mr. Jas. E. Fowler spent Wednesday in Peterborough on business.

Mrs. P. O. Nelson returned home from Toronto on Saturday last where she has spent the past few months with friends.

Miss Annie Smith left last week for Toronto, where she has accepted a position in the T. Eaton Co's music department.

The following are billed to take part in the Benefit Concert to be held in the Opera House on Monday night next. Miss Choate's Orchestra class in town will be heard in a couple of numbers, and which the citizens are anxiously and eagerly waiting to hear. Miss Choate may also be heard in a Violin solo. Mrs. P. J. Wright, Misses Rose and McGill will contribute solos. Mesdames Vansickle and Kindred and Messrs. Kindred and Graham.

Mrs. Alex. Rose and son, Master Charlie, left on Saturday to visit her sister, Mrs. J. W. Burns at 77 Charles Street, Toronto.

Mrs. J. W. Bryans has returned home from Peterborough where she has spent the past week.

Mr. Albert Armstrong of Toronto spent Sunday at his home here.

Mr. John Richards of Frankford is in town this week on business.

Messrs. Browning and Sawyer have moved their families to town and have taken up residence on Donald Street.

Mrs. McWilliams of Marmora is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Clarke.

Mr. Jack Moffat of Trenton spent Sunday and Monday in town, the guest of Mr. T. P. Lancaster.

Miss Julia Choate of Peterborough was in town on Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. Alex Innis spent Saturday in Peterborough.

Mr. Thos. Curtis was in Peterborough on Friday on business.

Mr. Jas. E. Fowler spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Toronto on business.

Mrs. S. C. Cross left on Monday to visit her brother, Mr. Wm. Barlow at Toronto.

Mr. Burnett was in Peterborough on Monday.

Mr. Rollie Graham of Peterboorugh was home over Monday.

Mrs. Ed. Williams and children and Mrs. Burnett are visiting with friends at Toronto.

The Benefit Football Concert which was held in the Opera House on Monday evening last proved a huge success and a great treat. The Orchestra under the direction of Miss Julia Choate of Peterborough was heard in a couple of numbers and their excellence did indeed surprise the Havelock citizens, and Miss Choate and the members of the Orchestra are worthy of the highest praise.

The programme throughout was everything to be desired, and the audience were well pleased by the loud applause after each number. Following are the names of those who so kindly assisted in the evening's programme:

Mrs. P. J. Wright, vocal solo.
Miss Bessie Rose, vocal solo.
Miss Evy McGee, vocal solo.
Mesdames Vansickle and Kindred and Messrs. Kindred and Graham in two quartettes.
Mr. R. Graham, vocal solo.
Mrs. Vansickle, Reading.
Mr. Wm. Andrews, Reading.
Miss Julia Choate, violin solo.
Mr. E. Bennett, popular songs.
Mr. F. White, popular songs.
Messrs. White, McBurney, Marks and Martin in two character quartettes.

Mr. W. J. Rose of town gave "Thirty minutes in Illusionland," introducing new and difficult feats of aleight of hand, which were indeed very cleverly done, "The Flag Trick" perhaps won the greatest applause.

Mrs. P. O. Nelson of town was the accompanist of the evening and most satisfactorily filled the very difficult position.

Reeve Knox very kindly acted as chairman and most ably filled the same.

The committee in charge of programme are to be congratulated on their great efforts (which must have been put forth to present such a programme. The proceeds which were large will go towards the expenses of the Football Club incurred last year.

Mr. J. W. Bryans has just received a car of coal.

Auctioneer Andrews sold by public auction on Saturday last, the farm stock and implements of Mr. Samuel Wilson, who resides on the outskirts of the village. Mr. Wilson intends to move into the village where he will reside for the present. Mr. Wilson has some idea of settling in the West and expects to take a trip there this spring.

The Amity Club has engaged Mr. Joseph Harrison as caretaker of the Club Rooms. The members may always be sure of warm comfortable rooms.

Mr. John Overend of town has been appointed local agent for Parker's Dyeing, Cleaning and Pressing Works, Peterborough, in addition to the agency for the Peterborough Steam Laundry.

Mrs. Smith, who for the past two months has been the guest of her son, Mr. Oscar Hicks returned to her home at Toronto on Sunday.

Mr. Tommy Falkner is again confined to his home with an attack of appendicitis.

The "Big 5" will hold an At Home in the Opera House on the evening of Easter Monday. Spragge's Orchestra of Belleville will supply the music.

An Adult Bible Class has been formed in connection with St. John's Church and held their first meeting on Sunday afternoon last at 3 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Holdsworth will address the class for the time being.

Mrs. Steve O'Hara has returned home after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Devlin at Eganville.

We are sorry to report the illness of Mrs. Charlie Herrington.

CO-OPERATION WITH POULTRY

From Farm and Dairy.

Progress all along the line was reported at the annual meeting of the Poultry Producers' Association of Eastern Canada, held recently at Macdonald College, Que. In the absence of Mr. Hillhouse, the president, the secretary, Mr. Elford, read the presidential address, which, in part, was as follows:

One year has not quite passed since the Association was organised, and I think we should congratulate ourselves on the progress that has been made during that time. Farmers are generally recognised as being the slowest of any class to take up co-operation for their mutual benefit and yet we are receiving numerous communications from many sections of the country asking for information regarding this co-operation system of handling poultry products. They seem to be awake to the fact that when investigations show that there is a loss of from one-third to one-half the value of our poultry products between the producer and the consumer, it is high time that they were doing something to remedy this condition. During the past year meetings have been held where requests were most urgent, and these were interesting and encouraging. Something has been done in a practical way. Upwards of five tons of dressed chickens have been sold, all milk fed, and graded according to the standards of the Association. The price received, selects, 18c; No. 1, 16c; No. 2, 14c, was most satisfactory, considering that the season's contract was made in the month of September, when the unusual high prices of this winter could hardly be foreseen.

A GOOD START.

This quantity, although not large, is a good start in the right direction, and it gave complete satisfaction, every pound being paid for as graded. We have also brought the quality of our products and system of grading before the public in an educational way. Exhibits of our various grades in eggs and poultry have been sent to the Montreal and Ottawa Fat Stock and Poultry shows, where they drew considerable attention and favorable comment. We also have the satisfaction of knowing that our agricultural representatives recognise the importance of the work we are undertaking. We are particularly indebted to the Hon. S. A. Fisher, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, who has shown his kind interest and appreciation of our work by authorising payment of all expenses which we have incurred in an educational way up to date. Also to Hon. Mr. Caron, Minister of Agriculture for Quebec, who has promised to pay $50 towards the meeting of the Executive, and $100 to be expended in educational work in the Province of Quebec. That these men recognise the value and need of the work is highly satisfactory to members of this Association.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

The prospects for the future are bright. Interest has been started. Many are asking for assistance in the marketing of eggs and poultry. Before circles can be operated, however, educational work must be done. The previous care and proper grading and handling of produce requires careful attention, and this must be one of our first works. For this purpose institute work is necessary. It is urgently needed that speakers be sent to the various communities to show the need of co-operation and the extravagance of the present system. It has been suggested that a large co-operative station should be created, one that will demonstrate fully the system under which this Association is working and one that will be an example to the other communities. One such station, run properly, might do a great deal towards convincing the producers of the advisability of co-operation and the standardisation of the Barred Rocks are the most common of all breeds of chickens in this country. A breed that is so popular is worthy of respect. It must possess striking qualities. The type illustrated may well be taken as a model.

products. Why shouldn't our prospects be bright? An Association that aims to help both ends of the industry deserves support. We do not propose that the consumer pay more; he pays enough at present. We want him to get a better quality, but we would like to see more of his price go into the producers' pocket. We would introduce a more economical system of marketing and honesty on the part of those interested. Nearly all the largest wholesalers heartily support our work, our best retailers are with us, and the assistance given by some of these men, especially in Montreal and Toronto, is much appreciated. They are our partners. A system that works for the weal of both ends should do much to make an industry that Canada should be proud of.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

The treasurer's report showed receipts of $193, an expenditure of $122.82, and a balance of $70.18.

On the suggestion of Mr. Chapman a committee was appointed to revise the grades of the association. It was pointed out that the grades originally agreed upon were simply something to work on. They were not ideal, and it was decided to bring them more into conformity with those of the American continent.

The following officers were elected: Honorary president, Dr. Robertson; honorary vice-president, Prof. Gilbert; president, Mr. A. P. Hillhouse; 1st vice-president, Bro. Ligouri; 2nd vice-president, Mr. Peter White; auditor, Mr. T. F. Ward; executive, Messrs. J. H. Gunn, J. E. Morin, Prof. Graham, A. A. Armstrong, G. Robertson, J. Landry, J. Cochrane, K. Fiske, L. P. Shortall, J. W. Dunfield, E. A. Chapman, A. G. Taylor, H. E. Baird, G. R. Tyles, D. McDonald.

Free To Women

Mrs. Cora B. Miller is Spending A Fortune In Giving Medical Treatment Absolutely Free to Suffering Women.

A 50c Package Will Be Sent Free To Every Woman Who Is Ailing.

Thousands of Women Bless Her Name

Grateful Letters From All Over the World Tell of Wonderful Results With Mrs. Miller's Mild Home Treatment.

Many thousand women have already accepted Mrs. Miller's generous offer to give free to every sufferer a regular treatment of her mild home remedy. From every civilised country come thousand of kind, grateful letters from ladies whose hearts overflow with gratitude because this pleasant vegetable remedy has restored them to old time health and strength.

Mrs. Francis M. Harris of Dover, La., writes: "I feel like a new woman and can do my work without having that old tired feeling I am happy to know that I am well again."

"It has relieved me of my constant suffering and I have not words to express my gladness. It was surely a Godsend to me, and I thank Him that there is such a wonderful medicine on earth for suffering women."—Mrs. Carrie Bailey, Pickneyville, Ala.

Mrs. Miller asks no one to take her word, but only wants to prove it to any sufferer. Mail the coupon if you are a sufferer from any female complaint to Mrs. Cora B. Miller, Kokomo, Ind. Prove for yourself at Mrs. Miller's expense what this marvellous remedy may do for you. Do not delay; send the coupon now.

There Is Some One Near You Cured by Mrs. Miller

There is hardly a country, city, town or village in which there does not reside some grateful lady who has been relieved after years of suffering by Mrs. Miller's mild home treatment, even after doctors and physicians failed. No matter where you live, she can refer you to ladies in your own locality who can and will tell any sufferer that this marvellous remedy really has relieved or cured women.

Only bear this in mind. Her offer will not last long, for thousands and thousands and thousands of women who are suffering will take advantage of this generous means of getting the free treatment. So if you are ailing, do not wait another day but send the free coupon to Mrs. Miller to-day.

Room Only For The Well

In this age and day of the world there is no room for the woman who can't take her part in society, the home, school, church or business. If you are dragging out a miserable, feeble, ailing, good-for-nothing existence, you feel that you might as well be dead and done for.

And so you well might in days gone by. Then troubles such as yours meant a living death, or the knife, that was often worse than death; but now, thanks to the generosity of Mrs. Miller, of Kokomo, the simple home treatment, which has relieved so many thousands of ladies in the privacy of their own home is yours for the asking. It's yours to accept or reject. Don't say your case is hopeless, go on and suffer, or try to cure yourself. Many of the cases reported have been given up to die of the knife. Mrs. Miller's treatment benefited them. Can you doubt what it may do for you?

Send No Money, Just Your Name and Address, If You Are A Sufferer From Any Women's Disease or Piles.

In the past few years Mrs. Miller has spent thousands of dollars in sending medicien to afflicted women.

Several years ago Mrs. Miller learned of a mild and simple preparation that cured herself and several friends of female weakness and piles. She was besieged by so many women needing treatment that she decided to furnish it to those who might call for it. She started with only a few dollars capital, and the remedy, possessing true and wonderful merit, produced wonderful results where doctors and other remedies failed. The demand grew so rapidly she was several times compelled to seek larger quarters. She now occupies one of the city's largest office buildings, and almost one hundred lady clerks and stenographers are required to assist in this great business.

Some time ago it was announced that she would give to women who suffered from female diseases another $10,000.00 worth of her medicine. She has fulfilled this promise, but as she is still receiving requests from thousands upon thousands of women from all parts of the world, who have not yet used her remedy, she has decided to continue to give away the medicine to those who are suffering and unable to find relief.

Mrs. Miller's wonderful remedy is especially prepared for the treatment of leucorrhea or whitish discharges, ulceration, displacements or falling of the womb, profuse, scanty or painful periods, uterine or ovarian tumours or growths; also pains in the head back and bowels, bearing down feelings, nervousness, creeping feeling up the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weariness and piles from any cause, or no matter of how long standing.

Don't Close Your Eyes, Ears and Mouth. Mrs. Miller Wants to Relieve You of Your Suffering. Fill Out The Coupon and Send Today.

Every woman sufferer, unable to find relief, who will write Mrs. Miller now, without delay, will receive by mail, free of charge, a 50 cent box of her simple home remedy, also her book with explanatory illustrations showing why women suffer and how they can treat themselves at home without the aid of a physician.

Let me try to relieve you of those tormenting and severe pains. The coupon below, dear, may bring you relief. Send it to-day.

How to Treat Any Case of Piles

I want to tell you flatly and plainly that any woman or man either, for that matter, who suffers from any form of piles, may place their faith in my treatment, and I believe they will not be disappointed. It's intended for piles as well as the diseases peculiar to women. It assists in healing diseased membrane surfaces, no matter where located, and I verily believe that this remedy has cured more bad cases of piles than all the so-called "pile cures" and doctors in the country. My remedy acts speedily. It's safe and it's lasting. The purpose is to relieve the intense torture, the burning, smarting, and itching is relieved and you should feel better right from the start. Send for my free treatment at once and see for yourself.

Why Men Desert Wives

A Large Per Cent. of the Wife Desertion and Divorces Due To Female Weakness.

I should have taken better care of myself, I suppose. I was sick and suffering. No one but a woman can ever know how I suffered. I was irritable. I couldn't be to my husband the wife I ought to have been. He, being a man, couldn't understand. We drifted apart. He sought his pleasures elsewhere. Finally, there was nothing but the divorce court that could settle our differences.

That's the sad story that eight out of every ten women who have passed through the ordeal of the divorce court, as well as the countless thousands of deserted wives who are not divorced, know deep down in their hearts was the real cause of their troubles.

A sick wife, a neglected home, and the publicity and disgrace of the court room to end it all! There wouldn't be half as much talk of the divorce evil in the world if only every wife and mother would realise her duty to preserve her health and strength.

No woman has the right to expect her husband to devote his leisure hours to his home and her when she is leading a dragged-out, hopeless, down-in-the-mouth existence that would discourage the greatest optimist on earth.

Mrs. Cora B. Miller's marvellous home remedy has done as much to prevent divorce as all of the messages to congress and conventions in the world. The woman who is bright and cheerful and well has a home that reflects her own good feeling and discontent finds no place therein.

Mrs. Miller's aid and advice is as free to you as God's sunshine or the air you breathe. She wants to show to you that her common-sense home treatment may relieve you just as surely as it cured her years ago in her humble cottage.

If you are a sufferer from any female trouble, no matter what it is ,send the coupon below to Mrs. Cora B. Miller at once.

Put Your Faith in Mrs. Miller

My word that my home treatment should relieve you of female diseases or piles doesn't necessarily mean anything. But when my word and medicine are backed up by thousands of ladies, that's evidence you cannot doubt. There is hardly a county or small village in the land that does not contain some poor sufferer that was relieved. I didn't force them to use my medicine. They took it of their own free will and it benefited them. You should have faith in that sort of a remedy every time. Just cut out the coupon, send it to day and prove what this marvellous treatment will do for you.

This Noted Divine Says:

"I am personally acquainted with Mrs Cora B. Miller,. I most cheerfully and voluntarily testify that myself and family have been greatly benefited by the use of Mrs. Miller's home remedies, and heartily recommend them to the general public."—Rev. R. G. Roscamp, 30 Terrace Ave., Newcastle, Pa.

Don not delay. Send the coupon to-day.

Free Treatment Coupon

This coupon is good for a full sized regular 50-cent package of Mrs. Miller's Mild Home Treatment. Just fill in your name and address on dotted lines below and mail at once to Mrs. Cora B. Miller, 7737 Miller Building, Kokomo, Ind., and you will receive the remedy in plain package at once.

hysterical mirth in it. Run down to see them, indeed, and she the affianced bride of Philip Lydington of the exclusive Lydingtons of Redgate! The pride of a hundred Lydingtons was in her face and figure as she tossed the letter aside. The next mail carried an elaborately engraved card announcing the early marriage of Helena Marie Vernon and Philip Clyde Lydington.

A COURT-MARTIAL

A Short Story.

I was only a young man when the war broke out and had been married only four years. We were living at Vimagne then, and I assisted my father, who owned a small vineyard. We were accounted well-to-do, and my wife was the prettiest girl in the neighbourhood. We were very happy.

But I shall proceed with my story.

A son was born to us before the first anniversary of our marriage—little Victor, who is now so far away. He was a beautiful child, and we both loved him; nay, almost worshipped him. Yes, we were happy. But then came the war. You know how confident we were. I prophesied how we should overrun Prussia, and in so many weeks the emperor would be dictating terms of peace to the perfidious enemy in Berlin.

I was beside myself with rage and shame when, after several battles, I saw that we were a beaten nation. I would go to Paris, I said, and enroll myself in the army; but there came a letter from my lifelong friend, Jacques Lessurrer, of Lyons, asking me, if I loved France, to raise a body of Francs-tireurs in our midst.

I did not hesitate, I was popular in our district, and when I called a meeting nearly 40 enrolled themselves, and with one voice, named me Captain.

I had hardly time to drill and organize my men when the Prussians came into the neighbourhood. Soon our blood was boiling at the stories of their brutality and cruelty to the defenceless villagers.

Dame Bec, a little withered old woman, used to bring us news from the village. One morning I received news that my little Victor was very ill and that he continually called for his papa. You will understand that I had not seen my wife and child for nearly a month.

I did not sleep at all that night, and my burden was no lighter in the morning, when Dame Bec came again She brought us news that the Prussians had learned who I was and the Colonel had posted sentries night and day about my door to capture me if I ventured to see my child by stealth.

A sad week passed and then came heavier tidings. The fever had left my little boy, but he was very weak and cried incessantly for his paps.

My heart ached. My child was dying, and if he went my wife's heart would break, and what should I do?

I went apart to think, and I came to a decision.

Leaving my comrades at dusk, I hastened through the woods, carrying only a dagger, and crept near to my house.

It was even as old Dame Bec had said. A Prussian was marching around the house and another was posted in the road some 20 paces off.

I crouched for some minutes, wondering if it were possible to kill the sentry, but I saw that it could not be done without his comrade hearing and giving the alarm.

Suddenly, moved by a reckless impulse, I rose up and walked straight to the side door.

In an instant the sentry was on me. He was a grizzled veteran—a Sergeant. "Who goes there?" he asked in barbarous French.

Half-measures were useless, and, besides, I was reckless. "I am Victor Verreau," I replied boldly, "and, as you know, my son is dying and calling for me. Permit me to go in, monsieur, and then you can do as you please. He is my son, monsieur."

He stood looking at me for quite a minute, as if he could not comprehend.

"It is well," he said suddenly, I shall deal with you when you have seen him. You cannot escape."

I thanked him and went in. My wife heard my entrance and met me with tears of gladness. I kissed her and asked for the little one.

"He still calls for you, but, oh, so feebly, so feebly."

She took me up to the little chamber where my baby boy lay.

"Look, my darling," she said; and my boy feebly turned his eyes; then with a glad cry flung himself into my arms. I wept, my wife wept. "My dear papa," he said, again and again, stroking me softly, and looking into my face.

Presently my wife whispered, "Thanks to heaven, he is better already."

I talked to him, and told him I was hunting in the fields, and could not come to see him because of the Prussians, but he must get well and come and help me drive them away. "Yes, he laughed; and soon fell asleep in my arms.

I kissed him and gently put him on the bed, stifling a sob, as I thought it was the last time, and turned to my wife. It had not occurred to her until then to ask how I had got in. I told her I had bribed the Prussian for a five minutes' interview, and now I must go at once.

I left her with the little one and went down and opened the door. The Prussian was waiting for me.

He did not speak, nor, to my surprise, did he lay hold of me. We stood in silence looking into each other's eyes.

"Monsieur," he whispered at last, "be gone quietly. I too have a son."

I stood amazed.

"I—I do not understand," I stammered.

"Begone you fool," he whispered fiercely. "Quick!"

Then I comprehended, and took his hand.

"God bless you," I said. "Tell me your name."

"Begone, fool—Steinkopf.

I fled to the wood as one in a dream.

We rejoiced greatly when Dame Bec came the next day.

"The little one is much better and will recover,"' she said. "Ah, it was a miracle—for we know all. But that poor Prussian who let you in, he was seen and arrested, and, poor fellow, he dies at sunset. His Colonel is furious."

An hour later I walked up to the Colonel's quarters.

I was seized and taken before him—no, I will not mention his name; let it be forgotten. A little man with cruel eyes and iron jaws—I well understood that he had no pity.

A court-martial was formed. I was tried and condemned to be shot with Steinkopf.

"At 5 o'clock," said the Colonel with a laugh, "that we may have the mess cleared up before dark."

A few minutes before 5 I was led into the garden of the headquarters, whither presently Steinkopf was brought.

We had taken our places and were waiting for the Colonel when suddenly there was a clatter on the road outside and someone whispered:

"His Highness Prince Frederick."

The Colonel was just coming forward. When he heard the cry his face turned purple, and he cursed vilely under his breath as the Prince advanced.

He returned the Colonel's salute gravely, saying sharply: "Ah, Colonel, what have we here?"

The Colonel was fawning like a dog.

"Spies, Your Highness."

"Indeed?" sai d the Prince. "But that uniform," pointing to Steinkopf, "surely, he is not a spy."

And then I spoke. I expected no mercy for myself, but that good Steinkopf should not die. I rushed forward and knelt at his feet.

"Hear me, Prince!" I implored.

I told the story breathlessly — so breathlessly that he stopped and begged me to be calm, as he could not follow me.

"It is not for myself," I cried in conclusion. "You Prussians look upon a man that fights for his country as vermin to be kileld without pity. But this Steinkopf—does he deserve death for having pity on me, because he too has a son?"

The Prince did not answer, but called Steinkopf forward. "Is this true?" he asked, sternly.

"Yes, Your Highness," said the Sergeant, saluting, gruffly.

"Is it a Prussian's duty to allow his enemies to escape?" asked the Prince.

Looking him full in the face Steinkopf replied, "A good soldier ought to be humane."

"Right, Steinkopf, right, my good man," said the Prince, with a proud smile, placing his hand on the Sergeant's shoulder, "A man who faces death in the cause of humanity is worthy of honour. Is it not so, Colonel?" And he took the cross from his breast and pinned it upon Steinkopf's. "So that your son may not forget that his father was a true soldier," he added with as mile. And the men cheered like mad.

"And you," said the Prince, sternly turning to me, "you are released on condition that you either return home or serve in the regular army. We do not recognize the Francs-tireurs. Often they are only bands of assassins."

I would not argue with him—it was not the time. I said I would go to Paris and serve in the army if it were allowed.

"That is well," he added, and then with a smile, he added, "and I have to thank you for letting me know the worth of one of my soldiers. Thank you. You may go." And he shook me by the hand.—Buffalo Enquirer.

LETTER FROM QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY

On Thursday evening last the Political Science Club was addressed by Mr. F. A. Acland, Deputy Minister of Labour, at Ottawa. The speaker chose as his subject the work of the Labour Department. Special attention was paid to the statistical work and the operation of boards of conciliation. It is the aim of the Labour Department to gather all statistics regarding the general labour conditions in Canada. Those who have ever loked through a copy of the Labour Gazette, the monthly publication of the Department (which by the way only costs the nominal sum of 20 cents per year) will agree that in the matter of gathering statistics about labour conditions the Department have made a great success. In this publication, are also published reports of the proceedings of Boards of Conciliation. These Boards of Conciliation are provided for under the Lemieux Act of 1907 in the framing of which Professor Adam Shortt, late of Queen's University, had a great part to play. Mr. Acland stated that probably no other act of the Canadian Parliament had received such careful study by other Governments as the Lemieux Act. In its short time of working this Act, which makes a strike in quasi-public works illegal until first the case in dispute has been submitted to a Board of Conciliation, has proven itself a speedy means of settling all trade disputes, and saving the country from much inconvenience and loss. Mr. Acland's address was very comprehensive, and gave a most detailed account of the working of the Labour Department.

Since the visit of Mr. J. R. Mott to Queen's, there has been conducted a Mission Study Class, on Thursday afternoon. Last Thursday we had a peculiarly interesting leader in the person of Mr. Shimizu. Mr. Shimizu is a Jap from Tokio, and is a graduate of Tokio University. He is at Queen's on a peculiar errand. He is a Buddhist and is preparing for the Buddhist Priesthood, and has been sent to Canada by the Buddhist order to study Christianity at first hand. This is a very practical method of studying comparative theology, and Mr. Shimizu is in a rather unique position as a student at a Canadian University.

On Thursday afternoon Mr. Shimizu's subject was "The Buddhist Religion of Japan." He dealt chiefly with the origins of this faith, showing how it had risen in India, and trying to show its influence upon both the East and West. He was unable to finish his paper in the limited time at his disposal, and has consented to do so at a later date. Perhaps the most interesting part of the address, especially to the non-theological part of the audience was the remarks of the Oriental looking on the Western life and civilization of to-day. The accumulation of scientific knowledge is a nuisance to the freedom of the imagination, said Mr. Shimizu. One of the philosophies of India, which had an influence on Buddhist thought, based its life on mysticism, and, according to the speaker, is the parent of the European and American mystic schools to-day. We shall look forward to the next address of Mr. Shimizu.

During the last week the Engineering Society had two special addresses. One was from Mr. M. P. Read, of the Colonial Engineering Company, of Montreal. Mr. Read spoke on the subject of Producer Gas, a motive power instead of steam; and showed the greater economy in the use of the one over the other. The second speaker was Mr. A. J. Beaudette, late Government mining engineer for the Yukon. Mr. Beaudette's lecture on Mining operations in the Yukon was much enjoyed. He gave illustrations of mining methods prevalent there, and also touched on the general conditions of that North Country, the modes of travel, the climate, and geographical structure of the land.

The Y. M. C. A. was addressed on Thursday by Dr. Knight, on "Heredity in Relation to Pauperism and Crime". In the course of his address the speaker advocated medical inspection of school children and the erection of suitable homes for feeble-minded people.

Professor Anderson gave a very interesting paper on "Textual Criticism" before the Classical Society last week. Professor Anderson had shown himself a thorough and patient student of Classical text in his works on Livy and Virgil.

One of the most exciting games of the Intercollegiate series of hockey took place in Toronto between Queen's and Varsity. Varsity had beaten Queen's on her own ice earlier in the season, and it was thought hopeless to expect a victory in Toronto. But Queen's gained it. The scoring was very close. At half-time the score was 8 to 8, at full time 12 to 12. At the end of the first half of overtime Varsity led by 13 to 12. But Queen's finished with score of Queen's 14, Varsity 13.

Mr. G. Y. Chown, who has for many years been identified with Queen's on its administrative side, has found it necessary to resign part of his college duties, giving up the Registrarship, held since 1897, but retaining the office of Treasurer, which he has filled for the past six years. The resignation has been made necessary by the growing pressure of private business affairs, particularly the expansion of a piano factory, in which he has recently acquired a controlling interest. The efficient and progressive service rendered by Mr. Chown in his dual capacity will make all friends of the University regret the partial loss of his activities.

It is easier to grasp some opportunities than it is to let go.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTIONS

February 27, 1910.

False and True Discipleship. Matt 7: 13-29.

Golden Text. Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven, Matt. 7: 21.

Verses 13, 14.—In what sense is the gate to eternal life narrow, and the way to destruction broad?

What are the conditions for entering into eternal life?

If a man repents of, and gives up all his sins, why is it impossible for him to pass through the gate which leads to eternal life.

Verse 15.—Are there any false prophets these days, and, if so, describe them?

Is a pastor, or a Sunday School teacher, a false prophet if he preaches what he does not practice?

Verse 16.—If a man is a good husband, a kind father, an agreeable neighbour, charitable, honest, and industrious, but does not belong to any church, what reason is there for us to conclude that he is not a Christian?

Verse 17.—If a man attends church and prayer meeting regularly, and takes part in the services, but is ugly and cross to his wife and children, what reason is there for us to conclude that he is not a hypocrite?

How would you class a woman, active in church and missionary work, who habitually repeats stories, whether true or false, against the character of her neighbours?

Verse 18.—From the teaching of Jesus, how would you demonstrate that a person may, or may not, be his follower who does not delight to do good, and, having the opportunity, is not actively engaged in doing it?

Verse 19.—What is the law which operates, to eternally destroy the hope and happiness of all who persist in doing evil?

Verse 20.—What is the natural "fruit" of a follower of Jesus, and that of a follower of evil?

Verse 21-23—Jesus intimates here, that a man may be quite successful in religious work, and yet be a worker of iniquity, show how that can be possible?

How does God regard a man who prays, and yet knowingly commits sin?

Does God expect, and is it reasonable to expect, that ordinary mortals can do His will in all things?

How do you account for the self deception of men, who according to the teaching of Jesus, will walk up to the gate of heaven, thinking they are saved, but to be turned back as workers of iniquity? This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.

Verses 24-27.—Does Jesus mean, that we are to do literally as he works read, in this sermon on the mount, or to take them as principles and do as he did, form the personal acquaintance of the Father, and then do His will in the details?

If a man loves God and his fellows, and is following Jesus in doing good, always being true to the voice of God in his soul, what reason is there to believe that that is building upon the impregnable rock?

Verses 28, 29.—What was it that distinguished the teaching of Jesus from that of the scribes?

EIGHT FREIGHT CARS WERE DITCHED NEAR CAMPBELLFORD BY BROKEN FLANGE LAST NIGHT

Accident Occurred to Fourth Car From Engine Travelling Down Grade—Piled up on Tracks and Line Was Temporarily Blocked.

PASSENGERS TRANSFERRED

A broken flange on one of the wheels of the fourth car from the engine was the cause of an accident on the Belleville line of the G. T. R. during the night, in which eight cars left the rails and formed a rather bad tangle across the tracks and in the ditch. About nine o'clock last night the double header freight that suffered the mishap passed through Peterborough going east. The broken flange caused the wheels of the fourth car to leave the rails and in an instant seven others had followed it. Six of them were loaded and the other two were empty coal cars. It is not definitely known what was the exact time of the wreck, but the auxiliary which was called from Lindsay passed through the city at an early hour this morning. Beyond the damage to rolling stock there was no other loss. No one was hurt and it was learned that the line was cleared in time for this afternoon's train to Belleville. There was but little delay to the morning passenger train from Belleville. The Lakefield train was sent down with Conductor Jobbitt in charge, and the passengers were transferred and brought to Peterborough.

It was not definitely known what was the extent of the damage to the cars. One rumour was to the effect that several telegraph poles were tumbled over and that the wires were down. The line-men were sent to the scene of the mishap, apparently substantiating the raport.

ONTARIO COAL CO'S DAILY APHORISMS

Watch Their Advertisements Every Day in The Examiner.

In order to attract public interest to their coal announcements, and keep their ads. fresh and bright, the Ontario Coal Co. have arranged to place at the head of their ad. each day a short, pithy sentence, containing some abstract statement worth reading. The idea is a good one. These proverbs or aphorisms, in short, defined sentences, are always good reading. Collier's pays a man $12,000 a year to dictate an intelligent typographic expression in every advertisement, and the Ladies' Home Journal has an expert, who does a similar service. The Ontario Coal Co's. advertisements are among the most forceful in the Examiner, for their size, and this new feature will prove an additional drawing card. See to-day's advt. and watch for them every day.

WHY SALVES FAIL TO CURE ECZEMA

They Clog the Pores—Only a Liquid Can Reach the Inner Skin.

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged.

This — the quality of penetrating— probably explains the tremendous success of the only standard liquid eczema cure, oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., as compounded in D. D. D. Prescription.

After ten years of cure after cure, the world's leading skin specialists have accepted this as the true eczema cure. If you are a sufferer from skin disease, or have a friend who is, write at once for a free trial bottle to the D.D.D. Laboratories, Dept. P.E., 23 Jordan St., Toronto. This trial bottle will relieve the itching torture at once

Trolleyless Car

Tested on a Horse Car Line in New York—Will be Adopted Permanently if it Proves Satisfactory.

New York, Feb. 26.—The long-promised trolleyless street car which Thomas A. Edison declared five years ago would one day revolutionize urban transportation was tested to-day. On Monday it will go on a regular passenger schedule, and if the cost is anywhere near what its inventor claims for it, fifteen of the cars will be put into service here within ninety days, replacing horse cars. Except for the undetermined element of cost, the car seemed to leave little to be desired in its initial five-mile spin across town. It carried as passengers a group of transportation engineers familiar with trolley car economies.

Ralph B. Beach of Mr. Edison's West Orange plant, who declares it will soon supplant trolley cars, is responsible for the application of the electric storage cell idea to street cars.

"I joined Mr. Edison's forces," he said, "after eighteen years of service in the General Electric Company. That was four years ago.

"'I've got the storage battery perfected,' said Mr. Edison to me two years ago. 'We need now to develop a car adapted to its particular economies. I haven't time to develop

Clergyman Stopped The Horse In Time

Rev. W. C. Riddiford Acted Quickly When He Saw Young Man in Dangerous Position—Was Knocked Down by Horse and Caught by Sleigh

A NARROW ESCAPE

The presence of mind and celerity of action displayed by Rev. Mr. Riddiford, pastor of Park Street Baptist church, undoubtedly saved a young man, named Jarvis, from serious injury yesterday. He was standing on the crossing on Charlotte street, leading towards the Grand Trunk station, waiting for the C. G. E. car to pass. His back was turned to the centre of the roadway and, in consequence, he did not notice the approach of a horse and cutter, driven by Miss Babcock. The latter apparently did not see the young man, for the horse struck him with its fore feet in the middle of the back, knocking him down and passing over him. He was caught under the cutter as he was lying crosswise. The horse was continuing on his way when Mr. Riddiford ran out and grasped the reins of the horse, bringing it to a standstill, much to the surprise of the driver, who was at a loss to understand his action. The young man was extricated from the position into which he seemed to have been locked, and, excepting a rather severe shaking up he was not seriously injured. Had the horse continued on across the track it was considered by those who witnessed the accident, that serious results would have happened to Mr. Jarivs.

WARNING!

Since the discovery in England and the introduction into Canada of SALVIA, the Great Hair Grower, and on account of the phenomenal sale it has had, others have tried to imitate SALVIA. Beware and make certain you get the original. Every bottle bears the same, "SALVIA" (Latin for sage).

The results obtained from using SALVIA are remarkable. Falling hair is at once fastened to the scalp; new life springs up from the roots, and the growth of the hair is amazing. Dead hairs are restored to their natural colour. The Dandruff germ is destroyed. Every bottle has a written guarantee. McDermid & Jury always keep a stock of SALVIA on hand. Try a bottle and watch your hair grow. SALVIA is the only preparation, as far as we know, that is sold with a guarantee. A large bottle for 50c.

Sold Liquor To Engineer Paid $50

Trial of Case Against Robert L. Blair, of Sharbot Lake, at Kingston —Engineer McGlade's Run From Smith's Falls to Havelock

ENGINEER DISCHARGED

Special to The Examiner.

Kingston, Feb. 26.—For selling liquor to a railway engineer while on duty, Robert L. Blair, an hotelkeeper of Sharbot Lake, was yesterday fined $50 and costs or one month in jail by Police Magistrate Farrell. The hotelkeeper was charged with having sold liquor to Michael McGlade, an engineer on the C. P. R., on December 20, 1909. The charge was laid by the company. Crown Attorney Whiting conducted the prosecution, assisted by E. S. Sinclair, of Toronto, who appeared on behalf of the company. J. McD. Mowat appeared for Mr. Blair. The case was the first of the kind to be tried in this city and created a great deal of interest, especially with railroadmen, and quite a number of them were in the police court to hear it.

The freight train which McGlade was on was running from Smith's Falls to Havelock. McGlade was intoxicated and was immediately dismissed.

$500,000 EXPECTED FROM BIG FIGHT

With Sufficient Accommodation Receipts Should Reach Big Figures

New York, Feb. 26.—It was figured out to-day by several fight promoters that if an arena with 50,000 seats could be provided, the receipts of the Jeffries-Johnston fight could be forced up to half a million dollars. It was shown that $15,000 seats could be set apart at $5 each, 20,000 at $10 each and 15,000 more at $15 each. The promoters of the mill have received countless applications for seats regardless of price, it is reported, and a big financial clean-up is figured upon.

GENERAL STRIKE MAY BE CALLED POSSIBILITY OF MORE TROUBLE

Special to The Examiner.

Philadelphia, Feb. 26.—A squad of detectives were searching the town last night for John J. Murphy, president of the Central Labour Union. Murphy, who has been talking excitedly since the beginning of the strike, stood on the corner last evening and gave utterance to the following:

"You can depend on it, that at Sunday's meeting a general strike will be called. If one man is shot in Kensington there will follow a carnival of riot and bloodshed that will startle the country. I do not care to be responsible for such an outbreak. The State police would be helpless. I want it understood that there are men in the north-east part of the city who can shoot as straight as any trooper who ever drew breath. Just you wait a little while for developments, and you will see something that will open your eyes."

The Rapid Transit Company sent out at 10 o'clock to-night its reply to the clergymen of the city, a flat defusal to arbitrate anything.

The Rapid Transit Company had in operation to-day about 50 per cent. of its normal car service. Obviously the service was much better in the business district. To-day cars were running at two-minute intervals, and they were very well patronized. The company failed to send out from only one barn, the station at Second and Wyoming Sts. Only one in six of the cars was guarded by a policeman, the cessation of order giving the city policemen a chance to go home and get some sleep. Germantown, Kensington and other districts, where shooting and brick-throwing had been constant until the coming of the State constabulary, were calm and untroubled. State constabulary had a dull time of it to-day. Their main business has been to patrol the bad spots of the city and keep crowds from collecting. They met with no resistance.

Failed In Attempt To Wreck Train

Police Frustrated Effort to Dynamite a Train Bringing State Constabulary to South Bethlehem to Protect Property.

AN ARMED CAMPAIGN

Special to The Examiner.

South Bethlehem, Pa., Feb. 26.—Called from Philadelphia half a troop of the State Constabulary arrived here quietly this morning to suppress rioting among the 10,000 men of the Bethlehem Steel Company. The closing of the plant by Charles M. Schwab, after the strikers had attacked the men remaining, has increased the seriousness of the situation. The police early to-day frustrated an attempt to dynamite a train on which it was reported that the Constabulary were to arrive. South Bethlehem this morning resembled an armed camp.

DESCRIPTION OF NEW BALLOT BOX

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—As several of the citizens are much interested in my "modern voting machine," allow me space, please, in your columns to make a few explanations. I am fully protected both in Canada and the United States. There are two ways of using this machine—by using the single ballots, or by the ordinary ballots as used now. First in regard to the single ballots, there would be a portable folding booth, inside of which is a cabinet running to the full length of the booth; at each end of the booth are swing doors, the exit door having on it a bell to give notice that the person voting is comin out. This cabinet contains the ballot boxes with a partition between each box—on top of the cabinet, over each ballot box is a small voting machine, connected with the ballot box by slots fitted together.

The person casting his vote goes into the booth, the name of each candidate being on the front of each machine, drops the ballot for his particular candidate's name upon it, through the slot, draws a lever which marks the ballot box below, the lever then springs back to its former position. At the end of the cabinet is a box for receiving rejected ballots.

This booth and cabinet with machines can be easily put up, taken down and laid away for future use in a very short time.

Second.—In regard to the ordinary ballots now in use something more simple can be used. I have a stamp placed on only one machine to mark and fold the ballot, the one voting then drops it into this machine, presses on the lever, which places a private mark upon it and drops it into the ballot box below—the lever springing back to former position. A small register is then used for each candidate he has voted for.

This machine can be manufactured out of metal and would be cheap, durable and easily operated. This being a full description of the system, I will leave it for the public to discuss.

Anyone wishing further information or wishing to see the machine in operation, I will be pleased to show the working of it, as soon as it is returned from Ottawa where it now is.

Mrs. McCarth yand myself will place 5 per cent. of the manufactured article in Ontario, to be given to the Children's Aid Society of this city, if the good citizens of Peterborough will assist in furthering this enterprise in preparing it for the market.

I am yours sincerely,

EXAMINING AS TO SANITY

Dr. Clarke, of the Toronto Asylum, and Dr. Bruce Smith, in the City To-day—Robt. Henderson Being Examined

IS ONLY 17 YEARS OLD

Dr. Clarke, of the Toronto Asylum, and Dr. Bruce Smith are in the city to-day. It is understood that these gentlemen are here in connection with the examination of Robert Henderson as to his sanity. Henderson is the man charged with the murder of Margaret McPherson. He is at present in the county gaol awaiting trial. He is only seventeen years of age.

ANOTHER GERM DESTROYER.

Herpicide is Death to Dandruff Germs

The germ burrows into the scalp, throwing up the cuticle in thin scales, called dandruff or scurff, and digging at the root of the hair where it saps the vitality. First comes brittle hair, then lustreless and dead-like hair, then falling hair, and, finally baldness. Nine-tenths of the hair troubles are caused by dandruff. Without dandruff, hair will grow luxuriantly, as nature intended. "Herpicide" kills the dandruff germ leaving the hair to grow unhampered, as it does with the American red man. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

BITTEN BY A DOG

A commercial traveller named Freizlich, employed by Robert Darling and Company, of Toronto, was bitten by a dog at Havelock this week. On account of the rabies scare the authorities had the animal killed and sent the head to Toronto for examination.

Mr. W. Johnston of That Township Had Unique Experience—Three Sons and One Daughter Also Saw Mysterious Parson.

NEIGHBOURHOOD AROUSED

The residents of Cavan township have been greatly excited during the past few days over a story that is being told by a farmer by the name of Johnston. Mr. Johnston is in the city to-day and has related his experience to several citizens here. That a ghost appeared before him, his daughter and three of his sons, several nights during the past week, Mr. Johnston is prepared to swear. The statement seems to be beyond belief but each of the five persons are positive that they saw an apparition.

Appeared to Daughter.

This strange and mysterious creature that is causing the sensation appeared first to the young lady of the house. One night last week she was milking a cow in the stable when suddenly there rose before her the form of an old white haired man. She was so terribly frightened that she ran into the house and brought out her brothers. They too saw the old man appear before them and on each succeeding night it came up before them.

Mr. Johnston and his family are all prepared to swear as to the truth of what they say, and one son claims that this "ghost" spoke to him in reference to some property.

To be strong you must have good appetite, good digestion and good assimilation, Miller's Compound Iron Pills bring all these.—Wm. Madill, Druggist.

ENJOYABLE PARTY

Mr and Mrs. Henry Greene, 202 Perry St., gave a party at their home last night for their twelve grandchildren. The early evening was spent in games and music, and a thoroughly enjoyable evening was passed. The twelve grandchildren are R. C. Braund's family of six, the five children of Mr. J. M. Greene and the son of Mr. C. Greene. The little ones had a splendid evening and enjoyed their grandparents' thoughtfulness.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Special to The Examiner.

Hanover, N.H., Feb. 26.—A number of Dartmouth students had a close escape from death, when fire early to-day destroyed the dormitory of South Fayerweather Hall, here, with a loss of $80,000. The flames started in the basement of South Fayerweather Hall, and before they were discovered had swept up through all four stories. The sixty students in the building leaped from a score of windows, climbed down waterpipes and scurried out into the twelve below zero temperature practically unclad.

Board Of Works Discussed Sidewalk Through The Park

An important and busy session of the Board of Works was held last night, the main business of the meeting being the consideration of the sidewalks and sewers to be built. Those present were Ald. Hicks, chairman, Mayor Morrow, Ald. Duffus, Metheral, Phelan and Duncan. City Engineer Hay and Street Commissioner Evans were also in attendance.

A petition was read for a sewer on Sophia St., from Burnham St. to the main sewer. The petition was laid over for later consideration.

It was moved by Ald. Duncan, seconded by Ald. Duffus, and carried, that the chairman of the board, the city engineer and the street commissioner be a committee to attend the annual meeting of the Good Roads Association at Toronto and that all their expenses be paid. On motion of Ald. Duffus and Metheral, it was decided to pay a cheque for $30,02 on land owned by Miss McGregor and used by the city. It was moved by Ald. Phelan and seconded by Ald. Duncan, that the sidewalk authorized for the north side of Lansdowne St. be built from Lock to Haggart.

Mr. William Maxwell was heard in regard to his application that he be appointed foreman of sewer work. The chairman explained that the matter of the appointment would be taken up at a later meeting.

On motion of Ald. Duffus and Phelan it was decided to advertise the sidewalks recommended by the city engineer, also on the west side of Aylmer St. from Smith to Aberdeen, the number of assessments to be twenty.

The question of building a walk across Central Park was considered and City Engineer Hay explained that on account of the raising of the ground for the Collegiate the present path was simply a drain for the water in spring time and during rain and thaws. Owing to this pedestrians cut across the park at any favourable place and did much damage to the grass. He also recommended that a catch basin be built in the prk to connect with the sewer. A motion by Ald. Duncan and Meteral that the walk be built was carried. It will not be granolithic, however, but will be durable and elevated to the height of the other ground.

It was moved and seconded by Ald. Duffus and Phelan, that the list of sidewalks before the board be constructed. This was carried. On motion of Ald. Duffus and Duncan, the recommendation of the Board of Health to construct sewers on Donegal from Brock to the creek, and on Benson St., from Benson Ave. to the end of the street was accepted.

A report was read from the city engineer regarding the cement account, showing that 112 3-4 barrels were left over from last year. In regard to the purchase of cement for this year the matter of inquiring into the prices was left in the hands of the chairman.

"Peterborough Means Progress."

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1910

LAST NIGHT'S MEETING.

The public meeting addressed by distinguished visiting members of Parliament in the Grand Opera House last night was successful in every respect, the large attendance bespoke the popular interest in the discussion of the questions that affect the good government of the country, and whose proper solution is associated with the progress of the Dominion. The speeches delivered during the evening, especially by Misses Macdonald, of Pictou, Nova Scotia, and Mr. Beland, were full of information and inspiration. We learned thereby of the manner of men who take part in the making of our laws, and assist in the work of an administration under which Canad has not only flourished proudly during the past decade and a half, but is still advancing and developing in all the interests and essentials of a great nation within the empire—self respecting and worthy of respect, gaining from the nations increasing recognition of her importance and splendid destiny. Those responsible for the organization of the meeting have reason to feel altogether gratified with its delightful success. When we can get the people of the different provinces together as we had them last night through the presence of the foremost representatives of two of our most important provinces we become better acquainted and arrive nearer that homogeneity of citizenship and harmony which has been the aim of the great leader of the Donmion, Sir Wilfrid Laurier: for whose existence every loyal and patriotic Canadian will strive.

A GREAT PREMIER.

(Montreal Witness.)

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has been continuously in harness as prime minister of this country for the past fourteen years. During the whole of that period, and for a number of years before it, his labours have been incessant and all on the heroic scale a few months of which is enough for most men. His vacations have been in homoeapathic doses, unless we count among them those progresses abroad which have made such strenuous demands upon his powers as few men could cope with. During all that time he has kept his reading, has kept in touch with the world of events and has maintained a general correspondence with all and sundry For a man who in his first prime was accounted unusually delicate, this is a surprising record. He used the recent Ash Wednesday holiday, not for rest, but to look after things in Montreal. Some who then saw him remarked on his placid, untired, unwrinkled unruffled appearance, as though of a man who, although he had many a thought, had never a care. To all, the fact that he has had even momentarily to withdraw from the active guidance of affairs will be great matter of concern, for there is no element in the country that does not respect him, and few who do not honour him. His record as a ruler of the country has been a marvellous one.

Under him Canada has made amazing strides in material prosperity and political importance. The population has increased from under 5,000,000 to 7,500,000, or 50 per cent.; the total overseas trade has increased from about $240,000,000 to $650,000,000, odd, or more than two and a half time, the bank notes in circulation having increased from about $30,000,000 to $70,000,000 odd or more than double; the total deposits of the people in the banks have increased from $193,000,000 odd to $711,000,000 odd or between three and four times; two new flourishing provinces have been added to the older ones; industries have sprung up on all sides and some of them are now of international importance; river channels and canals have been deepened and widened and harbours fitted for the exigencies of modern commerce; public utilities have reached a high state of efficiency in the cities, and thousands of miles af railway have been built or are projected all over the country. All this has happened during the Laurier regime. Sir Wilfrid's continuous reign as Prime Minister has only twice before been equalled in British annals —in the case of Walpole and the younger Pitt, though the thirteen years of Sir John Macdonald's last reign follows close upon it. Gladstone was Prime Minister of England four times, but his longest term of office was but six years, and altogether he was Prime Minister only about twelve years, as compared with Sir Wilfrid's fourteen years, which we hope may extend indefinitely into future years. No one can deny that Sir Wilfrid's regime has been wonderful and glorious, and it will surely be remembered with good will and thankfulness so long as the history of Canada and the British Empire endures. It has not been all sunshine—there have been clouds; it has not been all success—there have been failures; it has not been all applause—there has been disapprobation from the patriotic as well as from the paid clayueurs. But, taking it for all in all, the period has been 'an age of gold.' Canada has had the good fortune to have her destinies presided over by a great man.

THE QUEEN'S

Toronto, the Queen City of Canada, has much of the beautiful. It is found in the many handsome churches, artistic public buildings, imposing offices, public drives, parks and gardens. Its government buildings are fine. Of hotels there are many; none, however, approaching the Queen's for perfect service, quiet comfort, and homelike surroundings, and the peculiar excellence of its cuisine. Its fame is far-reaching, and many remember with pleasure the hours spent within its hospitable walls. The charges are based on the American and European plan, and are as follows:

Rooms without bath (American Plan) $3.00 per day up; Rooms with bath (American Plan) $3.50 per day up; Rooms (European Plan) $1.50 per day up

FEDERAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

Elsewhere in this issue of the Examiner will be found a report of the twenty-eighth annual meeting of the shareholders of the Federal Life Assurance Company of Canada. The meeting was held in the Company's head office, at Hamilton, on Tuesday, February 15th, with Mr. David Dexter, president and managing director, in the chair.

The annual report shows a very gratifying increase in new business and assets. The new assurance issued during the year amounted to $3,504,235; the total insurance in force being $21,049,322. The premiums and annuity income have now reached the sum of $718,927.86, which, with interest, rents and profits, brings the total annual receipts to $893,002.68. A satisfactory increase is shown in the assets of the company, which are now $3,643,949.

The reserve fund reflects great credit upon the financial standing of the company, and now has reached the the magnificent sum of $3,256,510, while the surplus on policy-holders' account is $292,695.53.

The Federal Life occupies a position which places it in the foremost of Canadian life companies. Its business in this district is looked after by Mr. Geo. G. Pope, with offices in the Federal Life building on George street. Mr. Pope reports an encouraging increase in new business in his district during 1909, and a feeling of zeal and loyalty exists among the agents of the Company.

Sued Priest For Slander.

Sherbrooke, Que., Feb. 25.—In the Supreme Court, before Justice Hutchinson, Rev. Father Bernier of the parish of Emperton was sued by a parishioner, G. Rioux, for $5,000 damages for slander.

It was related that the plaintiff made application to have his child baptised on the day it was born, as is the custom among French-Canadians, but the parish priest refused to do so, stating that he could not perform the ceremony because Rioux had not paid his tithes. On the next Sunday the priest, from the pulpit, accused the plaintiff of circulating false stories around the parish; that he was damned and had the mark of a damned person on his forehead and that he would go to hell.

Justice Hutchinson advised a settlement and this was effected, the priest paying $75 damages and costs.

Point-a-Pitre, Guadeloupe, Feb. 26. —Forces of police have gone to St. Francois to protect the natives there, several of whom have been killed during the disturbances arising from the strike of sugar cane cutters. The strikers have gathered in considerable numbers about St. Francois, and are pillaging the surrounding country. They are killing domestic animals for food.

The foreign consulates are guarded by the police. Several sugar grinding factories have been burned.

Governor Gautret yesterday announced the arrival of reinforcements of troops from Martinique, and that the French armored cruiser Victor Hugo was on the way here to aid in restoring order.

OZAR OF COMMITTEE.

Hon. I. B. Lucas Withholds Vote In Private Bills Session.

Toronto, Feb. 26.—A "scrap" ensued in the private bills committee yesterday morning, that at first promised big things.

It was precipitated by T. H. Lennox of North York, when Hon. I. B. Lucas announced that he would allow a question respecting the proposed partial exemption of school taxes in favor of a big Barrie industry, to stand until he had consulted the Cabinet.

Mr. Lennox was on his feet in an instant. "I don't think the chairman of this committee has any right to take that stand—or the chairman of any committee for that matter."

"You're not familiar with the procedure then," Mr. Lucas flung back at him.

"I'll never be familiar with that kind of practice," replied the North York member.

The chairman, he submitted, must go by the wishes of a majority of the committee in every case.

Mr. Lucas could not see it that way, and so the war went merrily on.

Mr. Lucas—"The chairman has a right to withhold the report of any committee until the Government has heard all about it. We have laid a rule already in which this principle is involved."

No later than yesterday three bills were sent back to the Government, and this was pointed out by the private bills chairman.

Mr. Fripp (East Ottawa) thought that if the majority of the committee wanted to vote on the question, the chairman could not prevent it.

"It is the duty of the chairman to submit the question to the committee and ask them to vote either against or for it. I have kept out of this discussion because I belong to one of the families interested, but I want to see fair play," said Mr. Lennox.

Mr. Lucas—"I don't propose to report this bill until I have seen the Government, and any member who thinks he can force a vote is quite away from the ordinary practice of this committee.

"If I cannot control this committee and deal with a bill, and refer it to the Government if necessary, then I will retire from the chairmanship, and bow to the wishes of Mr. Lennox and Mr. Fripp," Mr. Lucas announced.

He pointed out that often he was constrained to have matters stand when there was not a representative attendance of the sixty members of the committee, and in such a case the chairman should have the say.

"Mr. Lennox and Mr. Fripp were the first to challenge my position," he began.

"No," said Lennox.

"No," said Fripp.

"Yes," said Lucas.

"And I intend to refer this matter of school tax exemption to the Government whether it is forced or not."

And so the matter stands.

The whole trouble was that the town of Barrie, a truly peace-loving community, desired the committee to ratify its agreement with the Weber Gas Engine & Produce Co., to give complete exemption of taxation for ordinary purposes, and to fix the school taxes at $20,000.

Hussars Restore Order.

Philadelphia, Feb. 26.—The state police, 204 seasoned fighters, under Capt. Groome, secured in a few hours yesterday when the police of the city, 3,400 men, were not able to bring about in five days, reasonable order. The troopers reached the city over the Reading and Pennsylvania railroads, between 1 o'clock and half-past seven yesterday morning.

At 11 o'clock the four troops massed at Broad street and Lehigh avenue having gone to the different stables for their horses directly after eating breakfast. Each troop had a following crowd as the horsemen slowly rode to the meeting point. From each saddle dangled a pair of steel handcuffs, which clanked threateningly against the handles of the hickory riot sticks. Some of the sergeants had chains, with gangs of handcuffs upon them.

Headed by Deputy Superintendent Lumb, the constabulary marched south on Broad street in a column of twos, the troops in alphabetical order. The line stretched out for two blocks, and attracted considerable attention as it trooped into Dauphin street, and thence to the offices of the Transit Company.

Toronto Man For Kingston Y. M. C. A.

Kingston, Feb. 26.—E. F. Trimble, Toronto, has accepted the secretaryship of the Y. M. C. A. He commences his duties on Monday.

The Golden Lion Block, one of the largest properties in the city, has been purchased by Philip Haffner, hotelkeeper, from the McRae estate, for $20,000.

Ada Bridgewater and Nettie Johnston, domestics at Gananoque, quarrelled, and in a fight the Bridgewater girl threw the contents of a stew pan of hot vinegar and cayenne pepper on the Johnston girl. She was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

Made Blind by Jump.

Brockville, Feb. 26.—A peculiar accident befell Edward Ball yesterday. He jumped from a runaway to escape a collision with three cakes of ice, which were being shot into a storage. Ball alighted on his feet and immediately collapsed. Upon being removed to the hospital it was found he was suffering from injuries to the brain, causing total blindness. His condition last night was critical.

Humility.

Humility is the means of progress. When we realize how little we know we shall yearn and strive to know more. When we feel how imperfect is our character, and not till then, we shall make earnest efforts after our improvement.

Female Diplomacy.

"My dear," he said, "I forgot to post that letter this morning."

"Oh, you dear!" she cried. "That was just what I wanted. Now I can blame you when that supercilious Sadie complains that I don't answer her notes."

Tanning.

Johnny—Don't they use bark to tan hides with, pa? Father—Yes, my son, but if you ask any more questions this evening you'll find that a slipper does just as well.

The Lion of Lucerne.

The Lion of Lucerne, the famous monument to Swiss valor, which is one of the world's artistic triumphs, is said to be in danger of disintegration through the action of water upon the rock. The noble monument is an object of national pride in Switzerland, and every effort will be made to protect and preserve it. It commemorates the heroism of the Swiss guards who were killed while defending the French royal family during the attack on the Tuileries in 1792 and was executed in 1821. The effigy of the dying lion, whose paw still guards the fleur-de-lis escutcheon, is twenty-eight feet in length and eighteen feet in height. Few visitors to Switzerland miss this monument, which is carved in a great wall of rock, and every beholder is awed by its simple majesty.—Youth's Companion.

Musical Novelties.

One of the comic papers of Berlin prints a cartoon under the caption, "An Orchestra of the Future," which includes, besides the conventional instruments, bells of all kinds, a pavement pounder, steam whistles, grindstones, a "thunder machine," a cannon, a dog, a cat and near the group of drums children of various ages waiting to be spanked. The cat is made to yowl by a member of the orchestra, who brings the animal's tail in unpleasant contact with a clothes wringer, and the dog to bark by having his caudal extremity stepped upon. "All this may be expected," is said in explanation, "when we see the novelties introduced by the modern musicians."

Waratah Given Up.

The committee of Lloyd's have now posted as "missing" the Blue Anchor Liner Waratah, which left Durban for Cape Town on July 26 last with a large number of passengers homeward bound from Australia to London, and never came to port. This decision officially seals the fate of the vessel, and one of the most immediate results will be the settlement of underwriting claims, amounting in all to about $1,000,000. The Waratah was a new British-built vessel of 10,000 tons, and had on board 300 persons, including the crew. She was spoken by another vessel the day after leaving Durban, and reported all well. She was never seen again. No wreckage of any kind has been discovered, and a three months' search by the steamer Sabine over and around the Waratah's route revealed no indication whatever of the vessel's fate.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER'S PATRIOTIC NAVAL POLICY IS EFFECTIVELY DISCUSSED

"We Will Have Our Ships Built in Canada, Protected by the Policemen of the Seas, Warships Built in Canada and Flying the Grand Old Flag of Great Britain," Says Mr. E. M. Macdonald, M.P., in Eloquent Address at Opera House---Most Successful Meeting Under Auspices of the Liberal Association---Speeches by Mr. Macdonald, Dr. Beland, M.P., Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., Messrs. D. O'Connell and F. D. Kerr.

The patriotic nature of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's naval programme was clearly and emphatically pointed out at the highly successful meeting held in the Grand Opera House last night, under the auspices of the Liberal Association of West Peterborough. The attendance was large and the speakers were followed with a close attention that was a tribute alike to the eloquence of the addresses and to the desire of the audience to grasp the details of the important subjects under discussion.

Forcible, vivid, convincing speeches were made by Mr. E. M. Macdonald, K.C., M.P., Pictou, N.S.; Dr. Beland, M.P., Beauce, Que.; Hon J. R. Stratton, M.P., member for West Peterborough; Mr. O'Connell and Mr. F. D. Kerr of Peterborough, and the different speakers were given a most flattering reception and hearing, the hearty applause which frequently punctuated their remarks indicating in no uncertain manner that their arguments were endorsed and subscribed to by their auditors.

Mr. J. J. Hartley, president of the West Peterborough Liberal Association, was a most satisfactory chairman.

Mr. Stratton said he was glad to see so many electors present on an occasion not marked by any great political event. It was a pleasure to know that the electors of West Peterborough are always alive to the public questions of the day, as manifested by the large number in attendance. The presence of the ladies was gratifying, demonstrating that they were as interested in good government as their friends the sterner sex. Mr. Stratton promised that the questions of current importance would be discussed in such a manner that not even his Conservative friends would be offended.

"We all know," he continued, "that Canada is a great and growing country. During the past 12 or 15 years her population has increased from five millions to seven and one-half millions, and it is generally believed that when the next census is taken in 1911 the number of inhabitants in this country will reach the round number of eight millions. Our western provinces are keeping well in advance, and everything goes to show that no other country has made as rapid an advance in the period referred to as has Canada. As soon as the tariff was readjusted in 1896 some of the obstacles were removed from the advancement of the farmers in the North West. They were enabled to secure a good market for their produce and they received a good price for it, both of which they were otherwise deprived of." Mr. Stratton referred to the influx of Americans and particularly American farmers. They were coming not only in hundreds and thousands, but the records show that they are arriving in hundreds of thousands. They are taking up land and developing it and, besides, they are helping to create a requirement for goods manufactured in the east that is of great encouragement to eastern manufacturers. In regard to the principal speakers of the evening, Mr. Stratton stated that for many years much of the brains of Parliament had come from the Provinces down by the sea, and Nova Scotia had provided not a few of those who had occupied positions of great prominence. Of men of this kind was Mr. Macdonald, representative for Pictou, N. S., and he was by no means the least of them. Mr. Stratton also referred to Mr. Beland, member for Beauce, Que., who could represent Sir Wilfrid Laurier, than whom no man has been to the fore not only in Canada but also in England. No man had been more scandalized than the present Premier, Mr. Stratton said. He mentioned an occurrence that had taken place in the House a few nights ago when the member for Frontenac had attacked Sir Wilfrid as to his loyalty. His own friend, Judge Dougherty of Montreal, had reprimanded him for his statements, saying that they were not according to fact and they were not true. The member for Frontenac replied that if his remarks were not based on truth he was willing to recall them. There was not sufficient manliness in him to take back his statements in a becoming manner.

Growth of Canada.

Continuing, Mr. Stratton said that if one were to take a map of Canada as it is to-day and compare it with one of twenty or thirty years ago he would hardly recognise it as the same country. It was then stagnant and undeveloped.

People would have said we were dreaming had we attempted to predict the net work of railways that now exist in the West, or had we said that Canada would be manufacturing the best class of agricultural machinery in the world and was shipping it to all parts, or that there would be two additional provinces to the seven of twelve years ago. Alberta and Saskatchewan have developed rapidly and have their own Parliament buildings. When as expected, before many years Canada will become the granary of the world, these two provinces will help the most to establish its reputation for the [illegible] and that the best [illegible] vinces have gone into the West and have built up homes for themselves. In the House of Commons to-day nine out of every ten members from the West including those from British Columbia, are old boys from Ontario or the sons of those men who went in earlier years. Another question is now claiming the attention of the people of Canada. The time has come when it is essential that Canada protect her own trade lines and her shores. This question arose last session but it is particularly before the present sitting of Parliament. A bill has been brought down providing for the nucleus of a Canadian navy. Mr. Stratton was glad to say that it was the policy of the Liberal Government that if we are to have a navy it shall be built within our own confines. We have the materials necessary to build the vessels, we have the workmen, and Mr. Stratton hoped to see established a ship building yard which would afford the opportunity to young Canadians of developing a navy that would be of service to the Dominion and to the Mother Country. Great Britain does not require a gift of twenty or twenty-five millions of dollars. We have done a great deal to help ourselves that has been of material benefit to the Mother Country. By adopting the present policy we are helping ourselves, protecting ourselves and protecting the Mother Country. Referring to the talk of a German invasion, Mr. Stratton said he was not moved by a war scare. Germany's trade with Great Britain and her colonies, amounting to five hundred millions of dollars last year, would scarcely be jeopardized by a war with a country from whom she was receiving that benefit. Nor was it thought that England wanted a gift of money from Canada when she sends her 150 millions a year to help build up the colony. Mr. Stratton reiterated that he did not think there was any danger of a war, but he believed in the policy that in time of peace it was wise to prepare for war. He believed that it was time that Canada was doing something in this direction. If we do our own work, Canada will have the full benefit of it.

Canada's total trade had increased from $240,000,000 to $650,000,000. Industries had sprung up in every direction. Railways had been projected all over the country. Canada to-day was not what it was 10 or 20 years ago. We were now making our own treaties among the nations of the world and if a new ship-building industry was established in the East, as well as in the West, there would be such a general development in all departments of commerce, as Canada had not hitherto seen.

The trade of the country had increased to about $700,000,000 per annum. Our revenue had doubled and we were now seeking to build ships to safeguard our own interests, and there was no reason why we should not in years to come, with the advantages that we should possess, build the fleets necessary for the Canadian Pacific, the Grand Trunk and the Great Northern railways. Canada was a land of magnificent distances and it was in the highest degree necessary that the business of so great and growing a country should be kept up.

In concluding his remarks, Mr. Stratton said he felt that it was the duty of a representative to give his constituents an opportunity of hearing discussed some of the leading questions of the day, and it would always be his aim that when some important issue arose he would endeavor to secure members of the Liberal party to give information to the electors on those questions. That was the intention of this meeting, and he was glad to see so much interest manifested.

Dr. Beland's Address.

When Dr. Beland arose, the orchestra greeted him with the inspiring strains of "Oh! Canada". He possesses a very pleasing presence and his accent was delightful. Dr. Beland expressed his thanks for the kind reception that had been tendered him. Stating that at the age of twenty he could not speak English he asked for the indulgence of the audience, but Dr. Beland did not need any excuse. The important public questions of to-day were confined practically to the Naval Bill. During the past four weeks the House of Commons has been absorbed in a heated discussion of this question. Last year both parties were a unit in regard to it. The Laurier-Borden resolution had been presented in the House of Commons in March, 1909 and was adopted. The leader of the Opposition had since moved an amendment to the Government's bill. The Naval question, Dr. Beland said, must be approached by Canadians as Canadians, as citizens of the greatest colony of Great Britain, as British subjects. In this country the situation is a peculiar one. The Prime Minister is a French-Canadian and has held his position for fourteen years. For as many times as he has been charged with disloyalty as many times have such charges been disproved. "Will you believe that Sir Wilfred Laurier is disloyal? He is attacked by two men in the House. One is my compatriot and the other is yours. He is attacked by Mr. Foster on the ground of disloyalty to England and by Mr. Monk of disloyalty to Quebec. For Mr. Foster he is too much a Canadian and for Mr. Monk he is too much an Englishman. In Quebec to-day there are 65 members. Sixty are of French origin. Forty-eight are Liberals and the balance are Conservatives. The Liberals are united with the Reformers of Ontario, standing as one man on this Canadian Naval Bill. On the other side ten or twelve French Conservatives uphold that nothing at all should be done toward helping the Mother Country or of providing defence for our own shores. The Conservative party has two wings, one the English wing, the other French and we are attacked by both. The English claim that we are not doing too much and the French wing that we are doing too much.

Of Monarchical Mentality.

"The French element has been called disloyal," Dr. Beland stated. "Mr. Edwards, member for Frontenac accused us of disloyalty to England. We, of French origin have a monarchical mentality. We were under the regime of the French Kings until 1763. Since the Treaty of Paris the French have remained true and loyal to the English Crown." (The orchestra with a round of applause from the audience played the "Red, White and Blue.") Dr. Beland referred to the attempt on the part of the thirteen New England states to secure the aid of the French in Canada at the time of their War of Independence in 1776, just thirteen years after Canada became an English possession. But Canada did not yield to the specious offers of the rebellious subjects to the south. Similarly in 1812 the French played a great part in maintaining Canada for England. Sir George Etienne Cartier, a Frenchman was the man who presented the first Militia Bill.

Dr. Beland would like to see Mr. Monk and Mr. Bourassa following in his footsteps. Sir John A. Macdonald said many times to an English audience and told the late Queen Victoria that the Crown had no more loyal subjects in Canada than those citizens of French origin and of Catholic creed.

"Why should the French people of Canada be disloyal? Do we want to go back to French rule? Sir Wilfrid stated at a gathering in Paris that he was of French origin but a subject of Great Britain. Don't we enjoy all the privileges we want? Why should we seek independence? It had been said that we were longing for the independence of Canada. In that event the British North America Act would become a dead letter as far as the religious and national laws were concerned. Independence is not an advantage for us to-day and it never has been. Was Sir John Abbott denounced as disloyal because of his expressions in favour of annexation or was Ontario disloyal when English people from this province burned the Parliament buildings at Montreal? Reason and gratitude force the French to remain loyal. No other country could afford us the advantages we now enjoy. The accusation made against us cannot stand in the eyes of an intelligent people. We Liberals of Quebec want this Navy Bill (a round of applause), we will support it and we will do all we can to assist it and we will do all we can and stated that the Navy Bill provided for an expenditure of fifteen million dolars and pointed out that no burden would be brought upon the people. The Opposition are divided on two alternatives, one is for a contribution of 25 million dollars and the other is for a plebiscite to obtain the opinion of the people on the question. Dr. Beland pointed out the impracticability of the latter proposition stating as one reason that there would have to be five or six general expressions from the people before a definite opinion could be secured. On the other hand but few are in favour of the gift of a sum of money. The creation of a Canadian Navy will impart to the Canadian soul a feeling of self confidence. It will give birth to an important industry, rather to important industries, and will preserve our autonomy, and at the same time assist the Mother Country. Every statesman of prominence in Canada has held to the vital principle of autonomy. The British Empire will become greater and bigger only through the growth of her colonies under self government. In conclusion Dr. Beland dwelt upon the growth of the country under the administration of the present Government with Sir Wilfrid Laurier as Prime Minister. Taking it all in all, he said, it has been a wonderful regime and Sir Wilfrid's name will not be forgotten as long as Canadian history exists.

Dr. Beland spoke in French for about five minutes.

Mr. McDonald's Address.

Mr. E. M. McDonald, K.C., M.P., of Pictou, N.S., was given a most flattering reception when introduced to the audience by the chairman.

"This is the second occasion I have had the pleasure of visiting Peterborough," he said in beginning a most eloquent address. "Five years ago I visited your city and to-day at the invitation of Mr. Stratton I have another opportunity of seeing Peterborough. I find that your city has grown, has become more prosperous and has evidently shared in the general advancement that has come to Canada. I wish you the fullest prosperity, and hope that the enterprise of your citizens may be realized to the greatest advantage."

"I find that when there is no political campaign in sight, men do not stop very much to worry with political matters. However, I think the example set by Mr. Stratton in inaugurating this meeting should be followed all over this Dominion and that public men should discuss in the different constituencies the questions of the day that are being taken up in Parliament."

"West Peterborough is to be congratulated upon its member in the House of Commons. Mr. Stratton is a source of strength to his constituency and is recognized by men on both sides of the House as a most valuable representative, as one of the leading men in Parliament. My name indicates that I am a Scotchman and being such, Mr. Stratton has always been dear to me, because he is a bonnie fighter. I am sure that he enjoys the perfect confidence of his constituency and will long continue to do so. "We in Parliament all know Mr. Hall, "Bob" Hall as he was always called when he sat in the House, and I regret that owing to pressure of business he is unable to take part in this meeting to-night."

"We people in Nova Scotia are proud of Joseph Howe, Sir Chas. Tupper, the present leader of the opposition and others who have played a great part in the history of this country, not only because of the fact that they were Nova Scotians but because they proved themselves to be big Canadians."

"Some people regard this country as one whose history is all written, which has completed everything that could be done. The pessimist regards Canada from the standpoint of the country as it is to-day or was ten years ago instead of as it will be ten or twenty or thirty years from now, when it will become one of the great nations of the world. They do not seem to realize that we are but laying the foundation of our future greatness. We have had but forty three years of national life and there have been times when Canada seemed destined to stand still, but still she has advanced materialy. Fortyyears ago Canada was recognized as extending merely from Lake Superior on the West to the Atlantic Ocean on the east, whereas now the country includes all the vast lands extending to the Pacific.

"The development that has gone on in the west is hardly realized and appreciated by those of us who are living in the east, even prosperous as the conditions are here. Every day there is growing in Canada a Canadian spirit, Canadian Clubs are growing up everywhere and I am glad to note that you have one here in this city. People are beginning to appreciate what our position is, but we are only beginning to catch the proper idea of patriotism. We should not only sing "God Save the King," but also "God Save Canada" as well. We should appreciate that our first duty is to Canada as part of the British Empire.

A Call to Duty.

"There is not a breeze that blows over this vast country of ours that does not bring to every son of Canada a voice calling him to greater aspirations, to greater energies to do something for the advancement of his country. However, it is displeasing to hear a discordant note about this man being a Frenchman or that man an Englishman. I am glad that Dr. Beland is with us to-night to discuss this matter. If some of these Franco foes only knew the French Canadians in the House, only knew how much they apreciated what England had done for them, they would see how absurd and ridiculous is the contention that because a an lives near the St. Lawrence he is not as loyal as a man living up around the head waters. Canada will never be prosperous if such opinions are entertained. The same conditions prevailed in England. In the south were the people of Norman descent, in the east the Danes on the west the Angles and in the north the Scotch. Is there anyone foolish enough to raise the cry that a man is disloyal because he is a Scotchman? We find these races all welded into one great nation which dominates the world. Here in Canada there is the same mixture of races and we have to work out the same roblem as our fathers across the sea. Our mission is to build up a great Canadian people with the dividing lines forgotten and remembering only the great country in which we live. There is nothing more dispiriting than to hear these ridiculous and absurd appeals to ignorance that because a man is of that or this race he must be disloyal. Canada will never advance to her proper place until her sons all over realize that their first duty is to their country."

A Wonderful Period.

"We have passed through a wonderful period in our history. So far as the government is concerned we say that without argument, and point to the results. Of course mistakes have been made and we do not claim perfection. However, we have produced a total surplus of one hundred and eighteen millions, and in no year has there been a balance on the wrong side of the account. Fifteen years ago the country was discussing high tariff or low tariff. The Government has settled the tariff question. The Conservatives have talked high tariff. I have always been a protectionist myself, but I've noticed that while we hear a good deal of talk from the Conservatives outside of parliament on the question of high tariff you never hear it in the House. On no occasion when the budget has been brought down has a Conservative moved to say that the policy of the Government was not sound. The tariff issue has, therefore, disappeared since the Conservative representatives have not asked in the House to have any change made.

"In 1904 we heard the Conservatives say that it was a wrong thing to build the Grand Trunk Pacific. You don't hear any talk like that to-day. It disappeared with the election. There is a little carping, a little criticism perhaps, in regard to details, but the main proposition is received all over as a sound policy. We are going on building that railway and will build a third transcontinental line. We have done and are doing some great things. The Trent Canal has been taken hold of and will be pushed along to its completion; the Georgian Bay Canal will be consummated. You people here will be able to share in the tremendous exploitation of the products of the West when the Trent Canal is finished.

"Where is there an issue? You have heard a great deal about scandals. All kinds of things have been misrepresented; all kinds of stories have been set afloat. The Conservatives have seemed to think that if they could only talk scandal enough they could turn the Liberal party out of power. Was there a single scandal that was spoken about, howled about two years ago that anybody could stand up and give a correct version of to-day? It has not proved very profitable to the Conservatives and did not pan out in political results."

The Lumsden Inquiry.

Mr. Macdonald at this stage gave a short explanation of the Lumsden inquiry. He explained that Mr. Lumsden had been Chief Engineer of the Grand Trunk Pacific and that part of his work had been to go over the line and inspect the reports of the engineers as to the work done. He had found the task heavy work for a man of his years and he had returned home reporting that some of the engineers had not carried out his instructions. A committee had been appointed in the House of which Mr. Macdonald was a member. Mr. Lumsden had informed the committee that he had no charges to make and a resolution was passed suggesting that counsel should be secured. The Conservative members of the committee had agreed to this resolution, but when it was introduced in the House two hours later, moved in amendment that they should be allowed to select the counsel. Mr. Macdonald had asked them if they had anyone to suggest and found that they had not. The bluff had been called. The instructions to the committee had been to find out if there had been anything wrong and report to the House when the matter would be dealt with.

The Naval Question.

"Where do the parties divide?" asked Mr. Macdonald, continuing his argument. "There is the question of the navy. Last year Mr. Foster moved a resolution that Canada should take some steps in her own defence. That resolution was endorsed by Mr. Borden and after being seconded by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, was unanimously adopted. During all the years that Canada had been a colony of Great Britain the mother country had maintained a fleet and garrison at Halifax. 2500 British troops were stationed there until four years ago when Great Britain said to Canada: "You are growing now, you are getting big enough to look after some of these things yourself. Will you undertake the task?" We said that we would do so and when our troops returned from South Africa we recruited enough men to fill the places of the British soldiers at Halifax. Almost simultaneously Great Britain withdrew the North Atlantic fleet from Halifax and since that time there has been no British war ship there. The result was that everyone agreed that it was time for Canada to act. When the matter came before the House, every Liberal or Tory, Monk as well as the rest, stood up and voted in favour of the resolution. It was agreed that ministers should go to England in connection with the matter and Sir Frederick Borden and Mr. Brodeur went home for that purpose. Our delegates said that a resolution had been passed by the Parliament of Canada that she should provide means for her own defence and that they would be a defence for Canada and an adjunct to the British navy. The British authorities went ahead. It was suggested by some that Canada should provide a fleet unit which should be stationed on the Pacific Coast, but as this would mean that the Eastern coast would be unprotected, our delegates objected. The British admiralty therefore worked out plans, suggested the number of vessels, provided all the details and these plans are in the Naval Bill submitted by Sir Wilfrid Laurier."

"When the matter of a contribution to Great Britain was discussed at that time Mr. Borden said that it was a terrible thing to contemplate giving contributions. Mr. Foster wailed against it. "It would be sounding the death knell of the Canadian spirit," he said.

"Mr. Borden has changed his tactics now, but gives no explanation for the change. He simply says: "I propose a contribution." This is not for the express purpose of building Dreadnoughts, as some of the newspapers would have you imagine. $25,000,000 is to be given to Great Britain to be used as she sees fit. Mr. Foster says: "I don't care if it's a time of distress or not; give them the twenty-five millions." Mr. Monk objects to the naval policy altogether. He maintains that it means that we are to be tied hand and foot to Great Britain and that it would be the absolute taking away of our autonomy."

The Liberal Policy.

"The time has come when we should build our own ships. We produce articles that have to be carried in the ships of other countries. Are we ever to become a nation if this is to continue? I want you to realize that there are many boys in this country who have the maritime spirit, who have a desire to go abroad. They used to be able to do so in the old days of the wooden boats, but the era of steel has changed the situation. Is there any better time than now for us to begin our own vessels?"

"Our policy is 'Canada for the Canadians,' to lay the foundation of a great industry that will grow with our growth, so that we will become great on the water as we become great on the land. We will have ships built in Canada and protected by the policemen of the sea, by warships built in Canada and flying the grand old British flag. This is the policy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier."

"Instead of that, on the Conservative side you have one wing saying that we are selling our liberty; the other that we are disloyal. Our policy is a patriotic one appealing to men all over the country and I am sure that in no part of Canada will it be more appreciated than by the people of Ontario."

Mr. D. O'Connell.

Mr. D. O'Connell in rising to move a vote of thanks to the two speakers of the evening, said that it was another incident of the enterprise and alertness of the honourable member for West Peterborough. That from two provinces these gentlemen came to deliver addresses on Canadian questions of the day was a matter to be grateful for. The fact that Mr. Macdonald was a Scotchman and Mr. Beland a Frenchman, showed the characteristcs of the Canadian people and one could not help but admire this country for its broad spirit and for its men of strength. Mr. O'Connell referred briefly to some important questions that had come up in the past history of the Parliament of Canada and spoke of the abiding faith of the Liberal party in the Canadian people, in British institutions, and in the country. The Liberal party had confidence in the ordinary people.

From the very day that responsible government was introduced, a new and enduring empire sprang into existence. Mr. O'Connell remarked that Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the Colonial Conference in London had said, "Canadian people were at all times ready to assist in the defence of the Empire." As Canada's natural resources had increased the time has arrived for the carrying out of the promise. When England was at war, Canada was at war. Mr. O'Connell tehn mived the vote of thanks to the speakers for their able addresses.

Mr. F. D. Kerr.

Mr. F. D. Kerr said that it gave him much pleasure in seconding the motion. The fact that these two men represented the Scotch and French races, was a tribute to the breadth of the British spirit. All races and nationalities had equal rights under the British flag. The people of Ontario were not forgetful of the chivalry of the French. English, Irish, Scotch and French were devoted to the cause of the Empire and he was glad to say there was no room for narrowness of spirit.

The singing of the national anthem and cheers for the king, chairman and Sir Wilfrid Laurier closed a profitable and instructive evening.

PROOF THAT NO ONE CAN DOUBT

That Dodd's Kidney Pills Always Cure Rheumatism.

Conclusive Evidence Given by Durham Brown, of Brantford, Ont.—How and Why the Cure is Effected.

Brantford, Ont., Feb. 25—(Special)—That Rheumatism is caused by diseased Kidneys and that Dodd's Kidney Pills cure both the sick Kidneys and the Rheumatism is again proved in the case of Mr. Durham Brown, of No. 2 Spring Street, this city.

"I was troubled with Backache and other well-known symptoms of Kidney Disease," Mr. Brown states. "I also suffered from Rheumatism in my right side and hip to the extent that I was always while at my work in an agonizing pain.

After taking one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills I found an improvement and after taking six boxes I found both my Kidney Disease and Rheumatism entirely cured."

Mr. Brown is only one of many cases in which it has been proved beyond a doubt that the natural way to cure Rheumatism is to remove the cause. The cause of Rheumatism is uric acid in the blood which crystalizes at the muscles and joints. Well Kidneys strain the uric acid out of the blood. Dodd's Kidney Pills make well Kidneys. That's why Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure Rheumatism.

Both Legs Broken.

Peterboro, Feb. 26.—As a result of a tree falling upon him, Norman Payne of Warsaw had both legs fractured below the knee.

Split Not Yet Healed.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 26.—The split in the ranks of the Ohio Federation of Labor that started in Cleveland over the Electrical Workers' row won't be settled for some weeks. The The arbitration board named at Toronto, after meeting here for three days, adjourned last night till March 10. The sudden death of Benj. Starr, attorney for the Reid faction of the workers, made necessary the securing of another attorney to take up that side of the case. The board will come together here March 10, and hopes then to get the affair peacefully adjusted.

$3.50 Recipe Cures Weak Kidneys, Free

Wouldn't it be nice within a week or so to begin to say goodbye forever to the scalding, dribbling, straining, or too frequent passage of urine; the forehead and the back-of-the-head aches; the growing muscle weakness; spots before the eyes; yellow skin; sluggish bowels; swollen eyelids or ankles; leg cramps; unnatural short breath; sleeplessness and the despondency

I have a recipe for these troubles that you can depend on, and if you want to make a quick recovery, you ought to write and get a copy of it. Many a doctor would charge you $3.50 just for writing this prescription, but I have it and will be glad to send it to you entirely free. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, K 1810, Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send it by return mail in a plain envelope. And you will see when you get it, this recipe contains only pure, harmless remedies, but it has great healing and pain-conquering power.

It will quickly show its power once you use it, so I think you had better see what it is without delay. I will send you a copy free—you can use it and cure yourself at home.

ATTACKS DR. MACDONALD.

I. F. Hellmuth Describes Editor as a Scavenger.

Toronto, Feb. 26.—Friday was summing up day in the Foster-Macdonald libel suit, and it was a battle between counsel by eloquent passages on both sides. F. F. B. Johnston, K.C., addressed the jury from 10 a.m. till 1 o'clock, and Mr Hellmuth, K.C., for the plaintiff, took up the cudgels when court reopened at 2.15 and concluded at 4.20. His lordship will sum up this morning, and the case will then go to the jury.

It was noticeable that Mr. Johnston was careful in his address, as he had been throughout his conduct of the case, not to impute dishonesty to Mr. Foster, or to attack him in his private character. There was no tinge of bitterness in his words. The review was characterized by a marshaling of points in the evidence and by a spirit of fairness in presenting them to the attention of the jury.

He opened with a series of eloquent passages in condemnation of looseness in the morals of public men as shown by their guarding of public and private trusts and pointed out the need of electing men to public office whose public and private acts were above reproach. In forceful language he defended the right of the press to discuss and criticise the acts of men in high places. His voice, rising and falling to climaxes, he pictures the heinousness of juggling with the money of widows and orphans. The address was an admirable piece of forensic oratory constituting an arraignment of moral turpitude and rapacity which characterized gambling with trust funds, rather than a broadside against Mr. Foster personally.

Mr. Hellmuth, K.C., counsel for Mr. Foster, was on the other hand not so careful to avoid cutting personal references to the principal in the other side of the case. He went after the defendant, Mr. Macdonald, hammer and tongs, insinuating that he was the "mad dog" of the press; the vulture that was out to kill by fair means or foul, the assassin whose quarrel arose from malice and hatred. Mr. Hellmuth ably defended the deals of the Foster syndicate as being perfectly legal and proper, and vigorously repudiated the inference advanced by the other side that Mr. Foster had subverted the hitherto blameless machinery of the I. O. F. for his personal gain, regardless of consequence to the institution or its rightful beneficiaries. He also accused opposing counsel of trying to inflame the minds of the jury by an appeal to their political prejudices and ties. He ended his address at 4.20 with an appeal for substantial damages for his client. A large crowd heard the addresses of both counsel.

Dalai Lama Deposed.

Pekin, Feb. 26.—The Chinese Government has deposed the Dalai Lama as head of the Thibetan Government, and in an official statement issued yesterday explains its action on the ground that the nominal ruler had deserted the capital during an attempt by him to organize a general revolt. The official statement follows:

"The Dalai Lama upon his arrival at Lhasa from Pekin, circulated with the object of organizing a general revolt, these rumors: First, that China intended to exterminate Lamaism, and second, that British trade in effect was injuring Thibet. The Dalai Lama then took measures to thwart this trade, whereupon China became alarmed and ordered 2,000 troops to go to Lhasa with the object of preserving the peace and affording protection.

"When the Dalai Lama learned of the above, the Pekin Government ordered the Chinese Resident to reason with the Dalai Lama, who refused to listen, and on the twelfth secretly left Lhasa with his followers. The Resident searched ineffectually, whereupon China deposed the Dalai Lama, ordered the Thibetans to elect his successor and issued a decree ordering the protection of Lamaism and the strict observance of the existing treaties with foreign powers concerning Thibet, with the purpose of preserving the status quo.

D. R. A. Annual Meeting.

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—At the annual meeting of the Dominion Rifle Association held in the railway committee rooms of the Commons yesterday, Col. Sam Hughes, M.P., was again elected president.

There were but few changes in the list of other officers and of the council. Lieut.-Col. Davidson of Prince Edward Island, Col. Cruickshanks of Alberta, and Col. G. W. Wynn of Saskatchewan, were elected vice-presidents for their respective provinces. Capt. Birdwhistle of Ottawa was again elected secretary, and Major E. D. Sutherland treasurer.

As a compliment to the Bisley team in 1909, Col. Bertram, the commandant, of Dundas, Ont., and Major M. S. Mercer, the adjutant, Toronto, were made life members of the association.

Earl Grey, in acknowledging a vote of thanks, said: "We are all compatriots, and united in loyalty to an Empire of which Canada is destined to become so great a part. My heart is thoroughly Canadian, and I have not had a single unhappy day since I came to Canada."

Used Taxicab to Hunt Victim.

New York, Feb. 26.—Detective yesterday scoured the city in a search for the five men who rode all over the west side in a taxicab on Thursday to find Jacob Greenthal, and when they found him attacked him murderously, stabbing him eight times and slashing his tongue.

Greenthal hovered between life and death yesterday, and refused even to try to talk when pressed in his conscious moments for the names of his assailants. The fact that the man's tongue was nearly cut out leads the police to believe that he had been talking too much to suit his enemies. Other circumstanes are held to indicate that the crime was a political one, and the hunt for the criminals is proceeding on this theory.

Greenthal formerly took an active interest in political matters, and got into trouble at a west side polling place last election day. That the motive for attack was not robbery is shown by the fact that $662 the man had in possession was not disturbed. When the taxicab hunters found Greenthal in a cafe and had dragged him out on the sidewalk, stabbed him and left him for dead, they jumped into the automobile and escaped.

MANY THEFTS AT THE RINK PROSECUTIONS MAY FOLLOW

Between $25 and $50 Worth of Property Has Been Stolen From the Dressing Room of the Peterborough Hockey Club and Action Will be Taken.

CLUB IS INDIGNANT

For some time articles have been disappearing from the dressing room of the Peterborough Hockey Club in Brock Street Rink, and there is likely to be a police court case and considerable trouble in store for the guilty parties. Sticks, sweaters, underwear and other property belonging to the players has been stolen and it is estimated between $35 and $50 worth of goods has been taken from the room. The officers of the Club are naturally very much incensed over the matter and at a meeting last night decided to take prompt action. Information has been received implicating a number of young players, who have no connection with the club, and unless the stolen property is returned in some manner either to the officers of the Club or to the rink prosecutions will follow. Possibly the youths who are guilty of the offence have failed to realize the serious nature of their act, and are treating the matter as a joke, but the Magistrate might not look upon it in such a light, when the case is brought before him. The dressing room and lockers have repeatedly been broken into recently and the executive of the Club has decided to put a stop to the matter at once.

NOW SOLD IN CANADA

In Less Than Three Years Parisian Sage, the Splendid Hair Tonic, is Sold All Over Canada.

There is a reason for the phenomenal sale of Parisian Sage in Canada during the past three years.

And the reason is plain to all. Parisian Sage does just what it is advertised to do.

Ask Wm. Madill about it, he will tell you that they rigidly guarantee it to cure dandruff, stop falling hair or itching scalp in two weeks or money back.

There is no reason whatever why any man or woman should fail to take advantage of the above generous offer.

But one thing that has made Parisian Sage so famous is its peculiar power to turn the harsh, unattractive hair that many women possess into luxuriant and radiant hair in a short time. Women of refinement the country over are using it and it never disappoints.

Sold everywhere, and in Peterborough by Wm. Madill, for 50 cents a large bottle.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

Amidst the great outcry concerning the enhanced cost of living one feature, and a very important one, has apparently been lost sight of, and that is the thirst for luxury that now pervades all classes in the community. As a matter of fact, the actual cost of living does not seem to be any higher, comparatively speaking, today, than it has been at any stage of the world's history. The supply of staple food commodities is quite as adequate to the demand as it ever was, and if the prices are higher, the supply of money has increased in a proportionate degree to meet these prices. If people harked back to the old ideas of economy that their grandfathers and grandmothers possessed, there would be little talk of hard times and exorbitant charges.

One doesn't have to spend much time in cogitation to bring to mind numbers of articles, which to-day are considered absolute essentials to one's comfort, which a few years ago would have been found only in the home of a sybarite. One need not possess a very discerning eye to note in passing down a street that many a girl or married woman wears more costly headgear and furs than she, in her straitened circumstances, can rightly afford. It is all very well to cut a fine figure, but if the merchants cared to blason abroad a few of the facts they know concerning certain modern followers of Beau Brummel and some of these female wearers of fine millinery and apparel, there would be a good many shame-faced men and women to be seen in all our Canadian towns and cities.

Dishonest Marking of Fruit.

If there is one thing more than another calculated to make respectable farmers indignant it is to read the regularly recurring notices of individuals who have been fined for dishonest marking of apples. Farm and Dairy is doing a good work in giving such a matter all the prominence it is possible to give it for nothing less than a heavy fine, coupled with punishment in the pillory of public opinion, will suffice to remedy the evil. The export apple trade is at present undergoing the greatest stress in its history and it will take a considerable period of time, even with the aid of the present admirable staff of government inspectors of fruit, for Canadian exporters to regain the position they have lost in the foreign market.

Francis and Frances.

The Port Arthur News takes a Toronto paper to task for spelling Fort Frances with an "i" and making it Fort Francis. In a superior manner it observes, "They must think it's a girl." In this case the joke recoils on the joker. The wrong spelling might easily have been the result of a misprint, but no such avenue of escape lies open to the News. Any school boy or girl might inform that paper that Francis is the name of a boy and Frances of a girl.

When one looks back through three decades of the history of Canadian politics and compares the language of political opponents in the days of Sir John Macdonald, with that in evidence at the present time, the conclusion forces itself on one's mind that there has not been as much advance in the observance of the ordinary amenities of life as there has been in the economic progress of the country. But there has been a slight change for the better, and the bludgeon of abuse is certainly less in evidence nowadays than the rapier of polished invective.

But in private life there is altogether too much of a spirit of truculent animosity. In England, men can be and are fast friends socially, who, are absolutely at variance in regard to their political opinions. It would be a grand thing for Canada if some of the same spirit of friendliness and impartiality could be instilled into the hearts and minds of her people.

For, when all is said and done, we are all working towards the same end, having for our object the welding together of the composite elements of our population into one great nation. Patriotism may be as Dr. Johnson once epigrammatically observed, "the last refuge for a scandal, but it is likewise the sheet anchor of an honourable and self-respecting citizenship, and there are few amongst us, Liberal or Conservative, French or English, who can be truthfully stigmatised as disloyal subjects of Canada or of the great Empire to which we belong.

THE HEART A GREAT WORKER

What a wonder is the heart! Day and night it works away pumping tons of blood through the body and never tires or wears out so long as it is supplied with rich, red blood, such as is formed by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. While sending supplies of nutrition to other parts of the body the heart renews and rebuilds its own wasted cells and so retains health and strength.

Chinese.

Written Chinese is practically uniform throughout the empire and has hardly altered during the whole course of Chinese history. The spoken language, on the other hand, is constantly changing.

Novel Ammunition.

During the sieges of mediaeval times it was very common for the beleaguers to throw from their catapults and other military engines dead bodies of dogs, swine, together with pieces of horseflesh and similar carrion into the city or castle besieged in order that the defenders might by the stench of this putridity be forced to surrender.

Silken Garments.

Silken raiment has a standing among the oldest garments in the world. Robes of that material were worn by men and women alike 2,500 years before the birth of Christ.

DELEGATES FROM PUBLIC LIBRARIES

Met at Lindsay Yesterday—Next Annual Meeting to be Held Here.

The Midland district reformed itself yesterday into what is known as the Lindsay district Library institution. There are 411 public libraries in Ontario, and thirty-nine in this district. The aim of the Government is to have all these libraries meet annually for the discussion of their needs, and thus keep in touch with the Government and the progress of the day. A number of delegates were present yesterday at Lindsay from various points between Oshawa and Haliburton. Mr. James English was the official delegate of the local board, and Mr. J. H. Burnham had been requested by the Ontario Library Board to give an address.

The officers of this institution elected were:

President—Dr. Vrooman, Lindsay.

Vice-President — Dr. Burnham, Peterborough.

Secretary—Mrs. Jacobi, Oshawa.

Mr. James English was elected a member of the executive.

The next annual meeting of the Lindsay District Library Institution will be held at the new public library here in February, 1911, when between seventy and eighty delegates will be present, and addresses will be delivered by prominent speakers. This new idea of the Department of Education ought to have a wholesome effect on the small libraries which heretofore have had no communication with the larger ones.

TWO MILLIONS OF ORANGES

More than 16,000 boxes of oranges will be sold in this district during the Special Orange Sale advertised by the California Fruit Growers' Exchange. If these boxes of oranges were placed end to end they would measure five miles. It requires forty cars to make up a train load. There are four hundred boxes in each car and the boxes will average 160 oranges each. Upward of two million oranges will be transported on this special train, and if orders from the trade indicate anything this immense quantity will be disposed of during the week. 5,000 orchards have been stripped of their choicest fruit, wrapped in sunkist wrappers, placed in these great refrigerators cars and are running under schedule time, just as passenger trains are run, that there may be no delay and that every dealer may be supplied.

Life's Day.

The time that has elapsed since the first appearance of life on earth has been variously estimated at 100,000,000 to 200,000,000 years. To tax our powers of comprehension as little as possible Dr. H. Schmidt of Jena has taken the shortest estimate and has tried to make understandable the five great evolutionary periods through which life has passed by comparing them with a day of twenty-four hours. This is the result: The archeozoic period (52,000,000 years) is represented by 12 hours 30 minutes; paleozoic (34,000,000 years), 8 hours 7 minutes; mesozoic (11,000,000 years), 2 hours 38 minutes; cenozoic (3,000,000 years), 43 minutes; anthropozoic (100,000 years), 2 minutes. If the last period, the age of man, be compared in its subdivisions by the same scale it is found that the "historic" portion covers only 5 seconds, and 2 seconds are sufficient for the Christian era. It seems incredible, but the evidence is convincing that this does not exaggerate the time relations of our written records with the records of the rocks.

An East Indian Crime.

The occidental reader who shrugs his shoulders deploringly over the evils of Indian caste has little conception of what suffering the custom involves. Its tragedies extend even to the humble, commonplace matters of everyday life. A little incident witnessed by Prince Bojidar Karageorgevitch and chronicled in his "Enchanted India" needs no comment.

Stones and flying sticks were thrown at a little pariah girl whose shadow as she passed defiled the food of a Brahman.

He merely threw away the rice, which the dogs soon finished. But the bystanders who witnessed the girl's insolence in going so near a holy man—she, so base and unworthy—flew at the unhappy creature, who ran away screaming and dropping the load of wood she was carrying on her back.

Meat on a Spit.

It was the custom in mediaeval times to serve roast meat on a spit and to pass it round the table for each guest to cut off what he liked. In France one still finds chicken livers and bacon served on small spits.

It is probable that many people continued to prefer fingers to table utensils even after these were perfected and in general use, for knives were certainly invented at the period when Charles XII. chose to butter his bread with his royal thumb.

Wanted One Saved.

"My task in life," said the minister complacently, "consists in saving young men."

"Ah," replied the maiden, with a soulful longing, "save a good one for me, won't you?"

Mince Pie.

The origin of this famous dish is involved in fable. Some people suppose that the spices used in the delectable filling are traceable to the offerings of the wise men of the east. Long ago mince pies were of an oblong form, thereby representing the manger in which those travelers found the infant Jesus.

The Related Languages.

The Teutonic languages are a group of related languages, forming one of the branches of the Aryan, or Indo-European, family of speech. It comprises the Moeso-Gothic, Anglo-Saxon, Old Saxon, Friesian, Dutch Flemish, Old High German, Middle High German, New High German, Icelandic, Heroic, Danish, Swedish and Norwegian.

The Fig.

The fig is the favorite fruit among animals, and horses, cows, hogs, sheep and goats will eat this fruit as readily as man. The elephant considers it a dainty, while all the fowls greedily devour figs.

Useful Cement.

A useful cement for mending earthen or stone jars, stopping leaks in the seams of tin pans or iron kettles or tightening loose joints of iron or wood is made by mixing litharge and glycerin to a thick cream. This will resist acids, heat and cold if the article is not used until the cement has hardened.

La Fuerza.

The oldest inhabited dwelling in the western hemisphere is said to be La Fuerza, in Havana, built about 1538. Other forts and some convents in Santo Domingo antedate it, but they are all broken ruins now, while La Fuerza is of service still as a storehouse and barracks for the rural guards.

It's a pleasure to write about these New Spring Garments

So unusually attractive are the New Styles in Women's and Misses' Suits. It has been a long time since we have had garments over which we could wax so enthusiastic.

Styles are the first thing to call forth our praises. After the "extreme" modes of the last few seasons, it is truly a pleasure to find models becoming to the average figure.

Materials are next to meet with our commendation. Manufacturers of rough and smooth textures have vied with each other in producing beautiful weaves and colour effects.

Workmanship is exemplary — the most minute inspection fails to reveal a flaw.

We have never had a more thoroughly satisfactory selection of stylish, well made garments to offer.

You are bound to like them and like their prices, which are universally consistant with the splendid value-giving reputation of this store. Ready-to-wear Departm't, 2nd Floor.

INDOOR BALL SCHEDULE

The Officers' League.

The Officers Bowling League, which has just been organized, should prove to be an excellent means of entertainment for the officers of the local garrison, who visit the Armouries, particularly on Saturday night. Eight teams have been entered in the Officers' League, represented as follows: Two from the Dragoons, one from the Artillery, and five from the 57th Regiment. The league opens to-night with matches between Major Hall's team, from the Dragoons, and Major Bennet's team, which is drawn from the staff of the 57th, and Lieut. Rackham's team from the right half of the 57th, against Capt. Ackerman's team from the Artillery. A team is made up of three men each.

Major Brown's Appointent.

Lieut.-Col. W. W. Brown, formerly Commanding Officer of the 3rd Dragoons, has been appointed Brigade Major of the 2nd Cavalry Brigade. The 2nd Cavalry brigade is made up of the 3rd Dragoons, the 4th Hussars, of Kingston, and the 5th Dragoon Guards, of Ottawa.

The Queen's Own Trip.

Speaking of the proposed trip of the Queen's Own Rifles to England, the London Chronicle says:

The Canadians will probably first go to Aldershot for a short preliminary training, and then join as a unit either General Sir H. Smith-Dorrien's command or that of General Sir Arthur Paget, these two commanders being again pitted against each other for the army manoeuvres.

Sir Henry Pellatt's example may be followed in other parts of the Empire in future years, and the men will be cordially welcomed by the authorities. Once before a body of men came from New South Wales for training in England, but they were few compared with the 600 of the Queen's Own. The battalion belongs to the Canadian Militia, and it was their trumpeter, Douglas F. Williams, who sounded the charge at Paardeberg, where the Canadians materially assisted in bringing about the surrendering of Cronje's force. Captain Barker, an officer who is coming over, commanded the Toronto Company at Sunnyside, in December, 1899, when the Canadians came first under fire.

The regiment claims descent from the men who formed the first permanent British Garrison at Toronto under General Simcoe, after the cession of Canada to this country by the treaty of Versailles, 1763.

South African Officers.

To-night, Earl Grey, at Government House, Ottawa, will hold a banquet to which Montreal, Toronto, and Ottawa officers, who served in South Africa, with the various South African contingents, are invited.

Non-Coms. 3rd Dragoons.

"D" Squadron (Prince Edward County), of the 3rd Dragoons gives promise of having the greatest number of qualified non-coms. of any of the squadrons of the 3rd. Quite a few have attended Stanley Barracks since the last camp, and at the present time Sergt Nease and Corp. Ladon of "D" Squadron are at the school.

Indoor Baseball.

On Monday night next, the schedule for the indoor baseball games at the Armouries will be drafted. Indoor baseball is not as popular as it should be in Peterborough. In Toronto and other places it is arousing great enthusiasm. The game here will be participated in by all ranks—officers, non-coms. and privates.

Lieut.-Col. N. F. MacNaughtan.

Lieut.-Col. N. F. MacNaughtan, of Cobourg, formerly Commanding Officer of the 14th Midland Battery, and at the present time Officer Commanding the 10th Brigade Canadian Field Artillery, has been elected President of the Canadian Artillery Association. Lieut-Col. MacNaughtan is an enthusiastic soldier and his many friends throughout this district will be pleased to learn of the honour conferred upon him. The Association met in Ottawa this week.

"E. S. C."

Is Taking a Course.

Lieut. Wallace Anderson, of "C" Squadron, Peterborough, 3rd Dragoons, has been at Stanley Barracks, Toronto, for the last few weeks. He will finish his course on Monday next. Lieut. Anderson comes from Warsaw, and is very popular with the men of his squadron, as well as with the officers of his regiment.

A TERRIBLE SUFFERER FOR THREE YEARS

But Health Was Completely Restored by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Extreme anguish; pains in the joints that all but drive one crazy—thus may inflammatory rheumatism be described. The victims are to be pitied—to them life is one long torture; they suffer by day and cannot sleep by night. Such was the condition of Miss Alida Mercier of Ottawa, Ont. For three years she was a victim of this trouble and found no relief till she began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She says: "For three years I was a sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism. During that time I consulted and was treated by some of the best doctors in our city, but I found no relief in their treatment. I began to despair of ever being well again, when one day a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills. I procured three boxes and by the time these were used there was enough improvement in my condition to encourage me to continue their use. Three more boxes completely cured me and to-day I am as well as ever I was. I always keep a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the house and would recommend all who suffer as I did to give them a trial."

It was the new blood that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually made that restored Miss Mercier to health and strength. There is no medicine to equal them in making new blood and in this way they cure anaemia, rheumatism, heart palpitation, indigestion, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance and many other troubles. Sold by all dealers in medicine or direct at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Borrowed Money to Smuggle.

Windsor, Feb. 26.—The smuggling of Chinamen from Canada to the United States, which for some time past has been known to United States immigration officials as being a profitable business for certain young men in Windsor, came to light in such a manner yesterday, in a judgment summons court case, as to implicate a number of merchants in the city.

Information as to how the Chinese smuggling game is conducted was given by George Letour, testifying under oath, and in his own behalf in a judgment brought against him by D. D. Brouillard, a Windsor butcher. Letour was sued by Brouillard for recovery of a $20 loan. Letour declared he borrowed the money from Drouillard, giving the latter to understand that he wanted it to help pay the expenses of smuggling a load of Chinamen in the States. Letour said that if the "load" went through, as planned, Drouillard was to receive $40 for the $20 advanced.

Letour says he ought not to pay back the loan, as the vigilance of U. S. officials spoiled his plan.

Letour also said that this plan had been worked by him with the help of other merchants. In case of failure he got nothing from his charges, and those advanced money lost out in investment as a result. Drouillard denies all knowledge of the scheme.

Defaulter Wore Smile.

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 26.—With a smile on his face, and apparently without a care or worry, George W. Coleman, the alleged defaulting employe of the wrecked National City Bank of Cambridge, was brought to police headquarters here yesterday by U. S. Deputy Marshal Charles A. Bancroft, Police Inspector Michael Kneeland and John J. Crowing, Coleman's counsel. Coleman arrived at the Back Bay station, in Boston, on the Twentieth Limited Chicago train at 9.11 a.m., and surrendered to the officers who were waiting for him. Capt. Burley stated that Coleman since leaving Cambridge has been in Kansas City, Chicago, Philadelphia and New York.

THE FAMILY HEARTH

HOUSEHOLD HINTS
(By a Correspondent)

Women who do their own housework should use every precaution to avoid the blemishes and unsightly roughness that are bound to follow. No woman should work without gloves—and let me add that the beauty of a hand can be preserved to the end of life if this precaution is never overlooked. For all wet work, long rubber gauntlet gloves are used—but not in excessively hot water or near heat, as this quickly ruins them. For all dry housework, garden work, cooking and the like, a heavy glove made of lamb's wool expressly for this purpose is the best It is a good plan to oil the hands thoroughly before drawing on the gloves; this, and the natural moisture caused by the heat inside the glove, act as a wonderful cosmetic.

At least, wear gloves when you are not working and during the night—white cotton gloves in large size; turn wrong side out and cover well with this cream; Lanolin, 1 ounce; sweet almond oil, ¾ ounce, boric acid, 40 drops; tincture of benzoin, 10 drops. Then slip them on the hands.

WEARING FURS

None but a really young woman should wear white fox close to the face When one is homely, or tired-looking the contrast is trying.

Ermine is usually unbecoming, unless one is either beautiful or exquisitely dressed, and the touch of ermine harmonizes with the whole.

Mink is less difficult, but should be used with great discretion in millinery. It needs some positive color introduced into the trimming to give it character. Older women find black velvet and mink a pleasing combination.

It takes a good deal of color to wear lynx. It is heavy in effect and often makes a pale person look ill and old. Plumes are usually too heavy worn with fur hats.

When black kid gloves peel or crack, mix a little good black ink in a little sweet oil (of course more oil than ink), put on one glove at a time, and with a small piece of flannel rub the mixture on well. Then rub with your hand until it becomes glossy. This will not rub off.

How to save silk glove tips from wearing out so quckly:—Place a small piece of cotton at the end of each. The nails and finger tips shall press against the cotton instead of the silk, and will not cut those unsightly holes.

When starching colored clothes put them in a cheese-cloth bag and the starch will not show on them.

A small piece of paraffin in the wash boiler will whiten clothes. Molasses will remove grass stains from clothing.

They may be made to look like new for an indefinite period if, when they are starched, a little care be taken not to starch the fringe.

Fold each cloth in four like a handkerchief and then gather the fringe of each cloth into the hand and hold it firmly while you dip the middle only into the starch.

When the cloth is dry shake the fringe well and comb it with a specially kept toilet comb, and it will fall as softly and prettily as when new.

To brighten oil lamp burners, boil for fifteen minutes in buttermilk.

Iced water in a pitcher will keep much longer if a paper bag is placed over the top.

Charcoal in pieces the size of a pea, or burnt cork, once a week is good for all poultry.

Cut flowers will last well if a piece of saltpetre be added to the water in which they stand.

Any piece of woollen wrung out in gasoline makes a good duster, but be careful not to use it near a flame.

NEW SLEEVES

There is a revolution in the style of sleeves. The long, tight, severely plain ones are steadily giving way to the elaborate models. The new sleeves show a variety of ornate shapes with gathers, puffs, plaitings, slashes and smockings galore.

Some are full length, some end above and others just turn the elbow. There are wide and narrow cuffs of net and lace, with full puffs above held by bands of velvet or satin ribbon gold silver or bronze tissue.

Sleeves need no longer be of the material of the gown; indeed, they are more often of fabric far removed from that of the frock. Lace, net, gold and silver tissue and chiffon cloth are used in creating the majority of sleeves of smart gowns. On one frock one or two of these materials may be used; on another all of them may be combined to form a ravishing arm covering.

It is only on tailored blouses and severe little one-piece frocks that the long, tight sleeve, boasting only a few narrow tucks is seen.

THINGS TO KNOW

A little work basket in the guest-room is often a great comfort, and one of those little things which a guest particularly appreciates.

It makes fish soft to cover the pan in which it is being cooked.

When hot dishes have made marks on your polished dining table, rub with spirits of camphor. It will remove them.

When eggs are scarce, and they are needed for puddings, a dessert spoonful of corn starch may be substituted for an egg.

When veils are washed at home they usually come out quite limber and flimsy. To give them stiffness add a pinch of sugar to the rinse water.

Bread dressing may be served with a pot roast as well as one put in the oven. The bread should be baked separately in a cake tin.

PLAIN CUP CAKE

Cream a cup of butter with two cups of sugar, add a teacupful of milk, the well beaten yolks of four eggs, then fold in three cups of flour, that has been sifted with two even teaspoonfuls of baking powder), alternately with the stiffened white of the eggs. Flavor, with vanilla or other extract, and bake in a loaf or in layer tins.

GRAHAM BREAD

Into three and a half cups of graham flour stir a pinch of salt, a pint of buttermilk or sour milk, a cup of molasses and a teaspoonful of baking soda dissolved in a gill of hot water. Beat very hard and bake in a slow oven.

LEMON CRACKERS

One-half pint of sweet milk, one egg, one and a quarter cups of sugar, one-half cup of lard, one-half tablespoonful of oil of lemon, two tablespoonfuls of carbonate of ammonia, enough flour to make into a soft dough. Beat or knead for twenty minutes, roll thin, cut out and bake in a quick oven.

BAKED ONIONS

Peel the onions and boil them in salted water. When tender drain and place in a greased pudding dish, sprinkle with salt and pepper, pour over them a good white sauce and set in the oven until lightly browned. Serve in the dish in which they were baked.

Escalloped Cabbage.

Chop a head of cabbage quite fine, and scald. Melt two tablespoons of butter in a saucepan and smooth with two of flour then gradually add one pint of milk and stir until it boils. Season with salt and pepper and add a few spoonsful of grated cheese. Put the drained cabbage into a baking dish, pour the sauce over it, sprinkle the top with bread crumbs and bits of butter, and bake until slightly brown.

Celery Scallop.

Cut two bunches of celery in small pieces and boil until tender, tilding one-half a teaspoon of salt a few minutes before removing from the fire. Drain off all but one-half cup of the water, and add one-half cup of thick sweet cream, two level teaspoonsful of butter, and two of flour. Season to taste, and cook a few minutes, then cool. Butter a pudding dish and line it with crumbs. When the celery is cold, add two well-beaten eggs, and pour into the dish. Cover the top with crumbs and bits of butter and bake in a hot oven, covered for half an hour, then remove the cover and brown.

UNSIGHTLY FACE SORES

ARE REMOVED BY ZAM-BUK.

No matter how obstinate sores, ulcers or abscesses may be, they cannot for long resist the powerful healing essences contained in Zam-Buk. Mr. Hugh B. Crysler, contractor, of 65 Henry Street, St. Catharines, says:

"Months ago my face broke out in running sores. Try as I would, I could not get anything to remove them. I thought my blood was out of order, and took all sorts of medicines internally. Still, the sores got worse.

"In the end, I got so bad that I could not get any barber to shave me. As my state was terrible, and, as I was getting no better, I went to see a friend, who is a druggist. He strongly advised me to try Zam-Buk and leave off everything else. This I did, and almost immediately there was an improvement. The sores became rapidly less and less 'angry' and painful, and the discharge was less. A few boxes of Zam-Buk had the desired effect, and, to my delight, I found my face free from all the sores and blemishes."

Just as good for eczema, ulcers, cold sores, piles, fistula, etc. All druggists and stores, 50 cents box, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

"THE GAY MUSICIAN" HERE ON MONDAY.

With its established record in this city, made here this season, the charming comic opera, "The Gay Musician," by Julien Edwards, will be seen here once again, under the direction of Manager John P. Slocum, next Monday, Feb. 28, at "The Grand."

Of the many musical attractions heard here this season, none was more appreciated than was "The Gay Musician," and its return to this city will be welcome news to those who delight in refined productions free from stupid vulgarity and suggestiveness.

Manager John P. Slocum has won a reputation in Canada for bringing here the best in the theatrical field and it is safe to say that in his present production of "The Gay Musician" that the company, chorus, ballet, scenery and costuming will be on the usual high plane for which he is noted.

A dose of Miller's Worm Powders occasionally will keep children healthy.—Wm. Madill, Druggist.

WEDDING BELLS

LAWRENCE—ALLEN.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Allen, Smith, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday, Feb. 23rd at 6 o'clock in the evening, when their daughter Ethel was united in marriage to Mr. Harold Lawrence of Douro.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Bedford, of Lakefield. During the playing of the wedding march by Miss Clara Davis, of Lakefield, the bride entered the drawing room leaning on the arm of her father, she being gowned in a cream dress with satin trimming. She wore a bridal veil, carrying a shower bouquet of white carnations. She was assisted by her sister, Lottie, dressed in a princess gown of white lawn, with valacienne trimming, carrying a shower bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. Braden Bell After the ceremony and congratulations were extended the guests sat down to the usual wedding supper. The presents were numerous and costly showing the high esteem with which they were held. Among those was a kitchen shower from the Lakefied League ,also a couple of cheques. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold locket and chain, to the brideamaid a gold bracelet set with pearls, and to the groomsman a pair of cuff links.

McCULLOUGH—RUTH.

At three o'clock on Tuesday, February 8th, a quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Ruth, 208 Lake street, when their eldest daughter, Edna, was united in marriage to Mr. Harvey McCullough, by the Rev. G. W. Henderson. The bridesmaid was Miss Irene Ruth, sister of the bride, and Mr. Thos. Donaldson, supported the groom. Mr. and Mrs. McCullough left on the 4.38 C.P.R. train for Winnipeg, where they will reside in the future, the groom having obtained a lucrative position with a hardware firm of that place.

THE ISSUE IN DOUBT

Premier Will Not Talk For Publication Nor In the House, So Plans Cannot Be Forecasted—Churchill, Lloyd-George and Grey Are Said to Be For an Elective Upper Chamber—Fear an Election.

London, Feb. 26.—Mr. Asquith's predisposition to extreme reticence makes a judgment of the political situation a matter of difficulty. While it is easy to see by the numerous prolonged Cabinet meetings that the Government is facing grave problems, it is not easy to forecast the issue. Several conferences of the Cabinet have already been held, and another Cabinet Council has been summoned for to-day. But for the fact that no party or group in the House of Commons wants another general election the Ministry's term of office would not be worth many weeks' purchase. The Liberals, Radicals and Nationalists, in addition to the difficulty arising out of depleted party funds, fear that a general election now would bring a Unionist triumph.

Premier Asquith's statement that he had not sought guarantees from the King is interpreted on all sides as a confession that the result of the elections was too inconclusive to justify his asking for such guarantees and the essence of the difficulties facing him lies in the impossibility of reconciling the divergent views of his supporters on the manner of dealing with the House of Lords.

Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Secretary; Chancellor Lloyd-George, and Winston Spencer Churchill are said to favor reforming the second chamber on the elective principle. The Radicals, led by Sir Charles Wentworth Dilke, demand the abolition of all veto power in the Upper House. The Nationalists also want the veto power abolished, while the Laborites make a still more extreme demand—the abolition of the House of Lords altogether. A large section of the moderate Liberals probably would be satisfied if the Lords were debarred from interference in the matter of finance.

The address in reply to the King's speech passed without division yesterday.

Take Off the Fat Where It Shows

Most women suffer from humiliation because of great quantities of fat, so located that, no matter how they dress, everybody sees that they are abnormal. This is the day of slender figure, and fat women are simply not tolerated either in business or social affairs. Women may not know it, but men when they see a fat woman pass them on the street, make all manner of sympathetic remarks about her. They do not mean to be unkind or seem unmanly, but it is natural for a fat man to dislike fat on a woman. Where fat shows the most there is where it must be removed, and as quickly as possible. The hot weather dresser seem to be made for the fat woman's misery and the slender woman's delight. They expose all the charms of woman and her ugliness as well. Exercise and diet will not remove fat. This has been proved. The famous Marmola prescription which has met with such phenomenal success and has so many of our society women as its sponsors, is now being sold in tablet form to meet the demand of the public for this style of treatment. These little tablets go into your system just like food. They stop the stomach and digestive apparatus from producing fat and reduce the fat upon the body at the rate of from 12 to 15 ounces a day. They are harmless and can be carried in your purse and taken even after you have indulged in a hearty meal away from home. They are sold at all drug stores at 75 cents a case, or if you prefer you may write the Marmola Company, 833 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

King Edward Recognizes The Heroism Of Tommy Reynolds

C. P. R. Conductor of North Bay in the Spanish River Wreck Receives the Albert Medal for Bravery—Message From Lord Strathcona — North Bay Celebrates.

FELLOW CITIZENS JOYOUS

"London, Feb. 25.

(Signed) "Crewe."

This is in accordance with the recommendation forwarded His Majesty last week by the Secretary of State, asking that the heroism of Conductor Reynolds in rescuing the passengers in the Spanish River railway wreck be recognized by the granting of His Majesty's medal for heroic service in saving life.

The Albert medal dates from 1866, with extensions in 1867 and 1877, and is a recognition of acts of gallantry. Its recipients are ranged in two divisions, the one receiving a badge inscribed "for gallantry in saving life at sea," the other with the closing words varied to "on land." Each division has now two classes, the badge of the one having a golden centre with a bronze garter around it, that of the other being wholly in bronze; both are oval and contain an Albert Crown and the cipher V.A., to which, in the sea division, an anchor is added. The suspending ribbon in this division is dark blue, with four white stripes in the first class and two in the second; in the land division it is crimson with similar white stripes.

North Bay Celebrates.

North Bay, Feb. 26.—North Bay was en fete last night and united in doing honor to the hero of the Spanish River wreck, Thos. Reynolds, who yesterday received word that His Majesty the King had been pleased to confer the Albert medal upon him. Reynolds is the first Canadian to receive the Albert medal.

The demonstration began with a torchlight procession, headed by a band. Reynolds sitting in a cutter drawn by a number of citizens. At the opera house, which was speedily filled to the doors wit ha cheering throng, Mayor Rankin took the chair and the following telegrams were read:

From Major Lanesborough, governor-general's secretary: "Have much pleasure in informing you that the governor-general has received cable from the Secretary of State for Colonies, informing his excellency that His Majesty the King has been pleased to confer the Albert medal of the first class upon you in recognition of your heroic action at Spanish River."

From Hon. Charles Murphy, Secretary of State: "Received to-day this statement from Lord Strathcona: 'Greatly pleased to advise you that King has awarded Albert medal of first class to Thomas Reynolds. When received it will be transmitted immediately. Accept my hearty congratulations.—Strathcona."

Speeches were made by Bishop Scollard, Mayor Rankin, John Ferguson, president of the Board of Trade; J. H. Black, superintendent T. & N. O. Railway; D. Purvis, D. J. McKeown, Revs. Johnston, Addison and Bishop Wm. McKenzie, Magistrate Weegar, D. H. Williams, Mr. Reynolds replied modestly, contenting himself with a few words of thanks for the ovation.

THOMAS REYNOLDS.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

A party of 200 Salvation Army emigrants, an advance party of the 10,000 who are coming this season, sailed yesterday from London.

Sir W. H. White, chief engineer and secretary in the works department to the Government of Bombay, has been appointed a director of the Grank Trunk Railway of Canada.

The statement was made in financial circles yesterday that the Grand Trunk Railway officials are considering the possibility of extending their system to Boston, as well as to Providence.

Cardinal Ludovig Lucon, Archbishop of Rheims was condemned yesterday by the civil tribunal to pay $1,000 damages to the public teacher for signing the episcopal letter forbidding the use of certain text books in the public school.

The official reports of the flood damage in France in 13 out of 36 departments show a monetary loss of $14,600,000. This includes the $10,000,000 damage done in Paris, but there, as elsewhere, no account is made of the indirect losses, which are incalculable.

G. T. R. Loses Appeal.

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—The appeal in the Grand Trunk Railway Co. vs. the Canadian Northern Railway Co. was dismissed by the Supreme Court yesterday.

The appeal was as to the jurisdiction of the Board of Railway Commissioners to make an order, granted by them on Jan. 10, 1910, authorizing the C. N. R. to construct sidings from the G. T. R. main line to their right-of-way near the proposed crossing of the railway, in the Township of Scarboro, east of Toronto.

The G. T. R. contended that the board could not make the order, as it involves the construction of a new station and works at a point where there is now no station or junction, and where interchange of traffic is not necessary.

Expedition to Find Caldwell.

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—Capt. Sam Bartlett, an uncle of the commander of R. E. Peary's ship, the Roosevelt, will be sent next summer by the Dominion Government to search for Geo. Caldwell, who went into the north in the fall of 1907 to investigate reports of mineral deposits in the Copper River country. The only news received of him since he left Chesterfield Inlet with two natives came to Hudson Bay traders through Indians, who said Caldwell and his two native companions had been seen repairing their boat at Baker Lake.

Mr. Caldwell was supplied with a number of tubes, which he designed to leave behind in conspicuous places to mark his course.

12 Tumors Removed Without An Operation

Silver Lake, Ont., Sept. 20, 1909.

Dear Mrs. Currah.—I am enjoying better health than I have for eight years, and I think I am entirely cured. I have none of the old symptoms. I am very grateful for my present health, and think Orange Lily is the greatest treatment for women the world knows. Its use in my case caused 12 tumors or growths of some sort to be expelled. Some were as large as a hen's egg, and others smaller; down to the size of a walnut. You may use my case in your advertisement, for it is the solid truth, and pen cannot describe all the good it has done for me. Mrs. Louise E. Bolthridge.

This letter gives an indication of the positive benefits that always follow the use of Orange Lily. It is an applied treatment and comes in direct contact with the suffering organs. It professes results from the start in all cases of women's disorders, including painful periods, failure of womb, irregularities, leucorrhoea, etc.

I will send a sample box containing 10 days' treatment absolutely free to any suffering woman who has not yet tried it. If she will send me her address. Mention this paper and address MRS. FRANCES E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

Storm In Rockies.

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 26.—A snowstorm which started Tuesday is still raging in the Cascade Mountains, and the transcontinental railroads are experiencing the utmost difficulty in keeping their lines open. On the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound road, near Keechelus a work crew of 150 men with a big rotary was marooned Thursday in a big drift and without provisions. Provisions were sent out yesterday on handsleds to the marooned men. Drifts fifteen feet deep are reported in the mountains.

Sold Liquor to Engineer.

Kingston, Feb. 26.—Yesterday Police Magistrate Farrel fined Robert L. Blair of Sharbot Lake $50 and costs for having sold liquor to Michael McGlade, a then employe of the C. P. R. The defence was that the engineer said he was off duty.

McGlade testified himself to getting liquor.

BAD KIDNEYS CAUSE OF BLADDER TROUBLE

Backache and All Distress From Your Out-of-Order Kidneys Will Vanish.

No man or woman here whose kidneys are out of order, or who suffers from backache or bladder misery, can afford to leave Pape's Diuretic untried.

After taking several doses, all pains in the back, sides or loins, rheumatic twinges, nervousness, headache, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelids, dizziness, tired or worn-out feeling, and other symptoms of clogged, sluggish kidneys simply vanish.

The moment you suspect the slightest kidney or bladder disorder, or feel rheumatism pains, don't continue to be miserable or worried, but get a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic from your druggist and start taking as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which is so harmless or will effect so thorough and prompt a cure.

This unusual preparation goes direct to the cause of the trouble, distributing its cleansing, healing and vitalizing influence directly upon the organs and glands affected and completes the cure before you realize it.

A few days' treatment of Pape's Diuretic means clean, healthy, active kidneys, bladder and urinary organs —and you feel fine.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Tariff Negotiations.

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—In the Commons, shortly before the House adjourned at 12.30 this morning, J. D. Taylor (New Westminster), asked the Finance Minister whether the Government had any communication to make regarding the United States tariff. Press despatches from Washington indicated that there had been negotiations in progress with Ottawa.

Mr. Fielding said: "The matter is not in a condition which would permit me to make any communication at present to the House."

Year In Central Prison.

Toronto, Feb. 26.—Despite the fact that Detective Miller interrupted him in the act of selling lead pipe and taps, which he had taken from a vacant house in Ward Seven, William Finch met with still further discourtesies at the hands of Police Magistrate Denison in the Police Court yesterday. Finch told the magistrate of the rude interference of the detective but the colonel with equal impoliteness sent him away for a year's residence in [illegible]

28 Below Zero In New Hampshire.

Andover, N.H., Feb. 26.—Shivering beneath its heavy blanket of snow, central New Hampshire Thursday night and early yesterday was visited by the coldest weather of the present winter. Thermometers registered 28 degrees below zero. Recent snow storms have been followed in each case by gales, and the drifts on many of the mountain roads are fully fifteen feet deep.

PACKERS INDICTED

The Beef Trust of the United States, Involving Six Huge Concerns, Are Charged With Combining to Force Prices Up — Many Individuals Are Included In Writs and May All Be Arrested.

New York, Feb. 26.—The beef trust of the United States, involving six great packing companies and twenty-one packers, several of them multi-millionaires, socially and industrially prominent, were indicted yesterday by a grand jury in Hudson County, N.J., charged with conspiracy in limiting the supply of meat and poultry.

The indictment is drawn under the laws of New Jersey, which provide, upon conviction, a maximum penalty of three years in the penitentiary, or a $1,000 fine, or both.

The offence is extraditable, which means that practically all the meat barons of the country must either successfully resist extradition or come to Jersey City for trial.

Pierre Garven, the public prosecutor of Hudson County, announced that he would notify the defendants of their indictments and was ready to force extradition in each and every case where the individual concerned is not willing to face trial voluntarily. None, he says, will be spared.

The defendants as named are: Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Nelson, Morris & Co., Hammond Packing Co., G. H. Hammond & Co.

Individuals—J. Ogden Armour, A. Watson Armour, Louis F Swift, Edward F. Swift, Charles H. Swift, Edward Morris, Ira N. Morris, Arthur Meeker, Edward Tilden, L. A. Carton, Thomas E. Wilson, Thomas J. Conners, F. A. Fowler, L. H. Heyman, Jas. E. Bathgate, jr., Geo. J. Edwards, Fred. B. Cooper, D. E. Hartwell, Henry B. Harlington, A A. Fuller, Lemuel C. Patterson.

The indictment, which bristles in its arraignment of the men named, also refers to "diverse others" as being responsible, but they are not specified.

The foregoing list of names represents the very backbone of the great packing industry in the United States, comprising as it does, two Armours, three Swifts and two Morrises, all for the most part, residents of Chicago.

The indictment brings to a climax the first concerted efforts which have been made in the east to fix responsibility for abnormally high price of commodities now prevalent.

According to the indictment, an illegal agreement to thus control prices was entered into by the defendants as far back as March 1, 1908, when, it is charged, a meeting was held in Jersey City, at which it is further charged, the defendants "wilfully, unlawfully, fraudulently and extortionately" bound themselves to "maintain and exercise control over a monopoly of meat and poultry supply, and not to sell to the public meats and poultry, except at exorbitant prices agreed upon."

The indictment recites that mere driblets of the supply were put on the market at stated intervals, small quantities agreed upon by the defendants, thus to curtail and restrict the supply," for the purpose of falsely arbitrarily and unlawfully increasing prices to public." Warehouses are held specifically to blame.

Interesting and significant relations between Armour, Swift and Morris interests through the medium of the National Packing Co., are set for in the document. In order to carry out the conspiracy, it is charged, certain adjustments in the directorate of the National Packing Co. were necessary.

Capiases for the arrest of all the defendants will be issued immediately, and the grand jury will resume its investigations next Wednesday.

Bitten by Muzzled Dogs.

Niagara Falls, Feb. 26.—A little daughter of William Price had her arm terribly lacerated by a dog wearing a wire muzzle. The animal attacked her in front of her home.

The dog was shot yesterday, and the head sent to Toronto for examination.

Traveler Bitten by Dog.

Peterboro, Feb. 26.—A commercial traveler named Fraizlich, employed by the Robert Darling Co., Toronto, was bitten by a dog at Havelock. The animal was killed.

Mayor Morrow's Rink Won Primary Bonspiel, Defeating J. E. A. Fitzgerald's Rink in the Final Game---Consolation Round is Drawing to a Close---Clergy in a Game.

Mayor Mororw's rink won first honours in the primary round of the final bonspiel among the local rinks. The game was played yesterday and proved most interesting and in every respect was worthy of the final contest.

The opposing rink was skipped by J. E. A. Fitzgerald, both having come through the semi-finals and as expected the play-off was an exciting game. Mayor Morrow and his braves were only up three shots. The rinks were as follows:

D. B. McRae	C. James
M. Armstrong	W. P. Adamson
J. McDermid	Dr Marshall
W. G. Morrow	J. E. A. Fitzgerald
skip 16	skip 13

At the eighth end Mayor Morrow's rink was eight up, but in the next three Fitzgerald pulled up even by four, three and one shot respectively. The finish was just as exciting.

Three rinks were at noon left in the consolation round. Waddell and Hicks were to play off this afternoon in a semi-final game and the winner meets Neill's rink. The games have been of the most interesting character and the excitement in the last stages is showing no abatement. The games played last night were as follows:

H. Martin	W. Sheffield
Dr. Morrison	R. J. Winch
G. L. Bowes	E. H. D. Hall
W. E. Talbot, sk. 8	R. M Waddell 13
T Wilson	J. Brightman

C N. Brown	B. Lastar
J. Wolstenholm	G Hill
R. Cameron	M. C. Tooley
R. Hicks, sk. 16	D. Hall, sk. 7

A game between two rinks skipped by Rev. Henderson and Rev. Pearson, respectively, was played yesterday and proved more than interesting. On the conclusion of the last end the board showed the following figures:

STRATHCONAS EASILY BEAT KEENE ON THEIR OWN ICE

High Commissioners Out-Scored the Villagers 10 to 3 Last Night —Were Ahead 5 to 1 at Half Time and Were Never in Difficulty.

MOST ENJOYABLE TRIP

The Strathconas, minus the services of Ray, Weatherstone and McMillan, journeyed to Keene last night, and succeeded inesily defeating the McDougalittes by a score of 10 to 3. The score at half time was 5 to 1 in favour of the City League champions, who were at no time pressed. They quickly adjusted themselves to the small rink, and showed a classy combination, which allowed them to work in on the Keene nets without trouble, while on the other hand Keene played an individual game, which was of no use against the strong defence o fthe Commissioners. Two of the three goals to Keene's credit were batted in by the Straths' defence, while trying to clear. All the Commissioners gave a good account of themselves, the forwards combining and rushing nicely, while the defence was strong in all departments. Burritt and Campbell divided the scoring honours between them, the former with four and the lattor with three to his credit. McDougall and Weir were the Keene stars. J. B. McIntyre, of Keene, was a satisfactory referee. The rink was crowded for the game, and the City League winners got a good reception. The Alderville Brass Band was on hand and many visitors from outside points were in attendance. A skating party was held afterwards.

The teams lined up as follows:

Strathconas		Keene

Derocher		McWilliams

WANDERERS APPLIED KALSOMINE TO THE MILLIONAIRE'S ALL STARS

Renfrew, Ont., Feb. 25.—No Stanley Cup for Renfrew this year. The fight for the celebrated silverware which the Ottawa, Wanderers, and Renfrew teams have been waging in the past month narrowed down to a two-team race here to-night, when, in the presence of a capacity house, Wanderers defeated the Creamery Town team by a score of 5 goals to 0. Renfrew, as the result, drops out of the running, and Wanderers take the lead. Ottawa still has a good chance, for, by beating Wanderers at Ottawa next Saturday, March 5, they will tie the Montrealers.

To-night's game was played on a sheet of ice that was as hard as steel and which at the same time ought to have been productive of the fastest match of the year. The Renfrew team had just returned from a victorious trip through the Silver Country and could by beating Wanderers knock the latter out of the running and step up on even terms with Ottawa. The Renfrew team failed dismally, however, giving the poorest exhibition yet seen on local ice. Wanderers were at no time brilliant, but they played a brainy, close checking game at all stages and broke up what little combination Renfrew attempted, so that Renfrew under their wings throughout.

The Renfrew defence was away off-colour Lindsay allowing a couple of easy ones to get by him, while neither Frank Patrick nor Taylor was at any time effective, although both worked hard. Taylor's great rushes brought no results, and Patrick seldom got away. On the defensive they were also weak, allowing the Wanderers to get by them with comparative ease. Taylor presented one goal to the visitors when he attempted to carry the rubber in front of his nets in the first half, Gardner batting it off his stick and into the goal.

On the forward line Renfrew were also bad. They showed no combination and had neither snap nor ginger at any stage. On the wings, both Rowe and Millar were weak, and in centre ice neither Lester Patrick nor Newsy Lalonde played his usual game.

Hern, in the Wanderer goal, starred for the winners, while Johnston, at cover-point, and Glass, on the line, were also very conspicuous. Hyland and Gardner were both good on the wings, and Russell, the champion goal merchant of the league, gave the Renfrew defence a busy evening. Wanderers showed no great strength at any stage, playing a careful, consistent game from beginning to end.

Play was clean and the exhibition, as a whole, a tame one. Wanderers scored three goals in the first half. Johnston netting the first after a long rush, and Gardner the following two. Renfrew tried to pull together at the commencement of the second half, but failed, and Wanderers, after a long siege, took two in quick succession, one by Glass and another by Hyland. Referees Bowie and Campbell had little to do.

The defeat of the Renfrew team may mean the death of professional hockey in the town. The league is crumbling however, and is likely to blow up at Monday's meeting in Montreal, when no less than six protests will be received.

The teams:

Wanderers—Hern, Marshall, Johnston, Glass, Russell, Hyland and Gardiner.

Renfrew —Lindsay, Frank Patrick, Taylor, Lester Patrick, Lalonde, Millar and Rowe.

Fred Whitcroft, of the Renfrew team, was unable to play, being confined to a local hospital as the result of bloodpoisoning, contracted through inattention to a blow in the mouth received in Haileybury last Tuesday night.

GOOD GAME PLAYED

A very interesting game of hockey was pulled off on Brock Street Rink Thursday evening between Millbrook and the local P. A. C. teams. The game was warmly contested and at times was pretty fast, though it was free from slashing and tripping. Millbrook scored the only goal of the game in the first half. Nattress and Burnham were the pick of the visitors though Mitchell, in the nets, turned several likely ones away. Loomis, Reed, and Johnston worked hard on the forward line, while Rillingbeck took care of the nets in good style for the local boys. The feature of the game was the several lone rushes by Loomis, who carried the puck right in only to be taken out by Mitchell's good wrk in goal.

The teams lined up as follows:

Score 1—0.

Referee—George Hillier.

GARRISON BOWLING

A meeting of the Privates of the garrison was held in the armouries Wednesday evening, and a bowling league was formed. Teams of three men, all the men to be from the same company, or unit, may be entered. Games will be played every Monday and Thursday evenings. All teams wishing to enter are requested to leave the name of their team captain with Lieut. J. D. Clarke (Examiner office) at once, in order that the league may be got under way. The first games will be played on Monday evening next, Feb. 28th.

A MILLION DOLLARS FOR ADVERTISING

The directors of the Pape, Thompson and Pape Company, of Cincinnati O., are evidently firmly convinced of the beneficial results of newspaper advertising, as they have decided upon using an appropriation of one million dollars this year in advertising Pape's Diapepsin and Pape's Diuretic and of this amount seventy per cent. will be spent in the newspapers of the United States, Canada and Mexico. Such a tremendous amount shows that the company has an absolute faith in the worth of their preparations and is convinced that having the goods to offer the public, the best policy is to choose the best publicity medium and therefore has selected the newspapers. Examiner readers are already well acquainted with the merits of Pape's Diapepsin a splendid preparation to relieve upset stomachs and indigestion.

The Federal Life Assurance Co.
of Canada

The Twenty-eighth Annual Meeting of the shareholders of the Federal Life Assurance Company of Canada was held at the Company's Head Office, in Hamilton, Tuesday, 15th February, 1910, at 2 p.m., Mr. David Dexter in the chair, Mr. W. H. Davis, Acting Secretary.

The Annual Report, as follows, was read and adopted, on motion of the President, Mr. Dexter, seconded by Vice-President Lieut.-Col. Kerns:

Your directors have the honor to present the Report and Financial Statement of the Company for the year which closed 31st December, 1909, duly vouched for by the Auditors.

The new business of the year consisted of two thousand six hundred applications for insurance, aggregating $3,663,896.66, of which two thousand five hundred and one applications for $3,504,235.00 were accepted.

As in previous years, the income of the Company shows a gratifying increase, and the assets of the Company have been increased by $329,092.88, and have now reached $3,643,949.53, exclusive of guarantee capital.

The Security for Policyholders, including guarantee capital, amounted at the close of the year to $4,513,949.53, and the liabilities for reserve and all outstanding claims, including $20,000 set aside as a special addition to policy reserves, $3,351,254.00, showing a surplus of $1,162,695.53. Exclusive of uncalled guarantee capital, the surplus to Policyholders was $292,-695.53.

Policies on one hundred and fifteen lives became claims through death, to the amount of $200,406.07.

Including Cash Dividends and Dividends applied to the reduction of premiums, with annuities, the total payment to Policyholders amounted to $347,274.43.

Careful attention has been given to the investment of the Company's funds, in first-class bonds, mortgage securities, and loans on the Company's policies amply secured by reserves. Our investments have yielded a very satisfactory rate of interest.

Expenses have been confined to a reasonable limit, consistent with due efforts for new business. The results of the year indicate a most gratifying progress. Compared with the preceding year, the figures submitted by the Directors for your approval show an advance of nearly ten per cent. in assets.

The assurances carried by the Company now amount to $21,049,322.31, upon which the Company holds reserves to the full amount required by law, and, in addition thereto, a considerable surplus.

You are to be congratulated on the fact that the surplus over Capital and all Liabilities increased $42,624.88 during the past year, from which a special addition of $20,000 was made to policy reserves.

The field officers and agents of the Company are intelligent and loyal, and are entitled to much credit for their able representation of the Company's interests. The members of the office staff have also proved faithful to the Company's service.

Your Directors are pleased to be abe to state that the business of the Company for the current year has been of a most satisfactory character, and that the outook for the future is most encouraging.

DAVID DEXTER,
President and Managing Director.

AUDITORS' REPORT

To the President and Directors of the Federal Life Assurance Company:

GENTLEMEN:—We have carefully audited the books and records of your Company for the year ending 31st December last, and have certified to their accuracy.

The Cash and Journal Vouchers have been closely examined and agree with the entries recorded.

The Debentures, Bonds, etc., in the possession of the Company have been inspected, whilst those deposited with the Government have been verified by certificate, the total agreeing with the amount as shown in the Statement of Assets.

The accompanying Statement, viz., Revenue and Expenditure, Assets and Liabilities, show the result of the year's operations and also the financial position of the Company.

Respectfully submitted,
C. S. SCOTT, F. C. A.,
CHARLES STIFF, C. A.,
Auditors.

The Surtax Abolishd

The French Treaty Advantage to Canadians

Good News for the Customers of Robert Fair & Co.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT of the abolition of the German Surtax will be hailed with satisfaction by shoppers at the Golden Lion.

Being large importers of European goods, including German novelties of high-class manufacture—the surtax duty on these goods has always been felt to be in the nature of a reprisal against Canadian buyers. This surtax on goods of German production has had the effect of increasing the cost of goods one-third additional on the regular import duty.

Germany having now abandoned the undue discrimination against Canadian exports, it will be good news to many of the shoppers at the Golden Lion, who will in future receive the full benefit of the reduction in the cost of these goods on account of the Canadian Surtax being taken off.

The French Treaty of 1907

The amended tariff on goods of French origin will permit Canadian buyers to participate in the lower rate of duty which it prescribes.

All Our Spring

Importations will therefore benefit by the removal of the Surtax and the lower rate on French goods.

At a recent Sunday school convention in Harrisburg, Pa., while the out of town guests were registering in one of the churches, a small girl rushed in and in a shrill, excited voice said: "Is there anybody here from Montgomery county? Marathon Battlefield.

One of the most famous stories in ancient history is that 400 years after the battle of Marathon there were still heard on the battlefield the neighing of horses and the shouts of soldiers, and, apropos of this battle, Plutarch stated that several soldiers saw the apparition of Theseus there, fighting for the Greeks.

After exhaustive research an English architect has decided that the leaning tower of Pisa was built at the angle it stands today as a feat of structural bravado.

The Hawaiians.

Besides the traditions of the Hawaiians, their practice of incantation and divination and many peculiarities of their language show a relation not only with the Hebrews, but also with the fire worshipers of Persia, the Brahmans and Buddhists of India and other branches of the Aryan race.

The Dolphin.

The dolphin is a weatherwise fish. During a gale or storm at sea the mariner knows that the end of it is near if he can see a dolphin or a number of that fish sporting on the waves.

Potted Plants.

The reason some people "never have any luck with plants" is sometimes because the drainage is defective. A plant will not live in a heavy, sour, soggy soil, such as fills a pot when the drainage is not complete. This is especially true of palms, to which the stagnant moisture is sure death, but it holds true of any pot grown plant.

Ostrich Feathers.

The beautiful and choice ostrich feathers are found only in the wings of that bird. It is rare to find more than a dozen of these fine feathers on one bird.

Persia's Orchards.

While Persia is generally famed for its roses and other beautiful flowers and its tastefully arranged gardens, its orchards, with excellent varieties of finely flavored fruit, nuts, melons, quinces, cucumbers, etc., deserve greater consideration. It is the home of the peach, a fact illustrated in the term for this fruit in many languages.

Solid!

The lovesick young man dropped on his knees and raised his hand. "Essie, will you be mine? Will you be mine? Will you be mine?" he said.

The young lady gazed at her suitor in bewilderment. But the young man seemed in earnest.

"First call. Will you be my wife? Second call, Will you be my wife? Third and last call, Will you be my wife?"

His hand was ready to fall, but at that instant the young lady remembered that her suitor was an auctioneer by profession, so she answered, "Yes."—Puck.

Dishwater.

The quality of dishwater is not strained.
It droppeth in a gentle shower upon
The man beneath; it cleanseth twice—cleanseth
That which is washed and also him that washes.
'Tis mightiest when soapiest; washeth
The breakfast dishes better that a towel.
A towel shows the force of circumstances,
Extravagance of kitchen maid and cook,
Wherein doth lie the dread of laundry bills.
Dishwater is above this friction process,
It is adhesive, pleasant to the taste.
It is a flavor of the food you eat.
And earthly conversation doth soar to loftiest heights
When dishwater seasons coffee.

Amended Version.

Alexander had defeated and captured Porus.

"How do you wish to be treated?" he asked.

"Like a king!" answered Porus, with dignity.

"Good!" exclaimed his conqueror. "I was thinking of using you as a plaster."

For already he was beginning to be stuck on him, as it were.—Chicago Tribune.

Seeing at the Pole.

A person can see a greater distance from the pole than from any other point, because the earth is flatter there than anywhere else—that is, the curvature of the surface is less.

Feast of the Tabernacles.

The first recorded thanksgiving was the Hebrew feast of the tabernacles.

Newfoundland Fogs.

The oft mentioned fogs of Newfoundland are found only, as a rule, on the east and south coasts and on the "banks." They are caused by the meeting of the arctic current with the gulf stream. The interior in summer is described as a most delightful climate, resembling that of the south of France.

The New England Thanksgiving.

Plant Roots.

It is from the rootlets or small fibers of a tree or plant that its subsistence is obtained, and in the performance of its duty nature has given these delicate, tender parts wonderful strength and persistence when exerted within rules. In their search for food supply they will sometimes even penetrate soft rock to reach favored spots.

Believed in Witches.

Sir Thomas Browne, author of the "Religio Medica," believed in witches. He wrote, "For my part, I have ever believed and do now know that there are witches. They that doubt of these do not only deny them, but spirits, and are obliquely and upon consequence a sort not of infidels, but atheists."

Norway's Sardines.

Norway has forty sardine factories. During a good season 50,000,000 tins of twenty to twenty-four fish each are packed, equivalent to 500,000 cases of a hundred tins each.

Earrings.

The immortal Shakespeare is said to have worn earrings, and Charles I. is reputed to have been the owner of a magnificent pair of pearl earrings, which he bequeathed to his daughter the day before he was executed.

Fireproofing Textiles.

Textiles may be rendered fireproof, according to the Paris board of fire commissioners, by steeping them in a 10 per cent solution of phosphate of ammonia, then drying them in the open air.

POST CARD COLUMN.

Peterborough, Feb. 25, 1910

Sir,—The use of the interrogation mark (?) is no doubt evidence of business acumen, but it is to be hoped Messrs. Richard Hall do not patent it. To be correct, however, "the higher cost of living" is not a question at all in the interrogation sense, but merely an opinion or subject (there is no question about it) for debate. The measure of the vitality of a question (not interrogation) is the size of the purse. Perhaps the answer is "our out-worn police system."

it, and if you want to undertake it you may.' I decided to try, thinking I could work it out in two months at a cost of maybe $10,000.

"It actually took me two years, and required $50,000. This car is the third I built in trying to get something that would really do the work. At West Orange I sent it up a ten per cent grade, which it made almost as easily as it runs on the level. We already have orders from Alaska for the Guggenheim road into Fairbanks, and from New Zealand and the Spanish West Indies. I call the car a 'Canned Current Car,' but officially I am going to name it the 'Beach Battery Car.' We have a capacity of a car day, at the plant now, but will soon increase it."

Mr. Beach said that the Edison storage battery was doing much more practical work than it was given credit for.

BANKERS PLAYED IN LINDSAY.

The Winnipeg Bankers played in Lindsay last night and when no reports of the game were seen in dispatches from Lindsay in the Toronto papers the fans around town began to fancy that Lindsay had been walloped by a big score. However, by means of the C. P. R. telegraph it was learned that Winnipeg had won by 5 goals to 3.

"Caught Cold."

Had a Distressing, Tickling Sensation In The Throat.

Mr. Albert MacPhee, Chignecto Mines, N.S., writes: "In Oct., 1908, I caught cold by working in water, and had a very bad cough and that distressing, tickling sensation in my throat so that I could not sleep at night, and my lungs were so very sore I had to give up work. Our doctor gave me medicine but it did me no good so I got a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and by the time I had used two bottles I was entirely cured. I am always recommending it to my friends."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup combines the potent healing virtues of the Norway pine tree with other absorbent, expectorant and soothing medicines of recognized worth and is absolutely harmless, prompt and safe for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Sore Throat, Pain or Tightness in the Chest, and all Throat and Lung Troubles.

There are many imitations of "Dr. Wood's" so be sure and get the genuine when you ask for it.

Foster-Macdonald Libel Suit Decided Against Plaintiff

Editor of the Globe is Awarded Costs in Libel Action Which is Dismissed by the Jury---The Latter Were Unanimous in the Verdict---Conclusion of the Nine-Days' Case Which Has Attracted so Much Attention.

Toronto, Feb. 28.—The nine days' trial of the Foster-Macdonald libel suit came to an end at 8.45 o'clock on Saturday night with a victory for the editor of The Globe.

Neither one of the suitors was present when the jury returned; neither were Messrs. Johnston and Rowell, but they were represented by Junior Counsel George Wilkie. Mr. Foster's leading counsel, I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., however, was on the job, and made a last stand for his client by requesting that the result be entered on the books as the jury had written it, but Mr. Justice Magee instructed that the entry be made "judgment for the defendant with costs." Mr. Hellmuth then applied for and was granted a 30 days' stay of proceedings.

The jury took the case at 3.50 on Saturday afternoon, and they were closeted until the time stated, except for a half hour off for luncheon and a few minutes when they came out about seven o'clock to hear further instructions from the judge, Mr. Hellmuth having taken strong exception of his lordship's summing up. At different periods throughout the afternoon and evening those on watch heard voices rising and mingling in contentious debate from the jury room which indicated that anything but a unanimous spirit was prevailing.

It is said that the vote stood seven to five in favor of a straight verdict for the defendant, until an agreement was finally reached by the seven consenting to the last sentence, letting Foster down somewhat lightly.

An estimate given by one connected with the case places the costs of the trial at $10,000. It was stated that The Globe's expense of preparing the defence was $1,000, and counsel fees for nine days sitting $5,000, while the costs of the other side were placed at about $4,000.

In view of Mr. Hellmuth's charge that the court's instructions to the jury were decidedly unfair to his client, it is possible that an effort may be made towards bringing about a new trial. He has the right to apply within 30 days to the Divisional Court for an order for a new trial.

The suit arose out of statements spoken and published by Dr. Macdonald, editor of The Globe, concerning Hon. George E. Foster, and his handling of trust funds while manager of the Union Trust Co. from 1901 to 1905. A royal commission had investigated the affairs of the Union Trust in 1906, and had criticized somewhat adversely the part which Mr. Foster had played in several questionable deals. Mr. Foster had been subjected to much criticism especially by the Liberal press, following the royal commission disclosures, and The Globe, in an editorial published Oct. 1, 1908, accused Mr. Foster of practically taking money from the Union Trust till. The Dominion election campaign was in full swing at the time, and Mr. Foster challenged Editor Macdonald to meet him on the platform and substantiate his charges. Mr. Macdonald did not take up the challenge. At a meeting of his constituents in North Toronto on the night of Oct. 1, 1908, Mr. Foster replied to the strictures of the editorial head of The Globe in the following terms:

"Where is the Rev. J. A., this Peter the Hermit, this crusader, this Coeur de Leon? Why does he not come here and defend his vile charges, for vile they are? He subscribes to the articles of faith and has put on his Master's robes, yet almost every day from behind his ink pots he bears false witness again his neighbor, that neighbor being George E. Foster. When I challenge him to meet me on the platform that I may prove him to be the liar that he is, he hides behind his ink pots and utters more lies."

Editor Macdonald returned to his charge in a speech delivered at Orillia on Oct. 20, using the following words:

"My charge stands. It was this, That he asked for a private rake-off in a deal with trust funds, that he directed the suspicious way in which that personal rake-off should be paid, that he got that rake-off and that—he had no right or title to that money."

Mr. Foster issued a writ against Rev. J. A. Macdonald on Oct. 22, 1908, for $50,000 for slander and libel.

CANADIAN GENERAL GETS ANOTHER BIG CONTRACT

$47,636 Worth of Equipment for Power and Water Commission at London Will be Built by Local Concern---Engineer Sifton Hands in His Resignation as Result

Special to The Examiner.

London, Ont., Feb. 28.—Tenders for the equipment, totalling $47,636, were awarded to the Canadian General Electric Company by Power and Water Commission this morning. During the discussion a sensation was caused by the resignation of Engineer Edgar Sifton. Comissioner Pocock intimated that Engineer Sifton, who opposed letting the contract to the Canadian General Electric Co., was not as disinterested as he might be in tenders for hydro-electric equipment. Sifton's reply was the announcement of his resignation.

"To take effect when?" asked Mayor Beattie.

"To-day's pay day," said Sifton, and gathering up his papers, left the room.

HENDERSON CAUSED DEATH, SAYS CORONER'S JURY

Verdict Reached in McPherson Case at Norwood This Afternoon After the Jury Had Deliberated for Ten Minutes--Evidence of the Doctor Was Heard.

Special to The Examiner.

Norwood, Feb. 28.—That the late Margaret McPherson came to her death from the blow of an axe in the hands of the prisoner, one Henderson, whom we believe to be in custody in the county gaol at Peterborough.

The above verdict was reached by the Coroner's Jury this afternoon, who were engaged in making inquiries into the causes of the death of the late Miss McPherson, after less than ten minutes' deliberation. The evidence to-day consisted of the testimony of the physicians, who performed the post mortem, Drs. McClelland and Holdcroft and of Constable Bennett, of Havelock.

TEA POT UPSET, CHILD WAS FATALLY SCALDED

Special to The Examiner.

Campbellford, Feb. 28.—Mary Magdalene, the infant daughter of Mr. John Doris, London street, Peterborough, died here this evening as the result of an unusual and distressing accident. Last night, at supper, the little girl, who was a year and eleven months' old, seized a teapot containing scalding hot tea, and, before she could be stopped, pulled the utensil over, spilling the contents over her body, with the result that she was so badly burned about the stomach that her death occurred to-night despite medical attendance.

She was the youngest daughter of Mr. Doris and was being brought by her grandmother here. Two other children survive. The funeral will take place in Peterborough, on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, from the residence of Mr. Doris, London street, to St. Peter's cemetery.

MAY APPEAL

Hon. Geo. Foster Declines to Discuss Verdict in Libel Suit.

Examiner Special.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 28.—Hon. Geo. Foster was at the Commons to-day, but declined to discuss the result of his libel suit against Dr. Macdonald. It is the general belief in parliamentary circles that an appeal will be instituted and some of Mr. Foster's close friends even say he probably will resign his seat and seek vindication at the hands of his North Toronto constituents.

HAVE DISSOLVED PARTNERSHIP

The firm of White and Gillespie is dissolving partnership. Ald. G. A. Gillespie retiring from the grocery business to conduct a store, exclusively given to dairy supplies. Mr. Gillespie will have the store on Simcoe St., now occupied by the Peterborough Hardware Co. This Company will have the heavier hardware line of their business at the new wholesale house near the C. P. R. station.

Dress Importance

There never was a time when the clothes did not count for refinement. Of course in the present day the clothes mean more to a man than they did in the days of our forefathers and every year this is becoming more true. The well dressed, well groomed man takes a place where his less neatly dressed brother fails to make good. Appearance counts.

THE IRON AND STEEL INDUSTRY.

The great development and rapid advancement of the steel industry in Canada, lends strength to the contention that it is now able to stand alone. The system of government bounties for the encouragement of the production of pig iron and steel comes to an end the present year, and Mr. Fielding, Finance Minister, intimates that they will not be renewed. The removal of the German surtax may have an effect upon steel producing interests, but the industry is so strongly established at several important points in the Dominion that the present conditions seem to indicate that these industries are in a position to face a pretty strong competition. It is assisted by a duty of $1.50 per ton, and the outlook for profitable orders is excellent. With an immediately prospective expenditure of some 50 or 60 millions in construction of new railway lines in the west, the industry should have a good market for its output. Besides, the decision of the Canadian government to construct the vessels of the Canadian navy in Canada, should present new openings for enterprise, and stimulate the establishment of new forms of manufacture. It is stated that the government is in negotiation with some noted British shipbuilding firms to establish dock yards in Canada. It is thus seen that there is a certainty of the establishment of a shipbuilding industry in Canada that will cause a large demand for steel products and give so greatly enlarged employment to our steel works as to more than compensate for the withdrawal, or, rather, non-renewal of the bounties on iron and steel.

NAVAL POLICIES GALORE.

There is an abundance of naval policies afloat in the House at Ottawa. There is the Government policy, the patriotic policy of a Canadian navy, built in Canada, of Canadian materials, by Canadian workmen and manned by Canadian men. There is the tribute policy of Mr. Borden, leader of the Opposition, to donate 20 or 25 millions of the people's money to be spent by the Government to build Dreadnoughts, or in any other way they see fit. There is the policy of Mr. Monk, the Quebec Conservative leader, who proposes to submit the question of what the Conservatives call a useless navy, to the popular vote. Then there is the policy of Dr. Chisholm, of East Huron, who would have Great Britain borrow 50 millions from herself to build five Dreadnoughts, Canada to pay the interest—a million and one-half a year. And Mr. Doherty, Conservative, of St. Ann's Division, Montreal, came very near, during a three-hour's speech, moving an amendment to Mr. Borden's amendment to pay tribute, with the condition that Canada be given a voice in deciding peace and war in the Imperial Councils. He compromised by declaring his intention to vote for Mr. Borden's amendment though he affirmed his disbelief in the matter of Imperial emergency the only grounds upon which Mr. Borden's payment of 20 or 25 millions of tribute is based. With twenty or thirty speeches yet to be made on the subject, it is impossible to predict how many new policies will be sprung. So far the honor of springing new policies belongs to the Opposition, the Liberal side of the House showing a solid front in favour of the Government's naval bill.

THE FOSTER-MACDONALD LIBEL SUIT.

One of the greatest causes celebres of recent years, the Foster-Macdonald libel suit, came to an end on Saturday evening in Toronto, by the jury giving an unanimous verdict for the defendant, Dr. J. A. Macdonald, editor of the Globe. The case assumed special interest on account of the prominence of the parties. The plaintiff has been one of the most prominent public men of Canada for nearly the past thirty years—a member of a Conservative Government, and one of the ablest politicians and speakers in the Conservative ranks. The defendant is editor-in-chief of the most enterprising and influential Liberal journal of Canada, and the leader of journalism in any class. Mr. Foster sued the editor of the Globe for slander in respect of the publication of the alleged defamatory speech in the Globe. The slander branch of the case was disposed of by non-suit, but the libel charge went to trial, lasting several days and ending as stated on Saturday evening. The gist of the libel alleged is expressed in the words of the presiding judge, Mr. Justice Magee: "That Mr. Foster (as manager of the Union Trust Company) got a rake-off, and directed how the commission should be paid to him in a suspicious way." The defendant claimed that the words published were fair comment upon a question of public interest, his remarks referring to the Royal Insurance investigation. The verdict, while it seems to vindicate his position is more important, as reaffirming the principle of the freedom of the press in dealing with matters of public interest. The press in Canada performs an important function in keeping watch and ward of politicians and in giving information and comment in the interests of the public welfare, and its freedom should not be unduly restricted, so long as it keeps within the limits of recognized jurisdiction, though it is to be admitted, that close sailing to the win is sometimes necessary, and as practised, may sometimes need the supervision of the courts. The result of the trial has probably a double effect upon the plaintiff. As to how it will affect his position as a politician and a public man, it would be unwise to conjecture. It is to be feared that its personal effect will be possibly embarrassing, as the verdict carries with it the costs of both sides, a serious enough matter for a man in fairly easy financial circumstances. The outcome of the case illustrates how it is possible to overestimate the probable value of such a serious charge as that of libel; sometimes parallel to the failure of the Conservative Opposition at Ottawa, to make good the many reckless charges of wrong doing they bring against the Government.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Members of parliament are circulating round robins, asking that each member be provided with a secretary. Some of the members would seem to be better if provided with a keeper.

The Bobcaygeon Independent cannot be accused of hostility to the strengthening of church finances. It advocates the coining of half-cent pieces.

Judging from the way it is launched the Canadian navy is to be propelled by wind power. The amount of wind expended in speeches, if stored, would provide a considerable gale for a considerable period.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's "serious condition" scare originated by some ingenious Conservative newspaper correspondents, has taken its place with the evaporated German invasion scare. Sir Wilfrid is in the House, restored to health, after a slight cold. One test of his physical soundness is that he listened to a three-hours' speech of an Opposition member, on the Naval bill, without any apparent aggravation of his "serious condition."

The Toronto Mail and Empire says that the followers of Sir Wilfrid Laurier are pressing him to withdraw the Naval Bill and that it is an open secret that many Western and Ontario members are urging delay. It is needless to say that this statement is about as truthful as the Mail's usual political article. The report is absolutely unfounded on facts. It is true that many members have signed a round robin asking Sir Wilfrid to endeavour to close the session at Easter, but any intimation that the Liberal followers desire the withdrawal of the navy bill is not in accordance with facts.

Mr. C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, has stopped the procession of the flower of Ontario-trained deputy ministers and prominent public servants of the province to Ottawa to occupy responsible positions under the government at Ottawa. We trained and lost Prof. Robertson, Mr. Archibald Blue and Good Roads Inspector Campbell. Their services were still retained for the Dominion at large, but local patriotism resented their removal from the sphere of provincial usefulness. Mr. James in deciding to stay where he is, after being offered a corresponding position at Ottawa, has showed commendable provincial patriotism. He is doing good service where he is and we appreciate it.

Yesterday was the tenth anniversary of the battle of Paardeberg, South Africa, when the Canadian contingent gave the coup de grace to the South African war by bringing about the surrendering of General Cronje. While the services of the Canadians have been heartily recognized, it is well not to make too elaborate a celebration of their services, which deserve all the more credit, because they were pitted against the best fighting and most resourceful forces in the world. Their enemies of ten years ago, thanks to the wise liberality and statesmanship of the British government are now their self-governing fellow subjects, who, through unsuccessful in their struggles to retain their status, showed themselves worthy of the liberty that was accorded them. The blood-bought establishment of British supremacy carried with it the fruits of British freedom and civilization.

MR. MACDONALD.

The Toronto Globe says of Mr. E. M. Macdonald, M.P., who delivered a speech at the Opera House Friday night:

They say that when E. M. Macdonald, M.P., for Pictou, was a member of the County Council, back in the early nineties, he used to win a division from the Conservatives, hand it to a Liberal to hold, and then go and win another and do the same thing. "Ned" has the habit of winning, and has been in public life twenty years, though he is only 44 years old. He belongs to Pictou, the most typical Scotch Presbyterian county in Canada. He attended Pictou Academy, which has turned out Sir William Dawson, Principal Grant, Principal Gordon, Principal Falconer. There are more Macdonalds in Pictou than anything else, and for the last fifty years the county has been represented constantly by either a Macdonald or a relative of one.

Ned Macdonald took to law and to politics with about equal enthusiasm. In Nova Scotia he has been connected with many important legal cases since he was called to the Bar in 1887. Seven years in the County Council and another seven in the Nova Scotia Legislature were good preparation for his coming to Ottawa in 1904. His work at Ottawa is not pleasant to his opponents, and in 1908 they put up Mr. Tanner, leader of the Opposition in Nova Scotia, to oppose him, but in vain. Mr. Macdonald is one of the men the Ottawa Opposition are pleased to designate as "blockers." This refers to his work as an astute and ever-watchful defender of the Government in the Public Accounts Committee. He is too good a lawyer to miss a chance to score on an opponent, and he is not troubled with bashfulness when the chance to speak comes. He is a forceful, fluent speaker, as was again shown in his smashing speech on the navy bill last week; a vigorous campaigner, a hard worker, and altogether one of the most able of the private members of the House.

POST CARD COLUMN.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Re the insertion which appeared in the Examiner Saturday, 26th inst.: "The Garrison Sergeants Give a Smoking Concert in Commemoration of the Battle of Paardeberg, Won by Canadians," I fail to see how it was won by them. I admit that through the Canadians getting close to the Boer Laager, by a night rush, assisted by the Imperial Royal Engineers, who dug trenches for them to retire to, and supported by the Gordon Highlanders, the surrender of Cronje or finish of the battle above named, was brought to a matter of hours or minutes, instead of days. The following were also there: 1st Welsh Regiment, East Kents; 1st Essex Regiment, Oxfordshires; West Riding, Shropshires; Gloucesters, Royal Highlanders, Argylls, Seaforths and Gordons; besides batteries of Artillery and regiments too numerous to mention. With all due respect to the Canadian contingent, is there no honour due to the Imperial forces, or were they there merely as spectators? Trusting you will find space in your valuable paper, I am

Yours truly.

YOUR BLOOD IS POISONED

If You Suffer From Headaches or Neuralgia.

Frequent attacks of Headaches or Neuralgia are Nature's warnings of Blood Poisoning. The pain is due simply to the tortured nerves, inflamed by the blood being overloaded with impurities, because of inactive bowels, kidneys or skin.

There is usually chronic Constipation and the foul matter, instead of passing from the body, is absorbed by the blood. The kidneys are not as strong as they should be and fail to filter from the the blood, the necessary amount of impure matter.

Instead of the skin throwing off one and a half pounds of waste matter every day, it becomes inactive and does only half its work, leaving three quarters of a pound of this waste to poison the body. Headache powders and pain killers simply numb the nerves and have no helpful action on the organs causing this poisoning of the blood. To cure Headaches and Neuralgia, the blood must be purified, which can be done only by making the kidneys, bowels and skin healthy and active.

"Fruit-a-tives", made from concentrated and intensified fruit juice, is the greatest blood purifying medicine.

"Fruit-a-tives", or "Fruit Liver Tablets", is a scientific cure for Headaches and Neuralgia, and never fails to cure because "Fruit-a-tives" stops the cause of these troubles.

A FAMINE IN THE LAND

"I will send a famine in the land; not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the words of the Lord" (Amos viii, 11)

To-day this prophecy is fulfilled in our midst! Notwithstanding the fact that during the past century Bibles have been printed and circulated among the people by the million, and notwithstanding the fact that education has become general so that rich and poor, old and young, have the ability to read God's Word, nevertheless we are in the midst of the very famine specified by the Prophet. It seems almost incredible that we should be famishing now with Bibles in our homes, when our saintly forefathers did not famish, though education was limited. The secret lies in the fact that increasing intelligence on every hand has awakened our reasoning faculties along religious lines, and the result is the gnawing of hunger in our hearts. Our hearts and our flesh cry out for a living and a true God—a God greater than ourselves—more just, more powerful, more loving. Feeling our own impotency, we more than ever feel our need of the Friend above all others with a love that sticketh closer than a brother's.

Consequently we cannot find the rest and refreshment and comfort from the Scriptures which our forefathers derived. Consequently the young men and the purest of heart in the world are repelled by the religion of the past as represented in the creeds of all denominations. They are hungry for the Truth. They are thirsty for the refreshment which they need. Intellectually many are looking, wandering, from sea to sea desiring the bread of life and the water of life. Scanning the creeds of all denominations they find them practically alike as respects theories of eternal reprobation and damnation for all except the elect, the saints. They are faint for lack of spiritual food and drink. They even look to the heathen and examine the Theosophy of India, the Buddhism of Japan and the Confucianism of China, seeking for some satisfying portion of Truth. These are in some respects like the prodigal son—far from home. They perceive the swinish content with the husks of business, money, pleasure and politics, but their spiritual longings cannot be satisfied with the husks which the swine eat. They are thought peculiar because of their interest in spiritual things. They are misunderstood by their best earthly friends. They must learn that in their wanderings along the highways of science and world-religion they will never get satisfaction. There is a famine in every denomination, in every part of the world. No one thinks of looking to the Bible for refreshment and strength. The Higher Critics of all denominations have branded it unreliable. The professors in all the great colleges are reprobating the Bible and openly laugh at the thought of finding there either bread for the hungry or water for the thirsty.

This is the very picture given in our context. "They shall wander from sea to sea, from the North even to the East; they shall run to and fro to seek the Word of the Lord and shall not find it. In that day shall the fair virgins and the young men faint for thirst" (Amos viii, 12, 13).

These hungry hearts must learn that there is only the one satisfying portion under the Sun—the living and true God, and Jesus Christ whom he has sent to be the Bread of Life for the world, and the message of grace from his lips to be the Water of Life. It is ours to call the attention of this Truth-hungry class to the Great Teacher who declared, "My flesh is food indeed and my blood is drink indeed; except ye eat the flesh of the Son of Man, and drink his blood, ye have no life in you" (John vi, 55, 53). But scarcely will the intelligent of our day hearken to these words, so prejudiced are their minds by the fallacies which becloud their understanding. They see not, neither do they understand the goodness of God.

Why is this? Why are these Bibles in millions of homes, Catholic and Protestant, neglected? Because the people know not that the bread of life and the water of life which they seek are hidden therein. Why is this? We answer that conditions were very much the same in Israel at the time of our Lord's First Advent. The explanation he then gave is applicable now. He said, "Ye do make void the Law of God through your traditions"—"the traditions of the ancients" (Mark vii. 13; I. Peter i, 18). So now, the traditions handed down from our forefathers really make void, meaningless, ungracious, the message of God's Wisdom and Love sent to us through the Lord, the apostles and the prophets. Those who still hold tenaciously to the creeds of the past are thoroughly blinded now to the true teachings of God's Word, while, alas, the majority of the independent thinkers, in rejecting the dogmas of the past, have rejected the Bible also, believing that the teachings of the creeds truthfully represent God's Word. These are wandering hither and thither, hungering and thirsting, looking for the bread of life and water of life, and finding it nowhere, because they seek not where alone it is to be found.

Ho! Ye all that hunger for Truth. Come ye. There is an abundance for us all in our Heavenly Father's wonderful provision—in the Bible. Deserting all the creeds and traditions of men, let us gather at our Heavenly Father's Board as his family, as his children. Let us prove the truthfulness of his declaration that "Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that reverence him." Let us seek and obtain the satisfying portion. Let us satisfy our longings at the table of Divine provision. Mark the Lord's words and consider how truthful they are, "Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled" (Matthew v, 6). It is this Truth-hungry class that we address. We know their heart-longings, for we had the same. We know the satisfaction which they crave, for we have received it and are therefore doubly glad to hand forth the bread of life and the water of life to those who desire it. There are plenty ready to serve the appetites of those who long for pleasure—ball games, society fetes, chess, travel, etc. We have not a word to say against these. It is not our thought that they are going to eternal torment; hence we do not frantically beset them, annoy them. Let them have their pleasure. Let them wait for the time to come when something may occur in their experiences which will put them into the class of the broken-hearted and contrite of spirit and cause them to feel after God, if haply they might find him as a satisfying portion. In harmony with the Master's direction, it is our aim to "bind up the broken-hearted; to comfort those that mourn" to tell them of the oil of joy which the Lord is willing to bestow for their spirit of heaviness and sorrow for sin (Isaiah lxi, 1-3). As the Master expressed no reproof of those engaged in any form of moral reform, even asceticism, so it is with us. We desire to oppose no one who is doing any good work, whether he follow with us in every particular or not. There are so many engaged in doing evil works, and so few engaged in doing good, that not one of the latter class can be spared from the ranks of the service of righteousness.

As the Master did not give his time to temperance reform, nor social reform, not political reform, but did give his time to the instruction of the people in the doctrines of the Divine Word, so let us be intent to follow his instruction in this matter, not teaching for doctrines the precepts of men, but the Word of God, which liveth and abideth forever—expounding unto the people the Scriptures and assisting them to see the length and breadth of their meaning. Nevertheless, as the religious teachers of the Master's day hated Jesus and his disciples for this cause, "Because they taught the people," and persecuted them because they did not walk in the beaten paths of their day, so we may expect also to be hated without cause; so we may expect that the scribes and Pharisees and Doctors of the Law to-day will be grieved because the people are taught, because the light of the knowledge of the glory of God shining in the face of Jesus Christ is presented to the people as an incentive to love and obedience, instead of the doctrine of eternal torment. It matters not that all the educated ministry to-day well know, and would not for a moment deny, their disbelief in the doctrine of eternal torment, if cross-questioned. Nevertheless many of them hate us and oppose us, because we show the people the true interpretations of God's Word, and lift before the eyes of their understanding a God of Love, Just, Merciful, Righteous altogether, and fully capable both in wisdom and power to work out all the glorious designs which he "purposed in himself before the foundation of the world:"

(1) They perceive that the teaching of the doctrines of Purgatory and eternal torment has not had a sanctifying influence upon mankind in all the sixteen centuries in which it has been preached. They fear that to deny these doctrines now would make a bad matter worse. They fear that if the Gospel of the Love of God and of the Bible—that it does not teach eternal torment for any—sins made [illegible] world would be to increase its wickedness, to make life and property less secure than now and to fill the world still more than now with blasphemies.

(2) They fear also that a certain amount of discredit would come to themselves because, knowing that the Bible does not teach eternal torment, according to the Hebrew and Greek original, they secreted the knowledge from the people. They fear that this would forever discredit them with their hearers. Hence they still outwardly lend their influence to the doctrines of eternal torture, which they do not believe, and feel angry towards us because we teach the people the Truth upon the subject, which they know will bring to them hundreds of questions difficult to answer or dodge.

I ask you, dear readers, Were you constrained to become children of God and to render to the Lord the homage and the obedience of your lives through fear or through love? I am not asking you whether you never have feared; but I am asking you what brought you to the point of consecrating your life to God? Surely that was not fear! I am aware, of course, that there is a proper, godly fear, reverence, and that the Scriptures declare it—"The fear (reverence) of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom" (Psalm cxi, 10). But this is not the fear of eternal torment, which tends to drive out love. How could we love or esteem or truly worship a God purposing the eternal torment of his creatures from before their creation?

I could give you many proofs of power of love over the human heart, in columns, who fear torment, fear of the error. God says to us in so many words, "Their fear toward me is not of me, but is taught by the precepts of men." As an illustration: At a Bible Students' Convention not long ago in Ohio a well-dressed gentleman in attendance told me of how his heart had been touched with our presentations of the "Love Divine, all love excelling."

He said, "For years I have been a member of the Presbyterian Church without being really a Christian at all. Occasionally I went on sprees; sometimes I gambled and drank, etc., etc. Not until I received a knowledge of the true character of God as set forth in your 'Scripture Studies' did my heart ever come to the proper attitude of surrender to the Lord. Then I was glad to give him my little all, and wished it were more." The next day, passing from the hotel to the auditorium to a question meeting, this gentleman put a slip of paper into my hand, which I supposed was a question, and I thrust it into my pocket. On the platform I drew it forth as one of the questions to be answered, and, to my astonishment, found it was a check for $1,000. The man had not been asked for one cent; but the Lord of God captivated his heart and gotten control—not only of it, but of his pocket-book and all. He wished to show the Lord his appreciation of the Love Divine, the length and breadth and height and depth, of which he now comprehended, as never before.

Another case: I met with a Convention of Bible Students in Chattanooga some five years ago. A gentleman attended who introduced himself to me saying that he was from Mississippi and that he had become deeply interested in my presentations of the harmony of the Word of God. He said in substance: "Brother Russell, I will not attempt to tell you how wicked a man I was before I got your literature. My dear wife here, an earnest Methodist, said to me, 'John, John, you will surely go to hell!' I replied to her, 'Mary, I know it! I know it! And, Mary, I am determined that I will deserve all that I get. I am not going to hell for nothing.' One of your tracts came to my desk in my store. I said that this was different from anything I ever understood respecting the teachings of the Bible. It seems more Godlike and more rational. I sent to you for various Bible Students' Helps. The result, dear Brother Russell, is that the Love of God has constrained me, has conquered me, in a way that the doctrines of devilish torments could not influence me. Now I see the true teaching of God's Word. I can honor him and worship him and take pleasure in laying down my life in his service. I have made a full consecration of everything. For a time I sent you a $50 check every month; but, Brother Russell, that was in the nature of conscience-money, because the most profitable feature of my store trade was the sale of liquor to the Mississippi negroes. Those checks stopped, because, as the grace of God more and more filled and overflowed my heart, it brought me to see that I must love my neighbor as myself and do injury to none. That is all gone now, Brother Russell, and my whole life is devoted to the service of God and my fellowmen."

Three murderers confined in the Columbus, Ohio, penitentiary had from childhood been trained in the doctrines of eternal torment in different churches and yet committed murder. Three times, under God's [illegible] literature—"Scripture Studies"—and were cut to the heart when they learned of the Love of God, as expressed in the Divine Plan of the Ages. To be brief: A knowledge of the Love of God made such a change in the hearts and lives of those three murderers that the prison-keepers took knowledge of them that they had been with Jesus and had learned of him. By and by they were paroled and to-day two of them are preaching the Gospel of the Love of God, seeking to bring their fellowmen out of the condition of darkness and sin into the glorious sunlight of Divine Love and Truth. Having tried the Gospel of fear and damnation and torture for sixteen centuries; having seen that under this teaching there are more blasphemy and general wickedness than even in the heathen world, is it not due time to give the true bread and water of life to the hungry and thirsty ones who, for lack of it, are searching the earth and many of them falling into Higher Criticism, infidelity and other delusions peculiar to our day?

Every Meal Brought Agony

But Since Taking "Little Digesters" He Can Eat Heartily

From Osgoode Station, Ont., comes a story of five years of suffering from Indigestion and Dyspepsia—five years of doctoring in vain—then "Little Digesters" and a complete cure. Mr. R. H. Ralph tells the story—his own story—thus:

"I have been a sufferer from Indigestion and Stomach Trouble for five years. I had treatment from several doctors. I did not find a cure until I began using "Little Digesters."

"I can hardly describe how much I suffered at times. Every meal brought with it more or less agony and I seemed to have a complete distaste for food. I had almost begun to think my case incurable when I came across an advertisement in the papers about "Little Digesters." I decided to give them a trial. I am very thankful that I did so for I had not been taking them long when I found them helping me. I can now eat heartily and no longer feel pain and discomfort after eating."

Does Indigestion or Dyspepsia make your life miserable? Take "Little Digesters"—they will cure you or your money will be refunded.

A Comical Blunder.

One of the most ludicrous mistakes made by the telegraph was in a telegram from Brisbane to a London news agency. As it reached London it read, "Governor-General twins first son," which the news agency "edited" and sent around to the papers in the following form: "Lady Kennedy, the wife of Sir Arthur Kennedy, Governor-General of Queensland, yesterday gave birth at Government House, Brisbane, to twins, the firstborn being a son."

The telegram arriving in the small hours of the morning, there was no time to check it or refer to Debrett, and it was published by most of the newspapers in London and the provinces and caused an unusual sensation. Sir Arthur's friends pointed out with conclusive force that some one had blundered, as there never was a Lady Kennedy, Sir Arthur being a bachelor.

The repeat message which followed read: "Governor-General turns first sod," referring to a railway ceremony.

GAS, HEARTBURN AND DYSPEPSIA VANISH

Makes Your Out-of-Order Stomach Feel Fine in Five Minutes.

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of Indigestion or Dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapepsin occasionally.

Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas which causes Belching, Dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, Nausea, Indigestion (like a lump of lead in stomach), Biliousness, Heartburn, Water brash, Pain in stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapepsin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. A single dose will digest all the food you eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour and upset the stomach.

Get a large 50-cent. case of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist and start taking now, and in a little while you will actually brag about your healthy, strong Stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery and every particle of impurity and Gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

Should you at this moment be suffering from Indigestion or any stomach disorder, you can get relief within five minutes.

Roumania's Foreign Loan.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Roumania has placed a foreign loan of about $9,000,000 to be used in railway construction and improvements, according to a despatch received at the State Department.

Women

Cannot be Strong and Healthy Unless the Kidneys are Well.

Weak, lame or aching backs are the first sign of Kidney Trouble.

Under ordinary conditions they ought to be strong and ready to bear the burdens of life.

It is hard to do housework with a weak and aching back. Backaches come from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it is not to be wondered that they get out of order.

Weak back is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from kidney troubles.

Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you in the same way as they have cured thousands of others.

Miss Alberta B. Clarke, Stoney Creek, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with kidney trouble for several years; my back was weak, I had such terrible headaches, and was so restless I could not sleep at night and tried everything without any benefit. Meantime a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, so I got four boxes and they completely cured me. I now feel as well as I ever did and would advise everyone suffering from Kidney Disease to try them."

MR. JACKSON REMINISCENT

If, when speaking to some friends, one were to refer to the above-named gentleman as "Robert Jackson," he would very likely have to go into further details to explain as to which Jackson he had reference to. If, however, he were to say at the outset "Bob Jackson", no further explanations would be required. For mostly every person knows Bob Jackson, especially those who are in any way familiar with the history of Rice Lake and the Otonabee River. At the present time Mr. Jackson assists in locking through boats at the Peterborough Lock, but he has not always been engaged in assisting in the developing of the trade and commerce of his country, in the capacity of Assistant Lockmaster. Robert Jackson, formerly farmed, and for 17 years he resided on Cow Island, Rice Lake, working the 88 acres comprising that island, with some degree of success. In fact, all his life—and he is now in his 67th year—was spent near the Rice Lake waters, having resided in his earlier days at Bewdley, referred to familiarly as the "head of the lake."

Mr. Jackson is a strong, healthy-looking man, with an immense crop of bushy hair, and with whiskers to match. He is one of the most conspicuous figures on the 12th of July, as he marches with his old lodge from Bailieboro, for he "slugs" the big drum in the good old way, and a "walk" of the Bailieboro lodge would not be a success without Bob Jackson.

But it is when Robert Jackson assumes the reminiscent vein that he becomes most interesting. He has always been a keen observer of events on Rice Lake and the Otonabee River, and whilst he has never aspired to the task of crystallizing his reminiscences into book form, or even to deliver lectures upon the early history of navigation on Rice Lake and the Otonabee River, at the same time he delights in recalling these early events to his friends.

"Jubilee Point was once the site of a Hudson Bay Post," said Mr. Jackson," as he began to warm up to his subject. "It was not in my time," he continued, "nor did old Moses Muskrat, of Hiawatha, remember it, and he was the oldest Indian living on the reserve when I was a young man. I asked him once if he ever remembered Jubilee Point as a Hudson Bay Post, and he said that he did not, but that it was generally believed it had been, and, in fact, information to this effect had been handed down to him by his father.

Mr. Jackson quite remembers the old post at Jubilee. It had stood there unoccupied for many years. There was a centre house surrounded by a number of blockhouses. Mr. Jackson quite well remembers the day the old post was burned. He passed by on a boat and saw the smouldering embers. That was over fifty years ago.

Jubilee Point was, in those days, called Fathergal's Point. "Old Fathergal was the Hudson Bay factor," said Mr. Jackson, "and it was after him the point received its name." Mr. Jackson never saw Fathergal, nor did he ever meet anyone who did, but it was generally understood that that was how the point got its name. Charlotte Street Methodist Church the Hudson Bay Post.

"There are two barrels of rum buried somewhere on that point," went on Mr. Jackson, as he grew more reminiscent. "From my earliest days I remember hearing of it, and it has not yet been located. This rum was the property of the Hudson Bay Company, and the rum was hidden underground to prevent the wild Indians from getting it."

Mr. Jackson did not state as to whether or not a very energetic search had ever been conducted with a view to locating the rum. There is one thing certain, however, and that is that Jubilee Point has seen some strenuous nights, but even they will be a tame affair if that rum is located some day in the future, when the different jollification parties run their annual excursion to Rice Lake, and one of them accidentally runs across those two barrels of rum.

Scores of expeditions have been organized to search for Capt. Kidd's treasure, supposed to be located somewhere on the North American continent, but no expedition has thus far been organized to locate two barrels of rum, buried somewhere on a piece of land, the area of which is only a few acres in extent.

"INDIAN LIST" MAN PLEADED GUILTY

Got Whiskey at a Liquor Store—Case Was Enlarged.

A blacklisted man pleaded guilty to having been drunk on Saturday night, at the police court this morning. But he denied having been served with "blacklist" papers. He admitted that he was in court nearly a year ago when the magistrate ordered that he be put on the list, but he never got the papers. He said that on Saturday he bought a flask of whiskey from a Simcoe St. liquor store.

Inspector Stewart said that the accused left town before the papers were served, but on his return, his brother-in-law gave them to him. His Worship enlarged the case until to-morrow morning, when the brother-in-law will testify.

WARNING!

Since the discovery in England and the introduction into Canada of SALVIA, the Great Hair Grower, and on account of the phenomenal sale it has had, others have tried to imitate SALVIA. Beware and make certain you get the original. Every bottle bears the same, "SALVIA" (Latin for sage).

The results obtained from using SALVIA are remarkable. Falling hair is at once fastened to the scalp; new life springs up from the roots, and the growth of the hair is amazing. Dead hairs are restored to their natural colour. The Dandruff germ is destroyed. Every bottle has a written guarantee. McDermid & Jury always keep a stock of SALVIA on hand. Try a bottle and watch your hair grow. SALVIA is the only preparation, as far as we know, that is sold with a guarantee. A large bottle for 50c.

NEGLIGENT YOUNG MEN SUMMONSED

A number of young men who had been negligent in paying their poll tax, were summoned to the police court this morning. The Editor, "The Examiner," Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir:—

Now that every newspaper is full of expressions re the cost of living, and the reason for and solution of the evil, it seems an opportune time to give publicity to a few facts that are plain, and ideas that have occurred to the writer.

The tendency for all things is to move along the lines of least resistance; and so with the farmer; since the city has become more attractive for his boys than his home, in ways that are many, the native sons of the soil are ever migrating to the cities.

This will continue and labour for the farmer will be scarce and prices for produce will mount even higher until the country home is made more attractive, both for the native sons and the emigrant who has labour to sell.

Experience has taught the writer that man raised on the farm is by far the most reliable and if we are to get results from the fields it is to this class that we must pin our hopes. Therefore, the thing to be desired is —keep the young men on the farms. But how are we to do it

To-day the farmer is the most painstaking and hardest worker in the whole army of men. Why if he were paid for brain work and overtime of hard toil he would receive a greater salary than any city worker. But what does he get? Often and often bitter disappointment and a life of care and economy must be exercised to eke out a bare existence.

To my mind the farmer has never had a fair chance with the rest of humanity and still in spite of this the sons of the soil have mounted to the highest positions in the land. To attain these exalted positions the farm has had to be deserted and left far behind. But it was on the farm where true economy and the worth of things were learned; lessons which usually stay with these men through life because the teacher was stern necessity.

If it were not that some or many poor are feeling the pinch of poverty through the high price of food, it would seem ridiculous to kick because the farmer happens to get a few cents more for his eggs or butter than of yore, when we hesitate not to pay any old price to see a show that happens to come to town.

The real difference is that in the former case the money stops in the country and returns to the spender again but in the latter goes into the pockets in most instances of some stock or show concern that has no home or even country.

It is not that our farmer gets so much above what he did years ago when it is compared with the extra expense he is put to in the production, but it is the middle men who are getting the benefit. Under the present condition of affairs the farmer is practically at the mercy of the merchant and the middle man and this condition has been brought about by the disgraceful state of the highways. At the season the farmer wishes to market his crops the roads are in such a condition that he cannot come to town with a load and he therefore must sell to a dealer who uses the railway and who sets the price the consumer. Here, at least, are two profits tacked on to the price the farmer originally got for his produce. Besides, this system is not satisfactory: people who buy would be better pleased if they knew where the stuff came from and how long it had been handed about before coming to them.

If someone is to get the extra price that city folks are kicking about, why should it not go where it belongs, to the farmer who worked for and produced the necessary things we must have? Has he not a right to the full of what he has earned and produced? The farmer has been the slave for the rest of the world and when it comes to giving him a fair deal we all put up a royal kick. Until the mass of people learn that it is to the interest of all to give the farmer facilities for trading direct with the townspeople, by giving him decent highways upon which to come to town, high prices will continue and the profit will not go into the pocket of the farmer either; and until the people as a whole demand that adequate highways shall be constructed and maintained throughout the country, so long will the young farmer desert his home for the more attractive life in the city and so long will there be neglected farms and high prices.

When a city's streets get vile and dangerous, who raises the row, is it the patient worker? No, it is the business man and the man of pleasure. The former says: "My business suffers from bad streets," and the man of pleasure says: "The streets are positively dangerous."

Who loves the country more than the city man, yet he cannot live there because he cannot conveniently get about. There are no good roads so he also is forced to live where life is easy,—in the city, and consequently, there being only farmers and workers in the country, we have no champion to take up the burden of highways.

The essential thing necessary to turn the faces of the people back to the soil and make farming and country life a pleasure is good highways.

It will work wonders in old Ontario which for productive wealth is the gem of America.

The burden of good road maintenance should not fall wholly on the farmer but on the community at large, and the main trunk roads should be under the care of a permanent commission.

Thanking you for this space in your valuable paper,

I am,
Yours truly,
G. E. TRETHEWEY.

ROADS ARE IN SLOPPY CONDITION

With snow drifts deep along the country roads the recent rain fall has made the going very difficult, according to a farmer who drove his horse in from the north this morning. During the past week sleighing was bad on account of the heavy drifts and yesterday's rain transformed it into slush, and in low-lying places pools of water have collected in the ditches and in some places have crossed the roadway. Up to the past week the farmers have been blessed with excellent roads, but the present soft spell will put an end to it for a time.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

"MR. HAMLET OF BROADWAY."

Eddie Foy, the famous comedian, made his first appearance in Peterborough on Saturday, appearing with one of the largest companies that have been seen here, in a laughable travesty "Mr. Hamlet of Broadway," a vehicle that provided Mr. Foy with plenty of opportunities to display his well known, fun-making ability. "Mr. Hamlet of Broadway" purports to be a burlesque of Hamlet, but the travesty does not come until a few minutes of the final curtain and before you realize it the chorus is back on the stage and the show is ended. Before the "Hamlet" incident, however, a chorus of Ophelias and feminine "Hamlets" is turned loose, while Belle Gold sings "The Ebony Spook."

The plot deals with the attempt of Mr. Cheathem, proprietor of a summer resort in Adirondacks, to amuse his guests. In order to do so he arranges an open air production of Hamlet, but finds his only professional actor, who was to have taken the title role, is unavailable and he is in despair until Joe Wheeze, a clown from a disbanded circus hoves into sight in company with a trained bear. "Wheeze" (Eddie Foy) is persuaded to play the part of the melancholy Dane, which he does in his own peculiar style to the great amusement of the audience. His entrance to the graveyard scene is made to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, while the bier is brought in (in a barrel) while the orchestra plays a few bars of the same composer's "Spring Song." Some of the epitaphs are very funny, reading something like "Tommy Burns, a Victim of the Black Hand," "Dollar Gas," "Willie Bryan is Sleeping Here."

Mr. Foy was as funny as his advance notices said he would be and he was assisted by a company that was strong in every particular. The chorus was large, well favoured and well drilled, while the costumes and scenery were strictly up to the Shubert standard. The musical numbers were numerous and nearly all of the "hit" variety. "Everything Depends on Money," and "Down Where the Watermelons Grow," were Mr. Foy's contributions, while Miss Belle Gold, a thoroughly winsome and pleasing soubrette won favour with "Good-bye Mollie Brown," "The Ebony Spook" and "Hornpipe Rag." Other pleasing numbers were "Bah," "When I Get Home," "Sunshine Lane" and "When We Made the Gallant Charge at Bunker Hill."

John P. Slocum presents the highly successful comic opera "The Gay Musician" to-night. This is its second appearance of the season in Peterborough.

SECOND ORCHARD AND GARDEN ANNUAL

Are you making the most from your orchard? Do you appreciate the returns that may be had by giving the orchard proper care? If not the special Orchard and Garden number of Farm and Dairy that has just been issued will tell you how. This issue of that excellent farm paper is filled with practical information on all phases of orcharding and gardening.

Among the many subjects discussed are spraying, pruning, kind of nursery stock to plant, co-operation among fruit growers, how to make the lime-sulphur, growing tomatoes, making hotbeds, pointers on the culture of apples, cherries, plums, strawberries, currants and a score of others. A valuable article on the "Farmers' Orchard" is contributed by Mr. W. T. Macoun, horticulturist at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. All the contributors are practical men and know what they are talking about. This issue contains also articles on the culture of flowers and improving the farm home.

All persons who are interested in these things will be greatly pleased with this number. Subscription price only $1.00 a year. Sample copies may be received at this office or at the publishers, Farm and Dairy, Peterborough, Ont.

Borden And Foster Turn Right About Face
Remarkable Feat Of Swallowing Themselves

Both Were Opposed to Cash Contribution and in Favour of Canadian Navy—Now They Want to Send $25,000,000 Away and Have no Navy.

THE NAVAL BILL

As the debate on the naval bill proceeds and the speeches of Mr. Borden, Mr. Foster and other lesser lights, delivered on March 29, 1909, are analyzed and compared with their utterances to-day, it becomes more and more evident that as public men and leaders of a political party, they are unreliable, inconsistent and vacillating.

What Borden First Said.

Mr. Borden in March last was in favour of a Canadian navy. He said: Hansard, p. 3613:

"I am entirely of opinion, in the first place, that the proper line upon which we should proceed in that regard is the line of having a Canadian naval force of our own. I entirely believe in that."

In this respect, Mr. Borden has changed his opinion, he now opposes the formation of a Canadian navy, and is in favour of contributing $25,000,000 of cash to the Imperial authorities, thus placing it beyond Canadian control, and thereby admitting the principle of taxation w ithout representation.

Upon Parliamentary Control.

In March, 1909, Mr. Borden expressed himself as favouring Parliamentary control of any money designed for protective purposes—Hansard, p. 3613—he said:

"I am at one with the Prime Minister in this respect also, that I think that any expenditure of money designed for that purpose, as far as possible, ought, in the main at least, to be under the control of our own Parliament."

What He Says Now.

Mr. Borden has since introduced a resolution favouring sending to England $25,000,000 of cash, GIVING TO THE ADMIARALTY FULL DISCRETION TO EXPEND THE SAID SUM AT SUCH TIME AND FOR SUCH PURPOSES OF NAVAL DEFENCE AS IN THEIR JUDGMENT MAY BEST SERVE TO INCREASE THE UNITED STRENGTH OF THE EMPIRE."

Views on the Vessels.

Mr. Borden expressed an opinion upon the character of the vessels he would like to see in Canada. This was last March. He said then—see Hansard, p. 3614:

I venture to think that a system of torpedo boats and submarines, such as has been adopted by the Commonwealth of Australia ,would be perhaps the most effective way in which we could assist Great Britain in a stated policy of naval defence."

Opposed to Admiralty.

This view is in direct opposition to the suggestions of the Admiralty, for on page 24 of the report of the Defence Conference it is clearly set forth, "That local defence flotillas, bonsisting of torpedo craft and submarines might be of assistance in time of war to the operations of the fleet, but such flotillas cannot co-operate on the high seas in the wider duties of protection of trade and preventing attacks from hostile cruisers and squadrons. This expressed opinion of Mr. Borden is strangely at variance with his views to-day, because one of the objections urged against the scheme submitted by the Government is that the navy is of the "tin-pot" variety and could not meet the attack of a second class cruiser.

To Defend Coast.

The proposed Canadian navy is designed particularly to defend the coast and trade routes, and could engage any hostile cruiser which might appear on our shores, while the little boats suggested by Mr. Borden might with some propriety be designated as forming a "tin-pot" navy, in addition to which their use has been discouraged by the British Admiralty.

Foster Swallowed Himself.

While Mr. Borden has changed his attitude completely, in an attempt to reconcile the discordant elements in his party, Mr. Foster has swallowed himself holus bolus. This gentleman has not a loophole through which he can escape.

On March 29, '09, Mr. Foster expressed himself as opposed to a money contribution.

He opposed a contribution of Dreadnoughts which he said amounted to the same thing as a money contribution.

He was in favour of a Canadian navy, something that would take root in the country and grow.

He said he took no interest in a contribution spent by another. He wanted something grafted on the soil of Canada which develops until it incites the spirit of defence.

He did not believe in hiring someone else to do what Canada ought to do for herself.

He could not see how the contribution could be fixed, or how long that sum, when fixed, would remain the proper sum, the result would be constant negotiation, disagreement and trouble.

A reference to Mr. Foster's speech of March 29, '09, Hansard, pages 3589 to 3591, will disclose his words as given above, only in greater detail.

What Foster Thinks Now.

What is his position to-day?

He supported Mr. Borden's resolution to send $25,000,000 of cash out of the country, Canada having no control whatever over the expenditure.

He opposed the creation of a Canadian navy. He had no interest in the prosperity of the Canadian working man.

He changed his views altogether about establishing something in Canada that would take root and grow.

He recanted with regard to sending money out of the country, and as to the loss of interest displayed in the expenditure of money we did not control.

He changed his mind about hiring someone to do what Canada ought to do for herself.

In other words, he swallowed himself to meet the expediency of party.

He Launched Boomerang.

Mr. Foster commenced his speech by alluding to members on the Liberal side as voting for anything that they passed through what he called the composing room, the thumb screw and the rack. In a manner particularly offensive and unparliamentary he illustrated his point by saying that not one man had registered as an independent; not one had registered a single protest. He then employed these words.

The Boomerang.

"I was wrong; there was one, Frank Oliver, a sturdy independent from the wild and woolly west. Oliver was quickly placed in office, and ever since has been gagged and uttered no protest."

Supposing one were to contrast this statement of Foster's with the facts, it would appear that Mr. Oliver was elected as an Independent Liberal in 1896, that he was re-elected in 1900-1904-1905 and 1908 as a straight Liberal; that while he entered the House in 1896 he was not appointed to office until 1905. So that the "quickly placed in office," as stated by Mr. Foster, meant nine years.

How it Hits Foster.

Compare this with Mr. Foster's own record upon the same line. He was elected in 1882 as an Independent Conservative. In 1885 he was placed in office as a straight Conservative.

While it took Mr. Oliver nine years to secure office it took Mr. Foster three, and in the meantime the latter gentleman had not been elected as a straight Conservative.

He Surrendered to Thumb Screw.

One is forced to the conclusion that Foster passed through the composing room and yielded to the thumb-screw and rack in the short space of three years, in exchange for his independence, and the joys of office. Mr. Foster should take the beam out of his own eye.

The greater part of Mr. Foster's speech was directed at Sir Wilfrid Laurier. These attacks are not welcome in the House, and most unpopular in the country. They provoke comparison between the public record of the two gentlemen, and Mr. Foster does not shine in comparison. As one speaker aptly said, the name of Sir Wilfrid Laurier will live in history when that of Foster is forgotten.

Macdonald's Hot Shot.

Mr E. M. Macdonald, of Pictou, N. S., delivered a brilliant speech on the navy on Tuesday last. He analyzed the speeches of Mr. Borden and Mr. Foster, and quoting their words, showed what a complete change of front had occurred. He attributed this to the thumb-screw and rack of party expediency.

Borden's First Attitude.

Referring to the change of front of Mr. Borden, Mr. MacDonald quoted him as being opposed to a money contribution. These were Mr. Borden's words:

"From a constitutional and political standpoint, I am opposed to it, for many reasons. In the first place, I do not believe that it would endure. In the second place, it would be a source of friction. It would become a bone of partisan contention. It would be subject to criticism."

Taking up the speech of Mr. Foster, Mr. Macdonald showed wherein Mr. Foster had placed himself on record as against the very resolution of Mr. Borden which he was now supporting. He quoted extracts and placed them on parallel lines, showing the one to be a direct contradiction of the other.

Opposes Naval College at Halifax.

Mr. Macdonald caused Mr. Borden some uneasy moments when he asked him if he was opposed to the establishment of dockyards and naval college in the city of Halifax, which Mr. Borden represents. To this he received no answer.

Sealey Wants Canadian Navy.

Mr. W. O. Sealey thought that in view of the resolution of March last the House should not hesitate to pass the naval bill, which was a practical expression of the decision of the House on that occasion. Mr. Sealey favoured a Canadian navy, built in Canada by Canadian workingmen with Canadian material and Canadian money. He favoured also the construction of dry docks and ship yards in Canada. He gave as an example of the necessity for these large dry docks, that when the great ocean liner Empress of Ireland was disabled, she had to go to New York for repairs, Canada having no facilities equal to the task. He expressed the opinion that Canada's trade and commerce, and merchant marine were too important to remain longer under present conditions.

Build Up Steel Industries.

Mr. Sealey from the standpoint of a practical man demonstrated the importance of building up our steel industries so that steel plants for use in ships of the navy could be manufactured in Canada. Mr. Sealey referred to the Canadian navy as being "tin pot," and showed that if that were so, the British Government had 60 or 70 tinpots of the Bristol variety, 71 Boadiceas, and 157 destroyers, just the same as it was proposed to build for Canada. Mr. Sealey was strong for a Canadian navy, and he supported his opinion by practical, patriotic reasons.

It is a strange thing that no Conservative who has yet spokeen has advanced one idea why there should not be established a Canadian navy, neither has any argument been presented in favour of sending out of the country $25,000,000 of the taxes of Canadians.

Don't Agree With Borden.

Dr. Chisholm, Conservative of Huron, is one of the most respected men, in the House, and a man of scholarly attainments. Speaking on the navy bill, he said he was not in accord with either the leader of the Opposition or the Government. He said he expressed the views of his constituents, and before he changed them, he wanted more than mere bald assertions. That he said, had been tried on him already and it had failed. This suggests that his party tried the Foster plan of the composing room, the thumb screw and the rack, but that in Dr. Chisholm's case they failed. Dr. Chisholm is known as a man of great independence of thought and with well-grounded opinions of his own on political questions, and as he neither seeks nor receives any help from his party in campaign times, he feels at liberty to express his opinions, whether they agree with those of his party managers or not.

Georgian Bay Canal.

The annual discussion on the Georgian Bay Canal occurred on Monday last. Hon. Mr. Fielding stated frankly to the House that the Government was in favour of building the canal, but the obligations at present were so onerous that it could not be commenced at once. He thought the whole project a fascinating one, and wanted to be counted among its warmest supporters.

Mr. Hodgins, of Pontiac, gave a very practical address on the subject, He thought that by 1912 the Western provinces would produce $500,000,000 bushels of grain, half of which would be for export and naturally pass down this proposed canal. He was of opinion that the Georgian Bay Canal should be constructed before anything was done with the Welland Canal, although he thought that the traffic from the lakes would require the services of both before long. He thought that the shipments now made by American bottoms would come through the canal when built. He thought the Government would receive the endorsement of the people in engaging upon this great national enterprise.

Lumsden Charges.

The committee appointed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to investigate the charges made by the Chief Engineer of the National Transcontinental. Mr. Lumsden, that he had lost confidence in his staff, has met and organized, and will proceed at once to hear evidence.

German Surtax Removed.

Mr. Fielding, Minister of Finance, has been quietly conducting commercial relations with Germany, and was able to announce in the House that the surtax upon Canadian goods would be removed by Germany, and that in return for this Canada would remove the surtax from German goods. It will be remembered that when Canada gave a preference to Great Britain Germany claimed the same advantage, and failing to get in, imposed a surtax, or extra tax upon goods coming from Canada. In response to this Canada promptly imposed a surtax upon German goods entering Canada. Germany having removed surtax Canada has done the same, and trade conditions between the two countries will doubtless, from this time, receive a great stimulus.

All-Canadian Navy Wanted.

The navy bill will occupy the boards for some time yet. Many members have expressed their intention of speaking upon the subject. The Opposition have decidedly the worst of the argument to date. The policy of sending $25,000,000 of good Canadian money out of the country it not a popular one, whereas the Laurier policy of a Canadian navy, built in Canada, by Canadian working men with Canadian money grows in public favour.

Loss of Appetite and General Debility are quickly overcome by the use of a few bottles of "The D. & L." Emulsion.

IS PROMOTED

Mr. R. F. Sedgwick Becomes Assistant Superintendent for Peterborough of Prudential Life Assurance Co.

Mr. R. F. Sedgwick, who has been connected with the Prudential Insurance Company, as local representative for the past year, has recently been promoted to the responsible position of Assistant Superintendent for the City of Peterborough.

The many friends of this popular young man will be greatly pleased to learn of this advancement, which, by the way, is only one more illustration of the Prudential Insurance Company's appreciation of good, faithful work, and goes to show that their business is run by practical men of experience.

SECOND ORCHARD AND GARDEN ANNUAL

Are you making the most from your orchard? Do you appreciate the returns that may be had by giving the orchard proper care? If not the special Orchard and Garden number of Farm and Dairy that has just been issued will tell you how. This issue of that excellent farm paper is filled with practical information on all phases of orcharding and gardening.

Among the many subjects discussed are spraying, pruning, kind of nursery stock to plant, co-operation among fruit growers, how to make the lime-sulphur, growing tomatoes, making hotbeds, pointers on the culture of apples, cherries, plums, strawberries, currants and a score of others. A valuable article on the "Farmers' Orchard" is contributed by Mr. W. T. Macoun, horticulturist at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. All the contributors are practical men and know what they are talking about. This issue contains also articles on the culture of flowers and improving the farm home.

All persons who are interested in these things will be greatly pleased with this number. Subscription price only $1.00 a year. Sample copies may be received at this office or at the publishers, Farm and Dairy, Peterborough, Ont.

NECESSARY FOR THE FAMILY

If health is to be maintained there must be at hand in every household a medicine which can be positively relied upon to regulate the liver, kidneys and bowels. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have proven their right to first place in this regard, and already hold a secure position in the great majority of homes.

PICTURE MEN HAVE TO PAY HIGHER MACHINE FEE

The Ontario Government has issued to all moving picture proprietors a new set of regulations, to be complied with by them. The local owners received them this morning. One material difference in the new rules as compared with the old, is the increase in the license fee for the machine. It has been raised from ten dollars to twenty-five.

Borden And Foster Turn Right About Face

Remarkable Feat Of Swallowing Themselves

Both Were Opposed to Cash Contribution and in Favour of Canadian Navy—Now They Want to Send $25,000,000 Away and Have no Navy.

THE NAVAL BILL

As the debate on the naval bill proceeds and the speeches of Mr. Borden, Mr. Foster and other lesser lights, delivered on March 29, 1909, are analyzed and compared with their utterances to-day, it becomes more and more evident that as public men and leaders of a political party, they are unreliable, inconsistent and vacillating.

What Borden First Said.

Mr. Borden in March last was in favour of a Canadian navy. He said: Hansard, p. 3613:

"I am entirely of opinion, in the first place, that the proper line upon which we should proceed in that regard is the line of having a Canadian naval force of our own. I entirely believe in that."

In this respect, Mr. Borden has changed his opinion, he now opposes the formation of a Canadian navy, and is in favour of contributing $25,000,000 of cash to the Imperial authorities, thus placing it beyond Canadian control, and thereby admitting the principle of taxation without representation.

Upon Parliamentary Control.

In March, 1909, Mr. Borden expressed himself as favouring Parliamentary control of any money designed for protective purposes—Hansard, p. 3613 —he said:

"I am at one with the Prime Minister in this respect also, that I think that any expenditure of money designed for that purpose, as far as possible, ought, in the main at least, to be under the control of our own Parliament."

What He Says Now.

Mr. Borden has since introduced a resolution favouring sending to England $25,000,000 of cash, GIVING TO THE ADMIARALTY FULL DISCRETION TO EXPEND THE SAID SUM AT SUCH TIME AND FOR SUCH PURPOSES OF NAVAL DEFENCE AS IN THEIR JUDGMENT MAY BEST SERVE TO INCREASE THE UNITED STRENGTH OF THE EMPIRE."

Views on the Vessels.

Mr. Borden expressed an opinion upon the character of the vessels he would like to see in Canada. This was last March. He said then—see Hansard, p. 3614:

I venture to think that a system of torpedo boats and submarines, such as has been adopted by the Commonwealth of Australia, would be perhaps the most effective way in which we could assist Great Britain in a stated policy of naval defence."

Opposed to Admiralty.

This view is in direct opposition to the suggestions of the Admiralty, for on page 24 of the report of the Defence Conference it is clearly set forth, "That local defence flotillas, consisting of torpedo craft and submarines might be of assistance in time of war to the operations of the fleet, but such flotillas cannot co-operate on the high seas in the wider duties of protection of trade and preventing attacks from hostile cruisers and squadrons. This expressed opinion of Mr. Borden is strangely at variance with his views to-day, because one of the objections urged against the scheme submitted by the Government is that the navy is of the "tin-pot" variety and could not meet the attack of a second class cruiser.

To Defend Coast.

The proposed Canadian navy is designed particularly to defend the coast and trade routes, and could engage any hostile cruiser which might appear on our shores, while the little boats suggested by Mr. Borden might with some propriety be designated as forming a "tin-pot" navy, in addition to which their use has been discouraged by the British Admiralty.

Foster Swallowed Himself.

While Mr. Borden has changed his attitude completely, in an attempt to reconcile the discordant elements in his party, Mr. Foster has swallowed himself holus bolus. This gentleman has not a loophole through which he can escape.

On March 29, '09, Mr. Foster expressed himself as opposed to a money contribution.

He opposed a contribution of Dreadnoughts which he said amounted to the same thing as a money contribution.

He was in favour of a Canadian navy, something that would take root in the country and grow.

He said he took no interest in a contribution spent by another. He wanted something grafted on the soil of Canada which develops until it incites the spirit of defence.

He did not believe in hiring someone else to do what Canada ought to do for herself.

He could not see how the contribution could be fixed, or how long that sum, when fixed, would remain the proper sum, the result would be constant negotiation, disagreement and trouble.

A reference to Mr. Foster's speech of March 29, '09, Hansard, pages 3589 to 3591, will disclose his words as given above, only in greater detail.

What Foster Thinks Now.

What is his position to-day?

He supported Mr. Borden's resolution to send $25,000,000 of cash out of the country, Canada having no control whatever over the expenditure.

He opposed the creation of a Canadian navy. He had no interest in the prosperity of the Canadian working man.

He changed his views altogether about establishing something in Canada that would take root and grow.

He recanted with regard to sending money out of the country, and as to the loss of interest displayed in the expenditure of money we did not control.

He changed his mind about hiring someone to do what Canada ought to do for herself.

In other words, he swallowed himself to meet the expediency of party.

He Launched Boomerang.

Mr. Foster commenced his speech by alluding to members on the Liberal side as voting for anything that they passed through what he called the composing room, the thumb screw and the rack. In a manner particularly offensive and unparliamentary he illustrated his point by saying that not one man had registered as an independent; not one had registered a single protest. He then employed these words.

The Boomerang.

"I was wrong; there was one, Frank Oliver, a sturdy independent from the wild and woolly west. Oliver was quickly placed in office, and ever since has been gagged and uttered no protest."

Supposing one were to contrast this statement of Foster's with the facts, it would appear that Mr. Oliver was elected as an Independent Liberal in 1896, that he was re-elected in 1900-1904-1905 and 1908 as a straight Liberal; that while he entered the House in 1896 he was not appointed to office until 1905. So that the "quickly placed in office," as stated by Mr. Foster, meant nine years.

How it Hits Foster.

Compare this with Mr. Foster's own record upon the same line. He was elected in 1882 as an Independent Conservative. In 1885 he was placed in office as a straight Conservative.

While it took Mr. Oliver nine years to secure office it took Mr. Foster three, and in the meantime the latter gentleman had not been elected as a straight Conservative.

He Surrendered to Thumb Screw.

One is forced to the conclusion that Foster passed through the composing room and yielded to the thumb-screw and rack in the short space of three years, in exchange for his independence, and the joys of office. Mr. Foster should take the beam out of his own eye.

The greater part of Mr. Foster's speech was directed at Sir Wilfrid Laurier. These attacks are not welcome in the House, and most unpopular in the country. They provoke comparison between the public record of the two gentlemen, and Mr. Foster does not shine in comparison. As one speaker aptly said, the name of Sir Wilfrid Laurier will live in history when that of Foster is forgotten.

Macdonald's Hot Shot.

Mr E. M. Macdonald, of Pictou, N. S., delivered a brilliant speech on the navy on Tuesday last. He analyzed the speeches of Mr. Borden and Mr. Foster, and quoting their words, showed what a complete change of front had occurred. He attributed this to the thumb-screw and rack of party expediency.

Borden's First Attitude.

Referring to the change of front of Mr. Borden, Mr. MacDonald quoted him as being opposed to a money contribution. These were Mr. Borden's words:

"From a constitutional and political standpoint, I am opposed to it, for many reasons. In the first place, I do not believe that it would endure. In the second place, it would be a source of friction. It would become a bone of partisan contention. It would be subject to criticism."

Taking up the speech of Mr. Foster, Mr. Macdonald showed wherein Mr. Foster had placed himself on record as against the very resolution of Mr. Borden which he was now supporting. He quoted extracts and placed them on parallel lines, showing the one to be a direct contradiction of the other.

Opposes Naval College at Halifax.

Mr. Macdonald caused Mr. Borden some uneasy moments when he asked him if he was opposed to the establishment of dockyards and naval college in the city of Halifax, which Mr. Borden represents. To this he received no answer.

Sealey Wants Canadian Navy.

Mr. W. O. Sealey thought that in view of the resolution of March last the House should not hesitate to pass the naval bill, which was a practical expression of the decision of the House on that occasion. Mr. Sealey favoured a Canadian navy, built in Canada by Canadian workingmen with Canadian material and Canadian money. He favoured also the construction of dry docks and ship yards in Canada. He gave as an example of the necessity for these large dry docks, that when the great ocean liner Empress of Ireland was disabled, she had to go to New York for repairs, Canada having no facilities equal to the task. He expressed the opinion that Canada's trade and commerce, and merchant marine were too important to remain longer under present conditions.

Build Up Steel Industries.

Mr. Sealey from the standpoint of a practical man demonstrated the importance of building up our steel industries so that steel plants for use in ships of the navy could be manufactured in Canada. Mr. Sealey referred to the Canadian navy as being "tin pot," and showed that if that were so, the British Government had 60 or 70 tinpots of the Bristol variety, 71 Boadiceas, and 157 destroyers, just the same as it was proposed to build for Canada. Mr. Sealey was strong for a Canadian navy, and he supported his opinion by practical, patriotic reasons.

It is a strange thing that no Conservative who has yet spokeen has advanced one idea why there should not be established a Canadian navy. neither has any argument been presented in favour of sending out of the country $25,000,000 of the taxes of Canadians.

Don't Agree With Borden.

Dr. Chisholm, Conservative of Huron, is one of the most respected men, in the House, and a man of scholarly attainments. Speaking on the navy bill, he said he was not in accord with either the leader of the Opposition or the Government. He said he expressed the views of his constituents, and before he changed them, he wanted more than mere bald assertions. That he said, had been tried on him already and it had failed. This suggests that his party tried the Foster plan of the composing room, the thumb screw and the rack, but that in Dr. Chisholm's case they failed. Dr. Chisholm is known as a man of great independence of thought and with well-grounded opinions of his own on political questions, and as he neither seeks nor receives any help from his party in campaign times, he feels at liberty to express his opinions, whether they agree with those of his party managers or not.

Georgian Bay Canal.

The annual discussion on the Georgian Bay Canal occurred on Monday last. Hon. Mr. Fielding stated frankly to the House that the Government was in favour of building the canal, but the obligations at present were so onerous that it could not be commenced at once. He thought the whole project a fascinating one, and wanted to be counted among its warmest supporters.

Mr. Hodgins, of Pontiac, gave a very practical address on the subject, He thought that by 1912 the Western provinces would produce $500,000,000 bushels of grain, half of which would be for export and naturally pass down this proposed canal. He was of opinion that the Georgian Bay Canal should be constructed before anything was done with the Welland Canal, although he thought that the traffic from the lakes would require the services of both before long. He thought that the shipments now made by American bottoms would come through the canal when built. He thought the Government would receive the endorsement of the people in engaging upon this great national enterprise.

Lumsden Charges.

The committee appointed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to investigate the charges made by the Chief Engineer of the National Transcontinental. Mr. Lumsden, that he had lost confidence in his staff, has met and organized, and will proceed at once to hear evidence.

German Surtax Removed.

Mr. Fielding, Minister of Finance, has been quietly conducting commercial relations with Germany, and was able to announce in the House that the surtax upon Canadian goods would be removed by Germany, and that in return for this Canada would remove the surtax from German goods. It will be remembered that when Canada gave a preference to Great Britain Germany claimed the same advantage, and failing to get in, imposed a surtax, or extra tax upon goods coming from Canada. In response to this Canada promptly imposed a surtax upon German goods entering Canada. Germany having removed surtax Canada has done the same, and trade conditions between the two countries will doubtless, from this time, receive a great stimulus.

All-Canadian Navy Wanted.

The navy bill will occupy the boards for some time yet. Many members have expressed their intention of speaking upon the subject. The Opposition have decidedly the worst of the argument to date. The policy of sending $25,000,000 of good Canadian money out of the country it not a popular one, whereas the Laurier policy of a Canadian navy, built in Canada, by Canadian working men with Canadian money grows in public favour.

He May Ask The People

Asquith May Submit a Referendum on Veto, Says Rumour—Budget is Still in the Balance Unless Government Can Find a Solution.

LIKELY A PLEBISCITE

London, Feb. 28.—The month is closing with the fate of the Government still hanging in the balance if John Redmond sticks to his determination to lead his Irish followers against the Budget. Unless the Government not only discloses a scheme of dealing with the veto of the House of Lords, which he approves, but also gives assurance that it can down the opposition of the Lords to this scheme, no means are apparent by which the Government can save the budget. Strong rumors are current of a profound change in the political situation following Prime Minister Asquith's audience with the King Saturday. Immediately after that audience Mr. Asquith summoned his colleagues to a Cabinet Council, which lasted three hours. The impression prevails here that the Premier surrendered to the radical extremists, who object to reforms of the Lords being discussed before the veto question is tackled.

It is also rumored that there is a proposal for submitting the single question of the House of Lords' veto power to a popular direct vote, upon the result of which legislation would follow immediately upon the reassembling of the House at the conclusion of the spring recess. It is believed that such a referendum would receive no serious objection from the Unionist party.

However, all is mere surmise until Monday. Then the country will know how far these rumors are correct, for Mr. Asquith will at that time make a statement which may possibly meet the objections raised to his policy. The opinion grows nevertheless that another general election is inevitable.

A BIT OF ADVICE

First—Don't Delay. Second—Don't Experiment.

If you suffer from backache; headaches or dizzy spells; if you rest poorly and are languid in the morning; if the kidney secretions are irregular and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. The kidneys are calling for help. Slight symptoms of kidney troubles are but forerunners of more serious complaints. They should be given attention before it is too late.

Booth's Kidney Pills cure kidney trouble. They are recommended by thousands. Can Peterborough residents desire more convincing proof than the statement of a Peterborough citizen. Mrs. W. Huycke, of 311 Louis St., Peterborough, Ont., says: "Mr. Huycke frequently suffered with backache. At times the pains in the small of the back would become so severe that he was unable to straighten himself up without much suffering. He could not stoop or lift anything of consequence and his general health had been run down for some time. He had tried a number of different remedies but didn't find relief until on advice of a friend, he procured Booth's Kidney Pills at McDermid & Jury's Pharmacy and commenced treatment He soon found relief. The pains left his back and he strengthened. He has had no return of the trouble since and speaks very highly of Booth's Kidney Pills."

Czar Drives In Streets.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 28.—With no preliminary announcement in the court circular the Czar has definitely left his five years seclusion and is seen almost daily driving in the streets. Thrice last week he has traversed the main streets at the busiest hour of the afternoon with no interruption to the traffic beyond keeping the crossings clear as his victoria, drawn by two horses, approaches, when the police chance to see him.

His Majesty uses a roomy English victoria with a low back, entirely open. The coachman and footman are seated high in front.

The Czar's reception everywhere has seemed to be friendly and respected without any demonstration. His example is now followed by all the members of the imperial family in St. Petersburg. In addition to visiting relatives, military schools and hospitals the Czar has called on some of the leading families.

They Will All Walk Out

Sympathetic Strike is Decided on in Philadelphia and the Riot Grows Worse—Large Number of Arrests Made.

SEVERAL ARE HURT

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 28.—Action fraught with possible momentous consequences to Philadelphia was taken by the Central Labor Union last night, when that body, representing 140 unions, which claim a membership of 125,000, voted to begin a sympathetic strike next Saturday in aid of the striking street railway employes.

Meanwhile there is hope that the street railway strike will be arbitrated, despite the repeated declarations of the transit company, controlling all the lines in the city, that "there is nothing to arbitrate."

There is a strong feeling, especially among business people, that the strike should be settled speedily, as all lines of business suffer because of the stagnation resulting from the interference with traffic.

There was surprise at the reported unanimity of the vote in favor of a general sympathetic strike. Leaders of various trades unions had said they were opposed to a general strike because it involves the matter of broken trade agreements. Others doubted their ability to order all workmen to lay down their tools and have the order obeyed. There is no doubt, however, of the strength of the feeling that unionism is at stake and the consequent feeling that a fight to preserve the union is necessary.

Members of every labor organization in Philadelphia in any way connected with the American Federation of Labor, participated in the conference yesterday.

A man and a boy are dead and four other boys were seriously hurt as a result of a trolley car jumping a switch at Sixth and Jackson streets downtown last night and crashing into the front of a cigar store. There had been a disturbance down the street and some one had turned the unused switch at this point. A trolley car, driven at high speed, jumped the track and crashed through the crowd on the sidewalk, only stopping after it had torn the front out of the store.

Cars were stoned, motormen and conductors beaten and many passengers were struck by flying missiles in the rioting which was renewed here yesterday afternoon, after several days of comparative quietness. Nearly a dozen riot calls were received at police headquarters, but in most instances the mobs were dispersed with riot sticks alone. Seventy-one arrests were made.

In an attack on a car at Germantown avenue and Manheim street, a motorman was stabbed in the back with an oyster knife. His assailant escaped.

Following an attack upon a car in Manayunk, in the northwestern section, Thomas Wagner, aged 15, was shot through the chest by a policeman. He will die. Another boy was shot through the hand in the same crowd.

Weds Millionaire Employer.

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 28.—Stephen Jones, owner of the Dominion Hotel here, the Jones Block in Vancouver, and other properties in British Columbia cities, representing a valuation of over a million, was married in Los Angeles, Cal., to Miss Elizabeth Thompson, formerly of New Westminster, and has started with his bride on a two years' round-the-world ramble.

Miss Thompson applied to Jones about two years ago for work in the dining-room of the Dominion, and was engaged as waitress. Her attractiveness and brightness won her speedy promotion to the cashier's desk, and later, at Jones' urging, she went to a ladies' college.

Her engagement to her former employer was announced private two months' ago.

Subsisted on Garbage.

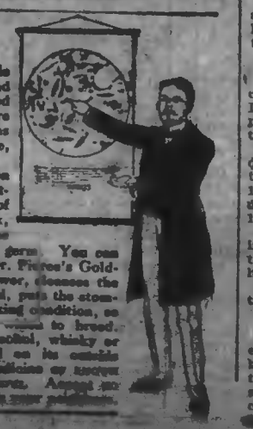
Burlington, Vt., Feb. 28.—Disdaining to ask for town aid and too proud to beg, a family of six persons, three of them children, for three years have been living on a tiny farm in the outskirts of this city on garbage which the father of the family, 70 years old, has daily collected, ostensibly to feed pigs.

The authorities yesterday were asked to take charge of the family of two insane, middle-aged women, both widows; their aged father and three children, a boy and two girls, aged four, seven and fourteen years respectively. The women have gone insane because of the diet.

Aylmer's New Factory.

Aylmer, Ont., Feb. 28.—It is announced that one of the large shoe factories at Brockton, Mass., will open up a big factory here.

Afraid of Ghosts



Many people are afraid of ghosts. Few people are afraid of germs. Yet the ghost is a fancy and the germ is a fact. If the germ could be magnified to a size equal to its terrors it would appear more terrible than any fire-breathing dragon. Germs can't be avoided. They are in the air we breathe, the water we drink.

The germ can only prosper when the condition of the system gives it free scope to establish itself and develop. When there is a deficiency of vital force, languor, restlessness, a sallow cheek, a hollow eye, when the appetite is poor and the sleep is broken it is time to guard against the germs. You can fortify the body against all germs by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It increases the vital power, cleanses the system of clogging impurities, enriches the blood, puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition in working condition, so that the germs finds not weak or unprepared spots to breed. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whisky or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed on its outside wrapper. It is not a secret nostrum but a medicine on known composition and with a record of 40 years of cures. Against substitutes—there is nothing "just as good." Ask your physician.

Regulate the Bowels

"I have been troubled with constipation for several years, and have tried a great many kinds of pills, as well as medicine from the doctor. THIBETANS INCENSED.

Massacre is Probable as Result of Chinese Action.

Darjiling, British India, Feb. 28.—The circumstances surrounding the flight from Lhasa, the capital of Thibet, of the now deposed Dalai Lama, the nominal head of the Thibetan Government, are as follows:—The Dalai Lama, following his wide wanderings, arrived at Lhasa in December with authority from Pekin to take over the Government from the Provisional Governors who were appointed following the invasion of the Holy City in 1904 by Col. Sir Francis E. Younghusband at the head of the British column, when Great Britain secured from Thibet certain concessions in the matter of trade and in that of the foreign relations of the country. The Dalai Lama was installed at the palace and monastery of Potala amid popular demonstrations, and all went well for the first month.

Then the Dalai Lama protested to the Chinese Amban in charge of the military affairs, because of the excessive number of Chinese troops on the Sze-Chuen frontier, where they were sacking the monasteries and killing the monks. This protest served to stir up the whole question of the status of Thibet. The Amban declared that it was a Chinese Province, and said that he would deal with the rebels on the frontier as he pleased. Other questions of authority arose, and finally the Amban ordered into Lhasa 2,500 Chinese troops, who were encamped at the outskirts of the capital.

Then the Dalai Lama with three of his Ministers and sixty retainers fled through a gate at the rear of the palace enclosure, and were fired upon as they escaped from the city.

The Thibetans generally resent the treatment of the Dalai Lama, and as they have other grudges against the Chinese, the Chinese officials at isolated points are in great danger of being massacred.

Great Britain, China and Thibet.

Pekin, Feb. 28.—W. G. Max Muller, British charge d'affaires, has made friendly representations to the Chinese foreign board on the subject of Great Britain's concern over the situation in Thibet, and with reference to the preservation of peace and order in the border states, has asked China to state formally her policy and intentions.

Mrs. Hetty Green Sued.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 28.—Mrs. Hetty Green was sued Saturday in the Circuit Court to compel her to relinquish a note for $5,000 on which she has drawn 8 per cent. interest since 1874. Although the interest for that period has amounted to $14,475, Mrs. Green has repeatedly refused, according to the petition to accept $5,000 in cash and resign the investment. Her son, Col. E. H. R. Green, is named with her as a defendant in the suit.

The note was executed on Dec. 31, 1874, by Mrs. Catherine Holland, and secured with a mortgage on real estate. It was to be payable in five years and draw 8 per cent. interest. The loan was made by the trustees of the estate of E. M. Robinson, father of Mrs. Green. Col. Green is now administrator.

Mrs. Holland died in 1908, after paying $13,600 interest on the $5,000 note, and her son, Charles H. Holland, brings the suit. He says he vainly offered Mrs. Green $5,475, principal and interest for 1910, for the note Feb. 11, at the Chemical Bank, in New York.

Foster In Ottawa.

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—The result of the Foster-Macdonald libel suit was generally unexpected in political circles here. Both parties, for the most part, expected a disagreement, though some of the lawyers who have been following the case closely say that the moment Mr. Macdonald pleaded privilege, no other verdict could have been expected.

Hon. Geo. E. Foster returned to Ottawa yesterday. Asked if he had any statement to make, he replied that at present he did not care to make any comment, but might have something to say in a few days.

R. L. Borden, the Conservative leader, was also asked if he had anything to say, but replied that he had no remarks to make.

Plan to Raise Treasure Ship.

Seattle, Wn., Feb. 28.—An expedition has been organized by an expert diver to raise the steamer Islander, sunk ten years ago in 320 fathoms of water near Juneau, Alaska, while bound for Seattle with $2,000,000 of Klondike gold in her strong box. The location of the steamer is known, but the depth of water has forbidden attempts to salvage. The plan proposed is to lift the vessel with a huge metal seine.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

Five Roses, Madam, Saves You Money, Because—

Have you ever noticed, Madam, in your mixing bowl how some flours take up more water than others?

How after using the usual amount of liquid your dough continued to "tighten up?"

How you simply had to add more and still more water so as to get the dough just right—nor too slack nor too tight.

Oh, you have noticed it, eh!

You see, Madam, it's this way.

No flour can be stronger than the wheat it's made from.

Take our own Canadian wheat, for instance: Hard Spring wheat and Soft Winter wheat.

The Spring (Manitoba) wheat, you know, due to climatic conditions, soil and shorter ripening period is wonderfully rich in GLUTEN.

It's the quantity of gluten that makes it so hard and firm.

The softer the wheat, Madam, the less gluten.

* * * *

On gluten quantity and quality depends everything worth while in bread-making—Flavor, Texture, Color, Volume.

Which brings us to FIVE ROSES flour, Mistress Housewife.

Made exclusively from the picked Spring wheat berries, the wonderful hard western wheat, it contains the amber gluten which makes it famous.

There is not a single grain of soft wheat in FIVE ROSES.

So that in YOUR mixing bowl it absorbs a lot more liquid than soft wheat flours and even blended flours—that's why it's so thirsty.

And it retains this surplus liquid, Madam, all through the baking process.

* * * *

Means a big saving to YOUR pocketbook.

Since with the same amount of flour you get more loaves.

We know a housewife who once took the trouble to count the loaves she made with a barrel of FIVE ROSES.

And was amazed to find, without any more labor or material, she actually obtained from 30 to 40 pounds more bread than ever before.

At 5 cents each loaf that makes $2. After paying the slight difference in cost, she still had a comfortable margin to reward her buying judgment.

And such bread, Madam.

If you're one of those thrifty housewives whose husband every man envies, here's your opportunity to get more bread for less money.

The sooner you get FIVE ROSES, Madam, the more money you will save.

Start saving TO-DAY.

OTTAWAS BEAT COBALT FIFTEENTH STRAIGHT WIN

Ottawa, Feb. 27.—(Special.)—In a fast, rough match Saturday night the Ottawas beat Cobalt by 11 to 5.

In the first half the visiting team looked dangerous. Ottawa got three straight and then Cobalt got two in quick succession, Ottawa making it 4-2. Cobalt scored the seventh and claimed the eighth, but were not allowed it. Ottawa ran in another and it was 5-4 at half time when Harold McNamara, the Cobalt point, discovered after unlacing his boot, that an artery had been cut. He dropped off and George McNamara his brother, went on.

In the second half it was all Ottawa, they getting six out of seven goals. The Cobalt defence minus Harold McNamara, were all at sea, Ridpath, Kerr, Walsh and Smaill playing all round them. Ottawa did not appear up to the form in the first half, but came back stronger than ever in the second, their combination on the line and defence work being brilliant. Albert Kerr was back in the game again after an absence of five weeks, getting a great reception. He starred for Ottawa, getting four goals. Walsh also showed that he has come back to form, getting four, while Smaill, who played a wonderful game throughout, netted two and Ridpath one.

The Cobalt stars were Herb Clarke and Steve Vair on the line and Jones in goal. Their line was fair, but their defence woefully weak. Play was rough, the Cobalt players appearing to make a dead set on Walter Smaill a former team mate, who, after taking a great deal of punishment, was finally knocked down and out by Harry Smith in the second half. McMillan retired to even up and the game was finished with six men aside.

O. H. A. CONTESTS ARE GETTING DOWN TO FINALS

The contests for the O. H. A. championships are rapidly narrowing down to the finals, and the last game is expected to be played a week from Saturday night.

To-night Argos and Parkdale meet at Mutual Street Rink in the first of home and home games to decide which team shall meet St. Michael's in the final. Wednesday night the second game will be played. Next Saturday night the first game of the finals will be played at Mutual Street Rink, and a week from Saturday night the final game is down for decision.

In the intermediate series London and Goderich meet at Stratford to-night to play out their tied round. Wally Hern will referee. After the game the winners will draw with Collingwood to ascertain which team shall have the last game at home for the intermediate championship. These games will be played Wednesday and Friday of this week.

The winners of the Preston-Barrie Junior round tie here on Tuesday night will meet Kingston Frontenacs for the championship, the first game at Barrie or Preston on Thursday and the final at Kingston on Monday.

Big League On The Rocks

Cost Renfrew $17,000 for Their Team This Season—Ottawa the Only Financial Winners.

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—A meeting of the National League has been called for Monday, and it is likely that it will blow up, no less than six protests being entered.

All the clubs, except Ottawa, must face big deficits, the association which looked so rosy at the beginning of the season appearing to be on its last legs.

Ottawa and Wanderers will likely play home-and-home games for the championship.

The Renfrew promoters will lose over $11,000 on the very short season, and are tied up for at least $6,000 more. This is too expensive sport for even millionaires, $17,000 for four games on Renfrew ice.

WOLGAST TO GO ON STAGE

San Francisco, Feb. 28.—The next thing that Wolgast, the light weight champion, conqueror of Battling Nelson, will do is to go on the stage.

The Mission Club wants him to fight Freddy Welch, the English champion, but the German, who fought Nelson for $4,000, has grown more appreciative of his talents and wants $30,000 for a 45-round bout with the Briton. Negotiations are still pending. His manager, Jones, says that Wolgast won't fight for at least three months. He will go to Los Angeles today.

But Nelson was more the battered than the "Battler" to-day. He spent the greater part of his time in the Sultan baths but although his face was swollen as if he had a thankless tooth, and his eyes were all but closed, he talked fight as bravely as ever.

That he still is a good-sized fighting idol was demonstrated when Louis Blot signed him to fight "Cyclone" Thompson forty-five rounds in April. Nelson will get $10,000 and $500 expenses for his share of the purse.

Boils and Pimples.

Whenever your complexion is unnatural, your skin in an unhealthy condition, your face covered with blotches and pimples, when boils and festering sores abound then your blood is bad. You can best cleanse it with that purely vegetable compound, Burdock Blood Bitters, which safely and promptly renovates the blood and invigorates the entire system.

Boils Cured.

Mr. C. A. Munsen, Bawlf, Alta., writes: "I recommend Burdock Blood Bitters as being the best blood purifier there is. About three years ago I was greatly troubled with boils and our druggist advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters and after taking two bottles I have not had a boil or even a pimple."

Pimples Cured.

Mr. J. Morehouse, Zealand Station, N.B., writes: "My face and neck were covered with pimples, and I tried all kinds of remedies, but they did me no good. I went to many doctors, but they could not cure me. I then tried Burdock Blood Bitters and I must say it is a wonderful remedy for the cure of pimples."

SPORTING NOTES

The Strathconas have been endeavouring for the past few days to arrange home and home games with the Lindsay intermediate O. H. A. team, but the negotiations have dropped through. Lindsay are through for the season and the fans have lost interest in the game.

The T. A. S. are billed to play a game in Lakefield to-night.

The Junior T. A. S. do hereby challenge the Chieftains for the Junior City League Cup, now in their possession; the game to be played in the Brock Street rink as soon as possible.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE HELD A MEETING

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the West Peterborough Farmer's Institute was held at the City Council chamber. Mr. J. H. Garbutt, president, was in the chair. There were also present, Directors G. W. Mann, H. C. Garbutt, R. Chambers, S. Matchett, C. E. Moore, Wm. Collins, secretary. The secretary announced the object of the meeting.

It was moved by H. C. Garbutt, seconded by G. R. Chambers, that the annual meeting be held on Saturday, June 18th, at 1 p.m., and that we do not ask for a speaker from the department.

It was moved in amendment by Mr. Nixon, seconded by Mr. Moore, that the annual meeting be held at some convenient and suitable place to be selected by the president and secretary, and that Mr. H. C. Duff, B.S.A., be asked to attend and give a drainage demonstration, and that the afternoon's proceedings end up with a picnic on Friday, June 9th, details to be given later, by the committee.—Carried.

It was moved by Messrs. Mann and Matchett, that Messrs. T. D. Young and Vive-Pres. and Directors, Nixon and Moore be added to the committee.

POST CARD COLUMN

Peterborough, Feb. 28, 1910.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Every sensible person should protest loudly against the miserable innovations introduced into many of our churches these days. What would we think of a man who would look on unconcerned and see a villain crush the spirit, soul and life out of his mother and make no protest? Brutal, inhuman, we would all exclaim. What shall we say of those who look on as calm as a midsummer morning, unmoved at the earthly and sensual affairs introduced into many of our churches where the money changers are sitting, selling their home-made bread, cakes, pickles, shredded wheat biscuits, etc., and hold them on the nights set apart for the congregational mid-week prayer meeting!

should protest LOUDLY against this horrid thing that is crushing the spirit and life out of the church. One thousand people sat down just the other eve to one of these church suppers, the same week on a fine evening only twenty-five were at the church prayer meeting. Nine hundred more at the church supper than at the prayer meeting. "Lovers of pleasure, more than lovers of God." "Ichabod, Ichabod, Ichabod, the glory has departed," is written large over the front, side and back door of any church given over to this wicked thing.—Yours, etc.,

JNO. CARLISLE.

SOMETHING ABOUT EYE-BROWS

Straight and level eyebrows denote mentality; musicians often have these. Brows that meet over the nose usually prove the love of authority and mark a capable person.

Beautifully arched brows usually adorn a rather empty forehead, and indicates an opposite degree of intelligence to that shown by the long, straight brow.

Brows arched in an acute angle over the centre of the brow have a perpetually surprised look.

When the arch is but slight the forehead may be strong, full of individuality and with a fine central spread. When like this, however, there is usually a lack either of time, tune or locality.

Very fine, distinctly outlined brows indicate an artistic nature.

The thick brow is supposed to denote a gross personality. Usually a heavy lower face goes with it, and is a sign of material nature.

If the thick brow is caused by the prominence of the eye, the bushiness is merely an effort of the hairs to do protective duty, and then they show great powers of speech, for the gift of language has its seat behind the eyes.

Much elevated eyebrows show artistic perception of colour and shape, good taste, organization and mathematical powers.

People with good spaces between eyes and eyebrows for size and weight can judge distances well and can estimate to a nicety the probable weight of given objects.

ADVOCATE A NEW WALK

"Toes out," said the old dancing master to the new pupil, and the most offensive criticism that one small boy can bring against another small boy is to allege that he "toes in, just like an Injun," says the Boston Transcript. Yet, it may be that neither the Indian nor the dancing master was authority on the best way to step, and it is certain that New York society, under the guidance of a young matron who believes in pedestrianism, is taking up the "straight walk."

Set the foot in a straight line with the line of march, she says, turning the toes neither in nor out; thus the natural resiliency of the foot is brought into play. The pressure is better distributed on the ball of the foot, and the stride is not only longer and freer, but less tiring. Incidentally, physicians whisper behind their hands, the new fashion tends to discourage high heels and the slight, but inevitable jar to the spine which they occasion at every step; wherever the doctors commend it. And yet, they add, likewise in strict confidence, if any woman will stay out of doors several hours a day, as does the advocate of the straight walk, that woman also will probably enjoy vigorous health, no matter how she places her toes.

Reduced Railway Rates.

Arrangements have been made with all the railways for reduced railway rates to this convention. Fare and one-third will be given if over 100 delegates are present, and if the number exceeds 300 there will be single fare. It is important, therefore, in order that the number registered be as large as possible, that every one purchase a single fare ticket and secure a certificate from the Station Agent on leaving, and hand this to the Secretary of the Convention to be countersigned. It is expected that fully 300 will be present, and that a single fare rate will, therefore, be obtained.

Vinol

"From Dec. 20, '08, to March 1, '09, I had three bad colds, one on top of the other. I got so weak I could hardly get around. Nothing seemed to help me until I began to take Vinol. The change was magic. Three bottles completely fixed that compound cold and stopped the terrible cough—and what surprises me most, at the same time it cured me of a severe stomach trouble that has bothered me for 20 years. Vinol is certainly a wonderful medicine."

Mr. Toppan is one of Lynn's most prominent and highly respected merchants, whose word is as good as his bond.

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains the two most world-famed tonics—the medicinal, strengthening, body-building elements of Cod Liver Oil and Tonic Iron.

OBITUARY.

GEO. JOHNSON.

The funeral of the late George Johnson, sr., took place on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his Lakefield residence, and was very largely attended. The deceased gentleman was born eighty-two years ago in Smith, his father and mother being among the first pioneers of Smith.

He was married fifty-seven years ago to Elizabeth Fairbairn, who survived him.

There were nine children, of whom eight are living, one son having died in childhood.

The sons are Robert and Andrew, in the West; George, of Smith; and Roland, of Lakefield and the daughters, Mrs. Hugh Fife, Otonabee; Mrs. W. A. Boyce, Selwyn; Mrs. James Sanderson, Davidson, Sask., who is at present visiting here and Mrs. N. A. Hunter, Peterborough.

The pallbearers were: Mr. Charles Fairbairn, Toronto; Andrew, John, Alexander Fairbairn, Smith brothers-in-laws of the deceased, and Mr. James Moore and L. Steele, Lakefield.

The deceased gentleman was highly esteemed and respected by all who knew him.

Preachers Form Union.

Vancouver, B.C., Feb. 28.—The Ministerial Association of Vancouver, composed of virtually all the Protestant ministers of that city, has applied for and obtained affiliation with the Trades and Labor Council, in the same manner as a recognized trades union, accepting the condition imposed by the council that delegates individually must pay the per capita tax in other cases borne by the several local unions.

In effect the action taken gives Vancouver the distinction of having the first full-fledged union preachers in Canada—probably in the world.

Widow Charged With Murder.

Kirksville, Mo., Feb. 28.—Warrants issued by the Adair County Circuit Court on a report of a special grand jury resulted in the arrest of Mrs. Alma Proctor-Vaughan, and Dr. J. K. Hull of Monroe City, Mo., on the charge of murder by strychnine poisoning of Prof. J. T. Vaughan. Mrs. Vaughan, widow of the professor, was released on $25,000 bail, and the physician on $7,500 bonds.

Y. M. C. A. Wins Out.

Cleveland, Feb. 28.—When the millionaires, newsboys, doctors, clergymen and merchants who have been canvassing the town for a $500,000 building fund for the Young Men's Christian Association wound up their campaign last night, they had $530,151.69, $83,000 of which was raised yesterday. The money was raised at the rate of $130 a minute.

The full amount had to be pledged at midnight to retain $100,000 given by John D. Rockefeller.

Hanged Himself Before Release.

Vancouver, B.C., Feb. 28.—William Ashworth, whose two months' term for wife-beating was up yesterday, committed suicide in jail on Saturday by hanging himself with small pieces of string. He had had a reconciliation with his wife, who Friday night brought him $15 with which to go to Prince Rupert. Yesterday morning the two children, sent to the jail with new clothing for their father, found that he had hanged himself.

Unopposed by Laborites.

London, Feb. 28.—The Labor party decided Saturday night not to oppose Joseph Albert Pease, whose promotion to the Ministry necessitated his re-election in Rotherham. The decision of the Laborites was due to the refusal of the miners to provide a candidate.

Jurors' Act in N.B.

Fredericton, N.B., Feb. 28.—In the Legislature the Premier introduced the Jurors' Act, and said that at present selection was in the hands of the sheriff, who was open to the charge of favoritism in making a choice of men. The bill provides for a committee, consisting of the clerk of the court, clerk of the peace, and the sheriff, to make the selection of both the grand and petit jurors by drawing names from a box containing tickets with the names of all eligible to serve, thus securing absolute fairness.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Hon. L. P. Brodeur has gone to Pinehurst, South Carolina, for a change.

Two officials of the Austrian Government fought a duel at Vienna on Saturday, in which one of them was killed.

At the annual meeting of the Peel Liberal Association resolution endorsing the Government's naval policy was adopted.

An alarming state of affairs prevails along the Turko-Bulgarian frontier, where a condition approaching a state of war exists.

Two Toronto girls were arrested as "white slaves" at Black Rock while on their way to Buffalo. Two Toronto men were taken into custody in connection with the case at Buffalo.

Fire in the Gier block at Macleod, Alberta, did $10,000 damage. The American Hotel at Moncton, N.B., was damaged to the extent of $20,000, and a blaze in Naylor's factory and the Standard Glove Works at St. Johns, Quebec, threatened the destruction of the town.

Hon. Mr. Cushing explained the reason of his resignation in the Alberta Legislature, and a lively debate took place, in which Mr. Boyle joined the ex-Minister in attacking the Government's railway policy, which was defended by Premier Rutherford and Attorney-General Cross.

Gesto Methodist Church Investigating.

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 28.—An investigation committee composed of Rev. J. Philp, chairman, of Essex; Rev. T. Blatchford, of Cottam; Rev. D. Wren, of Maidstone, and Rev. S. T. Toll of Walkerville, met at Essex Saturday afternoon to investigate the affairs of the Gesto Methodist Church, and the condition in which it was left by the erstwhile pastor, Rev. David Hicks, who is now occupying a pulpit of the Methodist Church in Corunna, Mich., Mr. Hicks will be given an opportunity to explain matters at a court of trial which will be held in Essex in three weeks.

The investigation committee discovered that the missing pastor left debts to the amount of $1,200. The committee formulated three charges against Rev. David Hicks; first, obtaining money under false pretences; second falsehood, and, third, leaving the work irregularly.

A letter was received from the Toronto missionary authorities in which they denied that they ever received $210 from the Gesto people.

Sunday Papers Barred.

Buffalo, N.Y., Feb. 28.—Canada has given the thumbscrew on the Sunday lid another twist. Sunday papers are barred absolutely from Fort Erie, Ont., under an order just issued.

The orders, which the Government has just issued, prohibit the sale of newspapers in Fort Erie on Sunday and forbid all persons to bring newspapers into the village on Sunday, even for their own use. The foregoing law, relative to Sunday newspapers has been more or less enforced in other parts of Ontario for two years but heretofore Fort Erie has been exempt because of the many Americans living there.

It is believed that the recent protest of the ministerial association at Windsor, Ont., over the importation of Detroit papers, is the cause for the new order of enforcement all along the line.

Militia Quells Riot.

Eldorado, Ark., Feb. 28.—Following the wounding of three white men, the formation of a mob and an attack on the negro section of the city, Eldorado Saturday night went under control of the military.

A white man was crowded from the sidewalk by a negro. Bystanders took a hand, and the negro plunged at one of his adversaries with a knife. No one was injured, and the negro escaped.

Early Saturday night citizens started to search for the negro and when the party entered a resort they were greeted with revolver shots. Three of the party were wounded.

A mob formed and had begun the destruction of the negro cabins and property when the local militia company was ordered out.

To Breed Tailless Cat.

New York, Feb. 28.—To determine the effect of darkness upon various forms of animal life, experiments are being conducted with insects and fishes at the Carnegie Branch of the Experimental, Evolution at Cold Spring Harbor, L.I. The experiments are in charge of Dr. A. M. Banta.

A concrete cave has been built, 42 by 10 feet, and eight feet in height. It is five feet underground. It is equipped with tanks in which live fishes of various kinds have been placed, while crickets and other insects have been placed in compartments that are dry but without a ray of light. Other odd experiments have been in progress for some time, one of them being the effort to breed a tailless cat.

To Make Chicago Noiseless City.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 28.—A movement to make Chicago a "Noiseless city," came one step nearer realization Saturday, when Chief of Police Steward issued an order for the rigid enforcement of the city's "anti-shouting" ordinance. This means that peddlers must not call out their wares.

The ordinance was to have gone into effect on Jan. 1, but its enforcement was postponed to give peddlers a hearing.

THE IMPERIAL GUARANTEE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

Head Office: 46 King Street, West TORONTO

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Imperial Guarantee & Accident Insurance Company of Canada, was held at the Head Office, 46 King Street West, Toronto, on the 10th inst.

Mr. E. W. Cox, President of the Company, in reviewing the business of the year, made reference to the growing popularity of Accident Insurance, and its effect on the success of the business of the Company during the year. The amount of Insurance written was over $26,270,000.00, an increase of $1,940,000.00 over the business taken out in 1908. This is considered exceptionally satisfactory in view of the fact that the business of the Company is confined to Personal Accident and Guarantee Insurance.

That being an increase over the year 1908 of $4,617.34.

The Assets now total $366,974.00, and, after allowing for Reserve for unearned premium calculated on the full Government standard, and all other liabilities, the surplus for the protection of policyholders has increased to $213,447.19.

The following Directors and Officers were elected:

Edward W. Cox, President. — Hon. F. T. Frost.
Noel Marshall, Vice-President. — R. Bickerdike.
Hon. Geo. A. Cox. — W. D Robb.

HENDERSON'S FLIGHT AND SURRENDER TO CONSTABLE

Faced Policeman Bennett of Havelock With Loaded Revolver, But Cried, "Don't Shoot! I Give Up!" When the Constable Faced Him—The Story of His Pursuit Through Fields and Woods—Threatened Posse of Unarmed Farmers Whenever They Drew Near.

VERDICT OF THE JURY

Examiner Special.

Norwood, Feb. 28.—"We, the jury appointed to look into the cause of the death of the late Margaret McPherson on Feb. 20th, township of Asphodel, County of Peterboro, believe that death was caused by a blow from an axe in the hands of the prisoner, one Henderson, whom we believe to be now in custody at the County Gaol in Peterboro."

Signed—

John Fitzgerald (foreman), J. R. McKelvie, John McNaughton, Hugh Robb, Wm. H. Cuthbertson, Wm. H. Montgomery, H. J. Fife, Hugh Drain, Michael O'Keefe, Cyrus Johnston, Thos. Bushell, G. Arthur Brethen.

The above verdict was brought in after deliberating fifteen minutes by the jury empanelled to enquire into the cause of the death of the late Margaret McPherson, who passed away on Feb. 20th after lingering from January 28th, the day of the assault committed by Robert Henderson. Dr. H. C. Kindred of Havelock presided as coroner, and Mr. R. E. Wood of Peterboro represented the Crown. The evidence adduced was largely corroborative of that which had been received at the adjourned meeting of the jury a week ago, the result of the post mortem examination conducted by Dr. A. M. McClelland of Peterboro and Dr. A. H. Crawford of Havelock being most material.

The town hall where the jury met was almost filled by a large number of Norwood people and farmers from the countryside, who were eager to see Henderson. The report had gone around that the prisoner was to give evidence, and some disappointment was felt when it was learned that he was not present. Henderson will appear for his preliminary hearing on Thursday of this week.

The Evidence.

Richard Leefer, the first witness, was one of the posse of Asphodel farmers who with the assistance of Constable Bennett of Havelock ran Henderson to earth a few hours after he had committed the assault on January 28th. His evidence was as follows:

"I live in Asphodel three miles from here. On Friday, January 28th, I had just finished dinner about 12:30. Mr. Roraback's man came over to the house and said that someone had struck the old woman at the corner. He told me her assailant had gone east on the C. P. R. track. Roraback's man had been given a description of the stranger, saying he wore tan boots but no rubbers. We came across footprints that I thought answered the description given us and Roraback, myself and our hired man followed them. We ran east on the track until we met the section men. Jas. Frost is foreman and Wm. Kelly is one of the men. At my request they put the handcar on the track to give us a lift. We were pretty well done out then. We caught up to three men but passed them. We were traveling rapidly then. We saw the man we were looking for at a crossing west of Havelock. He caught sight of us and disappeared into a little wood." Witness told how he headed Henderson off when he looked to be getting away. I sent word to the police at Havelock. Henderson got out on the track again. I told the constable that Henderson had a revolver, but when we caught up with him he made no resistance to being placed under arrest. I picked up a letter that fell out of his pocket, and the name of Norman Henderson was on it. I saw George Parcels on my way back from Havelock. He did not follow Henderson."

Constable Bennett.

Constable Fred Bennett of Havelock in his evidence gave an account of the last stages of the pursuit and the final act which culminated the fugitive's arrest. After being chased several miles by the farmers from the neighborhood of the McPherson residence through several swamps, underbrush, over ploughed fields, finally to make his way back to the railway track, where he continued his route for a short distance until the posse, joined by Constable Bennett, overtook him. Henderson stood up to his knees in snow in the ditch with a revolver loaded in every chamber drawn and ready for use. The Constable had draw his revolver and was closing in on the stranger. Henderson did not point the gun at the Constable, although he appeared to be prepared to fire. Instead he shouted, "Don't shoot; I give in." The rest was easy. He was handcuffed and disarmed. On the way back from the scene of his arrest he asked his captor for a match explaining that he wanted to light a cigarette. Further on the way he enquired if the two old women were dead, although no one had mentioned the McPherson sisters to him.

In his evidence witness stated that his first information of the tragedy was from a boy who told him he was wanted at the west end of the village. I met Leifer and the other men, who warned me that Henderson had a gun. The first thing he asked after arrest was for a match. I told him I was too busy. He did not reply to my query as to his being the man who had committed the depredation up the line. I did not mention the women to him, but he asked if they were dead. He was very careful in what he said. I had warned him to be careful in what he said. He told his story of the affair when I had brought him back to Havelock after he was identified at the McPherson home by Susan, one of the sisters, who had been struck. He had gone into the house and was given his dinner by the two women. He asked how much they wanted for the meal, and one of the sisters told him that ten cents would do. He then left the house, went into the yard, where he picked up an axe and shortly afterwards re-entered. He gave as his reason for the crime that he wanted money. In answer to a juryman, Constable Bennett said that the revolver was loaded in every chamber.

Corroboration.

John Roraback said he lived about a rod southwest of the McPherson home. "We had just started dinner," he continued, "when Mrs. Hague, a niece of the old ladies, came to our house and told me her aunts had been struck by a man and that Martha was probably dead." Witness told of having seen the tracks leading from the McPherson home across the field to the railway track. He first sent his hired man over to Norwood to give the alarm there and the other to a neighbour, Mr. Fennell, for assistance. The party that gave chase to Henderson was composed of Mr. Roraback, Jas. Miller, Mr. Leefer, Thos. Stark and Arthur Leefer. Witness corroborated Mr. Leefer's testimony, giving details of the pursuit. Henderson had pulled the revolver when the party were close at his heels in a field. Witness told him he had done enough shooting and might as well give himself up. Whenever the fugitive became tired he would turn and threaten to shoot.

Doctor's Evidence.

The jury seemed to be well satisfied that Henderson had committed the crime. It remained for the doctors who performed the post mortem examination to state their finding as to the cause of death. Dr. A. H. Crawford of Havelock, who with Dr. McClelland of Peterboro performed the examination, read their report, which was to the effect that death had been directly due to the result of the injury received by the blow on the head. Both the inner and outer bones of the skull had been crushed and pus had formed between the linings of the brain. Dr. Crawford said the wound from its appearance may have been caused by the back of the axe. Constable Bennett produced the axe with which the crime had been committed and pointed to brown spots on one side which were apparently blood stains. The wound itself was fully described. It extended diagonally from a part of the crown down over one eye. Dr. McClelland corroborated the evidence of Dr. Crawford.

The coroner then addressed the jury, who were out about ten minutes.

A BRUTAL MURDER AT PARRY SOUND

Old Man Clubbed to Death in Hotel---Stranger Named Young Arrested on Suspicion---His Actions Led to His Apprehension by the Police.

Special to The Examiner.

Parry Sound, Ont., March 1.—Michael J. Davis, of Loring, about seventy years old and for thirty years a resident of the Parry Sound District, was the victim of a brutal murder here last night, the alleged murderer being a stranger, giving his name as Young, who arrived in town only yesterday. Davis, who had come to town to raise a loan, his house having been burned down recently, retired to his room at the Montgomery Hotel last night, about 11 o'clock. About half an hour later Young came downstairs and, after washing his hands in the lavatory, went hurriedly out. His actions excited suspicion, and an investigation being made, Davis was found dead in bed, with his head beaten in. Young was at once pursued and captured a short distance away. His clothes are said to be bloodstained. Only a few coins were found on the man.

FOUR MILLION DOLLARS TO BE SPENT IN ENTWISTLE

Britishers Buy Alberta Lands---Pay to St. Paul Speculators $1,100,000 for Property Along Pembina River.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 16.—E. H. Morphy, of Morphy, Ewing and Bradford, on behalf of clients in England, to-day purchased from Burchard, of St. Paul, 10,000 acres of coal lands in Alberta, lying along the Pembina River. Mr. Burchard and his associates bought these coal lands about two years ago on speculation. The English purchasers are to pay $1,100,000 for the property. This property adjoins the town of Entwistle, and it is the intention of purchasers to spend $4,000,000 on development. See page seven of this issue for advertisement.

ESCAPING ELECTRICITY HAS SPREAD FEAR IN HAMILTON

Special to The Examiner (2.45 p.m.)

Hamilton, March 1.—Somewhat of a panic has followed the startling revelations of danger to life in Hamilton from electrolysis playing havoc with gas and water mains. The report of experts shows that escaping electricity from as far west as Brantford finds its way back here and converges in the vicinity of the substation. The ground is very heavily charged and five 16-candle-power lamps attached to a hydrant shed brilliant illumination. The Fire Department say men handling hose would be killed. Fear is expressed that big gas explosions will occur throughout the city unless something is done by way of remedy.

MISS ROBSON MARRIES

Ceremony Quietly Celebrated on Saturday Evening.

New York, Feb. 28.—August Belmont, sr., the banker and millionaire racehorse owner, and Miss Eleanor Robson, the actress, were married at 5 o'clock Saturday evening in Miss Robson's house. At the recent announcement of their engagement it was said that the marriage would not take place until some time in March. Mr. Belmont and Miss Robson appeared late Friday night at the City Hall and took out a marriage license, avoiding by the lateness of the hour the scrutiny of the curious.

There were no bridesmaids or ushers and the list of guests was closely restricted to the immediate family and intimate friends. The bride was given away by her cousin, Charles Robinson Smith, and Arthur Lithgow Devens, of Boston, Mr. Belmont's classmate at Harvard was best man. Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Belmont left for a trip through the South. In March they will sail for the Mediterranean.

TEN YEAR OLD BOY VICTIM OF RABIES

Son of Joseph Taylor of Dundas Placed Under Guard—Screaming Violently.

Special to The Examiner (2.45 p.m.)

Hamilton, March 1.—John Taylor, the ten-year-old son of Joseph Taylor, of Dundas, was brought to the City Hospital to-day suffering from what is thought to be an advanced stage of rabies. The lad was bitten by a pet dog six weeks ago. A week ago he showed symptoms and it is now thought his case is beyond the Pasteur cure. At one o'clock to-day he was placed under guard and was screaming violently.

SICK HEADACHE

Sick headaches are not merely afflictions to be borne as patiently as possible — they are danger signals. They never come unless the digestive system is out of order, and their regular recurrence is proof positive of serious trouble and a warning that should be heeded promptly.

Sick headaches are caused by Indigestion, Biliousness or Constipation, and no amount of "headache powders" will do more than temporarily relieve them. The only way to get rid of them entirely is to cure the Constipation or Indigestion that is causing them, and nothing will do this quicker or more effectively than Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are purely vegetable in character, and are free from any harmful drug. For over fifty years they have been in constant use in Canada, and have proved most effective in regulating the bowels, aiding digestion, banishing sick headaches and restoring vigorous health.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have stood the test for over fifty years. 25c. at all dealers. W. H. Comstock Co., Ltd., Brockville, Ont. 7

UNWORTHY ASPERSIONS.

During the naval debate the Conservative members, with as much bad taste as lack of patriotism, have systematically and of set purpose, been flinging broadcast imputations upon the loyalty of the Liberal members of the House from the Premier down through the ranks, the French Canadian element coming in especially for some hard knocks. Mr. Devlin, of Wright County, Quebec, in the course of his speech yesterday afternoon, countered rather heavily, applying the tu quoque form of argument with good effect. Dr. Edwards, of Frontenac, speaking in the House, on February 23rd, made a most violent attack upon the loyalty to the Empire of the French Canadians, especially the Liberals, asserting that the clergy advocated separation, and that $300 of the public money of the province had been paid for the circulation of a pamphlet "Pour la Patrie," advocating, Dr. Edwards said, the establishment of a French republic, in Quebec. Mr. Devlin punctured this fable by pointing out that Hon. Mr. Pelletier, Conservative Organizer of Quebec, and Provincial Secretary in the Flynn (Conservative) Government, took money from a fund to purchase prizes for schools to buy copies of the pamphlet. So that whatever disloyalty existed was in a member of the Conservative Government and official Conservative Organizer for Quebec Province. Hon. G. E. Foster, of North Toronto, earlier in the session, had made a direct onslaught on two French Canadian Liberals, the late Honore Mercier and Right Honourable, the Prime Minister, imputing disloyalty, etc., etc. Mr. Devlin pointed out that Mr. Mecier had sinned, but not for his own personal interest, and advantage, but from devotion to his province, and he went on to instance in illustration of Conservative loyalty, the notorious Conservative annexation manifesto of 1849. Mr. Foster was a member of the Conservative cabinet of 1891, of which Sir J. J. C. Abbott, was the head. Sir John Abbot's name led all the rest of the signatories of the Conother signatories were two other Connexation to the United States, and other signatories were tow other Conservative ministers. Sir John Rose and Sir Alexander Tilloch Galt. These instances, historically and documentarily well authenticated showed that accusations of disloyalty came with ill grace from the members of the Conservative Opposition, whose insinuations of disloyalty were founded upon imagination. Proceeding to vindicate the loyalty of the French Canadian people the speaker went on to show as a historical fact that at the time of the invasion of Canada by the United States revolutionary forces in 1775 it was the action of the French Canadians that led to the expulsion of the invaders, and that to French Canadians was due the fact that Canada, or at least Quebec, was not added to the States of the union—was saved to the British Empire. General Lafayette, who was helping the revolutionists appealed in vain to the kinship of the French Canadians to join him in securing the liberty of the rebel colony, and later De Salaberry and Chateauguay bore testimony to the help given by French Canadians in maintaining the integrity of the British possessions on this continent. Mr. Devlin might have refrained from instituting comparisons upon a subject upon which there should be no controversy, but he had the justification of being compelled to the course he took by the perpetual prodding and pin-pricking of the Conservatives in the House, who asperse the loyalty of a section of our fellow subjects, no less existent and sincere because it does not find expression in blatant horn blowing, flag-flapping and hypocritical declarations of self-righteousness in the matter of loyalty. We shall never be a great and united people till we cease unworthy recriminations upon a subject upon which there is no doubt. One man is not necessarily more honest, more loyal, or patriotic than another, because he mouths his honesty or his loyalty, and seeks to secure credit by disparaging the honesty and loyalty of another. Nothing tends to national disintegration and weakness than the pursuit of such practically traitorous practices.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Another illustration of the expansion and development of Canada is the fact that during the shortest month of the year—February—thirty-five branch banks were opened in Canada. Another feature is that most of the new branches are placed in towns in the West and in Ontario that are unknown by name to most Canadians—can be found on no map now in existence. To cover Canada properly a map should be issued almost monthly. Geographies of Canada quickly go out of date, or rather, are quickly outgrown.

The Mail and Empire seems determined to consign Sir Wilfrid Laurier to some warm spot, but charitably declines to go any further than the Hot Springs, avenging, with all the weight of editorial utterance, that "Sir Wilfrid Laurier's continued ill-health necessitates a long rest at the Hot Springs, where internal troubles are treated." Sir Wilfrid has no "internal troubles" either in person or in the party he leads. The Mail's misstatement may be inspired by the proverbial theory that misery loves company; the Conservative party at Ottawa is in such a happy state of unity, especially on the naval bill, that "internal trouble" is no name for it.

The Mail and Empire had an article on Monday on a book unmasking the heroes of the American Revolution, and depicting them as a sorry lot. Ben Franklin was a common thief, guilty of stealing letters from the mails, and was a man of loose life; John Hancock, the first signer of the Declaration of Independence, was an appropriator of trust funds; Samuel Adams was a defaulter; Alexander Hamilton was a home wrecker, and Patrick Henry is described as a "poor white trash," and "one of the most unreliable men living." Mr. Stark, the writer, is an "American," but even if he tells the truth, our good Yankee friends will still continue to bow and worship their heroes, unworthy though they be. Hero worship dies hard. The Conservative journals persist in describing the verdict against Mr. Foster in the Globe libel suit as a moral victory.

A SOLID POLICY.

(Kingston Whig)

It is a good thing that there is one man in parliament who has a mind of his own, and the power to do as that mind decides. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has been pictured as an autocrat who, on the navy question, will not wobble, and will not defer to the pleadings of any faction. The premier did not reach his conclusions hastily or suddenly. He was most deliberate in his action. He got his first impressions in the British conference. His colleagues, returning from that conference, confirmed these impressions. Parliament unanimously decided upon a Canadian navy, and nothing has since occurred which could warrant a change of programme.

The opposition has abandoned its position on the question. In March, 1909, Mr. Borden was for Canada beginning a navy of its own. He was at one with the premier in desiring the expenditure to be under the control of parliament. Now he wants Canada to give $20,000,000 to the British government for Dreadnoughts, to be built and owned in England, and he does not want Canada to build a navy unless the people, by a special vote, authorize it.

In March, 1909, Mr. Foster opposed a navy contribution, or a contribution of boats. He favored a Canadian navy, and one to be built in Canada. Now he is for a money gift of $25,000,000 to Britain; he is opposed to a Canadian navy; and he recalls or recants his talk of a year ago without any apology for the attempt to swallow his words, if not himself.

Meanwhile other gifted dreamers are at work, and some of them are blustering because the government's policy will not produce results fast enough. Is there urgency? If not—and all that present evidence is to that effect—the Canadian people should build their own boats. If there is urgency the Montreal Star's proposition is unique—that Canada should give Britain enough money to build several Dreadnoughts and let the mother country have the use of them for the time being.

A navy is an enterprise which every marine power must indulge in sooner or later. Canada cannot escape the spell, and hence the feeling, which is shared by most people, that she should establish her own shipyards, and, under the direction of British experts, lay the keels of the boats that will eventually constitute the nucleus of a navy.

"SERPENT TONGUE" WOMAN AND POET WATSON MEET

Mrs. Asquith Withered Him With Furious Glances at Liberal Parliamentary Reception.

London, Mar. 1.—A most awkward contretemps occurred at the big Liberal political reception, given at Wimborne House just before the Parliamentary session opened.

Mrs. Asquith, whom William Watson chose to call "The Woman with the Serpent's Tongue," was brought face to face with the poet who thus designated her.

If infuriated glances were daggers, Watson would have fallen pierced by a thousand wounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivor Churchill Guest were hosts at the reception which really was a crush. The invitations read "to meet the Prime Minister." The Premier stood besire the hostess and shook hands with everybody who arrived.

Mrs. Asquith, who was formely Margot Tennant and once a central figure in a rather æsthetic set, went to the reception early and took a place by her husband and Mrs. Guest. Around them stood a group of Cabinet Ministers and other prominent Liberal politicians.

Mrs. Asquith was all vivacity, beaming on everyone presented to her. Suddenly a portly footman announced most distinctly, as he is trained to do:

"Mr. and Mrs) William Watson."

Mrs. Asquith turned into a shapely pillar of ice save that her fine eyes shot fire. A tense silence fell on the company. Mr. and Mrs. Watson, advancing ,shook hands with Mr. and Mrs. Guest. Then Watson, taking another step forward, bowed and held out his hand to the Premier.

Mr. Asquith's face flushed angrily, and so far from acepting the poet's hand, turned his back on him.

Mrs. Asquith's countenance crimsoned, then turned pale, while she flashed looks of withering fury at the Watsons and turned away. They passed along into the crush and were lost.

Mr. and Mrs. Guest expressed, profusely, their regret at the incident, but the Asquiths were irritable for the rest of the evening.

The Watsons seemed to imagine that the invitation "to meet the Prime Minister" intimated that the verses describing "the Woman with the Serpent's Tongue" were forgiven, if not forgotten. They appeared astounded when the Asquiths turned their backs upon them.

The Premier an dhis wife and the poet and his wife met again that evening in the yellow drawing room of Wimborne House. Such was the frigidity of the contact, that icicles illumined by lightning flashes seemed to hang from the ceiling.

SPLENDID WINTER ON THE PRAIRIES

Call for Help Next Spring Will Likely Be Met.

Ottawa, Mar. 1.—Latest reports received by the Superintendent of Immigration from the agents of the Interior Department in the Western Provinces are very optimistic and satisfactory.

The past winter has been an exceptionally pleasant one in all districts.

Prices for farm products have ruled high, money has been plentiful and the transportation facilities have been equal to the demands of an ever-increasing growth of trade of an expanding country.

The fuel question, which heretofore has been considered an annual fear, owing to the local supply centres failing to keep provided with sufficient coal to meet local demands, has been obviated this season by the local dealers laying in heavier supplies, and also helped by the weather conditions which have been of a nature to mark it as the finest winter for the past twenty-five years.

Under those conditions, and with most encouraging reports coming in weekly from points in these Western provinces, the year opens with a faith in the future amply substantiated by conditions which actually exist.

In a few weeks a call will be made for farm hands. At the present time there is no pronounced call for immediate help from any of the Western provinces.

On and after the first day of April the cry will be for help. There is, however, no indication that the call will be of such an acute nature as to cause alarm, and this may be accounted for by the fact that the increase of immigration during the past year has been such that great numbers experiencing their first year on ther homesteads, will be at liberty to hire out.

At the Immigration Offices in Winnipeg, applications to date have been already received from the three provinces for between 7,800 and 8,000 men for farm work in the spring, wages for experienced men run from $30 to $35 per month with board, for the season, commencing April 1st, seven months.

Inexperienced men for the same period are offered $15 to $20 per month.

There is also at this office a good demand for men for immediate employment, but very few are offering their services.

ALL CRIPPLED UP FROM KIDNEY TROUBLE

Cured by Gin Pills.

Mrs. John Pettigrew, of Central Economy, N.S., was practically helpless from Kidney Trouble.

She could not stoop, and her limbs ached so that it was torture for her to be up and around the house.

As Mrs. Pettigrew put it, "I was all crippled up. I saw Gin Pills advertised and sent for some, and after taking only two boxes am a different woman. Gin Pills are the only thing that helped me, and I cannot say too much for them."

If you have that dreadful pain in the back—if you are tortured with Rheumatism or Sciatica—if you have trouble with your Bladder and especially in passing water—if your Liver is torpid and you are Bilious—get Gin Pills at once.

Perhaps you do not care to buy a remedy which is unknown, personally, to you. Very well. Will you use Gin Pills if we send you a free sample? Simply write the National Drug & Chemical Co. Dept. B. Toronto, Ont., and you will receive a free sample of Gin Pills by return mail. After you have seen for yourself that Gin Pills are all that we say, get the regular size boxes at your dealer's—50c. or 6 boxes for $2.50. 4

MOTHERS WHO HAVE DAUGHTERS

Find Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winchester, Ind.—"Four doctors told me that they could never make me regular, and that I would eventually have dropsy. I would bloat, and suffer from bearing-down pains, cramps and chills, and I could not sleep nights. My mother wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice, and I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking one and one-half bottles of the Compound, I am all right again, and I recommend it to every suffering woman."—MRS. MAY DEAL, Winchester, Ind.

Hundreds of such letters from girls and mothers expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished for them have been received by The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences and be restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by its use.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

DOWN-TOWN AGENCY—At White & Gillespie's Grocery, 336 George St.

KILLED BY AVALANCHES.

Sixty Believed to Have Lost Their Lives In Idaho.

Spokane, Wash., March 1.—Sixty lives have been lost, it is feared, in two great snowslides which have brought dismay to the mining towns of the rich Coeur d'Alene district in northern Idaho.

Sunday night a snowslide swept down the mountain, striking the little town of Mace and burying twenty-five houses and their sleeping occupants in a mass of snow and ice at the bottom of the canyon. Yesterday another slide rushed down on Burke, crushing a score of houses under thousands of tons of earth and snow.

Fourteen bodies have been recovered from the ruins of Mace, while sixteen dead have been found at Burke. How many are still buried can only be guessed at. Fifty or sixty dead is regarded as a conservative estimate. From the foot of the Anchor mine plant for about a mile the slide is thirty feet deep. One thousand rescuers are now at work.

Thirty-five Italians, sleeping in an outfit car on the Northern Pacific Railroad siding who were swept away with their car in the bottom of the canyon used the tools in their car to dig themselves out. Supt. and Mrs. I. H. Pascoe of the Standard mine, in which property a large majority of the male residents of Mace are employed, were asleep when their home was crushed like an eggshell. Mr. Pascoe, two sons and a daughter were killed. His wife was only slightly injured. The bodies were recovered.

The little mining town of Mace lies between mountain sides, a straggling line of cottages in the creek bottom, bisected by the lines of the Northern Pacific and Oregon Railroad and Navigation Companies. Its one industry is mining, and its big mine is the Standard.

With scarce a dividing line perceptible, the towns of Black Bear, Gem, Mace and Burke form a long string of houses for six miles.

Mace has a population of one hundred, all, with the exception of a few storekeepers and school teachers, in the employ of the mine.

Portrait Superstitions.

In many civilized countries strange superstitions exist regarding one's portrait or photograph. Thus among some classes of Germans it is said that if you have your portrait painted death is sure to follow shortly; also that a photograph imbibes your soul. The Russians say that if a silhouette is taken death results within the year.

CURED BRONCHITIS

Mrs. Hopkins Says Her Life Was Saved—Choked and Gasped for Breath

"Some five years ago I was taken with a bad attack of bronchitis. I was affected with a bronchial cough and cold, the cough was generally much more apparent at night, and I would wake up choking and gasping for breath, and there seemed to be a terrible stoppage in my throat and tubes. My throat was tender and irritable, and had an aching sensation, which was especially bad at times. I doctored and used several remedies, but received no permanent relief until I used Hyomei. This remedy is certainly infallible, and it saved my life, and I accord it the credit which it deserves. There is nothing too strong for me to say regarding Hyomei." Mrs. Ada Hopkins, 8 Cutter Ave., Coldwater, Mich., August 22, 1908.

Wm. Madill sells Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) and he guarantees it to cure bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, croup, hay fever, coughs and colds, or money back.

The price for a complete outfit is only $1.00, which includes a bottle of Hyomei and a neat hard rubber inhaler.

Not C. C. James.

Montreal, March 1.—Principal Peterson of McGill last night denied the statement that C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, is to be the successor of Dr. James Robertson, recently resigned, as the principal of Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue.

Dr. Peterson said the story was not true, but declined to go into any details.

Monorail Line For Quebec.

Quebec, March 1.—A notice is published in The Quebec Official Gazette stating that the Quebec and Island of New Orleans Railway will ask the Legislature for an extension of time to commence the construction of its line, and asking at the same time power to build that line on the monorail plan.

Big Hotel for Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, March 1.—The Selkirk Hotel Co. has been incorporated with a capital of $1,250,000, which is to be expended in the erection of a fourteen-storey hotel in connection with the Walker Theatre here.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Feb. 28.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Market, the receipts last week were 2209 cattle, 209 sheep and lambs, 2550 hogs and 438 calves. The supply this morning consisted of 1100 cattle, 175 sheep and lambs, 1750 hogs and 200 calves. On account of unfavorable weather, increased supply of cattle and somewhat limited demand early in the day, prices ruled fully ½c lower than a week ago. The attendance of buyers was large, including some from Quebec and Ottawa and as they all wanted some stock, demand improved and a good clearance was made. A few straight loads of Manitoba stall-fed cattle, averaging 1150 lbs., were sold at $5.60 to $5.75 per cwt. Some small lots of choice Ontario steers brought 6¼c to 6½c, but later dealers and drovers were glad to accept 6c to 6¼c for the same class, while good beeves sold at 5½c to 5¾c; fair at 5c to 5½c, medium at 4¾c to 5¼c, and common at 4c to 4½c per lb.

Although supplies of hogs were fairly large, prices are steadily climbing and there was a further advance of 25c to 35c per cwt. since this day week, making them the highest in the history of the trade. Sales of selected stocks were made at $9.00 to $9.75 per cwt., weighed off the cars. Supplies of small meats were very small and demand good. Lambs were ½c to ¾c per lb. higher, with sales at 7c to 7½c per lb., but sheep were unchanged at 6½c to 6c per lb. Calves were dearer at from $5 to $15.

MASSEY BENEFACTION.

Executors of Estate Offer Buildings to Toronto University.

Toronto, March 1.—The executors of the Massey estate have written to the board of governors of Toronto University offering to bear the cost of erecting, as a memorial to the late Hart A. Massey, three buildings, to be of stone and of Gothic architecture.

One is to provide quarters for the Y.M.C.A., and is to contain all that is necessary for their purposes. The second, probably of similar size and design, is to contain the rooms necessary for the Students' Union, the Athletic Association and other student activities. Between the rear part of these two, built so as to leave a lawn or court, possibly closed in front by a wall with a grille, will be a beautiful gothic hall, also for the use of the students.

Behind these buildings the university will erect the much-needed gymnasium, swimming baths, etc., the present gym. being absorbed in the group.

The site selected is the land in front of the present gymnasium and as far south as is found necessary. Suitable provision will be made for the tennis lawns, which will, of course, be blotted out by the new erections.

No estimate is given of the cost of the new buildings, but it is certain that it will run into a very large sum indeed.

The governors of the university, in acknowledging the gift, express their belief that the people of Toronto are destined to act towards their university in the large-hearted manner that the people of Montreal have shown towards McGill.

In regard to the property recently purchased at the corner of Hoskin avenue and St. George street, on which the University Y.M.C.A. had intended to erect a building, this is still held by the board of governors, who made the purchase, and may be retained for other university purposes.

New Prize For Riflemen.

Ottawa, March 1.—With a view to the greater encouragement of rifle shooting among members of civilian rifle associations, it has been decided by the Militia Council to offer an individual prize to be known as the "Dominion of Canada prize" to each association, for competition during 1910.

The prize is a nickel silver ornamented salver, 10 inches in diameter, bearing the Dominion coat of arms. To be eligible, it will be necessary for an association to hold four competitions during the season, in which at least forty per cent. of the members must take part. The dates of these competitions must be fixed in advance and communicated to the district officer commanding. The ranges will be at 200, 500 and 600 yards, seven scoring shots at each range.

To Raise the Maine.

Washington, March 1.—A sub-committee of the House naval committee yesterday took favorable action upon a bill appropriating funds for the raising of the wreck of the United States battleship Maine, and proper interment of the bones of the American sailors.

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT.

When It is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.

Hair preparations and dandruff cures, as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs that do no earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure Dandruff is to kill the germ; and, so far, the only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpicide—absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs. It allays itching instantly; makes hair glossy and soft as silk. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Freed From Kingston Pen.

Kingston, March 1.—Charles Trotter of Warren, Ont., sentenced at North Bay, two years and four months ago, to the penitentiary for five years, has been pardoned.

Trotter married his niece, and was charged with perjury in obtaining the marriage license.

The Late Charles Cockshutt's Estate.

Toronto, March 1.—An estate of a little over $350,000 was left by the late Charles Cockshutt. About $45,000 consists of real estate, furniture, etc. The balance is made up of bank and industrial stocks, the largest holding being about 1,500 shares of the Cockshutt Plow Co.

$20,000 For Seat on 'Change.

Toronto, March 1.—Ollie Herron has purchased a seat on the Toronto Stock Exchange for $20,000. The exchange has only two more seats to dispose of. Mr. Herron was formerly of the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange, and was one of the promoters of the first mining exchange in Toronto, about 20 years ago.

He sold his seat on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange to Lyall Scott, formerly with Ussher, Playfair & Co., and has formed a partnership with S. Dawson, now with Head & Co., and with Norman Patterson, formerly with the Imperial Bank.

Labor In Politics.

Montreal, March 1.—The executive of the National Trades and Labor Council are discussing the uniting of the Canadian Federation of Labor, the Provincial Workingmen's Association and the Canadian Federation of Railway Employes into one labor organization with the intention of entering the political field.

Bitten by a Pet Dog.

Galt, March 1.—Mrs. Cant, wife of Lorne H. Cant, chemist, was bitten by a pet dog Sunday, which suddenly developed viciousness while in the living room with members of the family. She will go to New York for treatment.

The Ladies of Peterborough May Now Have Beautiful Hair. McDermid & Jury Have the Article And Guarantee it to Grow Hair.

McDermid and Jury, backed up by the manufacturers of SALVIA, the Great Hair Grower, guarantee it to grow hair.

SALVIA destroys Dandruff in ten days.

The roots of the hair are so nourished and fed that a new crop of hair springs up, to the amazement and delight of the user. The hair is made soft and fluffy. Like all American preparations SALVIA is daintily perfumed. It is hard to find an actress who does not use SALVIA continually.

Ladies of society and influence use no other.

SALVIA is a non-sticky preparation, and is the ladies' favourite. A large, generous bottle, 50c. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catherines, Canadian distributors.

Battle Royal Is Promised.

Ottawa, March 1.—Hon. George E. Foster was in his usual place at the left hand of R. L. Borden in the Commons yesterday.

Asked if there was any foundation for the report that he would resign his seat in North Toronto and contest the bye-election for vindication, said he had no statement to make.

It is stated here that if he does resign, Rev. J. A. Macdonald will be his opponent.

Murdered Woman's Estate.

Toronto, March 1.—The estate of Mrs. Victoria Davis, who was murdered several weeks ago by her son-in-law, William Withers, at her home, 27 Elliott street, is valued at $14,415.91. Her daughter, Ellen L. Winn, one of the executors, is applying for probate. Matilda Washington, Withers' wife, who was also murdered, was also named as an executor. The bulk of the estate was in real estate.

May Mean a Tragedy.

Victoria, B.C., March 1.—Lightkeeper Raykin of Carmanah Point reports the finding by the coast guard of a man-o'-war's boat washed ashore about two and a half miles west of the lighthouse.

Raykin also reports the finding by Indians of the sails and stern of another naval boat.

Making Penalty Heavier.

Albany, N.Y., March 1.—A penalty of $100,000 instead of $5,000 as at present imposed upon a corporation for entering into an illegal combination for controlling products or regulating prices, in a bill introduced last night by Assemblyman Foley.

Record Customs' Revenue.

Ottawa, March 1.—Customs revenues for the first eleven months of the fiscal year, which closed yesterday, totalled $54,081,937. These figures are half a million dollars in excess of a like period in 1907, the banner year to date.

Had a Bad Cough For a Number of Years.

Was Afraid of Consumption.

Mrs. A. E. Brown, Ottawa, Ont., writes "I have had a very bad cough every winter for a number of years which I was afraid would turn into consumption. I tried a great many remedies but only received temporary relief until I got a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after taking two bottles my cough was cured. I am never without a bottle of Norway Pine Syrup."

Too much stress cannot be laid on the fact that when a person catches cold it must be attended to immediately or serious results may follow.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the medicine you need. It strikes at the foundation of all throat and lung complaints, relieving or curing all Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Asthma, Sore Throat, etc., and preventing Pneumonia and Consumption.

So great has been the success of this wonderful remedy it is only natural that numerous persons have tried to imitate it. Don't be imposed upon but insist on getting "Dr. Wood's."

80 FOOT WAVE HIT PILOT HOUSE OF MAURETANIA

Mountain of Water Swept Over Ocean Liner's Decks, Breaking Plate Glass Windows—The Atlantic Was Turbulent For Three Days.

OLD PILOT SEASICK

New York, Feb. 28.—A full day late, because of a terrific gale against which she fought two-thirds of the way across the Atlantic, the giant Cunarder Mauretania reached port on Saturday. She arrived at Ambrose Channel Lightship at 8:24 o'clock last night, having taken five days, nine hours and fifty-nine minutes in the passage from Daunt's Rock, Queenstown harbor, over the long course. Her record over the short course is four days, ten hours and fifty-one minutes.

The Mauretania put into Queenstown Harbor for the mails last Sunday morning in a howling gale. The gale increased in violence and at 10 o'clock, the usual time of departure, the wind was so high that Capt. Turner decided to remain inside.

Started Out in a Gale.

He waited until 3:25 o'clock in the afternoon and then, the gale holding strong, put out into the Atlantic.

The sea was too rough to admit putting off the pilot, Thomas Martin, who has been guiding ships in and out of Queenstown harbor for a third of a century. He was given a free ride to New York, and a miserable ride it proved to be. Pilot Martin became seasick as soon as the Mauretania got out into the big waves, and was decidedly seasick throughout the passage.

Capt. Turner says he never experienced a fiercer wind than that which struck the Mauretania with full force when she got away from the Irish coast and headed westward. At times during Sunday night the speed was reduced to six knots, although the engines were run at full speed.

Wave Eighty Feet High.

Last Sunday afternoon a wave boarded the Mauretania forward and swept the decks the length of the ship. It was high enough for the cap of it to break six thick plateglass windows in the pilot house, eighty feet above the water line. The flagpole astern was carried away by this wave.

In the first day's run of twenty and one-half hours the Mauretania covered only 300 miles. The next day she made 608 miles. In the twenty-four hours ending Wednesday noon she got over 524 miles and during the day ending at noon Thursday she covered 529 miles. The gale did not abate until Thursday afternoon.

Martin, the seasick Queenstown pilot, has been carried across the Atlantic unwillingly from his home port because of gales and storms five different times. He was last in New York about fifteen years ago when he was a passenger on protest on the old Aurania.

MR. JACKSON REMINISCENT

Build me straight, O gentle Master!
Staunch and strong, a goodly vessel,
That shall laugh at all disaster,
And with wave and whirlwind wrestle!

When Longfellow penned these lines he did not have reference to The Sir Francis Bond Head, or the Queen, two pioneer crafts that churned the waters of the Otonabee and Rice Lake, many years ago.

"Bob" Jackson claims to know the pedigree of every steamboat that ever sailed on these waters. If he does not know of them personally, he knows of them from that which was told to him by his father, and that which may have been told to his father, by some authoritative person. If "Bob" Jackson's story is true, neither of these two crafts were built in a manner that they could laugh at all disaster. The Sir Francis Bond Head was undoubtedly called after the pig-headed individual who was Governor of Upper Canada, during the troublesome times covering the period between 1836 and 1838. It is hard to say whether or not Wm. Lyon Mac Kenzie knew of this craft, but if he did, the chances are that he would have wished that the same fate as befel the steamboat, had befallen the Governor himself. As a matter of fact the vessel that bore the aristocratic name of Sir Francis Bond Head had its back broken.

The Sir Francis Bond Head was a very peculiarly constructed vessel. She consisted of two scows of equal size, with her driving wheel in the centre. She was of great width and she found it difficult to ply upon the Otonabee River. One day she could not get by Yankee Bonnet, a stretch of the river that has given local mariners more or less trouble, even to this date. She was moored to the shore at the entrance to a creek, a short distance below. Perhaps her captain was waiting for a day or two in hope that the water in the river would rise, or perhaps her cargo was taken on up to Peterborough by waggon, and she was waiting for a return cargo. At any rate, according to Mr. Jackson, a huge tree fell across her and broke her back. She was rendered useless, so she was dismantled of her machinery whilst the hull of the Sir Francis Bond Head was left to rot on the shores of the Otonabee. "And some of her bones can be found there yet," declared Bob Jackson, with a sad expression on his face, and a touch of pathos in his voice.

The Queen was a splendidly built craft. At least she had a splendid hull. She was built and plied on these waters a good many years after the disappearance of the Sir Francis Bond Head. Con. Delaney, the well-known ship carpenter of those days, built her, said Mr. Jackson, in a manner as if to express surprise at anyone, even of the present generation, not knowing Con. Delaney. The Queen must have been a craft with little patience. She could not wait for the completion of the Trent Canal, projected, as it was, in those days, but attempted to make the trip to Trenton on the waterway, as God had made it. However, she met with disaster, and her bones, too, it is claimed, are on the rocks below Healey's Falls.

The Queen, being a large craft and substantially built, had been bought by some Lake Ontario people, to be transformed itno a schooner, and used on the larger lakes. She was stripped of her cabin and upper works at Peterborough, and an attempt was made to float her hull to Trenton on Lake Ontario. She was gotten over Healey's Falls, but went on the rocks below that point and was subsequently pounded to pieces.

SCARCITY OF FARM AND DOMESTIC HELP IS ONCE MORE EXPERIENCED

The demand for labour in the farm districts is again being felt, and on Saturday about twenty-five farmers applied at the local immigration office for help. The condition is stated to be such that if the farmers do not obtain assistance the result will revert back upon the total amount of produce raised. If they have not sufficient help to attend to all the duties connected with the working of their entire farm they will of necessity be unable to get the most from their farm and stock. Similarly there is a marked dearth of domestic help and the farmers' wives are suffering to the same extent as the housekeepers in the city.

The situation is thoroughly appreciated by those who have felt the inconvenience that arises from a scarcity of help. The farmer's field lies idle and has to wait until he can get at the work, whereas with an extra man or two he could go to work at once. There is the loss in that particular case, and it is but one instance of the loss occasioned by insufficient help on the farm. If it is domestic help that is scarce the effect first shows itself by a necessary curtailment of the farm work either in the dairy department or some other equally important. Twenty-five requests on Saturday is a rather heavy beginning, and it is expected that the demand will continue as it has already shown itself until well into the summer. Mr. Howson has received word that towards the end of March a man and his three daughters are coming to Peterboro from Scotland. In the letter it was stated that they had an offer of work in one of the local manufacturing houses, but if the girls cannot get work there they are prepared to go into domestic service. Good homes will be secured, and it is likely that they will take this work.

LATEST NEWS FROM HASTINGS.

Examiner Special.

Hastings, Feb. 26.—The many friends and acquaintances of Mr. J. Blacklock, of Toronto, formerly of Hastings, will regret to learn of his death, which took place in that city after a short illness. Deceased was in his 77th year, and was at one time engaged in the woollen manufacturing business in this town. He leaves one daughter to mourn his loss, his wife having predeceased him some time ago.

A meeting of the patrons of the Ormonde cheese factory was held last week, when the offer of Mr. Youren, to build and operate a factory here, was accepted. Building operations will be begun at once and the factory is expected to be completed by May 1st. Mr. J. Coughlan was re-elected as president, Mr. W. Pickens, Secretary, and Mr. J. J. Englan, Treas

The congregation of the Methodist Church held an At Home in the basement of the church on Tuesday evening of last week, which took the form of a farewell to Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Clarry, who are about to leave Hastings, to try their fortune in the west. During the evening a nicely worded address was read by Mrs. A. Parsons, after which the presentation was made to Mr. Clarry of a gold-headed cane; to Mrs. Clarry, a beautiful set of cut glass, and to little Miss Helen, a gold bracelet. Mr. Clarry made a suitable reply, in which he expressed their appreciation of the good will of the congregation. Refreshments were served by the ladies and a most enjoyable evening spent together. Mr. and Mrs. Clarry will be much missed from the church, more particularly from the choir, in which they were both deeply interested.

The teachers and officers of the Presbyterian S. S. gave their children a treat last week in the form of a sleigh ride, after which a luncheon was served in the basement, followed by a programme by the School, and the presentation of the several diplomas to the scholars, who were entitled to them. Every one was well pleased with the success of the scheme.

Two of the local curling rinks, skipped by Clarry and Wilcox, went to Peterborough one evening last week, returning home with honours.

Two rinks also went to Campbellford and enjoyed a good game there.

The return game of hockey between Warkworth and Hastings was played here on Tuesday night and was watched very closely by a large crowd of visitors. The game resulted in favour of the locals.

A number of this vicinity attended the funeral of the late Miss Macpherson in Norwood on Tuesday last. Much sympathy is expressed for the surviving sister, who is almost heartbroken with grief.

On Wednesday last, as Mr. C. McConnell and Mr. Morgan were turning from the gravel dump to the bridge, the sleigh slewed and struck a telegraph post, throwing both men out. Moragn was badly cut over the eye and McConnell was quite dazed for some time ,escaping, however, with a severe shaking up.

Mr. Bert Prest has secured a position in Peterborough and left last week for that city.

Miss Zetta Bottum, of Bobcaygeon, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. J. H. McClelland.

Mr. Cutcliffe, of the Union Bank staff, has been transferred to Quebec.

Miss Williams and Miss Cuffe, of Norwood, were in town on Thursday.

NO KIDNEY TROUBLE OR BLADDER MISERY

Just a Few Doses Will Overcome Any Kidney Disorder and End Backache.

The most effective and harmless way to cure backache and regulate out-of-order kidneys, or end bladder trouble, is to take several doses of Pape's Diuretic.

You will distinctly feel that your kidneys and urinary organs are being cleaned, healed and vitalized, and all the miserable symptoms, such as backache, headache, nervousness, rheumatism and darting pains, inflamed or swollen eyelids, irritability, sleeplessness, or suppressed, painful or frequent urination (especially at night) and other distress, leaving after taking the first few doses.

The moment you suspect any kidney or urinary disorder, or rheumatism, begin taking this harmless preparation as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker, or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Don't be miserable or worried another moment with a lame back or clogged inactive kidneys or bladder misery. All this goes after you start taking Pape's Diuretic, and in a few days you feel and know that your kidneys, liver and urinary system are healthy, clean and normal, and all danger passed.

HEAT ON THE NERVES

When one stands before a hot fire the face becomes red, as we all know. The result is the effect of the action of radiated heat on the nerves controlling the small blood vessels of the skin. These tiny vessels are normally in a state of moderate contraction Under exposure to heat they relax and become distended with blood. The same process, under the mysterious connection of the vasomotor nerve system with mental impressions, produces ordinary blushing.

In regard to exposure to direct heat the reddening of the skin, together with the uncomfortably warm feeling accompanying it, may be looked upon as one of the useful little "danger signals" with which we are surrounded. Persons who from any cause have lost their susceptibility, as is the case in some forms of paralysis may expose a limb to heat until serious injury results.

The reason that the face chiefly flushes is that in the ordinary position near a fire it is most directly exposed to the rays of heat, while most of the body is shielded by clothing; that the nerves of the face are particularly sensitive in this respect and that the skin there is more abundantly furnished with blood vessels. —London Standard.

CHEERFULNESS

Cheerfulness will attract more customers, sell more goods, do more business with less wear and tear than almost any other quality, says Orison Swett Marden in Success Magazine. Optimism is the greatest business getter, biggest trader, the greatest achiever in the world. Pessimism has never done anything but tear down and destroy what optimism has built up.

In the business office, as in society everywhere, the favourite is always the cheerful person. Good natured, cheerful people do not waste their vital energy as rapidly as the grumbler or the too sober, too sad people. They work with much less friction.

Good cheer is a great lubricant. It oils all of life's machinery. There is no other life habit which can give such a prolific return in happiness and satisfaction as that of being cheerful under all circumstances. If the resolution to cultivate cheerfulness is strongly made at the very outset it will not be difficult to form the cheerful habit, and it will be the best protection against suffering and disappointment.

Cheerfulness is also a great producer. It adds wonderfully to one's active ability and increases mental and physical power. It makes hosts of friends and help us to be interesting and agreeable.

A MOST REMARKABLE CASE
My face was paralyzed, I could not speak; five doctors failed to help me and I was in despair when hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I used this wonderful restorative treatment and became well and strong in every way. I would not go back to my former condition for all the gold in the country," writes Mr. Wm. J. Brennan, Western Hill, St. Catharines, Ont.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

THE GAY MUSICIAN.

The interesting and tuneful comic opera, "The Gay Musician," was heard at the Grand last night for the second time this season and was given a most appreciative reception. The music of the piece is of such superior quality that it is rendered more pleasurable rather than monotonous by reason of its repetition.

To a large extent the same cast appeared in "The Gay Musician" last night that was the offering when it was here before, although the appearance of Miss Texas Guinan in the role of Maude Granville, the prima donna of the Novelty Theatre, made the presentation of the opera decidedly more entertaining. Roger Gray, as Samuel Lyons, the manager of the Novelty Theatre, was with the company again and made just as pronounced a hit as ever in his singing of "A Bad, Bad Man." A new number, "Such a Good Disposition," has been interpolated and was given with excellent effect by Mr. Gray and the chorus, the two songs winning the most generous applause of the evening.

The staging of the piece is elaborate and in good taste, and the chorus was handsomely gowned for the different numbers and ensembles.

SPRING WASH GOODS

Charming in Design, Exquisite in Colouring and Economical in Price

It is wonderful how pretty and effective manufacturers have made these simple Wash Materials. The famous dressmakers of Paris were the first to discover what charming frocks they could be fashioned into, and since that time—several seasons ago—they have been getting prettier and prettier every year.

In this selection are included plain Coloured Fabrics in the loveliest of new shades, dainty patterns, "chic" stripes and beautiful soft toned Plaids,

And There is More Than Mere Beauty to Recommend Them—There is Excellent Quality and Modest Price

There are plenty of other nice things we could tell you about them—but instead we will just invite you to come and take a look.

EVERYBODY THAT SEES THEM IS GOING TO WANT THEM. BETTER COME SOON

CANADIAN FORESTERS ADVANCING WITH THE PROGRESS OF CANADA

Thirty-first Annual Banquet of the Local Order in Their Hall, Simcoe Street, Last Evening—Address by High Chief Ranger Stewart of Renfrew.

100 IN ATTENDANCE

The thirty-first annual banquet of the Canadian Order of Foresters was held in their hall last evening, and passed off very successfully. About one hundred members of the order sat down to a sumptuous repast, served by mine host Hooper, and it is needless to say that the menu was all that could be desired. The occasion was honoured by the presence of High Chief Ranger Stewart of Renfrew and His Worship Mayor Morrow. After everyone had partaken of the good things provided, Mr. Wm. Kemp, Chief Ranger, who acted as chairman, called the gathering to order, and expressed in a few well-chosen remarks a welcome to the members present, and to the honoured guests of the evening. He called on Mayor Morrow to speak.

Mayor Morrow, on rising to speak, was greeted with applause. He expressed his pleasure at being present and extended a hearty welcome to Peterborough to High Chief Ranger Stewart, of Renfrew. Not being a Forester, he said he could not speak on the aims and objects of the society. In graceful terms he acknowledged the honour bestowed upon him in inviting him to be present.

Mr. Stewart.

Mr. Stewart of Renfrew, High Chief Ranger of the order, was the speaker of the evening and he was given an ovation on rising to speak. Mr. Stewart is not only a capable executive of whom Canadian Foresters may well feel proud, but he is also an orator of no mean order of merit. His utterances last night stamped him as a born leader of men, and a Canadian first, last and always. His eloquent address teemed with instruction and valuable information on Forestry and national sentiments that elicited round after round of enthusiastic applause. He said that since he had the privilege of speaking in Peterborough eight or nine years ago Canadian Forestry had made such substantial progress as to encourage every individual member and engender the utmost confidence in the order's future. It was in this city in 1885 that Canadian Forestry was placed on a sound basis, and its present rate and scheme of assessment adopted. Canadian Forestry was today without doubt in the forefront of all the fraternal associations doing business in Canada. This order was instituted almost at the beginning of the scheme for fraternal insurance. Fraternal insurance was instituted because of the exorbitant rates charged for life insurance by the straight life companies. The object was to give life insurance at what it cost to carry it. The speaker here contended that this order's rates were not too low for a safe conduct of business and felt pardonable pride in the fact that there was not an insurance company or a fraternal society in Canada that could point to so low a death rate as that experienced by Canadian Forestry during the thirty-one years of its existence.

In evidence of the substantial progress made by the Canadian Order of Foresters, Mr. Stewart gave figures showing that in 1909 there were paid out $463,979.66 on 459 death claims as against $396,000 on 391 claims in 1908. There were added to this fund in 1909 $273,367.75, which left the death claims fund at over the three-million mark. In 1909 this order paid out in sick and funeral benefits $144,321—$10,000 in excess of 1908. Last year there were added to this fund $27,967, making a total of $170,773 on hand, December 31st, for sick and funeral benefits. The total membership in 1909 was 73,985, a net increase for one year of 3,228 members. In conclusion the speaker was very optimistic as to the future of Canadian Forestry, which he characterized as being inseparably bound up with the future and phenomenal development of Canada, which is universally admitted to be assured.

Musical Programme.

Piano solo—Mr. Foster.
Vocal solo—Mr. Pratt.
Mouth organ and banjo selections—Mr. Birch.
Vocal solo—Mr. John King.
Vocal duet—Messrs. Firth and King.
Vocal solo—Mr. King.

QUEBEC IN FAVOUR OF THE CANADIAN NAVY PLAN

Montreal, Feb. 26.—La Presse asked four questions of its readers on the naval question by printing a ballot by means of which a plebiscite could be taken. It has so far resulted in a decided affirmative to the question, "Are you in favour of the creation of a Canadian navy, which shall participate in European wars?"

The votes for this proposal were 2473 the first week and 842 the second, making a total of 3315 and a majority of 433. The second question, "Are you in favour of a direct contribution to the imperial navy, either in ships or money?" got only 56 votes altogether. The third, "Are you in favour of 'statu quo,' or a continuance of the present situation?" got 2882 votes; and the final question, "Do you think that if the other provinces, which are hotly partisan on this question, pronounce themselves either for a Canadian navy or for direct contribution, the Province of Quebec should remain alone in its refusal to aid Great Britain in the hour of danger?" was voted for only 152 times out of the total number of 6405 votes received.

It would thus appear that, while the Canadian navy is the most popular choice, the "statu quo" feeling is fairly strong. The least favoured proposition is that a direct contribution to the empire be made, while but few French-Canadians are in favour of standing pat, no matter what the other provinces do.

Domestic Trouble in Havelock Household Aired in County Police Court Yesterday — Husband Simply Would Not Return To His Wife.

GAVE HER AN OPPORTUNITY

By Staff Correspondent.

A complicated case of domestic infelicity was heard in Havelock yesterday by County Magistrate Edmison. Mrs. Mary Joyner had her husband, William Joyner, charged with assault and in response to the charge he stated that it was all his wife's fault and that he had done everything to make their home life as harmonious as possible. Mrs. Joyner's version of the matter was directly opposed to this and in their evidence generally they contradicted the testimony of each other.

The assault was alleged to have been committed on the first day of January, and the complainant charged her husband with striking her in the face as she was getting the that evening while carrying her six-months-old infant in her arms. She stated in her evidence yesterday that she had a headache for three days as a result of the blow she received, but her husband denied that he did anything more than to shove her away from him after she had slapped his face. The latter, who has been married twice, has four children by his first wife and the little incident referred to by his second. The first wife's chief cry seems to have been the cause of some trouble between man and wife. Hazel, the respectable son of the defendant, testified that the particulars of the altercation were such as has father told them to and that the wife has been the aggressor.

Mr. E. L. Goodwill of Peterboro was counsel for Mrs. Joyner and Mr. C. A. Ghent of Havelock appeared for Mr. Joyner.

Mrs. Joyner, who was the first witness, told a story of almost neglect and persecution by her husband and said he was perpetually quarrelling with her. She said, however, that she was willing to forgive him everything and go back and live with him. Her husband, who gave evidence next, said he had come to the conclusion that it was absolutely impossible for the two to get along together. To Mr. Goodwill he admitted that he had accused his wife of insanity, but insisted that her actions warranted the accusation. He also stated that he had refused her admittance to his house unless she would sign papers to the effect that she had libelled him by telling lies about him. This was after she had temporarily left him as the result of their inharmonious relations. In spite of his wife's willingness to go back with him, he stated he would not think of it and said he had given her every opportunity but that it was impossible for them to live amicably.

The magistrate did not give any decision in the assault case and desired to effect a reconciliation between the two. Finding this impossible on account of the husband's attitude, he ruled that the husband pay the wife $18 a month toward the support of herself and the infant and after the expiration of the six months the sum of $15 as long as the wife lived. The husband, who is in the employ of the C. P. R., makes on the average $60 a month.

"DAVID HOLCOMB"

William Lawrence, who will be remembered everywhere for his clever work as Uncle Josh in "The Old Homestead" for the past five years, will come to the Grand on Saturday next with his latest vehicle, "David Holcomb," another rural play which has created a furore everywhere that it has been seen this season. Mr. Lawrence has surrounded himself with a competent cast, including Miss Eileen O'Malley, last season with Thomas Jefferson, Frederick Warrington last season with "Paid in Full." Miss Rene D'Arch, formerly with "Quincy Adams Sawyer," and Miss Lilly Carthew, who was a member of the famous Sarah Bernhardt Company, and many others who go to make up a cast seldom equalled in a rural play. The play has many new features, taking the farmer along a new line, free from any burlesque tactics, a sound thinking, hard working and God fearing man who has great faith in all mankind, and his own immediate circle in particular. It also discloses his views on temperance, and when a rally sweeps the little country village he is foremost among the workers. All through the play there are splendid flashes of dry Yankee humor which tend to relieve every tense situation, and the tears and laughter are always near together. Every character in the production possesses that vitality that is necessary to the success of a rural play and each is a type that will immediately be recognized by those who have spent any time in a rural community. Some splendid musical numbers are introduced into the play, the Harvest Quartette and the Village Choir with organ accompaniment, a special Mason and Hamlin organ being carried for that purpose.

COLD ON THE LUNGS

This letter gives some idea of the confidence placed in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine by people who know by experience of its exceptional merit. Mrs. E. D. Turner, Broadview, N.W.T., writes:—"We have seven children and have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for them all when troubled with colds on the lungs. We buy four bottles at a time and always keep it in the house, believing there is nothing so good for coughs and colds."

Should Give Liquor Dealers Some Information Regarding 'Indian List' Men

"I think the Ontario Government should take steps to give hotelmen and liquor dealers more information as to the description of men on the 'Indian list'" said Magistrate Dumble at the police court this morning, in dealing with a charge against a liquor store keeper for supplying whiskey to a blacklisted person. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared on behalf of the accused. After hearing the evidence, His Worship reserved judgment.

The defendant admitted he sold three flasks of whiskey to the blacklisted person. He had been served with the papers in February last. He did not know the man and was unable to find any description of him. Upon receiving this statement Magistrate Dumble said he believed a description should be supplied liquor men. The magistrate thought, however, that the defendant should have questioned the young man, especially when he called the second time.

The Philomathean Society Had Enjoyable Session

The regular meeting of the Philomathean Society of the Collegiate Institute was held in the Assembly Hall of the Institute last night.

After the minutes were read by Miss Maisie Armstrong, some of the general business in connection with the society, was transacted, which was followed by a very interesting programme the items ranging as follows:

Piano solo—Miss Daisy Conroy.
Recitation—Miss Verna Merrell.
Violin solo—Mr. Vincent McCabe.
Oratorical contest—The first four forms were the contestants. Representatives—IA, Miss Letty Shearer; 1B, Miss Maud Rountree; 1C, Miss Kathleen O'Brien; 1D, Mr. Lester Pearson.

The judges of the contest were Mr. Hodgson, Mr. Stubbs, and Mr. Merritt.

The judges found it somewhat hard to come to a decision, as each representative dealt with his or her subject in a very capable manner. They finally decided, however, to give Mr. Lester Pearson the first prize, and Miss Kathleen O'Brien second.

This very interesting number was followed by a recitation by Miss Edwards. This recitation was exceedingly well given and greatly applauded.

The next number was an instrumental duet by Miss Grace Naylor and Miss Hazel Gillespie.

The programme was criticized by Mr. Ferguson. This was Mr. Ferguson's first opportunity of addressing the students along this line, and he mastered the situation in a very capable manner.

After the criticism the meeting was brought to a close in the usual way, by singing the National Anthem.

NEW SERIAL

The Examiner Will Shortly Publish "The Port of Missing Men."

The Examiner is pleased to be able to announce to its readers that in a short time a new and one of the most interesting serials that has ever been presented in such a form in a Peterborough newspaper will commence in these columns. The new story is "The Port of Missing Men" by Meredith Nicholson, author of "The House of A Thousand Candles," and other fascinating romances of the same calibre. "The Port of Missing Men" is a thrilling mystery story full of adventure and unusual climaxes, and it is safe to say that after reading the opening instalment one would not be satisfied until the whole story is unravelled. The story will run daily in the Examiner with a generous supplement every day and the Examiner readers are advised not to miss a single issue containing the serial.

Mr. Asquith Makes Speech

The Government Has Not Weakened In Its Intention to Curb the Power of the House of Lords, But Money Matters Must Be Dealt With First, He Says In Statement In the House of Commons.

London, March 1.—Financial business first and then the question of the House of Lords second, was the program laid down by Premier Asquith in a statement made in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, in moving that Government business have precedence at every sitting up to March 24. The resolution was adopted without a division.

When Parliament re-assembled after the Easter recess, the Premier said, the Government would present resolutions affirming the necessity of excluding the House of Lords altogether from the domain of finance and restricting its power of veto to other legislation.

To secure this the Government, he added, would use all methods that seemed proper and adequate within the limits of the constitution, and upon its successful accomplishment the Cabinet and Liberal party would stake not only the fortunes of the Ministry, but their very existence as a party.

The exigencies of the financial situation were such, the Premier declared, that the vote on the army and navy bills, covering the borrowings and other urgent demands, must occupy the whole time of the House up to March 24, when adjournment would be taken to March 29.

Immediately Parliament was re-assembled, he said, the Government would introduce resolutions excluding the House of Lords altogether from the domain of finance, and declaring that in other legislation the Lords' power of veto would remain as at present.

"The Liberals propose to take every constitutional step," he said, "to accomplish the outlined reforms in the House of Lords. None need fear that we have weakened in the least, but there are other matters that properly should come first, for unnecessary delay will greatly hamper the Government."

The Premier's declaration met with hearty applause from the less radical members of the party.

Sir Henry Dalziel, one of the most radical Liberals, offered a resolution providing for the complete abolition of the veto power of the Lords, setting forth that the reform proposed was not drastic enough, even being favored by many of the Lords. His resolution was declared out of order.

Three Die In Railway Wreck.

Truro, N.S., March 1.—At 1.40 yesterday morning a special I.C.R. westbound freight left the rails at Hill's Siding and plunged over an 85-foot embankment carrying Driver Dan McLeod, Fireman John McIsaac, and Brakeman J. O. Davidson, all of Truro, to their death.

It is rumored that the wreck was caused by lumber being driven on the track by the heavy rains and thaw of Sunday. The Boston express had passed safely over the spot only a few hours before.

Davidson was the rear-end brakeman on the freight, but had just gone forward to allow the forward brakeman to go back to the van for his lunch. Four cars left the track, and it is said that the engine turned over three times before reaching the bottom of the gully.

Telegraph Letter Service.

Montreal, March 1.—James Kent and L. R. Humes of the C.P.R. and G.N.W. Telegraph Companies said yesterday that in view of the telegraph letter service proposed in the United States, the companies were discussing it here, and if the service proved satisfactory there it would be introduced here. The scheme would be to send fifty words for a quarter at night and have it mailed at the other end, so as to be delivered by the early mail in the morning.

"I had an ulcerated leg for several years. The ulcers spread all round the limb, which was swollen to nearly twice its normal size. Several doctors treated me. One suggested amputation. None did me any good. Zam-Buk healed the sores!" So says Mrs. Gilmour, of Princess St., Kingston. Or, read this:—

"My mother tried many things for abscesses and eruptions, but in vain. In Zam-Buk she found a complete cure." So says Miss A. Coggill, of Wapella (Sask.).

Sufferers from these "Hidden Skin Troubles" of ours should profit by such experiences as this. Zam-Buk is seen at its best when applied to cases which have defied ordinary treatment. Write for trial box, and test it at our expense

ZAM-BUK
THE GREAT SKIN-CURE.

ZAM-BUK AND A MIRACLE OF HEALING

Over and over again Zam-Buk has performed a miracle of healing when applied to sores and skin injuries which have refused to heal under any other form of treatment. Why not let it heal your trouble? Immediately Zam-Buk is applied to a sore or wound or diseased portion of flesh it commences its work in two directions. It anoints the exterior, and its antiseptic properties prevent any germs and bacilli from creating trouble. Then the herbal essences and juices so finely purified and concentrated, penetrate the subjacent layers and stimulate the weakened or diseased cells to active, healthy operation. These cells then put forth their "Building" products and replace the diseased outer layer with fresh and healthy tissue. By degrees the whole diseased surface is thus replaced by new healthy skin.

In this way Zam-Buk cures cuts, burns, bruises, ulcers, abscesses, itch, eczema, eruptions, pustules, scurvy, salt rheum, blood poison, and other forms of skin trouble. Zam-Buk also cures piles, varicose ulcers, etc. All druggists and stores sell at 50c per box, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. 6 boxes $2.50.

May Close Down Early

Revision of Bank Act May Wait Until Next Session, According to Hint Given by Hon. Mr. Fielding—Mr. Magrath of Medicine Hat Expresses Views Candidly an Naval Question—Verville, Too.

Ottawa, March 1.—The possibility of a revision of the Bank Act being deferred until the beginning of the next session, was indicated by Hon. Mr. Fielding in the House of Commons yesterday. The Minister of Finance stated that he was desirous of introducing a bill to effect the revision before the close of the present session, but that in view of the expressed wish of members on both sides for an early prorogation, and of the fact that the bank charters did not expire until July 1, 1911, it might be found advisable to postpone the introduction of the legislation until the commencement of next session. Another day of naval debate elicited several contributions that in their departure from the stereotyped lines helped to relieve the tedium of a discussion of which everybody is tired. Mr. Magrath of Medicine Hat, with a candor not shared by the majority of his party, declared his opposition to the Canadian navy project in unqualified terms.

Mr. Magrath said he was an Imperialist because it was "best for us and best for civilization." In the upbuilding of a young country like Canada the spirit of Imperialism was necessary.

The British people were adding to their methods of raising money, and there must be an emergency or the people would not be taxed as they are. As to the Canadian navy, he said: "Canada has as much need for a navy as a resident of Hades for a buffalo overcoat."

It was a matter of common decency that the colonies go to the aid of the British people. It was a duty we owed civilization.

The sending of Dreadnoughts made the British navy a central navy for the Empire. The taxpayer of Canada was not concerned with the owning of a few fighting ships. He wanted the greatest fighting force for the least money.

British land wars in recent times had been simply colonization wars, and the national life had never been threatened. But when Britain was engaged in a naval war, her life would be hanging by a very slight thread.

Germany had the best army in Europe, and should not be allowed to have the best navy also.

He concluded by saying the present Government was showing too little desire to go down and out for a principle and too little effort to create a strong intelligent opinion.

Mr. Best (Dufferin) delivered his maiden speech. He declared that he was glad to belong to a party that was not afraid to speak its mind. If necessity should ever arise, he believed the farmers of Canada would rise to the support of Great Britain. He favored the contribution of twenty millions or two Dreadnoughts to the mother country.

Other speakers were: G. B. Devlin, L. J. Demers, D. D. Mackenzie, and Dr. Daniels. E. N. Lewis (West Huron) moved the adjournment.

Alphonso Verville, the Liberal-Labor representative from Maisonneuve, in a short speech in French declared his intention of supporting Mr. Monk's amendment calling for a plebiscite. As an opponent of militaryism of every description, he could take no other course.

As between the Government and Opposition policies, as a representative of organized labor he supported that of the Government because it would mean the employment of Canadian labor.

It is not the intention of the Government to renew the iron and steel bounties which finally expire at the end of the coming fiscal year. The bounties have now been in force fourteen years, and the Government believes that the iron and steel industries are now established on sufficiently firm basis to do without the crutch of an annual subsidy from the Federal treasury. The dividends paid and the increasing output of the large industries that have been built up since 1896 are an evidence of this. The total amount paid in bounties last year was: On pig iron, $903,423; on steel, $638,109, and on manufactured steel, $333,091. Since 1896 the total bounties on iron and steel have amounted to over fourteen million dollars.

Why, Indeed?

Why is it that in ancient lore
(We know they must have had 'em)
We hear so much of Christmas eve
And—but—of Christmas Adam?

Gold Watch For Reynolds.

Montreal, March 1.—Conductor Reynolds, who saved 16 lives at Spanish River wreck on the C.P.R., was called to Montreal yesterday and presented by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy with a gold watch and a handsome check.

The president said that a conductor's duty in a wreck was to do all he could in succor, but that Reynolds' bravery had been so conspicuous that it deserved special mention.

Abbe of Argeles Fined.

Bayonne, France, March 1.—The court yesterday condemned the Abbe of Argeles to pay a fine of $40 and costs of the action brought against him because he had forbidden Catholic children to use the interdicted text books under pain of a refusal of the sacrament to their parents, and of the first communion to the children.

CURE MEN AND WOMEN ALIKE

What Dodd's Kidney Pills Did For One Family.

Cured Chas. Bell of Rheumatism and His Wife of Inflammation of the Kidneys—Mrs. Bell's Statement.

North Range, Digby Co., N.S., Feb. 28.—(Special)—That Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the Kidney ills of men and women alike is shown in the cases of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bell of this place. A short time ago Dodd's Kidney Pills cured Mr. Bell of Rheumatism from which he had suffered for ten years. This led Mrs. Bell to try them for Inflammation of the Kidneys and she makes the following statement:

"I was troubled with inflammation of the Kidneys for twenty-four years. Some few years ago I got worse and was laid up for a long time. When I was able to be up again the doctor told me I must on no account do any work. I suffered from Dropsy and my feet would swell so I could not wear my shoes.

"My husband benefited so much from taking Dodd's Kidney Pills I decided to give them a trial, and though I have taken only three boxes I am well and can wear my shoes and do nearly all my own housework. I cannot say too much for Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Dodd's Kidney Pills make weak Kidneys strong and sick Kidneys well.

U. S. Tariff Conference.

Washington, D.C., March 1.—The Secretary of State has designated Henry C. Emery, chairman of the Government tariff board, and C. M. Pepper of the bureau of trade relations to the State Department, as a commission to determine whether or not the Dominion of Canada, under its treaties and laws, is entitled to the minimum tariff rates of the United States. Emery and Pepper will proceed to Ottawa this week to confer with the Canadian officials.

The State Department has no doubt that all questions involved will be settled before March 31, when the maximum rates go into operation.

Supplementary Estimates Presented In the Local Legislature Sets Aside Big Sum to Construct Colonization Roads In the North Country—The Total Extra Expenses Amount to $804,584.14.

Toronto, March 1.—Over half of the additional supplementary estimates for the year ending Oct. 31, 1910, amounting to $804,584.14, which were presented by Hon. Col. Matheson in the Legislature yesterday afternoon, were for colonization roads, for which no provision was made in the main supplementary estimates. The total expenditure under this head is $464,356.99. The largest item is an appropriation of $60,000 for new trunk roads. In addition to this sum, $30,000 is asked for the Sudbury-Soo trunk road, $35,000 for the Elk Lake to Gowganda road, $30,000 for the Charlton to Elk Lake road, and $5,000 for drainage on Rainy River roads. Inspection and incidental expenses in connection with trunk roads is set at $15,000. The purchase of road-making machinery will cost the province $3,000. Individual expenditures in the Temiskaming district are South Lorrain roads $5,000, Mountain Chute to Elk Lake road $3,000, Charlton and Englehurt road $1,000, Larder Lake road $1,000.

Included in the estimates for the Public Works Department are $20,000 for the Dog Lake dam near Fort William, and $1,315 for improving the Lake Shore road adjoining the Mimico Asylum.

The sum of $125,000 is set aside for the purchase of new grounds for Government House and for plans and buildings.

For fire protection to the Parliament buildings, enlarging water mains, hydrants, etc., $4,000 is appropriated. Other public buildings throughout the province are to have fire protection provided or improved.

Electric plants for the London Insane Asylum will cost $25,000, for the Hamilton Asylum $12,000, and for the Ontario Agricultural College $15,000.

An appropriation of $50,000 is made for addition to the centre building of Osgoode Hall.

For the erection of a cold storage building at the Eastern Dairy School $3,000 is appropriated.

"Blind pig" pens, officially designated as lock-ups, are provided for at Cochrane and Charlton at an expenditure of $1,000 and $500 respectively. For the salary (eight months) of a police magistrate at Superior Junction on the G.T.P. $200 is set aside. New Liskeard Hospital gets a grant of $1,000; the Red Cross Hospital, Cobalt, $2,000; the Mattawa Hospital $1,000, and the Sudbury Hospital $1,000.

For advances to assist in paying the passage of domestic servants from the old country the sum of $10,000 is appropriated.

Increases of salary are scheduled in a number of the Departmental offices and public institutions. The salary of the Deputy Minister of Agriculture is increased by $350.

A vote of $4,000 was passed for a gratuity to the widow of the late Thomas Hodgins, master-in-ordinary.

For experimental treatment of ores and collections of minerals at the Parliament buildings, etc., $3,350 was appropriated.

Enforcing the Indian List.

Chatham, March 1.—The keepers of three hotels—the Idlewyld, the Courtney House and the Montreal House—were all fined in the Police Court yesterday $12.75 each for selling liquor to two Indian-listers.

George Wilder goes to jail for three weeks for drinking liquor while on the list, and George Jackson goes for a month for supplying him with the liquor.

Three Years for Thieving Mail Clerk.

Winnipeg, March 1.—Charles McTavish Campbell, mail clerk, was sentenced yesterday to three years for stealing a packet containing three thousand dollars from the Glenboro local on Sept. 29. He paid one thousand dollars on a farm near Moose Jaw and squandered the balance.

G.T.R. and G.N.R. In Alliance.

Winnipeg, March 1.—It is said that the Grand Trunk Pacific is working with the Great Northern to establish a through line from the Twin Cities of Regina, Edmonton and Prince Rupert in competition with the Soo line from St Paul to the coast. The Saskatchewan Government as a preliminary step has guaranteed the bonds of a line from Regina and Sherwood on the boundary line which will connect with the Great Northern.

CHAMPIONS PRESENTED WITH GOLD LOCKETS

Strathcona Officers Surprised Their Players Last Night by Giving Them Attractive Souvenirs of the City League Season.

AN ENJOYABLE FUNCTION

The officers of the Strathconas sprang a surprise on their players last night when, at an enjoyable little banquet, at Hooper's Palm Parlours, they presented the City League champions with handsome gold lockets, as a mark of appreciation of the good work of the team during the season. The affair was a complete surprise to the players, the executive having arranged things quietly. A dainty little supper had been provided and was done ample justice to by the gathering, which consisted of the players and officers of the club. The only regrettable feature was the unavoidable absence of Charlie Ray, the popular captain of the team. Mr. Sam Ray, president of the Club, acted as chairman and around the table were Leo. Derocher, Ira Moore, Alan Campbell, Fred Denison, Hugh Burritt, Herb. McMillan, P. A. Weatherstone, Will Pratt, Frank Heffernan, Trainer Sam Thomas, W. J. Metheral, manager, Chas. Curtis, vice-president, Bert Parnell, Treas., and Fred D. Craig, Secretary.

Eight players, Messrs. Derocher, Campbell, Moore, Denison, Ray, Burritt, Weatherstone, and McMillan, and Sam Thomas, the popular trainer of the Club, received lockets, which were solid gold, and engraved with the following inscription "S. H. C., City Champions, 1910."

In prefacing the presentation Secretary Craig stated that the officers of the Club had thought it proper that the services of the players during the season should be taken notice of in a fitting manner. Their efforts would be publicly recognized at the City League banquet, but the management felt that some recognition should be forthcoming from the executive of the Club. On behalf of the officers he thanked the players for their good work during the season. Throughout the year, management and team had worked together in perfect harmony: there had never been the least sign of a disagreement and the result had been one of the most successful and enjoyable seasons in the history of the club. He also wished to congratulate the players upon their clean tactics during the season. Championships could not be won with men on the fence, and it was a source of satisfaction to the officers of the club that the players had so conducted themselves on the ice that there could not be any criticism of their methods as their penalty list was lighter than any of the other League teams.

Mr. Curtis then made the presentation of the lockets.

All the players made brief speeches, in reply, thanking the officers of the club for their gift and for the manner in which they had been treated during the season. All expressed a desire to stay together next season and to make another campaign after the Examiner silverware.

President Ray and Manager Metheral also made speeches in which they again expressed the thanks of the Club to the players for the manner in which they had played the game during the race for the championship and stated the determination of the Strathconas to be back in the game again next winter with. they hoped, the same bunch of players.

Mr. Curtis referred to the commencement of the Strathcona Club five years ago, and paid a tribute to the men who were instrumental in the inception of the organization. The present season had been one of the most successful in the history of the club, because the players had proved themselves a good bunch of fellows, who could be counted upon always to do their best for their team. The enjoyable affair, which was entirely of an informal nature, was then brought to a close.

BIG SCRAP AT BRANTFORD BEN DUSTY IN THE FRAY

Ex-Strathcona Player Was Chopped by Lehman and Retaliated With the Result That Both Men Were Arrested.

EXCITING SCENES

Brantford, Ont., Feb. 28.—The expected happened here last night in the professional league match between Berlin and Brantford, when the Dutch compance left the ice with the score 8 to 6 against them, after the police had arrested one player from each team for scrapping on the ice. The game was one of the most farcical exhibitions of hockey imaginable, and the interference of the police was a fitting climax to the proceedings, as that action was more or less farcical in itself.

The Berlin players refused to travel past centre ice, and contented themselves merely with long lifts toward the Brantford goal keeper. This sort of play incensed the spectators, who packed the rink, and it required but little to cause an outbreak. With 15 minutes more to play, Dusty rushed in on Lehman, and, by quick work, batted the eighth goal in from Lehman's stick. In another minute he again tried the performance, Lehman this time resenting his check within the goal crease. The pair dropped sticks and commenced scrapping, in which the players of both teams jumped in. The police rushed in and arrested Dusty and Corbeau, taking both to the station, where they were bailed out.

At this stage Manager Pop Williams called quits, and his refusal to allow the remainder of his team to finish the game, means that Brantford will not appear at Berlin Wednesday night for the league fixture. The game was handled by Jack eKlly and was free from roughness. In fact, the Berlin players adopted a style of play which rendered such work impossible, and only six players were ruled off, including four Brantford and two Berlin players. The action of the Berlin management in withdrawing their team was entirely unjustified.

Two hundred Berlin supporters accompanied the team, which was without the services of Gross, who caused Sanford's severe injury in the last game. The Berlin crowd were escorted back to the depot by the local police. At a late hour, before the departure of the excursion train for Berlin, the Brantford police arrested two local men for bottle-throwing. There was a small-sized riot at the station and several police had a busy time. The teams:

Could Not Sleep.

DOCTOR SAID HEART AND NERVES WERE RESPONSIBLE.

There is many a man and woman tossing night after night upon a sleepless bed.

Their eyes do not close in the sweet and refreshing repose that comes to those whose heart and nerves are right. Some constitutional disturbance, worry or disease has so debilitated and irritated the nervous system, that it cannot be quieted and causes nightmare, bad dreams, starting in the sleep, twitching of the muscles, restlessness, etc.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a specific for all people troubled in this way. They have a soothing and calming effect on the nervous system.

Mrs. Calvin Stark, Rossmore, Ont., writes:—"About two years ago I began to be troubled with a smothering sensation at night when I would lie down. I got so bad I could not sleep in the dark, and would have to sit up and rub my limbs, they would become so numb. My doctor said my heart and nerves were responsible. I saw Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills advertised and got a box to try them. I took three boxes and can now lie down and sleep without the light burning and can rest well. I can recommend them highly to all nervous and run down women."

LONDON TOOK GAME FROM GODERICH

Stratford, Feb. 28.—London intermediates put it over Goderich in the playoff to-night by 5 goals to 2. The better team won, so, at least, the spectators figured out. The ice was heavy, and this Goderich claims was to their detriment.

There was little or no team work and individual play was the feature throughout. Much heavy checking prevailed, though the game could hardly be called rough. The teams were pretty evenly matched so far as weight went, but Goderich seemed to lack ginger at critical moments, while London were always aggressive. At half-time London had tallied two, while Goderich had not scored. In the first half D. McDonald was struck by the puck and retired from the ice. The balance of the game was played with six men a side. Goderich claims that McDonald's absence greatly weakened their line-up, but it is hardly likely his presence would have saved them the game. For London, Rodgers, Mallen and Bernhardt were decided stars, while Goderich's best men were Belcher, Wiggins and Walters. The attendance was the largest of the season. Besides the big crowd from this city, London sent about 600 and Hern refereed the match to the satisfaction of both teams. Line-up:

London and Collingwood tossed tonight to decide playing, the latter winning the toss. The first game will therefore take place at London Wednesday night, and the next at Collingwood Friday night.

VARSITY POUNDED IN NEW YORK GAME

Free Fight Resulted When One of the Visitors Resented Treatment.

New York, Feb. 28.—All during the season the Wanderers of New York have played rough hockey, but they capped the climax tonight in the match against the Toronto University seven at St. Nicholas Rink. The Canadian team won the game by the score of 6 to 2, but only after encountering some of the most flagrant violations of the rules that have ever been seen at the local rink.

The first half of the struggle was rough, but in the second half the Wanderers brought about a fight on the ice and several spectators rushed in to separate the contending sides. The fault lay primarily with the Wanderers. All through the contest S. Cleghorn had been using his stick in foul tactics, repeatedly striking at his opponents. Finally, after he had slashed at and hit Frith on the head the latter resented the blow and struck back. In a moment the Wanderers were slugging with all their might. S. Cleghorn taking the initiative, with Smeaton a close second. The players of both sides were on the spot in an instant and a serious conflict was threatened, but after about a minute of fighting the men were separated.

Frith and S. Cleghorn were then ruled off the ice for the rest of the game and Smeaton came to the side lines for a three-minute penalty for his part in the encounter. The tems:

DOUGHERTY TOOK HIS TEAM OFF

In Trolley League Game With Waterloo—Resented Referee's Decision.

Waterloo, Feb. 28.—Waterloo won a game from Galt tonight in heavy going. The game was played with six aside, Galt being without Goldie Cochrane and Waterloo dropped Power, who is on the sick list. The game was free-and-easy, the heavy ice preventing any team play. Baird played a great game for Waterloo, while Manson was a good second. For Galt Murphy and Dogherty played well, although inclined to roug hit. The half-time score was 3 to 2 in favor of Waterloo. In the second half Waterloo soon made it 4 to 2.

Shortly after, Mullen stepped into a hole in the ice and crashed headlong into the boards, suffered a serious injury and had to be carried off the ice. A few minutes afterward Galt objected to adecision of the referee, and Dogherty took his team off the ice. The penalties were very few, Galt suffering the most. The line-up:

Referee—C. Koehler of Waterloo.

INDOOR BASEBALL

The following games will be played in the Garrison Indoor Baseball League to-night:

7.30 o'clock—No. 2 Company vs. No. 6 Company; at 9 o'clock Bugle Band vs. Battery.

Two good, fast games are assured. The public are invited to attend.

HOCKEY.

An exciting game of hockey was played on a small piece of ice in the south end. The Shamrocks defeated the Steward Street Midwgets by the score of 17 to 12. The stars for the Shamrocks were O'Connell and Leplante; for Midgets, Darrah and Daily. The line-up was as follows:

Shamrocks—A. Lavasser, goal; T. King, point; K. Murray, cover; E. Donavan, forward; W. O'Connel and Leplante.

Midgets—M. Neary, goal; W. O'Brien, point; P. Poquette, cover; O. Darrah, forward; F. Daily and R. Heath.

GYMNASIUM EXHIBITION.

On Thursday evening, March 3d, 1910, at 8:15 o'clock, the P. A. C. will put on an exhibition at the Y. M. C. A gymnasium with the assistance of the gym leaders of the local asosciation. It will without a doubt be the best exhibition of gymnastic cleverness ever witnessed in the city of Peterboro.

The boys of the P. A. C. have been at the gymnasium the last week rehearsing for the big night, and they have some clever stunts.

The tickets are going rapidly at 15c and those wishing tickets can secure same at office of the local association.

George Street Methodist Church team will play the Y. M. C. A. for the championship of the City Basket Ball League on Wednesday night, and a good game is being looked forward to. It will be as close a contest as has been witnessed this season. The teams are pretty well matched.

There will be no admission fee, and the public is invited to come and shout for their favorites, in the good old-fashioned way. Line-up:

e 18d ri wttt-ww..theo sh cm sh cs
George St. M. E.—Cressman, R. F.; Miller, L. F; Downing, O.; McCarroll, R. G.; Best, L. G.

SPORTING NOTES

The lid is not on the hockey situation yet, although the present warm weather may lead one to think so. However, there isliable to be a pretty little contest for the Clarke-Graham cup emblematic of the junior championship of the city. The cup was donated last ye ar for competition in the Junion City League and was captured by the Chieftains. This year there was no junior League, but Mr. Graham has decided that any junior teams in the city whose players are eligible may pla off for the cup. The conditions are that the contestants must be under nineteen years of age and that they should never have participated in O. H. A. senior City League hockey. This bars nearly all of last year's Chieftain's. However, three teams have signified their willingness to play off for the cup, and there may be others. The teams in line so far are the West End Midgets, the junior T. A. S. and the Collegiate Seconds. The draw will be made in a day or so, so that if there are any more teams who want to take a shy at the mug they should get their entry in at once, either to Mr. Graham or to the sporting editors of the Review or Examiner.

The Brinton team will play the Millbrook team on Saturday night at the Auditorium Rink. A good game may be expected.

POST CARD COLUMN

Peterboro, Mar. 1, 1910.

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir:

The heathen have more reverence for their idol temples than many professed Christians have for the house of od.

If the Christ were here in bodily form today He would whip out of many of the churches those who seem to forget that His house was to be called of "all nations a house of prayer," with the same holy indignation that he showed towards the same class of persons in the olden time.

Yours,
JOHN CARLISLE.

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS

THE SUGAR SITUATION

Reports that cane has been injured and that sugar will be higher from many sections has injured the cane. Empire.

"This week there have been reports from Cuba saying that drought in many sections has injured the cane. These reports come from reliable sources. Europe has advanced her markets again, the rise there this week being big and prices are now higher than they have been at any time since the movement began. When we got 60 to 70 points below Europe we had to take into account what Europe was doing. The refined business here has been good, the refiners have not had any unwieldy surplus, Cuba, and Porto Rico have been marketing their shipments well, and we feel the effect upon our quotations of such move made in Europe."

From the market report of the Mail and Empire.

For a time at least the Peterborough public need fear no advance as R. C. Braund has already purchased three carloads and is prepared to give right prices to any one wishing sugar. Special bargain list, including sugar. Telephone 348.

OBITUARY

JOHN STRAIN.

The death occurred shortly after midnight last night, at his late residence, 70 Robinson street, East City, of Mr. John Strain. The late Mr. Strain passed away after several weeks of illness. He was 57 years of age and was born in Ireland, having come to Canada at the age of fifteen. Since coming to this country he has always resided in Peterborough, where he was well known and highly esteemed. For many years he was employed with Mr. W. H. Meldrum and was a faithful and painstaking employee. He attended St. Luke's Anglican Church. To the sorrowing widow and surviving members of the family much sympathy is extended. The members of the family surviving are Mrs. Albert Harris, Jamestown, N. Y.; Mrs. Arthur Whatley, Port Hope; Mrs. Will Roberts, Bethune street, city; Mrs. S. B. Armstrong, Newcastle, Pa.; Mrs. Chas. Sabin, and Mrs. Cly[illegible] Wir of Cleveland, Ohio, and Miss Ada Strain, Newcastle, Pa. One stepson, Mr. Arthur Weart, also survives him. One brother, Mr. Wm. Strain, and three sisters, Mrs. Damp, Mrs. John Cousins and Mrs. Geo. Howard, all residing in Toronto, survive the deceased.

The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the family residence to St. Luke's Church and then to the Little Lake Cemetery.

HANNAH SMITH.

The funeral of the late Hannah Smith took place from the residence of her father, Mr. Frank Smith, 575 Gilchrist street, this afternoon. The interment took place at Little Lake cemetery, and the services at the house and at the grave were in charge of Rev. Mr. Pearson. The deceased was a member of Mr. Scarrow's Bible Class and a devoted member of the George Street Methodist church. She was a young lady of the finest type of character and bore her long and painful illness with resignation and fortitude. The constant perfume of many flowers that always permeated her room during her illness, testified to the esteem and affection in which she was held by her large circle of friends.

MRS. HENRY FRASER.

Heart trouble, from which she had been ill during the past four months, was the cause of the death of Alice Cullen, wife of Henry Fraser, which occurred last night at her home at Bridgenorth. The deceased was in her 74th year, having been born near Bobcaygeon. She was married over 50 years ago, and, with her husband, had resided in Bridgenorth during the past fifteen years. Besides the husband two sons survive. They are Albert of Detroit, and George, of Sault Ste. Marie. The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock to the cemetery at Bridgenorth.

JOHN FITZGERALD.

A life-long resident of Otonabee passed away yesterday, in the person of John Fitzgerald, after a lingering illness. The deceased was fifty years of age and is survived by a widow and a large family.

The funeral took place this morning at nine o'clock, to St. Joseph's church, Douro, and interement will be held at St. Joseph's cemetery.

HARD WORK.

Sam's Desperate Effort at Composing a Love Letter.

To one old southern negro in New York the difficulties of letter composition seemed well nigh insurmountable. The old fellow, as a writer in the Atlanta Constitution relates, asked his "boss," Colonel Yerger, to write a letter for him to his sweetheart.

"All right, Sam, I'll do it," agreed the colonel.

"Has yer got de paper and de ink and de pen ready, suh?"

"Yes, Sam. Go ahead."

"Write Thompson street, New York."

"All right."

"Has yer got hit written?"

"Yes."

"All ob hit?"

"Certainly."

"What has yer got written? Read it to me, boss."

"Thompson street, New York."

"Dat's right. Now write May de fourteenf."

"Yes."

"Has yer got hit down, boss, already?"

"Yes."

"G'way, boss, you're jokin'! Read it to me."

"May 14."

"Mah goodness! You has got hit down all right. Now, boss, read hit all over from de berry beginning."

"Thompson street, New York, May 14."

"Dat's right. Whew! Say, boss, let's res' awhile; I'a tired. My head aches like hit was gwineter split."

HE REFORMED.

A Flash of Lightning Made Him See His Evil Ways.

A group of men sitting on the dry goods boxes in front of a country store were discussing big storms.

"There's no use in talking," remarked one of them. "We are all badly scared in a thunderstorm."

"I remember one time when I was, sure enough," said another. "It was about a year after I was married, and I was on my way home from town. It began to thunder and lighten when I was about halfway there, and the rain fell in sheets. I stopped under a big tree. I knew that wasn't safe, but I thought I'd risk it.

"In a few minutes the lightning struck a tree about a hundred feet away, and I fell down, either from the shock or from fright. I don't know which to this day. But I got up again, and my hair rose on end when I remembered that I had a plug of tobacco in my pocket."

"What had that to do with it?"

"Nothing but this: My wife didn't know I chewed tobacco. She hated the weed like poison. 'What if I had been killed and that plug of tobacco found in my pocket?' I thought. I think I had the worst fright right then that I ever had in my life."

"Well?"

"Well, before the next flash came I took that plug out of my pocket and threw it as far as I could send it, and I have never chewed tobacco since."

Didn't Teach Him That Trick.

"That's a werry knowing animal o yours," said a cockney gentleman to the keeper of an elephant.

"Very," was the cool rejoinder.

"He performs strange tricks and hantics, does he?" inquired the cockney, eying the animal through his glass.

"Surprisin'!" retorted the keeper. "We've learned him to put money in that box you see up there. Try him with half a crown."

The cockney handed the elephant half a crown, and, sure enough, he took it in his trunk and placed it in a box high up out of reach.

"Well, that is very hextraordinary—hastonishing, truly!" said the green one, opening his eyes. "Now let's see him take it out and 'and it back."

"We never learned him that trick," retorted the keeper and then turned away to stir up the monkeys and punch the hyenas.—London Tit-Bits.

Rearranging the Basis.

"You are charging me $7 a week for board and lodging, Mrs. Irons," said the gray haired person of the name of Harris. "May I ask how you would itemize it? What part of it is for board?"

"Five dollars," replied the landlady.

"And $2 for my room?"

"Yes."

"Well, if you don't mind, Mrs. Irons," he said, proceeding to square up for another week, "we'll consider here after that I'm paying you $5 for lodging and $2 for board. It will seem more as if I were getting the worth of my money."—Chicago Tribune.

THE IMPERIAL GUARANTEE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

Head Office: 46 King Street, West TORONTO

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Imperial Guarantee & Accident Insurance Company of Canada, was held at the Head Office, 46 King Street West, Toronto, on the 10th inst.

Mr. E. W. Cox, President of the Company, in reviewing the business of the year, made reference to the growing popularity of Accident Insurance, and its effect on the success of the business of the Company during the year. The amount of insurance written was over $36,970,000.00, an increase of $1,950,000.00 over the business taken out in 1908. This is considered exceptionally satisfactory in view of the fact that the business of the Company is confined to Personal Accident and Guarantee Insurance.

The Gross Income for 1909 amounted to $319,741.76.

That being an increase over the year 1908 of $44,817.34.

The Assets now total $306,971.00, and, after allowing for Reserve for unearned premium calculated on the full Government standard, and all other liabilities, the surplus for the protection of policyholders has increased to $213,417.13.

The following Directors and Officers were elected:

Edward W. Cox, President.
Noel Marshall, Vice-President.
Hon. Geo. A. Cox.
Elias Rogers.
Dr. P. G. Goldsmith.
G. A. Morrow.
Hon. F. T. Frost.
R. Bickerdike.
W. D. Robb.
J. J. Kenny.
S. Burrows.

MURDER TRIAL IS NEARING A CLOSE

Counsel Defending Dr. Fritch Presented Case After Arraignment by Prosecutor.

Detroit, Mich., March 1.—Closing addresses by counsel in the trial of Dr. Fritch, former Drumbo (Ont.) physician, for the murder of Mabel Millman, were begun in the Recorder's Court this morning. Prosecuting Attorney Van Zile concluded his preliminary arguments, consuming a little less than an hour and a half in his statement of the case. Attorney Frank T. Lodge, for the accused physician, started to speak just before noon and had not concluded when court adjourned.

The prosecutor made no attempt to further flay the defendant, but nevertheless delivered a strong argument, citing the telling evidence against Dr. Fritch, which, he said, had not been controverted, even by what he himself believed to be a "lot of manufactured evidence."

The accused physician listened intently to every word that fell from the lips of the prosecutor and seemed greatly relieved when he had finished.

The court-room was packed to suffocation all day, public interest seeming to become more intense as the climax draws near. The case will go to the jury Thursday.

GYMNASTIC EXHIBITION

TEN YEAR OLD JOHNNY TAYLOR VICTIM OF MAD DOG'S BITE

Bitten on the Lip Six Weeks Ago---Pleaded to be Shot That He Might be Released From His Agony---Had all the Symptoms of Hydrophobia.

Hamilton, March 2.—"Please, oh, please, shoot me," pleaded little John Taylor, the ten-year-old son of Joseph Taylor, Dundas, who was brought to the city hospital yesterday suffering from hydrophobia of the most virulent type. He died last night.

Until six o'clock yesterday evening, when he passed into a state of coma, he was fully conscious, except when in convulsions, and so great was the agony he endured that he kept begging the doctors who surrounded his cot to put him out of his misery. So great were his convulsions that he would have been thrown out of his cot by them had he not been strapped to it. He frothed at the mouth and displayed all the symptoms of the dread disease.

When brought to the hospital yesterday, the boy was able to tell of his mishap. Five or six weeks ago, he was playing with an airgun, when his white bulldog leaped up and tried to seize the gun. One of the dog's teeth penetrated the boy's lip. The wound was immediately cauterized, and the dog was killed two days afterwards.

The boy suffered little inconvenience from the injury, and appeared to be entirely recovered until, on Sunday, he was seized with what the doctors thought was a bad cold. His worst symptom was a severe pain in his chest.

On Monday he grew worse and became so restless that it was impossible to keep him still a second. When water was offered to him he could not drink it for the contraction of the muscles of his throat. In fact, attempts to drink water threw him into a violent fit. Later in the day, the slightest change of temperature or draught had the same effect as the water.

After being brought to the hospital he kept constantly trying to clear his throat, making a noise that resembled somewhat the barking of a dog. The contraction of the muscles also gave him the appearance of snapping and biting.

One convulsion succeeded another until he lapsed into a state of coma last evening. Outside his room his father paced the floor, almost crazed. The end came at 10.30, the boy dying without regaining consciousness.

THE ALBERT MEDAL FOR CONDUCTOR THOS. REYNOLDS

Hero of the Spanish River Wreck Honoured by King Edward----Visits Parliament Buildings----Is Warmly Congratulated.

Special to The Examiner.

Ottawa, March 1.—It is not news, but it is gratifying to know that King Edward has granted the Albert medal granted for conspicuous bravery in the behalf of humanity, to Conductor Reynolds, whose heroic conduct in rescuing passengers from the submerged coaches in the Spanish River, is familiar to every newspaper reader.

Conductor Reynolds paid a visit to the parliament buildings yesterday, and spent most of the time with the Secretary of State, Hon. Charles Murphy. It was owing to Hon. Mr. Murphy's persistence that the signal recognition for bravery, the Albert medal, is to be bestowed outside the ordinary routine. As the rule is, it is only awarded once a year, when the names of the deserving are submitted for Royal approval; but the Secretary of State, it is said, so insistently dwelt upon the especial merit of the case that the medal was awarded promptly, and the Secretary of State received the following cable from London—"Albert medal for Reynolds will be despatched by Wednesday's mail."

Mr. Reynolds had a brief interview with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who congratulated him upon his brave and noble conduct. He was also introduced to Mr. Borden and Hon Mr. Graham, Minister of Railways, and both added their felicitations to those of the Prime Minister.

When the medal arrives its presentation will be made the subject of an interesting ceremony.

Train Destroyed By Avalanche---25 Killed

Special Wire to The Examiner.

Seattle, Wash., March 2.—Twenty-three persons are known to be dead, and twenty-five others are still missing, following the sweeping far into the depths below the entrance to the Cascade Tunnel of twenty cars of the Great Northern Railway by an avalanche of snow. The big relief parties that were sent out from Wellington, the nearest point to the disaster, worked all night, and are struggling with the snow to-day, spurred to frantic efforts by moans and cries from underneath the debris, indicating that at least some of the victims are still alive. The work of rescue is most dangerous. The snow on the mountain sides above is still melting, and occasionally large quantities become dislodged and give way.

AT MISS E. M. ALLAN'S MILLINERY ROOMS

Miss Allan of 392 George street returned to the city last night from an interesting business trip, during which she has been engaged in investigating and making purchases of the authoritative styles for spring. Miss Allan spent ten days in New York, where she attended fashionable showings intended to serve as exclusive exhibitions of the approved styles of fine spring millinery. Extremely large hats are still in vogue in New York City, although small hats and Russian turbans will be favorites for early spring wear. Miss Allan's spring novelties are now arriving.

Miss Foster, who has been with Miss Allan for some years, has also returned from the millinery centres, where she has been improving her time acquainting herself with the new styles.

Miss Waller of Toronto has accepted a position with Miss Allan as trimmer, and several openings are awaiting clever millinery preparers at these millinery rooms. Miss Hurle ywill continue in her position as principal saleslady.

GOOD REHEARSAL

Peterborough Will be Well Represented in the Earl Grey Competition.

The Madrigal Club of the Conservatory of Music had a successful rehearsal last night, nearly the full strength of the chorus being represented and hte result was that some very beneficial work was done in preparation for the Earl Grey competition in Toronto the week of April 4. There will be another rehearsal on Friday night. Peterborough will be well represented, as in addition to the Madrigal Club, the Peterborough Amateur Operatic Company will take part and the Conservatory of Music will send representatives in the individual competitions. It is likely that Miss Kathleen Wallis and Miss Julia Choate will take part in the violin contest, Miss McGill in the piano event and probably Miss Verna Devlin, in the vocal contest.

Sinking Spells Every Few Days

"At the time I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I was having sinking spells every few days. My hands and feet would get cold; I could scarcely breathe, and could feel myself gradually sinking away until I would be unconscious. Those about me could not tell there was life in me. After these spells I would be very weak and nervous, sleepless and without appetite; had neuralgia in my head and heart. After taking the remedy a short time all this disappeared and in a few weeks all the heart trouble was gone."

MR. FOSTER WILL APPEAL.

Hon. Geo. Foster, in an exclusive interview given last night, stated that it was his intention to appeal against the verdict in his libel suit against Dr. Macdonald, of the Globe. He will pass by the Divisional Court to the Court of Appeal direct. He is satisfied neither with the verdict, nor with the manner in which the case was judicially directed. Mr. Foster is a fighter, and in Dr. Macdonald he will find a foeman worthy of his steel. The whole matter being practically sub-judice comment is obviously contraindicated.

CANADA'S OPPORTUNITY.

Canada has been reproached for being slow in its growth and in the matter of progressive energy. This reproach has been lessened in whatever force it ever had by the conditions of the past ten or fifteen years during which our progress and growth in almost every department of national activity have been little, if any, short of phenomenal. Canada has to her credit some pioneer enterprises worthy of note. Canada constructed and navigated the first vessel to cross the ocean under its own steam—the Royal William—in 1833. Canada was the first to give official recognition of, and to instal, the Marconi wireless telegraph system, one of the most beneficient and important triumphs of modern scientific invention; and Canada promises to be the first to establish the mono-rail railway system. The Quebec and Island of Orleans Railway is applying for an amendment to its charter, giving it power to build its line on the monorail plan. While Canada enjoys the distinction and credit of being the first to move in these the important matters, it is interesting, if not significant, to note that all three epoch making events took place in the eastern terminus of the Dominion, where the soil meets the sea. There seems to be some charm in the sea. It is upon the seas that Great Britain has won the universal civilizing influence that places her far in the van of the world. It is upon the shifting, unstable base of the restless sea that the greatest empire of history has been builded with the solidity of the everlasting hills. Combining sea-craft and the craft of the sea, Britain has made the conquest of influence that has established in all continents and the isles of the sea the island-engendered freedom of rights, whose principles are not only the greatest, but the one only humanly perfect civilizing influence in the world to-day, as they have been for centuries. It then becomes Canada to establish a new centre of sea influence, which, operating under the genius of British institutions, may strengthen and extend their influence. In entering upon the beginnings of a Canadian navy we are doing so on the right lines—beginning at the beginning, and laying the keel level and true. As the toil of a man is not only productive, but developmental of the physique of the man himself, so will the Canadian navy be not only an element in her own and the empire's defence, but tend to build up and extend the field of Canadian influence and strengthen incipent Canadian industries. These industries—iron and steel, and, incidentally, shipbuilding—are the most far-reaching in the employment of labour of domestic resources and of domestic skill, of the many that have found a footing in this country. We have fed the iron and stel industries with bounties to the amount of nearly fourteen millions of dollars, till they are self-sustaining, and the day of accounting has come; the time when these industries should be made to contribute some return for the aid that has put them upon their feet, and enabled them to walk alone. This can be done by making them contributory to the construction of shipbuilding plants for this purpose, the establishment of an industry for the building of ships for commercial purposes. Canada has certainly arrived at the stage where she can launch out more boldly than in the past, in the way of advance, national upbuilding and development. The present time, when one of the most important national departures in her national life is under consideration, is Canada's opportunity.

HE FEARED TO EAT

Till "Little Digesters" Cured His Indigestion

Like many another sufferer from Indigestion, Mr. E. Thody looked forward to mealtime with dread instead of pleasure. Writing from his home at 141 Yorkville Ave., Toronto, on June 12th last, he says:

"For two years I suffered with Indigestion and obtained no relief from anything I took, including several prescriptions from prominent physicians. Every meal was followed with acute pain until I feared to eat, consequently became run down for lack of nourishment.

"'Little Digesters" were recommended to me by a friend and I tried them with remarkable results, two boxes completely curing me. It is three months since I took any and have not suffered a pain no matter how heartily I eat. I would certainly recommend them to anyone suffering with Indigestion."

Why allow yourself to be handicapped and your life shortened by Indigestion or Dyspepsia, when you can so easily avoid it? "Little Digesters" are guaranteed to cure you or your money will be cheerfully refunded.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

A London cable says that Marie Lloyd, the vaudeville singer, is being sued for divorce.

Allan Donaldson and John Henderson, for 30 years in the service of the G.T.R., have resigned.

The seismograph at St. Louis, Mo., University recorded five long earthquake shocks on Monday.

Joe Delcourt, a vaudeville actor, of Detroit, was accidentally asphyxiated in a Chatham Hotel. A companion was revived.

Most of the Nationalist M.P.'s will return to Ireland until the question relating to the House of Lords takes the centre of the stage.

The New York World on Monday night exchanged wireless greetings by wireless with The Milwaukee Sentinel, a thousand miles away.

Twenty-eight dogs incarcerated in the London pound and due for the lethal chamber were released by parties unknown during Monday night.

A young man giving the name of Edward Campbell of Toronto was sentenced to two months at Welland for shoplifting. He had previously been begging his way.

Sir John Hare, the veteran actor, has accepted the invitation of Earl Grey to judge the dramatic performances in Toronto on April 4. Lady Hare will accompany Sir John.

Canadian Trade With Indies.

Kingston, St. Vincent, B. W. I. March 2.—The royal commission on trade relations between Canada and the West Indies was given an enthusiastic reception. The members conferred with Government officials and prominent business men, and the concensus of opinion seemed to be that improved steamship facilities and a reciprocal reduction in duties would tend to increase the trade and strengthen the imperial bonds uniting Canada and the Indies.

To safeguard the local revenue, it is proposed that the preference take the form of slightly increased duties on certain American imports, such as flour, soap, and cordage, and a corresponding decrease in, or the maintenance of, the present tariff respecting similar Canadian products.

Suits Involves $2,500,000.

Montreal, March 2.—E. W. Humphreys, who at one time managed the Canadian branch of the De Forrest wireless, has entered suit here in the Superior Court to recover claims aggregating two and a half million dollars. The defendants are John A. Roeblinger, Sons & Co., the Northern Commercial Telegraph Co., Ltd., Fred C. Dixon and Samuel Carsley.

Humphreys seeks to annul a loan in which he is interested with the defendants and to also annul a contract. These two claims are for $2,000,095, and he then sues the Northern for $412,500, the profit he claims he would have made had certain contracts been lived up to.

Patten Quits the Pit.

Chicago, March 2.—James A. Patten, grain king, will retire from "the pit" and from all lines of commercial activity July 1. Mr. Patten himself is authority for this statement. He says, "I have enough; what's the use of piling up more?" His only plan for the future is to enjoy the great fortune he won in a spectacular career on the Board of Trade—a career that will be historic. He is believed to be worth $12,000,000.

With this giant of the grain pit there will go into retirement two other men of mighty prowess in the market—Wm. T. Bartlett and George W. Patten. They are his partners in the house of Bartlett, Patten & Co.

Shot Fired by Detective.

Halifax, N.S., March 2.—Practically the first disturbance in connection with the Springhill coal miners strike, which has been on for seven months, occurred yesterday, when two of the employes of the company came up town in company with Detective Conrad Timms.

A row occurred between the company men and some of the strikers, near Rogers' Corner, and one of the men was badly beaten. Timms and one of the men retreated to the palisade, and in the fracas a shot was fired. Timms is charged with discharging firearms.

Young Bank Clerk Shot Himself.

High River, Alta., March 2.—Chas. Stanley Young, teller in the Dominion Bank here, was found on his bed at the rear of the bank with a bullet in his brain. Young was 18 years old and had a good character. He leaves a widowed mother at Edmonton.

Panama's President Dead.

Panama, March 2.—Jose Domingo de Obaldi, President of Panama, died from heart disease at 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

He had been sick only since last Friday.

Had Weak Back.

Would Often Lie in Bed for Days Scarcely Able to Turn Herself.

Weak back comes from the kidneys, and when the kidneys are out of order the whole system becomes deranged. Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble do not know of the suffering and misery which those afflicted undergo.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a specific for all kidney troubles.

They begin by helping the kidneys to flush of all the acrid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and all the urinary passages and carrying away the uric acid, the chief cause of rheumatism, from the blood.

Mrs. Arch. Sehnare, Black Point, N.B., writes:—"For years I was troubled with weak back. Oftentimes I have lain in bed for days, being scarcely able to turn myself, and I have also been a great sufferer while trying to perform my household duties. I had doctors attending me without avail and tried liniments and plasters, but nothing seemed to do me any good. I was about to give up in despair when my husband induced me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and after using two boxes I am now well and able to do my work. I am positive Doan's Kidney Pills are all that you claim for them, and I would advise all kidney sufferers to give them a fair trial."

Price, 50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

In ordering specify "Doan's."

Do You Ever Make "Jelly Roll," Madam?

When we were just about so high, ours was an insatiable sweet tooth for "jelly roll" and such like.

We sought no explanation then whether the tooth tickling came from the jell, the shape of the cake, or sentimental wonder at mother's creative ability.

Sometimes the cake wouldn't roll right, break on the turns—mother was "unlucky" those days, and the keen critics didn't insist on the biggest piece.

Mother, you see, didn't know flour—took whatever the grocer offered—also took her chances.

Do YOU ever make "jelly roll," Madam?

Is it always a perfect oval, even layers of light, porous, golden crumb, without streaks or holes unsightly?

Why doesn't it roll over the jell softly and smoothly; why does it crack and break in spite of the careful fingers behind the dainty napkin?

All on account of the innate "cussedness" of cheap flour.

• • • •

There's an electricity, Madam, a coherence in FIVE ROSES flour responding to your every effort.

The strength and fineness of FIVE ROSES hold your batter together in the long well-greased pan.

Bakes evenly, giving smooth texture, soft, golden crumb, spongy, porous and yielding—no holes nor lumps to vex the soul of the finicky housewife.

And when you turn it out on the dump napkin hot and savory, and you spread the under side with jam or jell—it doesn't get soggy soon nor crumbly.

And when you roll it gently, carefully, while the kiddies with bated breath watch this most critical proceeding, there is no crack nor break in the perfect smoothness of the surface—'tis a perfect roll.

• • • •

Mighty hard to make "jelly roll" like that, Madam.

Takes an artist and it's impossible with stingy quality flour.

But it's easy to be an artist if you use FIVE ROSES.

Easy to make melting puff paste, flaky pie crust, crinkly fritters, toothsome rolls and goodies galore.

Be flourwise, Madam, join the millions using FIVE ROSES.

If you are accustomed to cheap flour the results will seem like magic. But you must use FIVE ROSES.

$30,000 Diamond Horseshoe Stolen.

New York, March 2—The mysterious disappearance of a diamond horseshoe—regarded as one of the largest in existence—and a diamond heart, aggregating $50,000 in value, from the boudoir of Mrs. Sanford Erlanger, wife of a stock broker, at the Ansonia, last Thursday, is baffling the skill of Pinkerton detectives.

The diamonds vanished from a chatelaine bag which Mrs. Erlanger had left on top of her dresser while she was at her bath.

Canada Is Well Advertised.

London, Eng., March 2.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Sir G. Reid, Australia's new high commissioner, interviewed here, said there was only one reason why Canada was so far ahead of Australia in immigration, namely, advertisement.

"We hope to change all that," he said, "though we hope, too, there never will be any unfriendly rivalry."

Pease Elected Unopposed.

London, March 2.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Joseph Pease, Liberal, has been elected in the Rothnam division of Yorkshire unopposed.

Hon. Joseph Pease, Liberal whip, was defeated in Saffron-Walden. He was recently raised to Cabinet rank, as Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancashire, and had to go back to the electors.

Provincial Officer Accused.

North Bay, March 2.—Chief Inspector Greer of the Provincial Detective Department and Mr. Mallon, inspector of legal offices, have just returned from Gowganda, where they have been holding an investigation into charges made against Provincial Officer Paul of that place, who is alleged to have been remiss in enforcing the law.

Gift For Barnardo Work.

Montreal, March 2.—Lord Mount-Stephen has donated a fund of $300,000, the revenue of which is fourteen thousand dollars a year, for the Barnardo movement.

The trustees are Robert Meighen, John Turnbull and the Royal Trust Co.

Effect of Meat Strike.

New York, March 2.—Prophecies that the late meat boycott would bring higher and not lower prices are to-day being realized here, quotations on mutton, lamb and pork having jumped a little higher than most men in the business can remember.

Reynolds Visits Ottawa.

Ottawa, March 2.—Conductor Tom Reynolds of the C.P.R., whose heroic conduct in rescuing passengers from the submerged cars in the recent Spanish River railway wreck earned for him the Albert medal, paid a visit to the Parliament buildings yesterday, and was warmly congratulated by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. R. L. Borden.

Petition For Plebiscite.

Ottawa, March 2.—A petition was put in circulation yesterday in Hull, Que., by some prominent citizens, requesting that the Government rule out the proposed naval policy, and submit a plebiscite to the people.

It is understood that similar petitions will be circulated throughout other districts of Quebec.

Came From Ireland In Sailing Boat.

Chicago, March 2.—Thomas Sheridan, 108 years old, who came to America from the south of Ireland in a sailing boat, which took 42 days for the journey, and who described the aeroplane as witchery, is dead. Sheridan was an inveterate smoker for more than 90 years.

Empire's Chambers of Commerce.

London, March 2.—The next congress of the Chambers of the Empire will be held in London from June 21 to June 23.

No Hope For U. M. W.

Halifax, N.S., March 2.—The result of the conferences between the clergymen of the town and officials of the coal company, looking to a settlement of the strike, which have been held almost daily for the past week, was given to the press yesterday.

General Manager Butler places the position of the company clearly before the men and the U.M.W., and the answer of that union appears to be that they will accept nothing short of the original demand for recognition by the company, so that the situation remains practically where it was before.

The following are the conditions laid down by the company, refusing to recognize the U. M. W.:

1. Former employes out of work will be re-employed as fast as possible, dependent upon the several classes of labor offering in due proportion, so as to enable the mining work to be carried on with advantage.

2. No discrimination in the work will be made against such men. All contracts and agreements with employes will be honorably carried out. The individual rights of every employe will be protected. Each employe will have the right to lay his just grievance before the head of this department with the right of appeal ultimately to the president.

Landslide In Quebec.

Ottawa, March 2.—Word reached here yesterday of a landslide on the banks of the Nation River, about four miles from Casselman.

A large section of the 75-foot clay bank of the river, about six acres in extent, gave away, going into the river with a rush and breaking the ice, which was a foot and a half thick.

Barns and outbuildings belonging to P. Bray, farmer, along with one of his cattle, were carried down with the slide and buried.

Huge elm trees, formerly on the heights of the river bank, are now some hundred yards from their original resting place, all of them in an upright position still.

Flood Hero Is Dead.

Northampton, Mass., March 2.—Daniel Collins Graves, the hero of the Mill River of 1874, one of the greatest disasters that New England has known, is dead, aged 70.

Graves, while returning home early in the morning of May 16, 1874, learned that the reservoir at the head of Mill River Valley had burst. Unharnessing his horse, he leaped on its back and rode the length of the valley, awakening the several hundred inhabitants of the villages threatened by the onrushing waters.

Despite his warnings more than 140 persons were drowned.

Opposition to Taft Measures.

Washington, March 2.—After a two hours' conference with President Taft yesterday, leaders of Congress announced that they would oppose all amendments to the several administration bills when it became apparent that the amendments were offered in a spirit hostile to the main purpose of the proposed legislation.

The discussion had special reference to the interstate commerce bills.

Finger Saved Woman's Life.

Spokane, Wash., March 2.—A finger sticking above the surface of the snow saved the life of Mrs. George Gibson, who was buried for an hour in the snowslide at Mace. Rescuers with lanterns saw the finger and dug her out. She was half smothered and almost frozen.

Whisky In Sugar Casks.

Cobalt, Ont., March 2.—The provincial police on Monday seized at the express office here $3,600 worth of whisky, brandy and wine, all consigned to nine Italian grocers in town. The liquor was shipped from Montreal in sugar casks.

Six Hurt In New York Fire.

New York, March 2.—Six persons were injured, two of them, firemen, seriously, in a fire which yesterday afternoon destroyed a five-storey building at 244 West 60th street, occupied by automobile concerns.

Several automobiles were destroyed and the total loss is estimated at $50,000.

Big Drydocks Needed.

Montreal, March 2.—That the construction of more docking facilities on the Canadian coast should precede the construction of bigger ships, is the opinion expressed by Sir Montague Allan, in an interview with a representative of London "Canada."

The most immediate need in connection with the transatlantic service to Canadian ports, he said, is the construction of a dry dock at Quebec. There are now 17 vessels running to St. Lawrence ports which are too large to enter the only existing dock at Levis, while the one at Halifax is over 800 miles away.

Appointment For M.P.P.

Kingston, March 2.—It is said that J. S. Gallagher, member in the Legislature for Frontenac, will receive the appointment of county registrar.

Resolution Against a Navy.

Montreal, March 2.—At a meeting the St. Mary's Ward Labor Club, a strong resolution declaring against the establishment of a Canadian navy or any contribution to the navy of Great Britain was passed.

Weird Plot of Five Boys.

Greenwich, Conn., March 2.—Five boys of foreign parentage, the oldest only 19 and the youngest 10, confessed yesterday, after arrest here, a plan to wreck a fast New Haven passenger train, which leaves New York shortly after noon, and plunder the bodies of the dead.

Radical.

"Radical," says an English paper, was originally a term of reproach, but was soon enthusiastically adopted by a section of the Liberal party. They even went the length of wearing habitually a white hat, nicknamed a "radical." Worn in the house of commons the white hat is now considered a sign of Toryism.

A Fearful Earthquake.

One of the most destructive earthquakes in the world's history was that which occurred in Tokyo in the year 1703, when 190,000 people were killed.

Street Organs In Verviers.

Organ grinders in Verviers, Belgium, must keep their instruments in tune. Every morning they are required to go before the police superintendent and play their instruments. The organs which chance to be out of tune must be set in order before a license to play on the streets will be granted.

Prof. Irl Hicks' Predictions For March Weather Conditions

Winter Has Not Yet Spent Itself and Rain and Snow Will be Rather Frequent During the Month—A Little of Everything Will Likely be Experienced.

MAY GO OUT LIKE LION

In his monthly almanac Irl Hicks details the following weather bill of fare for the month which has just begun:

A regular storm period is central on the 1st, beginning in February and ending March 3rd. This period is at the centre of the Venus period, with the forces of Earth and Mars becoming greatly intensified. Equatorial storms of great energy, especially to the south, should surprise no reader of these forecasts, on and about the 2nd and 3rd. At the close of this and other March periods, look for blizzardous changes to high northerly gales, with cold waves sweeping from the northwest, far into the south and east.

A reactionary storm period falls on the 6th, 7th and 8th, with indications that unsettled, if not stormy weather may fill much of the time between the first and the third storm periods of the month. The Venus disturbance, combined with Earth and Mars, are sufficient to cause heavy and prolonged disturbances at any time throughout the month. Watch especially at each and all of the storm periods.

A regular storm period extends from the 10th to the 15th. On the central day of this period, the 12th, the Moon is on the celestial equator and in perigee. It is in conjunction with Earth and Sun on the 11th, the exact centre of the greatest magnetic and electric perturbation of the whole year. The Barometer and every other reliable indicator of approaching storms should be carefully heeded throughout this period. West India storms are entirely probable in central to southern parts, causing vicious thunder storms and tornadoes. Watch the 11th, 12th, 13th and 14th! A blizzard out of the northwest will be natural on the western flank of these storms. The 10th to the 15th is also a very decided seismic period. Watch for earthquake and volcanic reports.

A Reactionary storm period is central on the 17th, 18th and 19th, with Moon at extreme north declination. The storm chart also shows that this period is near the centre of both the Earth and the Mars equinoxes. It is a coincidence not seen in ages that they should fall exactly together on March 21st. Violent storms may or may not occur at this time, but on and touching the 17th, 18th and 19th is another time to exercise calm and prudent watchfulness and care. Change to high barometer and much colder will come out of the northwest behind these storms.

A regular storm period, as full of storm possibilities as any in the month is central on the 24th, extending from the 22nd to 27th. The Mercury equinox also adds its strength to this period. Full Moon on the celestial equator falls in the midst of this period, on the 25th. Tropical storms of the nature of hurricanes and tornadoes will be natural southward, with a boreal counterpart of blizzards of sleet and snow to the northward. The crisis of this period will strike progressively from west to east from the 24th to the 27th. Watch and see. Within three days of noon on the 25th is another very marked seismic period. Earthquakes in various sections of the globe, both at this period and from March 9th to 15th, will most likely be attended by volcanic disturbances in volcanic regions, also by abnormal magnetic and electric currents, and maximum flashes of auroral lights in the northern regions. A general, severe cold wave for March will most likely come out of the northwest, and sweep far into the southeastern storm areas. It will touch most parts of the country between the 25th and 29th. Be on guard against such phenomena.

A reactionary storm period centres on the 30th and 31st. This is at the crisis of the Mercury disturbance, and so near the centre of the Mars and Earth periods on the 21st, that prolonged storms of rain, sleet and snow should not be surprising during the last week of March.

Committee on Appointments.

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education.

Gentlemen,—Your committee on appointments beg leave to report, as follows:

Owing to the resignation of Mr. John Hart, janitor of the Collegiate Institute, to take effect 1st of March, it was necessary for your committee to secure the services of a competent man to fill the position. After careful consideration our committee recommend that Mr. W. G. McKee be appointed, duties to start 1st of March, and salary to be according to schedule. Mr. McKee comes highly recommended, and your committee are satisfied that he will fill the position to the satisfaction of the Board.

As instructed your committee advertised for a teacher, for the Collegiate Institute staff to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Hofferd, which takes effect 1st of April. In response to the advertisement your committee received but five applications and only one of these applicants has a university degree, and he would not be a suitable teacher for the position.

Your committee are of the opinion that to secure a teacher, who is sufficiently well qualified to fill the position, and one who would be approved by the High School Inspector, it would be necessary to increase the salary schedule applicable to this department and would recommend that the Board give the matter immediate consideration. Unless immediate action is taken the professional status of our school will be imparted, and your committee believe that the ratepayers will not favour the lowering of the present standard.

Respectfully submitted,

W. H. HILL, Chairman.

Upon motion of Messrs. W. H. Hill and J. Crane, the report was adopted.

In connection with the above report Dr. Morrison pointed out that instead of revising the salary schedule it might be possible for the board to surmount the difficulty by endeavouring to secure a lady teacher with the proper qualifications.

Principal Kenner stated that he did not think a lady science teacher could be found in the province.

Upon motion of Dr. Morrison and Mr. Crane, the matter was referred back to the Committee on Appointments to confer with Principal Kenner.

Regarding Night Schools.

Mr. Dumble spoke in regard to the proposal made some time ago about introducing technical education here and holding night school in connection with the Collegiate. He said that some members of the Board had spoken to the Minister of Education regarding the matter. They were informed that it was under consideration by the Government. Until some action was taken by the department it would be unwise for the local board to do anything.

The Board then adjourned.

ZIONISTS OPPOSED BY GERMAN JEWS

Plan for Return of the Race to Palestine Meets With Criticism.

Berlin, Mar. 1.—The Frankfurter Zeitung gives prominence to a number of letters from representative German Jews, in which it is stated that the Jews in Germany are decidedly opposed to Zionism.

The writer of one of these letters says that the newspaper reports of the proceedings of the recent Zionist Congress in Hamburg give the impression that the movement is supported by German Jews. This, he adds, is not the fact. The majority of German Jews not only know nothing about the aims of Zionism, but are not in the slightest degree interested in the matter. The writer of the letter contends that German Jews cannot possibly cherish the hope of forming part of the Jewish nation re-established in Palestine. Were they to do so they would rightly be regarded now as foreign bodies in the State which cannot be assimilated by the organism of the State.

"We German Jews," the letter in question proceeds, "are Germans and wish to remain such. We are German citizens professing the Jewish faith. Our aim is absolute equality and assimilation as Jews without giving up our Judaism. We German Jews want to have nothing to do with a phantom which will estrange us from our Fatherland and is calculated to impede the development which promises to result in our being placed on a footing of absolute equality with our fellow-citizens."

Another writer asserts that the German Jews have every reason to declare emphatically that they do not identify themselves in any possible way with the programme developed at Hamburg. It may be admitted, he adds, that there was justification for the congress by reason of the need for social measures, but he contends that the efforts of the promoters of the congress should be directed exclusively toward finding a means of relieving their distressed and persecuted co-religionists. German Jews, he also states, consider and feel that they are Germans, and they do not merit the reproach cast on them by anti-Semites that they are a nation within a nation.

The idea of founding a Jewish national State, he concludes, has always been and is today Utopian, and even the most enthusiastic Zionist cannot point to one influential Jew who has declared himself ready to return to the Promised Land.

THE WORK BEING DONE IN MANUAL TRAINING AND DOMESTIC SCIENCE

Inspector Mowat Made Reports to the Board of Education at Their Meeting Last Evening on the Progress in the Above Classes.

DEVELOPING SKILL

Mr. A. Mowat, inspector of Public Schools, submitted to the Board of Education last night the following reports, which were considered to be very encouraging:

Domestic Science Report.

The Chairman and members of the Board of Education—

Gentlemen,—The study of household science was introduced into the city schools in February, 1908, at the same time as the work in manual training was begun.

The same schools and classes were represented in both branches of the study. While the boys are receiving instruction in manual training the girls are engaged in the practical work of household science.

On account of the training being limited at present to one lesson a week during the two years of the course, the work has so far been centred mainly upon the study of foods, cookery, table setting and serving. The course of study has been so mapped out, however, as to make it a real help to each pupil, no matter in what circumstances she may hereafter be placed.

Should the Board find it possible to extend the course, then the scope of study can be widened to include sanitation, house furnishing, house cleaning, clothing, home culture and kindred branches.

The instructor, Miss Steinhoff, has not narrowed the course to cooking, but has made it a study of the home. The home activities have been related to those of the school and the teaching of the mother in the home has been supplemented, not supplanted.

The vast noticeable benefits that the pupils are deriving from the study of household science are:

1.—Habits of neatness and orderliness.

2—Efficiency and self-reliance in the work of their hands.

3—A deeper interest in the home surroundings.

4—A greater regard for household service.

5—Economy.

All the classes show deep interest and enthusiasm in the work. This is due to the excellent instruction they are receiving.

The equipment is one of the best in the Province, and the greatest possible care is being exercised in keeping everything in order.

It is to be hoped that in the near future all of the Public Schools in both the junior and senior fourth classes may have the opportunity of pursuing this branch of study.

Manual Training Report.

The inspector also submitted the following report:

Gentlemen,—Manual training was introduced into the Public schools in February, 1909, and in the year that has elapsed a very fair start has been made in the work, the results of which are beginning to show.

The work has been confined to the boys of the senior fourth classes of the Central, South Central, Queen Alexander and Ashburnham schools, and those of Form I. of the Collegiate Institute.

This limits the course to two years with but one lesson a week of one and a half to two hours in length, for each student.

On this account nothing has yet been attempted beyond mechanical drawing and wood work. Should the course in time be extended to four years, as is the case in many cities, then metal and machinery shop work could be added with but little expense to the board.

The present equipment has proved quite satisfactory, and but few repairs or additions will be necessary for this year.

The attitude of the boys towards the work is one of enthusiasm. Their work shows thought and care, and considerable skill is being developed. The students are deriving both pleasure and profit from the work, and as they give expression to their ideas in their work, it must react beneficially upon all their school studies.

In the junior classes of the Public schools a start is being made in paper and cardboard construction in accordance with the regulations of the Educational department. This is designed as a foundation for the more advanced work of the manual training classes.

The success that has attended the introduction of the manual training course into the schools of the city is due almost entirely to the instructor, Mr. Scarrow, who has been untiring in his efforts to make this work of real educative value.

The boys are engaged in making useful articles for the schools, such as cupboards and science equipment.

Upon motion of Messrs. Crane and Hill the reports were adopted.

SOUR STOMACH

Is An Almost Certain Sign of Acute Indigestion.

If you occasionally have a taste of sour food in your mouth, it surely shows that the food you are eating is not digested, but instead, is fermenting and giving out poisonous gases.

Belching of gas is a common symptom at such times, and also that lump of lead feeling, as if your stomach was carrying a much greater load than it could stand.

If you want prompt relief and permanent cure, go to Wm. Madill's and get a large tin box of Mi-o-na tablets for 50 cents.

Wm. Madill knows that Mi-o-na is a highly recommended scientific remedy, and that is why he is ready to return your money if it fails to cure acid stomach, belching of gas, dizziness, biliousness, sick headache, foul breath, and all stomach troubles.

POST CARD COLUMN

March 1, 1910.

A high authority on diseases of the dog says: "The dog is perhaps more subject to fits, or more properly epilepsy, than any other of the domestic animals, owing to his high development of brain and nervous system—the animal on being attacked rushing away wildly, yelping as if in pain, running against objects as if partially blind, and perhaps snapping viciously. Many dogs are destroyed when in this condition, particularly if on a public thoroughfare, as the cry "Mad dog!" is at once raised; whereas, all the poor animal requires is a little medicine and attention to restore him to his normal condition.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

THE AFFINITY.

Peterborough was never fortunate enough to welcome the late Sir Henry Irving, but last night local theatergoers had an opportunity of seeing his son, Mr. Laurance Irving, who, supported by an excellent company, gave a finished and scholarly interpretation of Eugene Brieux's comedy, "The Affinity," a p lay that has attracted widespread attention and gained a well earned reputation in France and England and on this side of the Atlantic.

It is the story of a professor of natural history who is living with a pretty working girl. Although they have been together for five years, there seems to be nothing in common between them. The manner in which he strives to break the bond and become a free man again affords the playwright many opportunities for humorous situations and a display of Gallic wit and irony that is refreshing. The play is styled as a comedy and is played as such, but were the situations and lines not so amusing, the chances are that the fate of poor little Charlotte would prove rather sad to the average theater-goer. The professor succeeds in temporarily ridding himself of the girl, but by a ruse she brings him to her knees and the audience is left to assume that they go back to their life of daily quarrels.

The play is exceedingly well acted, not only by Mr. Irving as the professor and Miss Mabel Hackney (Mrs. Irving), but by the supporting cast. Mr. Irving shows a comprehensive view of the part of the professor, and Miss Hackney throws life and sympathy into her part, Charlotte.

No feature of the presentation was more enjoyable than the witty ten-minute speech made by Mr. Irving between the second and third acts in which he referred to the history of the play and paid a tribute to the memory of his gifted father.

"The Affinity" was well received by the audience, who appreciated its vivid naturalness, its truthful portrayal of life as it is.

Professional people, actors, lawyers, doctors and ministers, who frequently suffer from exhaustion and prostration as a result of excessive nervous strain find Ferrovim the invigorating tonic unequalled to strengthen and renew hte exhausted tissues of their body. THE QUEEN'S.

Toronto, the Queen City of Canada, has much of the beautiful. It is found in the many handsome churches, artistic public buildings, imposing offices, public drives, parks and gardens. Its government buildings are fine. Of hotels there are many; none, however, approaching the Queen's for perfect service, quiet comfort, and homelike surroundings, and the peculiar excellence of its cuisine. Its fame is far-reaching, and many remember with pleasure the hours spent within its hospitable walls. The charges are based on the American and European plans, and are as follows:

Rooms without bath (American Plan) $2.00 per day up; Rooms with bath (American Plan) $3.50 per day up; Rooms (European Plan) $1.50 per day up

TO ENTERTAIN THE BOARD AT DINNER

Domestic Science Classes to Prepare Dinner for Members of Board of Education.

At the Board of Education meeting last night Inspector Mowat, on behalf of Miss Steinhoff, invited the nine school trustees and nine other citizens to have dinner at the school next week. With this end in view the scholars will, with their own hands, prepare and serve lunch for 12.15, sharp, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week—six guests to sit down each day (18 in all). The School Board is to name the other nine citizens to make up the quota of 18. This cordial invitation was enthusiastically accepted by the board, and on motion of Mr. W. H. Hill, seconded by Mr. John Crane, Chairman, Dr. Burnham was authorized to name the board's companion guests.

DRUNK WAS FINED

Two Others Were Charged With Being Disorderly—In Court To-day.

Two young men were charged with being disorderly, at the police court this morning. They pleaded not guilty and the case had to be enlarged for a week. It is said that they fell against a plate glass window and broke it.

Another young man was fined two dollars for being drunk in a public place.

PREPARING FOR SYRUP SEASON

Already the hardware merchants are reminding the farmers of the near approach of the maple syrup season. While from a business standpoint this is not too premature, it is a rather tar cry to the first appearance of the maple sap and the delicious odour from the pot of boiling syrup. It will be several weeks yet before the farmer appears with the milk can with its delicious dark brown contents for which he considers himself duty bound to charge as high a price as possible without returning home with no sales. Just now the question is under discussion as to whether there will be a copious run of sap and in any case there is no doubt but that the farmers are determined to get the full value of their article, diluted though it may be from the back yard pump.

MR. JACKSON REMINISCENT

Down by the Steamboat Creek! How frequently this term is used by the many people who travel down the Otonabee River, when referring to a well-known locality about two miles this side of Rice Lake. Perhaps some one is referring to a 'lunge he caught, and, in order to make the story more impressive by going into details, he will say that he caught it just at the mouth of Steamboat Creek, or some other place. Or it may be, that some amateur sailor, who has just bought a second-hand, peevish, panting, puffing, paralytic launch, that someone else was just as anxious to get rid of, as the amateur was anxious to be loaded up with, after making a half successful trip to Rice Lake, will find his troubles commencing as he heads back for Peterborough. Perhaps night will come on, and he will lose his bearings. Ten chances to one that he will tell you that he got lost up Steamboat Creek.

There is no doubt, however, that Steamboat Creek is a deceptive looking channel, and not a few well-qualified wheelsmen, have, after dark, mistaken Steamboat Creek for the main channel.

But, how many of all those who have used the words "Steamboat Creek," know how it got its name? Mr. Robert Jackson can tell you. He knows all about it. If Mr. Jackson was not there when the incident occurred, his father was somewhere near at hand, or if he was not, some one else was, and that some one else told Mr. Jackson's father and Mr. Jacksons father told Mr. Jackson, and it came from the latter to me, and what more direct information would anyone want?

Years ago there was a steamboat on these waters called the Pimadash. In fact she was the second boat that ever plied on the Otonabee River, following closely after the Sir Francis Bond Head, which got her back broken, as already related. The Pimadash was owned by Walter Boswell. She was a side wheeler, with a walking beam, and all the rest of the junk, frills, and equipment that went to make up a modern craft in those days. More than this, she had an opening in one side of her hull through which the willing fireman could dump the ashes. That hole was the cause of the premature departure from the Otonabee River of the Pimadash.

One day as the good old Pimadash, with her flags flapping gently in the breeze, was coming up to Peterborough, she got a piece of timber in one of her wheels. It had to be taken out, and the captain who must have been a sort of handy man as well, decided to tilt the Pimadash over on her side, so that the wheel in which the timber was caught, could be got at, and the obstruction removed. In doing so the crew forgot to close the opening in the hull, through which the ashes could be thrown, and the vessel commenced to fill with water. As she started to go down they ran her towards the Monaghan shore, at the mouth of a creek, where she sank, and, thereafter Steamboat Creek became an oft referred to spot.

According to Mr. Jackson, the Pimadash was not raised, there being no means of raising sunken boats in those days, on these waters. She was stripped of her upper works, and her hull was left as a playhouse for the rats and snakes, and other slimy creatures of the Otonabee, at the mouth of the stream which thus derived its name.

"And her bones are there yet," said Mr. Jackson. "I have seen them myself. Next summer if anyone is curious enough, let them take a pike pole, and feel around a short distance from the shore, directly opposite the end of the roadway that comes down over the hill, and they will feel the ribs or the backbone, or the beams, perhaps, of the old Pimadash."

For many years her remains have rested beneath the mud and reeds at the mouth of Steamboat Creek. White water-lilies have each year sprung up and rested meekly o'er her, as if out of respect for her poor bones, blue-bills, blackbirds and bitterns have skimmed lightly above her; the farmer's steer has, in the twilight, tripped softly down over the steep bank and drunk his evening nightcap, careful not to disturb the waters above her; but her name is fast sinking into oblivion. Few of the present generation know of her; a generation hence she will be entirely forgotten, but the bombastic and untruthful angler, and the amateur sailor will still speak familiarly of Steamboat Creek.

MR. JOHN HART HONOURED ON EVE OF DEPARTURE

About 40 members of the class of Mr. John Hart assembled last evening at the home of Mrs. Hart, Sr., Bethune street, to say "farewell" to himself and family prior to their removal to the Northwest. Mr. Hart has been a valued member of the George Street Methodist Church and will leave behind a multitude of friends in the church and among the citizens generally. During the evening the pastor of the church presided over an impromptu programme of music and addresses. Refreshments were also served and the following address read by Mrs. William Stubbs, associated with which was the gift of a gold watch and chain made by Mr. Caldwell in behalf of the class, and a gold brooch by Mrs. Hinds.

Peterborough, Ont., Mar. 1, 1910.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hart.

Dear Friends:

It was with deep regret that we, the members of your Sunday morning class, heard of your decision to sever your connection with us. However, we must not be selfish, for what will be our loss will be others' gain.

This life, truly, is a series of meetings and partings; some are removed from our presence by that overpowering ambition that "lures to the West," others are removed from our midst by death, but it has been the kind decree of Providence that you are still spared to your family, whose future is uppermost in your mind. We trust that your desires may be fully realized, and that God's choicest blessing may attend you and your family, no matter where you reside. Canada has a great heritage, of which we, as loyal Canadians, are justly proud, and we are confident that if you are successful in gaining a goodly share of the "golden harvest" it will be used for the extension of His Kingdom. The opportunities for personal work for our Master are as varied in the Great Northwest as are the privileges for the acquisition of wealth, and we know from our association in church work that your efforts will be always for the uplifting of the unchristian Europeans that yearly throng our shores.

Since your appointment as leader of our class we have always noted your loyalty and self-sacrifice in devotion to the cause of Christ and His Church, and, while we are proud of your manly instinct to do the best you can for your family, we still lament your departure. In order that you may always retain a bright spot among your "pictures of memory" we wish you and Mrs. Hart to accept these slight tokens of our affection and regard for your many estimable personal qualities.

Signed on behalf of the class.

FURTHER SOLUTIONS

West Huron Member Believes That the Best Way Would Be to Train 40,000 Fishermen For Service In the British Vessels—Mr. C. A. Wilson of Laval Delivers a Telling Address In Commons.

Ottawa, March 2.—The naval debate had two features yesterday.

E. N. Lewis (Con., West Huron) provided one, when he balked at the naval policies so far introduced and suggested that the Government should, instead, train 40,000 fishermen each year for naval service in time of emergency.

He said he did not believe that four out of five men in Ontario were in favor of a Canadian navy, and he did believe that more even than that were opposed to a contribution to the British fleet.

M. Y. McLean (Lib., S. Huron) made the members gasp with astonishment when he asserted that Canada owed nothing to Great Britain, and declare that to argue that Great Britain had protected Canada from invasion was "silly."

The best speech in many ways from the Government view was that made by C. A. Wilson of Laval, who, by the way, is a descendant of a British soldier, but in reality a French-Canadian to the core. His contention is that we were steadily growing more and more autonomous, more and more independent, but always within the Empire. When Great Britain withdrew her last soldier from Canada, and withdrew the North Atlantic and Pacific squadrons, she did it with the conviction that Canada should look after her own militia, and eventually her own navy. We had taken up the first, and we were now taking up the second.

As to the plebiscite, he did not think the matter of defence should be referred to the people—the responsibility of acting was on the Government and on Parliament. Mr. Wilson spoke in English.

Victor Geoffrion (Chambly-Vercheres) ridiculed Mr. Monk's position, but said he was not entirely responsible for his policy. Mr. Bourassa had taken him upon Mount Royal, shewn him all the Province of Quebec and tempted him saying: "If you will obey and follow me, all this will I give to you." Mr. Monk had succumbed.

P. E. Blondin, Conservative whip for Quebec, opposed the proposals, both of the Premier and the leader of the Opposition, and declared for Mr. Monk's amendment. He challenged Mr. Lemieux or any other Minister to contest a bye-election with him in Champlain on the naval question.

Major Sharpe (Con., N. Ontario) in supporting Mr. Borden's amendment, said that he had addressed a letter to his constituents asking them to express their views. The result was that a small majority declared against any naval expenditure, a considerable number favored a Canadian built navy, but the great majority favored a cash contribution.

Major Sharpe said he was strongly opposed to contributions to the imperial navy as a permanent policy. He was inclined to agree with the argument that there should not be taxation without representation. But it was clear that there is an emergency and that if Canada is to remain an integral part of the Empire, her plain duty is to come to the assistance of the Empire. Our assistance should be commensurate with the danger we apprehend.

G. Boyer, (Vaudreuil) addressed the House in French, supporting the bill W. B. Nantel, Herrebonne, at midnight moved the adjournment.

A bill of somewhat radical nature was introduced in the Commons yesterday by Hon. George P. Graham.

At present, the Intercolonial Railway, being the property of the crown, be sued only by its own consent. The new bill abolishes the necessity of consent in small actions for damages, the limit being $200. The damages may be for negligence, but not under contract.

R. L. Borden asked the Premier if he would be able to make an announcement regarding the waterways treaty before the end of the session. Sir Wilfrid said: "All I can say is, I hope to be able to do so."

Killed by Live Wire.

Woodstock, March 2.—Word was received yesterday of a fatal accident to Wellington Weaver, of a well-known Blandford family. The young man came into contact with a live electric light wire in Vancouver.

He was 21 years of age and only left his home for the west a few weeks ago.

Three Perish In Fire.

Schenectady, N.Y., March 2.—The Railroad Y.M.C.A. building at Rotterdam Junction, belonging to the Boston & Maine Railroad, was totally destroyed by fire at an early hour yesterday morning and three men perished in the flames. The bodies have not yet been recovered.

DESIRES TO EXTEND

Premier Whitney Denies the Report That the Professors at the College Refused to Stay If They Did Not Get More Money—Mr. Fripp's Charity Aid Act Amendment Is Given Second Reading.

Toronto, March 2.—There was nothing of particular importance in the routine of the Legislature yesterday, aside from matters affecting the T. & N.O. Railway.

"My opinion," said R. R. Gamey, "is that the Government ought not only to take power, but to build the line right through to Sudbury."

The occasion of this utterance was a motion of Hon. Dr. Reaume to increase the salary of J. L. Englehart, chairman of the T. & N. O. Commission, from $3,500 to $5,000, and to take power to build an extension of the line into Porcupine.

"The knowledge of the Government so far," said the Minister, "does not justify the extension of the line, but conditions may arise to make it desirable before another session of the House."

There was no definite survey, he stated, which would indicate definitely the point of departure from the main line or the terminal point. It would, however, leave from a little north of Matheson, somewhere in the neighborhood of Monteith, and proceeding west or southwest, would pass to the north of Night Hawk Lake and on into Whitney and Tisdale.

Mr. Gamey, in support of his proposition to extend through to Sudbury, declared that it would open up a splendid mineral country. In addition to the new field there were splendid deposits of nickel and silver north of Sudbury.

Then the completion of the Manitoulin and North Shore Railway would give access to the water by the most direct route from the mineral fields. The Government road could have running rights over this line. In addition, running rights over the T. & N. O. should be given to the Canadian Northern and the C.P.R. into the mineral districts.

Moreover, the T. & N. O. should be extended west into the great clay belt. "We are constantly talking," he said, "of the value of this clay belt. It is our business to open it up as soon as possible."

"Why should we not," he declared, reverting to the extension to Sudbury idea, "build the road, where we know there is a country to be served, where we know that there is a business that would build up the road."

Both the Minister of Public Works and Mr. Gamey paid high tributes to the value of Mr. Englehart's services to the Government railway and to the province.

Sir James Whitney called the attention of the House to a statement in one of the morning papers to the effect that the staff of the Ontario Agricultural College had threatened to resign, and the rise in their salary had been made to retain them. "There is absolutely no truth in it," the Premier said. "No threat of resignation was made. If there had been, it would have been accepted."

A. E. Fripp (W. Ottawa), in moving the second reading of his bill to amend the Charity Aid Act, by which hospitals are allowed to collect from the municipalities from which patients come, the actual cost of their keep, explained that it was founded in the Manitoba Act, which had been found to work admirably.

Hon. W. J. Hanna thought the bill a good one, but the municipalities should have a chance to be heard before it should pass. The bill was withdrawn, Mr. Fripp explaining that his object in introducing it was largely to draw the attention of the municipalities to their duty.

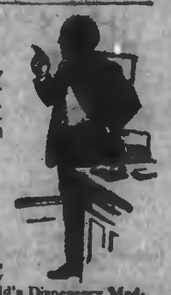
The bill of R. F. Preston (N. Lanark) to simplify the Medical Act to obviate constant recourse by medical men to legal advice on the meaning of its provisions, received its second reading and was referred to a special committee named from the legal and medical members of the House.

W. D. Macpherson (W. Toronto) carried the second reading of his bill to amend the Municipal Act. The bill which was introduced on the representations of the Toronto City Council, proposes to lower the property qualifications for voters in cities of 100,000 and upwards from $400 to $300. It also provides that where a large number of money bylaws are to be voted on they are all to be placed on one ballot.

Two other bills of Mr. Macpherson, also introduced at the instigation of the Toronto City Council, got their second readings. One gave permission to municipalities to enter into contracts for power for periods up to ten years, instead of only one year, as at present. This, Mr. Macpherson said, would allow them to compete with the companies on more even terms.

Mr. Macpherson's other bill places sheriffs and constables at the order of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board for the enforcement of orders.

When You Think



Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Stratford Shops on Full Time.

Stratford, March 2.—This week the large G.T.R. shops started again on full time, 55 hours per week, instead of 50. It is expected that the company's plans this summer will include a new station and the removal of the Toronto shops to Stratford, which will mean an addition of 300 to 400 to Stratford's population.

Stratford Experts Discuss Abattoir.

Stratford, March 2.—Last night the Board of Health conferred with a committee from the City Council re the establishing of a public abattoir, or at least a meat inspection. It is claimed that an important percentage of the meat sold on the market is diseased. Butchers are in favor of inspection.

To Discuss Queen's Problem.

Kingston, March 2.—The Presbyterian General Assembly Commission upon the proposed separation of Queen's University from the church will meet here on April 26, the day before spring convocation.

STOMACH DISTRESS SIMPLY VANISHES

No Dyspepsia, Gas, Heartburn, or Indigestion Five Minutes Later.

If you have some Diapepsin handy and would take a little now your stomach distress or Indigestion would vanish in five minutes and you would feel fine.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, out-of-order stomach before you realize it.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fulness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no undigested food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odours.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drug store waiting for you.

These large 50 cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disturbance.

Stanley Cup Holders Prepare For Game With Wanderers

Ottawa, March 1.—The expected change in the Ottawa hockey team materialized this evening, when Walter Smaill, over whom there has been so much wrangling, appeared at cover-point. Lake and Smaill, with Lesueur, comprised the defence, and another surprise was sprung when young Gardan Roberts appeared at rover, in Bruce Stuart's place. Clymer Shore, whose work was one of the sensations of the early season, and whom many regarded as a more effective cover-point than the great Fred Taylor, being off altogether.

It is likely that for Saturday's big game against the Wanderers, which will decide the championship, the Ottawas will line up in the above manner, Shore's work in the last few matches having prompted the Executive to make the charge. Smaill showed up in fine style to-night, and the officers believe that in moving him back to the defence they have made a very wise move. Smaill's knowledge of the Wanderer attack will make him a very useful man to block Glass, Russell, Gardner and Hyland in Saturday's battle. Bruce Stuart coached the champions from the side, they lining out against the Cliffsides. Soft ice prevailed and real fast work was out of the question.

Tickets are selling as high as $5 each in the hands of speculators, the plan having been disposed of two weeks ago. The greatest crowd ever will witness the deciding game. It was stated to-day that five thousand additional seats, if available, could be disposed of. It is likely that Chauncey Kirby and Bob Meldrum will be the officials, the clubs being unable to secure the services of Bowie and Campbell, because of the fact that they are going to New York with the Victorias. Both teams are praying for hard ice. Betting is even.

WOLGAST'S YOUTH PROVED TOO MUCH FOR THE BATTLER

Fourteen Years of Fighting Had its Effect on Nelson—New Champion is in His Prime.

Chicago, Mar. 1.—They don't improve much at the age of twenty-eight, after fighting the better part of fourteen years. They are at their best at about twenty-two, after three or four years of moderately hard scrapping.

That was why one had to give Ad Wolgast a good fighting chance of beating Bat Nelson in last week's championship scrap at Port Richmond, opposite San Francisco.

It was a case of a rip-tearing young snorter of a youth, rushing like mad toward the top of the lightweight heap, against a man who had seen his best days.

The youth had all the qualifications. Twenty-two years old, strong as a hammer thrower, quick as a hundred-yard sprinter, ambitious to a degree, and with enough cleverness in his own way to hold his own with any of them, the Michigan German boy was well equipped even for as tough and rugged a ring machine as Nelson.

Wolgast is the product of as hardy a race, perhaps, as the Dane is. Adding to that his youth and fearless disposition—for his courage never was a question of doubt anywhere—we had the ideal youngster who was worthy the steel knuckles and iron head of the former champion. You had to give him a good chance to win this fight and the world's lightweight championship. He had destiny written all over him at the time, even if the betting did not reflect such a condition. He was a short ender, and short enders have a trick of winning out on the coast.

The distance was the point on which the critics stumbled. They did not figure that Wolgast could stick along for forty-five rounds. This was the crux of the situation, and the general opinion was that while Wolgast would outbox and perhaps outfight Nelson during the early stages, the Dane would outlast him, as he has outlasted so many of the others, and ultimately win.

Critics said that Wolgast finished tired at the end of twenty rounds with Lew Powell. Tommy Gary of Chicago Heights, and his manager, who conducted him in that fight, say this is not so. I have been told that Tom Jones, Wolgast's manager, had the boy under wraps all the time, and that Wolgast could have knocked Powell out in the seventeenth round to a certainty if Jones would have permitted him to do so.

BRANTFORD DISBANDS

Dusty, Corbeau and Lehman Appear in Court To-morrow.

Brantford, March 2.—With three more games to play, the Ontario Professional League magnates arranged yesterday to call the remaining games of the schedule off, owing largely to the weather. The Brantford players were released to-day. The season just closed has been successful, financially and President Westbrook announced to-day that the circuit would be something bigger than a trolley line affair.

Corbeau and Dusty, who were arrested Monday night and bailed out, appear at the Police Court here Thursday afternoon, charged with fighting and disorderly conduct.

NO "SPITTERS"

Cleveland Will Dispense With Moist Delivery Artists.

Cleveland, Mar. 2.—The Naps will probably be the only American league club that will not have a "spit" ball artist among its pitching staff, and McGuire's corps of flingers is not a small one at that. Cy Young may use this style of delivery now and then, but he cannot be called a "spit" ball pitcher.

Joss and Falkenberg are two pitchers who simply will not use the "spitter," so if any of the Cleveland twirlers try it this year it will be some of the recruits. Manager McGuire says he was careful, when scouting, to pass up the pitchers who had to wet the ball in order to puzzle the batters.

"Some 'spitters' are all right, says McGuire. "I am not saying anything against men like Walsh and some others who have mastered that delivery without its affecting them physically, but just the same I prefer recruits who depend upon the good old speed, curve and change of pace. When you have a few 'spitters' on your pitching staff you are always running the risk of having your catchers put out of business."

SPORTING NOTES

The North Ward and Central School teams had an interesting game at the Brock Street rink on Monday night, the Centrals winning after a hard fought contest by 3 goals to 2. Referee Harold Smith gave every satisfaction.

The teams were:

NO. 8 WON BY A BIG SCORE

In the Garrison Indoor Baseball League at the armouries last night No. 8 Company easily defeated No. 6 Company of the 57th in a five-inning game by 41 runs to 10. The winners had all the best of the play, being stronger at the bat and in the field. No. 6 failed to connect with Laing's offerings with any degree of freedom, while No. 8 showed some snappy fielding behind their pitcher, Sergt. Harvey Staunton was a very satisfactory umpire. A number of citizens attended and appeared to take considerable interest in the proceedings.

The score by innings was as follows:

No. 8 Co.....	5	8	10	8	10	41
No. 6 Co.....	3	2	3	2	0	10

The teams were: No. 8 Co.—Laing, Dodds, Hunter, O'Brien, Belleghem, Clarke, Poole, Meyers, MacPherson.

No. 6 Co.—Giroux, Johnston, Stone, Primeau, Ringer, Halpin, Dawe, Moss, Hall.

MR. COLTON TO GIVE AN ADDRESS

Those who heard Mr. E. T. Colton, in the Y. M. C. A. last April, will recall his impressive address on conditions, commercial and moral, in the Orient. Only a small, but representative audience of professional and business men heard Mr. Colton on his last visit to Peterborough, and the requests that came to the committee to arrange for another visit from Mr. Colton were so many that he has been secured for March 11th. In order that a large number of citizens may hear him Mr. Colton will address a public meeting in the Grand Opera House on the evening of the above date. His address will be along the lines of that given before dealing with the place and work of the Young Men's Christian Association in non-Christian lands.

Mr. Colton will be accompanied by Mr. G. S. Phelps, who is home from Japan after spending some years in work among the men of the Flowery Kingdom. Mr. C. E. Trueman, who is a graduate of Toronto University, and who has been chosen to represent the Young Men's Christian Associations of Ontario in Japan will also addressth e meeting.

The various men's clubs of the city and church organizations are invited to attend this meeting, which will be one of the great educational as well as missionary value. No admission fee will be charged. Everybody will be welcome.

WEDDING BELLS

CAMERON—MOORE.

Keene, Ont., Feb. 28.—The wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Moore, Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock, of Miss Bessie Vivian and Mr. William Cameron.

The bride, who was unattended, wore a Princess frock of taupe ladies' cloth.

Rev. D. D. McDonald tied the nuptial knot after which the guests to the number of about fifty partook of a charming wedding dejeuner. The bride was the recipient of numerous and costly presents.

The happy couple will reside in Asphodel.

A pretty wedding was celebrated at the home of Miss Ellen Nelson, Wednesday, February 23rd, at half-past seven o'clock, when her niece, Miss Jennie Nelson, was united in marriage to Mr. Walter Hope.

The bride who was given away by her brother, Mr. Andrew Nelson, was prettily attired in a princess gown of satin cloth and carried a bouquet of white carnations. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Alice Speirs, who wore a frock of crepe de chene, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. Robert Hope, supported the groom. Rev. Mr. Johnston, pastor of the Methodist Church, tied the nuptial knot, after which the guests to the number of thirty-six, sat down to a charming wedding breakfast. The bride was the recipient of numerous handsome and costly presents.

The happy couple will reside in Otonabee.

WARSAW PEOPLE TALK OF GOING WEST

Five Families in the Village are Likely To Go.

According to reports from Warsaw a number of the residents of the Village have expressed themselves as preparing to go west and from the statements made it is believed that they will really leave for the West in the near future. The men referred to are Robert Crowe, Robert Hill, Percy Lloyd, Levi Payne, and Joseph Little. Other farmers in the surrounding townships have spoken of trying their fortune in the West. Yesterday two families left Norwood for the West. They were Mr. McNeally and Mr. Lennox, both of whom have resided in the village.

DEPUTATION IN TORONTO TO-DAY

A deputation from the County Council, including Warden Moher, left this afternoon for Toronto, where they are attending the meetings of the Ontario Good Roads Association. The City Council is represented by several of the aldermen, who went up last night. The County representatives will, while in Toronto, consider the question of a heating system for the County Council.

Constipation.

No one need expect to be healthy if the bowels are allowed to become clogged up. A free motion of the bowels daily should be the rule with everyone who aspires to perfect health.

Costiveness or constipation clogs the bowels, chokes up the natural outlet of impure matter, and retains in the system the poisonous effete waste products of nature, causing bad blood, dyspepsia, headache, biliousness, foul humors, pimples, boils, blotches, piles, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters has built up an unrivalled reputation as a cure for constipation and all the diseases which arise from it.

Constipation Cured.

Mr. Burns Woodcock, Nashwaak Bridge, N.S., writes: "For over two years my wife was troubled with constipation. She tried several physicians, but could get no relief, but after taking three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters she was completely cured and is to-day in good health. My wife and I cannot speak too highly of Burdock Blood Bitters."

22 CHILDREN IN 27 YEARS

Skowhegan, Maine.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dickey, of Canaan, announce the birth of a daughter, their twenty second child in twenty-seven years.

Mrs. Dickey was married when fourteen years of age and Mr. Dickey was only a few years her senior.

Of the twenty-two children, not one has ever suffered from a serious illness.

Here is health and strength and bodily vigor personified. The parents are well—therefore there have been no weak, puny, peevish children.

The health of the child depends much on the health of the parents. Thus, there is the necessity of expectant mothers especially paying great attention to their general health.

During these trying times, a "Fruit-a-tives" tablet before meals and at bedtime will regulate the bowels and kidneys, keep the stomach sweet, sharpen the appetite, assist digestion, strengthen the vital organs and invigorate the entire system.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers —50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. — or direct from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

His Worship Mayor Morrow was in Toronto yesterday.

Mr. J. J. Turner, Sr., went to Port Hope today at noon.

Mr. T. J. Carson returned last night from Picton and Trenton.

Mr. D. D. Watters of Campbellford was in the city yesterday.

Mrs. Burnham, 539 Downie, will not receive this month till third Thursday.

Miss Mabel Rae has returned from Toronto, where she had been for the past few days.

Mrs. G. N. Gordon, 360 Simcoe street will receive tomorrow (Thursday) for the last time this season.

Miss Effie Fowler, Concession St., East City, entertained a number of her friends at her home last evening.

Miss Ruth Carlisle left this morning on an extended trip to the North West, visiting Brandon and Grand Forks.

Miss Mabel Stewart, who has spent the past month with her aunt, Miss Leary, returned to her home in Toronto today.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church, held an At Home last evening at the residence of Mrs. S. Clegg, Stewart street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McIlmoyle, Gilmour street, leave to-morrow morning for Vancouver, B.C., where they will in future reside. Mr. and Mrs. McIlmoyle have been residents of Peterborough for a number of years and their many friends here will learn with deep regret of their departure, but join in extending their best wishes for continued prosperity.

Miss Gardner and Miss Reid of Richard Hall & Son, Ltd, returned last night after spending ten days in New York looking up the new spring styles in gowns, dresses and suits for the coming season. They were fortunate in seeing a great many of the Paris and Vienna gowns that were imported by the most exclusive New York houses, as well as the great variety of American styles shown by the leading houses at their opening display.

OBITUARY.

Toronto, Mar. 1.—Mrs. John Hoodless of Hamilton, one of the best-known women educationists in Canada, was seized with a sudden attack of heart failure while delivering lecture on Saturday afternoon at St. Margaret's College, Bloor street, and expired almost immediately. Mrs. Hoodless had been speaking for about 15 minutes when she was overcome by a fainting spell. Dr. Julia Thomas and Dr. Helen McMurchy, who were present, rendered every assistance possible, but with no success.

Mrs. Hoodless was 53 years of age. She was born in St. George, Ont., and in 1881 she married John Hoodless of Hamilton. She was very active in philanthropic and educational work. For fourteen years she was president of the Hamilton Y. W. C. A., and for ten years was treasurer of the National Council of Women. She represented Canada in the National Council of Women at London, Eng., and Washington, D. C. She founded the Ontario Normal School of Domestic Science and Art, and at the last meeting of the International Congress of Women, held in Toronto, was appointed chairman of the Technical Education section.

The deceased was a sister-in-law of Mrs. (Dr.) Hunter, Peterborough, and was well known in this city, where she has given lectures.

WILLIAM HEFFERNAN.

It is a painful duty to record the death of a highly respected farmer of Asphodel, in the person of William Heffernan.

Mr. Heffernan was born in Otonabee, but for over forty years has resided on Lot 14, Con. 4, of Asphodel; and during this time has won the favour and esteem of a host of friends, who now deeply sympathize with his wife and family in the loss of so faithful a husband and father.

After an illness of some time, during which he gradually became weaker, Mr. Heffernan calmly closed his eyes in death on Wednesday, Feb. 23. Two days later the remains were conducted to St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, Norwood. Rev. Father Conway celebrated mass, after which in a few beautifully chosen words he expressed the goodness and faith of the deceased.

After the ceremony the remains were conducted to the Roman Catholic Cemetery for interment. The bearers were the six sons of the deceased: Jeremiah, Patrick, Joseph, Thomas, Frank and George.

EX-CHIEF JOSEPH IRONS.

Ex-Chief Joseph Irons, one of the prominent residents and respected members of the Chemong reserve, passed away to his eternal rest in his 65th year on 23d Feb. He had been blessed with good health and vitality until 12 months ago, when he suddenly took ill and since has suffered much pain, but with patience until death relieved him of his torture. The ex-chief was a man of quiet and gentle disposition and with earnest spirit was always very much interested in the welfare of his community, where he was the leader. He was for 21 years in the capacity of chiefship and during these years he has untiringly devoted himself to the advancement of his people whom he loved. He their adviser and example and they was held with esteem by his people as feel the deprivation very keenly. He is survived by his wife and six children: Stephen, Wesley, John, Mrs. David Taylor, Laura, all of Chemong, and Mrs. John George of Rama, also a sister in L'anse, Mich.

ALEXANDER LAW.

The death occurred yesterday evening of Alexander McKenzie Law at his residence, 588 Aylmer St. The deceased was 71 years of age, and was born in Warsaw. To the sorrowing widow and members of the family left to mourn his loss, much sympathy is extended.

The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at half-past three from the family residence to the Little Lake cemetery.

MARVELLOUS HEALING POWERS

The most severe test to which a healing ointment is ever put is the cure of eczema. So successful has Dr. Chase's Ointment proven in the cure of torturing itching eczema that many people refer to its effects as magical and marvellous. After the first few applications it positively stops the dreadful itching and then gradually and naturally heals up the sores.

Artificial Limbs

Whether you have had the misfortune to lose one or both legs—either above or below the knees — our Artificial Limbs will prove perfect substitutes. We can create artificial limbs to suit the requirements of each individual case.

So perfect is the fit, and so exact is our knowledge of what these helps should be, that hundreds of people stand upright, walk and run with the help of our Artificial Limbs

For 48 years, we have applied brains, ingenuity, and a natural talent to perfecting helps for the afflicted.

We make not only Artificial Limbs—but also Spinal Supports, Trusses, Abdominal Supports, Elastic Stockings, etc. If you are deformed in any way, write us fully about your case, and we will fit you with the proper appliances.

THE IMPERIAL GUARANTEE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

Head Office: 46 King Street, West TORONTO

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Imperial Guarantee & Accident Insurance Company of Canada, was held at the Head Office, 46 King Street West, Toronto, on the 10th inst.

Mr. E. W. Cox, President of the Company, in reviewing the business of the year, made reference to the growing popularity of Accident Insurance, and its effect on the success of the business of the Company during the year. The amount of Insurance written was over $26,270,000.00, an increase of $1,940,000.00 over the business taken out in 1908. This is considered exceptionally satisfactory in view of the fact that the business of the Company is confined to Personal Accident and Guarantee Insurance.

That being an increase over the year 1908 of $4,817.64.

The Assets now total $206,974.00, and, after allowing for Reserve for unearned premium calculated on the full Government standard, and all other liabilities, the surplus for the protection of policyholders has increased to $213,447.19.

The following Directors and Officers were elected:

Edward W. Cox, President.

HEAVY FINE WAS IMPOSED

Local Liquor Dealer Found Guilty of Supplying Whiskey to a Man on the "Indian List"—Evidence Heard on Tuesday..

DID NOT KNOW MAN

An employee of the liquor store, who supplied liquor to a blacklisted person on Saturday last, was fined twenty-five dollars, by Magistrate Dumble, at the police court this morning. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared on behalf of the defendant. The evidence in the case was heard on Tuesday, and His Worship reserved judgment until to-day. The Magistrate stated that the defendant knew that the black-listed man was on the "list," but did not know him by sight. He should have taken steps to find out, the Magistrate thought, especially when he called the second time.

The fine is payable within the next ten days.

YOUNG ENGLISH BOY HAS NO HOME

Came to the Police Station for Refuge Last Night—Is a Bright, Industrious Fellow.

Harry Wall, a young lad of sixteen and a clean, healthy-looking fellow, was before Magistrate Dumble at the police court this morning. He is an English boy and has been in this country for the past two years. He came to the police station last night, seeking shelter. He had been with an Otonabee farmer and complained of ill-treatment while there. His Worship remanded him for a week, and in the meantime an endeavor will be made to get him a place with someone going to the west. Any person desiring to secure a good, industrious boy would do well to communicate with Chief Roszel.

WERE ARRESTED AS "VAGS" ON GEORGE STREET

A young woman and Harold McDonald were arrested last night, while returning to the latter's home. They appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning, charged with vagrancy, and were remanded until Monday. In the meantime they were allowed to go on their promise to appear. Rev. Canon Davidson appeared on behalf of the young woman. He is endeavouring to secure her a home.

CURE FOR WHOOPING COUGH

Mrs. William Hall, Bracebridge, Ont. writes: "My three boys had whooping cough and we could get nothing to help them until we used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It arrested the coughs at once and they kept on improving until they were cured at the cost of one dollar. This was not a large bill for so dangerous and distressing an ailment."

WILL VOTE TO-NIGHT

Edmonton, Mar. 3.—The vote on the great waterways railway question is expected tonight. R. B. Bennett at the close of a five-hour speech at midnight charged that W. R. Clarke, president of the company, had split up $300,000 with colleagues on the sale of bonds, and that he, Bennett, had been approached by financial interests seeking to influence his vote. He also stated that Attorney General Cross had demanded $12,000 for a campaign fund from the Automatic Telephone company as the price of contract for the Automatic system in Calgary.

EDDIE FOY POSTERS WERE RECEIVED WITH DISFAVOUR

Police in Ottawa Did Not Admire the Bathing Girl Pictures and Ordered Them Covered Up---Montreal Censor Also Had Something to Say of the Show Itself.

The Ottawa Free Press says:

Have you seen on the bill-boards during the last couple of days a bevy of chorus girls, clad in bathing costumes which are very pretty—as far as they go?

If not you stand poor chances of seeing them now. Chief of Police Ross this morning gave orders that they were all to be covered up forthwith.

These are the facts of the case:

"Mr. Hamlet of Broadway," a musical comedy, is shortly to be presented in Ottawa at the Russell by Eddie Foy and his company. In the play is a chorus scene which has made a tremendous hit everywhere—the surf scene—and the advertising manager, shrewd fellow, knew what he was doing when he left orders with a big lithographing concern for 'sousands and 'sousands of posters depicting the scene.

The ban was placed on the posters in Montreal this week, and Chief Ross, after inspecting them this morning, concluded that he was warranted in following suit.

The bill-posters are at work this afternoon, and by six o'clock not one of the posters will remain.

"I ordered the bill-posters to cover every one of the pictures up immediately," said Chief Ross to the Free Press this morning.

Now, lest the curiosity of some should became so keen that they should be sorely tempted to go out and rip off the coverings which the bill-posters are putting on, it might not be out of place to say a word or two as to the scene.

It's just a summer resort bathing scene. A band of chorus girls are stepping along the sand like a lot of blind little uniformed soldiers who think that their next stride is going to be on to a step several feet high.

Their two articles of apparel are a close-fitting postage-stamp bathing suit and a Doukhobor smile. The bathing suits, with their variegated colour-stripes, are very pretty.

But there was said to be a stormy time in Montreal last night; some of the patrons wanted their money back. The Morality Department had interfered and as a result the figleaf costumes of the bathing girls were supplemented by abbreviated skirts. This revised costume will be worn throughout the balance of the engagement there.

On Monday night's performance, before it was expunged the Montreal Herald makes this comment:

"It is all a matter of taste. Judging from a generous display of applause last night, and from other circumstances, it is pretty safe to say that the Princess Theatre will continue to be crowded at each performance of "Mr. Hamlet of Broadway," and that a goodly number of persons will find Mr. Eddie Foy edifying. Moreover, there is one irresistible attraction in the show besides the clowning.

"One of the chorus "stunts" presents an illusion of nudity more ingeniously contrived and more absolute than anything that we ever remember seeing at any first-class theatre in this city, in ten years—probably more absolute than any of the most daring achievements of the Royal Theatre.

"It is not the duty of dramatic criticism to pass a moral judgment upon this matter, especially now that our moral interests are safeguarded by an Inspector O'Keefe; we therefore merely write down the bare facts of the case. It may also be added that the gasp of amazement which arose from the audience when the stunt began lasted for something like five minutes. Applause was rapturous.

GOLD WATCHES AND LOCKETS STOLEN FROM SAMPLE ROOM

A large number of gold-filled lockets and fifteen gold watches, valued at over $300, enough to stock a small jewellery store, were reported lost to the police this morning by the representative of a Toronto firm of wholesale jewellers. The theft which, according to the story told the police, was a most daring one, and was committed some time yesterday evening in a sample room of one of the local hotels. The traveller of the firm had his goods on display after showing them to a local jeweller, locked the door and went out. Returning not long afterwards he noticed that several of the trays had disappeared, and the suspicions that were aroused by finding the door unlocked when he returned, were substantiated when he examined the display. No clue could be obtained of the party who carried off the goods. The police are investigating the affair, however, and developments are expected.

Henderson Taken To Norwood To Answer Charge Of Murder

Robert Henderson was taken to Norwood this morning to appear before Magistrate Edmison for a preliminary hearing in the County Police Court on the charge of murdering Margaret McPherson of Asphodel. From the evidence presented to the Coroner's jury and from the general nature of the case up to the present it is thought that the only result of today's session will be to commit the prisoner for trial. Mr. F. D. Kerr, who is acting for Henderson, was present this afternoon at the court, which was held in the village hall. Mr. R. E. Wood, Crown Attorney, was also present.

OBITUARY.

MRS. MARY HURLIHEY

The death occurred on Saturday night last of Mrs. Mary Hurlihey, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Thos. Murray, Rubidge street. The deceased was 81 years of age. She was born in Ireland, but for a number of years previous to coming to Peterborough, resided in Downeyville. Three sons, Messrs. Patrick, Edward and William, of Downeyville, and two daughters, Mrs. Thos Murray, of this city, and Mrs. Perdue, of Downeyville, are left to mourn her loss.

The remains were conveyed to Downeyville on Sunday and the funeral took place on Monday morning at 9 o'clock, from the residence of her son, William, to St. Luke's church, and thence to St. Luke's cemetery.

THOMAS PASCOE.

After lingering five years with paralysis, Thos. Pascoe passed away last night at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Alfred McCall, 465 Bolivar street. The deceased had patiently borne his affliction for years and as the result of his vitiated health and strength his death was not unexpected. The late Mr. Pascoe was born in East Whitby 73 years ago and over 50 years ago was married and is survived by his wife. The family moved to Peterborough twenty years ago and have resided in the city throughout that time. Besides being survived by his wife, there are three daughters and one son, as follows: Mrs. Frank Green of Maclin, Sask., Mrs. Jos. Holmes of Haliburton and Mrs. Alf. McCall of this city, and Mr. Louis Pascoe of Ovenstown, Alta. The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence of Mr. McCall, 465 Bolivar St., to the Little Lake Cemetery. The service at the house will be commenced at two o'clock.

Mr. Pascoe is also survived by his sister, Mrs. Samuel Cole of Bowmanville, and Mr. Louis Pascoe of Oakwood, near Lindsay.

WM. H. WHITE.

The death occurred at Nicholls Hospital this morning of Wm. H. White after an illness of about a week's duration. The late Mr. White was 80 years of age and was born in England. He lived near Lakefield for a number of years. To the sorrowing family left to mourn his loss much sympathy is extended.

The funeral will take place from the residence of his son, Mr. Wm. Henry White, Glenfaba Farm, Communication Road, to Ray's Cemetery, Lakefield, tomorrow afternoon at one o'clock.

MRS. BENJAMIN BROOKS.

Word has been received in the city of the death of Mrs. Benjamin Brooks in Hamilton. The remains will arrive here on the C. P. R. local this evening and the funeral will take place from Belleghem's undertaking rooms to the Little Lake Cemetery on Saturday at 2 o'clock.

WEDDING BELLS

WAND-BOWNSBY.

A quiet wedding was solemnized by the Rev. C. H. Coon, pastor of the Mark Street Methodist Church, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Mr. Edward Wapd of East City was united in marriage to Miss Fannie Bownsby, now of Peterborough and recently of Sheffield, Eng. The couple were unattended, and only the immediate friends were present. The bride was married in a neat travelling suit. They will reside in East City.

HOGS ARE HIGH

$8.75 Offered on Market To-day to Farmers.

Hogs at $8.75! Such was the price per cwt. offered the farmers on the market to-day. The figure is the highest that has been offered in a long time and as might be expected there are not many hogs throughout the country. This state of affairs is really one reason for the soar in prices and the farmers who look out into their pigless barnyards, are kicking themselves when a buyer comes begging for any kind of a pig.

A BLANCHE RING HIT

"The Top of the Morning to You" a Classy, Popular Song.

One of the local music dealers is offering for sale copies of the big song hit of "The Yankee Girl,,. It is "The Top of the Morning to You," and as sung by Blanche Ring is just as great a success as any of the many numbers which owe their popularity, in a large measure, to her. "Yip-I-Addy", Rings on My Fingers and others have got over the footlights more appealingly than the new song with which she is winning many encores every night.

SAVING THE EMPIRE.

The naval debate at Ottawa, like a wounded snake (or wounded sea-serpent) drags its slow length along. A statistical press gallery man in the tedious intervals—and they are becoming the rule, not the exception—has kept tab on the oratory, counting noses with mathematical scrupulosity, and marking, with similar exactitude, the time talked away. Up to the adjournment last night, March 2nd, twenty-one Liberals and twenty-one Conservatives had spoken more or less to the point, and more or less at sea. The Liberal speakers consumed thirty-two and one-half hours, and the Conservatives thirty-two hours and forty minutes, a total of sixty-four hours and ten minutes, representing, at the rate of $1,000 an hour, $65,466. This saving the Empire is a costly business.

MAD DOG.

The mad-dog scare may be scoffed at, but the fact that a ten-year-old Hamilton boy, bitten by a pet dog six weeks ago, developed raving hydrophobia, and died in fearful agony, shows that hydrophobia exists. It should be remembered that prevention is better than cure, especially as cure is very doubtful in a case in this terrible character of rabies. The keeping of dogs in this country is only an amusement. They are, as a rule, put to no form of usefulness, except, perhaps, for a fortnight in the deer hunting and partridge shooting seasons. They are of some use in northern Canada, and Labrador, where the huskie as a draft dog fills an indespensable place in the transportation economy of those wild regions. A dog kept in his right place—which, broadly taken, means that he shall not be allowed to become an annoyance, nuisance or menace to any human being or community of human beings is all right, but when he gets out of place and is liable to take rabies and destroy or endanger human or valuable animal life, his standing in society, so to speak, becomes a very practical problem. "Mad dog!" is a terrible cry; a warning of the most terrible danger of the most agonizing death imaginable.

CANADA, CUNCTATOR.

Canada shows herself self-respecting. The United States were very anxious to know whether Canada was going to take any steps to show why or why not she should come under the minimum schedule of the Payne-Aldrich tariff, which comes into effect the end of March. Canada showed a dignified indifference and attitude of delay upon the subject and remembering previous attitudes of the United States in reference to trade matters, decided that if any negotiations upon the subject were forthcoming the initiative must come from the United States. Canada let Germany stew in her own juice over the sur-tax, arising from her own action towards Canada, with the result that Germany got tired of it first and opened negotiations that led to a satisfactory tariff modus vivendi. In like manner the United States has yielded, and in a day or two two representatives of the United States Government will be in Ottawa to exchange pour parlers with Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Mr. Fielding, representing the Canadian Government and the Canadian people. Canada, cannot—no country can, be independent in the matter of trade relations with other countries, but she can be independent enough to avoid the humiliation of an attitude of cringing or currying tariff favours from any country. We shall, however, always be willing to meet reasonable tenders for negotiation. The fewer trammels imposed on trade the better for both international entente and material international interests. Canada has lost by a policy of delay, of biding the time.

WELL WORTH WHILE.

The discovery at Cobalt of an immense silver nugget, or, rather, argentiferous boulder, weighing nearly a ton, and of a value of five thousand dollars, is another evidence of Ontario possessing the richest silver field in the world. No wonder it is easy to float mining companies when nuggets like this are floating around. This is what is called a "floating nugget," and was found on the surface, outside of a vein. Yet the Ross Government was sneered at when it proposed to explore New Ontario, and on the strength of the discoveries made proposed to build a railway. In the very building of this line the silver deposits were discovered, and thereby hangs a tale of fabulous mineral productiveness. It is stated that the building of the Transcontinental Railway has led to the discovery of indications of rich mineral deposits, and systematic exploration is going forward. There is no doubt that the results will be the uncovering of possibly as rich mineral areas as exist in the Cobalt country. It is safe to say that not one mile of Canadian soil is without some form of natural wealth. The building of the Transcontinental Railway through the wilds of New Brunswick, Quebec, and Ontario will, before the lapse of much time, in the way of developed trade, development of resources, pay mile for mile the cost of its construction. The Cobalt silver district has in less than five years produced not only sixty per cent. of the total silver production of the Dominion, but has amounted to enough in value to pay twice or three times over, the cost of the provincial railway's total length of 200 miles, at $50,000 per mile, but we still have the railway, paying dividends—just beginning its usefulness as an agency in bringing into commercial and industrial existence immense natural resources in minerals, timber, agricultural produce, etc., etc. We can not very well have too much railway construction, especially into new and hitherto unserved regions. Canada's pioneer railways, great and small, have been money makers in the largest sense of that term, and are well worth while—worth many times over all they have cost, great as their cost has been.

HOME PATRIOTISM.

On strict principle in governmental and municipal battles a contract should go to the lowest tender; but there are occasions when the principle may well be waived and national provincial or civic patriotism—and profit—take its place. Toronto advertised for tenders for cast iron pipe. The contract was awarded to the Central Canada Foundry Company, of that city, not because it was the lowest tender, but because the concern tendering was a city, and, in one sense, a Peterborough, concern; which pays out in wages a yearly average of nearly a million dollars—$950,000 being the average figures. No small amount of the income of the workmen earning these wages goes into the city collector's chest, and practically all of it is spent in the city. It seems, therefore, that it is fair, if not in accordance with strict business principles, to consider this fact in awarding contracts. The difference between the Canada Foundry Company's tender and the lowest was only $270, on a $12,500 contract, and it is certainly worth the difference to give employment to local taxpayers, who constitute one of the numerous industrial factors upon which the importance and growth of the city depend. Patronize home industries is, in general, a wholesome motto to observe. That enterprise or undertaking is the most commendable that involves the greatest employment of the labour of our own resources. Apart from the consideration of duty of Canada to contribute to the defence of the Empire, the most compelling argument in favour of the provision of a Canadian navy is the fact that it is to be built in Canada by Canadian workmen, employing Canadian material, and is to be manned by Canadian sailors. Thus we have in Canada the expenditure of large sums of money giving employment not only to Canadian workmen, but employing the output of our great iron and steel industries, giving an impetus to a great many related industries, and forming a nucleus for a great ship-building industry. Thus we will not only build at home our own ships for commercial purposes, but, in turn, with similar, if lesser development than that of Great Britain, help build the shipping for other countries, which have not our resources in the way of coal, iron, and nickel. Why should the Clyde, the Tyne, the Laggan, and other British ship-building centres have the monopoly of building ships for the world at large? Canada has the iron, Canada has the coal, Canada has the nickel—all the raw material—Canada has the initiative and enterprise to become in time a great ship-building country. At the beginning it will, perhaps, cost more to build our own ships, but on the same principle, by the same process of agreement as that which led Toronto to give to a local firm a contract for iron pipe, instead of to a Scotch firm, we will be justified in building the ships of the Canadian navy at home. Patronize home industries whether they be represented by local merchants or great industrial establishments is a patriotic as well as paying principle to follow.

THE WORM TURNS.

Those who regard the Senate at Ottawa as in a state of suspended animation are under delusion. The Senate is alive and shows it; sometimes, by deliberate and lofty discussions of public questions and sometimes by sharp resentment of hints of its moribundity. The mills of the Senate grind slowly; but, under the manipulation of Senator Cloran they grind exceedingly small. Some times, to vary the metaphor. The worm turns and turns to sting. The Senate does things deliberately. There is no flippant precipitancy in giving their words of wisdom to the world. Yesterday was issued the Hansard report of the debates in the Senate on Feb. 3rd. Now, the Commons debates reports are served piping hot the next morning, after the eloquence they embalm has been emitted. On February 3rd Senator Cloran got after Hon. Geo. E. Foster, who, early in the session, described the members of the Senate as "old, decayed, and powdered material," and as "a body of incapables, and incurables." Senator Cloran took this as an attack personal to the members, and, after biding his time, struck, and struck to hurt. He raked Mr. Foster fore and aft. After detailing Mr. Foster's political pedigree, not omitting its worst features, the irate Senator spoke of the impudence of the man who dares, with a record as a "wrecker of temperance, as the chief conspirator against Sir Mackenzie Bowell," a member of the Senate, and "leader of the Government of that day," and who "even had the courage, or, rather, treachery one day to say that he was led by an imbecile"; and "that is the man that calls you and me incapable and incurable." Senator Cloran justified his reference to the subject by asserting that while the Senate knew and could properly appraise the man, Mr. Foster, who had slandered them, others did not—"how many of the new voters in this country know that fifteen years ago that gentleman declared on the floor of the House that the Prime Minister of this country was an imbecile?" The Senator pictured the enormity of applying the language of Mr. Foster to men like the late Sir George Drummond to "the Bowells, the Cartwrights, the Rosses, the men who with other senators had given such splendid service in the political arena, and the arena of commerce and finance. Was Senator Domville, who drove Mr Foster from New Brunswick, decayed and incapable?"

"I could go over the whole list of Senators here and point out what they have done, both in charity, science, art, journalism, literature, commerce, and in all the walks of life, and yet we have to tolerate denunciation, vituperation and vulgarity from Hon. G. E. Foster * * * unfair, unworthy, untruthful, and vulgar * * * perhaps the members of the Senate to-day compare favourably with Geo. E. Foster—oh, I will not use the comparison; it would be odious, because there is no man in the Senate who has a serpent's tongue and an empty heart."

The Senate, while it may not be unduly glorified, is by no means as inept, as it is painted; barring the matter of physical vigour the members of the Senate are men of ability, men of the wisdom and mental poise which years and experience bring. They are industrious; they dig up many valuable facts and in every way justify their existence as a body, perhaps better than some members of the Commons, who waste the time of the House and the money of the people—at the rate of $1,000 an hour, in talking desultory drivel over the naval bill till they are sick of it and of each other, and very probably of themselves.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Talk in the Dominion Parliament is worth—no, costs—about a thousand dollars an hour.

An Ottawa man struck a waitress, who had served him in a restaurant. Perhaps the sausage in its primeval state had rabies.

Not guilty, but don't do it again, would be a reasonable paraphrase of the Foster-Macdonald libel suit verdict, for even the most optimistic Conservative apologist.

If the oratorical big guns of the Conservative Opposition at Ottawa were using good ammunition they might have blown the "tin pot navy" out of the water long ago.

The country is still prosperous. The Customs revenue is charged with having broken all previous records, the total for the seven months surpassing the banner year of 1907.

The Mail and Empire demonstrates its ability to extract sunbeams from cucumbers, when it converts the verdict in the Foster-Macdonald libel suit into a triumph for Hon. G. E. Foster.

OPPOSITION IS VERY MUCH "AT SEA"

Ottawa, March 2.—During the naval debate the following are the chief alternatives to the Government policy advanced by members of the Opposition on the floor of the House:

1. R. L. Borden (Halifax, N. S.)—To give $25,000,000 to Great Britain immediately.

2. F. D. Monk (Jacques Cartier, Que.)—To do nothing until a plebiscite has been taken.

3. T. Chisholm (E. Huron, Ont.)—To hire Dreadnoughts from Great Britain.

4. G. H. Barnard (Victoria, B. C.—To construct a great Canadian navy and locate a considerable part of it on the Pacific coast.

5. C. J. Doherty (St. Anne, Montreal—To give $25,000,000 at once, but demand voice in Imperial foreign policy.

6. Dr. J. W. Daniel (St. John City, N. B.)—To build a Canadian navy in Canada, train the men in Canada, and then hand the ships over to the control of the British Admiralty.

7. E. N. Lewis (W. Huron, Ont.)—To contribute nothing and ask Great Britain to send over her alleged undermanned ships to provide training quarters for Canadian fishermen and sailors during the winter months while our navigation is closed.

MADE WELL AND STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dovedale, Sask.—"I was a sufferer from female weakness—monthly periods irregular and painful and a bad discharge, backache and wretched headache, and had felt weak ever since the birth of my twins. I tried doctors but got no relief. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after three weeks I was feeling much better, and now I am well again."—Mrs. Bessie Bily, Dovedale, Sask., Canada.

Another Woman Cured.

Christiana, Tenn.—"I suffered from the worst form of female trouble so that at times I thought I could not live, and my nerves were in a dreadful condition. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me and made me feel like a different woman. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold to suffering women."—Mrs. Mary Woody R.F.D.3.

If you belong to that countless army of women who suffer from some form of female ills, don't hesitate to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs.

For thirty years this famous remedy has been the standard for all forms of female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, fibroid tumors, ulceration, irregularities, backache, and nervous prostration

GODFREY TALKS BACK.

Sir James Whitney Orders Death of His Measure.

Toronto, March 3.—Quite a medical air prevailed in the Legislature yesterday, when the House spent a good part of the afternoon in discussing Mr. Downey's bill for better dealing with the prevention and cure of tuberculosis.

Last year, said Mr. Downey, about 2,650 died in the province from the dread scourge. His bill provided for compulsory notification by the attending physician and the sending of printed instructions from the Provincial Board of Health as the best method of treatment. The notification was quite confidential. There would be no pilcarding. There was no provision in the present stage of the law for removal of indigent patients by boards of health.

Several of the medical members of the House spoke on the bill, expressing approval of its main idea, while differing on details.

R. R. Gamey (Manitoulin) declared that from the experience he had had in his own family, he didn't believe that the people of the country would object to compulsory notification, or any other means which would tend to ameliorate conditions. It was unfortunate that the province did not go even further than the bill provided.

Dr. Godfrey (West York) said that in view of the line taken by every deputation that had waited on the Government during the recess, what was wanted was a careful investigation.

Sir James Whitney landed on the bill with both feet. "Why should the patient be taken from the doctor who made the discovery, and given over to a bunch of printed matter?" he enquired.

Sir James: "I'd just as soon trust the ordinary physician as any specialist I know of. I don't propose to make it possible for any poor man's home to be broken into under the pretext of benefit to the 'commune,' for that's what it means."

Allan Studholme (East Hamilton) spoke strongly in favor of the bill.

Hon. A. G. MacKay declared that it was up to the Government to take the matter up and deal with it in a provincial way. In answer to a question by Hon. W. J. Hanna, Mr. MacKay said that he meant taking it up in the way of investigation rather than the Government undertaking to treat the disease.

"We hear a great deal of race suicide," said Dr. Godfrey (West York) in moving the second reading of his bill to prevent procreation of confirmed criminals, idiots, imbeciles and rapist. "I tell you, we want to hear more about race culture." Last year the province paid nearly $1,000,000 to care for the unfit in jails and asylums. The way to train a child was to begin with his grandfather. The measure he advocated had been found eminently satisfactory in Indiana in 1,000 cases during 10 years.

Allan Studholme (East Hamilton) spoke in support of the bill, which seemed to meet with the approval of quite a number of the members.

Sir James Whitney said he hoped the bill would be withdrawn. If it were not, he hoped every other member would vote against it. He hoped such a bill would never again be introduced in the House.

Dr. Godfrey withdrew the bill under protest, alleging his intention of reintroducing it at some future period.

H. P. Innes (North Norfolk) introduced bills to allow township councils to appoint truant officers, and to have the selection of public and separate school sites determined by a majority vote of ratepayers' meetings.

Dalai Lama In India.

Darjiling, British India, March 3.—The Dalai Lama, the religious head of the Buddhists, who fled from Lhassa two weeks ago, and more recently was deposed as head of the Tibetan Government, when he arrived here was the object of a great display of religious fervor on the part of the Buddhists.

The Dalai Lama's progress was frequently halted by hysterical women craving permission to touch the high priest's garments, or thrusting up babies to be blessed.

The Dalai Lama and his suite were installed in the Druid Hotel, the Lama himself occupying the top floor, has no one is permitted to sleep on a higher level than he.

There is an altar in the corner of the room, and incense lamps burn incessantly before images of Buddha.

Babies suffer from chafing, scald head, skin irritation and eczema.

Eczema often develops from the milder forms of skin irritation and has a tendency to spread over the body and become chronic.

Baby eczema means torture for the little ones—anxiety and loss of sleep for the mothers.

But baby eczema is almost immediately relieved and certainly cured by the use of

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment

Unlike unsanitary powders, which clog the pores of the skin, it promotes healthful action of the skin and makes the skin clear, soft, smooth and velvety.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is a necessity in the home where there are small children. 60 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for a free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

Whiskey Labeled Groceries.

St. John, N.B., March 3.—The C. P.R. station agent at Woodstock was fined $50 for having liquor in a freight shed in a Scott Act county. Two barrels marked groceries were found to contain liquor shipped from St. John. Under the law the railway agent is liable.

New Hospital for Belleville.

Belleville, March 3.—About $71,000 has already been subscribed to the fund needed for a new wing to the hospital in this city. About $30,000 will be required, and the City Council will be asked to give $15,000 of it.

DIRTY KIDNEYS ARE CAUSE OF BACKACHE

A Few Doses Will Clean and Regulate the Kidneys and Make You Feel Fine.

If you take several doses of Pape's Diuretic, all backache and distress from out-of-order kidneys or bladder trouble will vanish, and you will feel fine:

Lame back, painful stitches, rheumatism, nervous headache, dizziness, irritability, sleeplessness, inflamed, or swollen eyelids, worn-out, sick feeling and other symptoms of sluggish, inactive kidneys disappear.

Uncontrollable, smarting, frequent urination (especially at night) and all bladder misery ends.

This unusual preparation goes at once to the disordered kidneys, bladder and urinary system and distributes its healing, cleansing and vitalizing influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completes the cure before you realize it.

The moment you suspect any kidney or urinary disorder or feel rheumatism pains, begin taking this harmless medicine with the knowledge that there is no other remedy at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will affect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker, or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Only curative results can come from taking Pape's Diuretic, and a few days' treatment means clean, active, healthy, kidneys, bladder and urinary organs—and no backache.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Steady—Hogs Generally Higher at United States Points.

LONDON, March 2.—Liverpool and London cables quote live cattle (American) steady, at 12½c to 14c, dressed weight; refrigerator beef firm, at 10c to 10½c per lb.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, March 2.—(Special.)—At the Canadian Pacific live stock market receipts of live stock were 400 cattle, 75 sheep and lambs, 600 hogs and 450 calves.

There was no change in the condition of the market for cattle since Monday. Supplies were small, and as the weather was more favorable than in the early part of the week the gathering of buyers was larger, and, as they all wanted a few to see them over until next week, the demand was much better, and an active trade was done at firm prices.

Choice steers sold at 6c to 6¼c; good at 5½c to 5¾c; fair at 5c to 5¼c; medium at 4½c to 4¾c, and common at 4c to 4¼c per lb. There were some very good cows offered, which met with a ready sale at 4¼c to 4½c, and common at 3½c to 4c per lb. A few choice, heavy bulls brought 4½c to 5c, and the lower grades went at 3½c to 4¼c per lb.

A feature of the market continues to be the strong feeling in hogs, and prices are steadily working towards the $10 mark, due to comparatively small receipts for this season of the year, because of scarcity of stock thruout the country. The demand from packers was good this morning, and sales of selected lots were made at $9.75 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

The market for small meats was quiet, on account of the continued small supplies coming forwards, and in consequence the feeling is very firm, and higher prices are looked for in the near future, unless receipts increase materially. The demand for lambs is good, and sales were made at 7c, with sheep at 4½c per lb.

The quality of calves offered was not very good, consequently prices ruled low at from $3 to $6 each.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, March 2.—Cattle—Steady; prices unchanged.

Veals—Receipts, 75 head; active and 25c higher, $6 to $10.75; a few, $11.

Hogs—Receipts, 1300 head; light slow and steady; others active and 5c to 10c higher; heavy, $10.25 to $10.35; mixed, $10.25 to $10.30; yorkers, $9.75 to $10.25; pigs, $9.70 to $9.75; roughs, $9.25 to $9.50; stags, $7.50 to $8.25; dairies, $9.75 to $10.15.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 2000 head; steady; sheep active; lambs slow; lambs, $6.25 to $9.40; a few, $9.50; yearlings, $8.25 to $8.80; wethers, $7.50 to $7.70; ewes, $6.75 to $7; sheep, mixed, $8.50 to $7.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Beeves—Receipts, 2239; market higher; steers, $5 to $7.10; oxen, $5.45; bulls, $4 to $5.20; cows $3.75 to $5; extra heavy, $5.50 to $5.65; dressed beef slow, but firm. Exports, four cattle to Bermuda.

Calves—Receipts, 1770; firm; veals, $8 to $11; culls, $5 to $7; barnyard calves, $3.75 to $4.75; dressed calves slow; city dressed veals, 11c to 16c; country dressed, 10c to 14½c; dressed barnyard and fed calves, 8c to 10c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 8495; sheep steady; lambs slow, but firm; sheep, $5 to $5.50; culls, $4; lambs, $8.75 to $9.75; culls, $7 to $8.

Hogs—Receipts, 6720; higher, at $9.90 to $10.10.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, March 2.—Cattle—Receipts, 11,000; market 10c to 20c higher; steers, $5.30 to $8.10; cows, $4 to $5.75; heifers, $4 to $6; bulls, $4.50 to $5.50; calves, $3 to $10; stockers and feeders, $4.25 to $5.75.

WOMEN'S WOES

Peterborough Women are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. John Wallace, of 323 Water St., Peterborough, Ont., says: "I have suffered with many painful and annoying symptoms of kidney trouble for over two years and could find nothing that would benefit my condition. My back was weak and a dull, heavy pain settled across the small of it, extending into my sides and shoulders. I could not sleep at night as the kidney secretions were so frequent and irregular that I would have to leave my bed a number of times. I was dizzy and would usually awake with a dull headache. Booth's Kidney Pills procured at Wm. Madill's Drug Store, cured me when all else failed. I am stronger and feel better generally. I can conscientiously recommend Booth's Kidney Pills and I would not be without a box in the house."

JOHN D. TO GIVE UP.

Oil King Will Now Give Away His Fortune.

Washington, D.C., March 3.—Steps were taken to-day to incorporate the Rockefeller Foundation in the District of Columbia. The bill for this purpose was introduced by Senator Gallinger and was referred to the committee on judiciary.

The scope of the foundation is very broad, although embraced in a very short section of the bill. This section reads:

"That the object of the said corporation shall be to promote the well-being and to advance the civilization of the peoples of the United States, its territories and possessions, and of foreign lands, in the acquisition and dissemination of knowledge; in the prevention and relief of suffering and in the promotion of any and all of the elements of human progress."

While drawn generally along the lines of the act, incorporating the Carnegie Foundation. It goes much farther, since the Carnegie Foundation is designed chiefly to provide for a scientific retirement and pensioning of superannuated teachers.

When asked regarding the bill Senator Gallinger said, "I am not authorized to speak for Mr. Rockefeller. But there is no doubt that Mr. Rockefeller intends to give away his money on a scale greater than any other living man.

"I am not acquainted with all the details of Mr. Rockefeller's plan, but it is expected that Washington will be made the headquarters."

The incorporators named in the bill are: John D. Rockefeller, John D. Rockefeller jr., Fred T. Gates, Starr J. Murphy and Charles O. Heydt. These incorporators are authorized to select associates.

Cushing States Position.

Edmonton, Alta., March 3.—Cushing, ex-Minister of Public Works, opened the debate yesterday afternoon in the Legislature. Whatever doubts he had had regarding resigning, had been dispelled by the discussion to date, he said. He had never seen a copy of the specifications until after the Cabinet had passed the specifications. He did not believe a dozen members would say the contract was a good one. The Government were guilty of not protecting the rights of the province.

The promoters, he declared, neither had money nor financial standing. Early in the year, the waterways engineers had discussed the route with him, but they had never come back. "They were told to stay away from my Department," said Cushing. "Now the Attorney-General has read me out of the Liberal party. I've been a Liberal all my life, and when the Attorney-General was in knickerbockers. I have been accused of making a bluff, but I am ready to put up a guarantee of half a million that I can build a road at the figures I have stated—$12,000 a mile."

Premier Rutherford, in replying, reviewed the situation on the lines of his speech delivered several days ago, introducing little new argument. He said he courted criticism of the bill. Last year the opposition was weak, and this year not much stronger. The Government had a first-class engineer, who would see that the specifications were lived up to.

Head Office: 46 King Street, West TORONTO

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Imperial Guarantee & Accident Insurance Company of Canada, was held at the Head Office, 46 King Street West, Toronto, on the 10th inst.

Mr. E. W. Cox, President of the Company, in reviewing the business of the year, made reference to the growing popularity of Accident Insurance, and its effect on the success of the business of the Company during the year. The amount of Insurance written was over $36,270,000 00 an increase of $1,240,000.00 over the business taken out in 1908. This is considered exceptionally satisfactory in view of the fact that the business of the Company is confined to Personal Accident and Guarantee Insurance.

The Gross Income for 1909 amounted to $319,741.76.

That being an increase over the year 1908 of $4,817.24.

The Assets now total $306,974.00, and, after allowing for Reserve for unearned premium calculated on the full Government standard, and all other liabilities, the surplus for the protection of policyholders has increased to $213,447.12.

The following Directors and Officers were elected:

Edward W. Cox, President. — Hon. F. T. Frost.
Noel Marshall, Vice-President. — R. Bickerdike.
Hon. Geo. A. Cox. — W. D. Robb.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

Life is very often painted as a hill, of which the upward slope is a journey full of responsibilities and dreams and visions and hopefulness, but whose summit, reached at the age of forty or fifty, is supposed to mark the end of all such things.

The first forty or fifty years of life are frequently referred to as a climbing-up, a forging ahead, while the last fifty or forty are agreeably painted as a sort of aimless meandering down.

As for instance:

"John Anderson, my jo, John,
We clamb the hill the gither;
And mony a canty day, John,
We've had wi' ane anither;
Now we maun totter down, John,
But hand in hand we'll go;
And sleep the gither at the foot,
John Anderson, my jo."

With all due respect to the Scottish bard and the tenderness of his picture, I think that's a very wrong way of symbolizing existence.

I think the whole of life should be one steady ascent of which not middle age but a rounded out existence should be regarded as the culmination and summit.

"Dear me, won't it be terrible to be forty and have nothing unexpected and new to look forward to," I heard a young girl say the other day, as she slipped her card into a birthday gift for a friend who was just about to reach the fortieth milestone.

But if forty looks upon life as a continual progress, and not as a climax and then an anti-climax, it has plenty to look forward to.

And I wondered as I heard that young person's moans if she knew how many men in commonplace positions at forty or forty-five have carved out great careers for themselves after that.

At 39 Grant was a country storekeeper, earning barely enough to make the two ends meet. He had failed in several ventures. If he had looked at life as so many people do he might have considered his age of possibilities past. But as all the world knows, he didn't.

William I. Buchanan, the late ambassador to England, up to middle life was simply a retail crockery merchant in a small town.

He was called to the management of a local exposition; showed such administrative ability that he was appointed chief of the agricultural division of the Columbian exposition; was so successful in that position that his work came to President Cleveland's attention, and he was appointed to the Argentine mission; fulfilled his duties there so well that he was rapidly advanced in the diplomatic field, becoming one of the most trusted men in the service.

Last fall a woman who had always dreamed of a college education, but in her youth had not had the time or the means for it, entered college at the age of 71.

There is no need for anyone to acknowledge a time when the possibilities and dreams and visions of his life are past.

Recollect what has happened to other people, and have the courage to believe that it is never too late for your dreams to come true, and it won't be.

"MOLLY MAY" ON TUESDAY

Julian Edwards' Very Latest and Greatest Comic Opera, Starring Miss Grace La Rue, Late With Sam Bernard.

Miss Grace La Rue has found a particularly well-fitting role for the fullest expression of her superior talents as a comedienne in the new comic opera, "Molly May," which was written for her by Walter Browne and Julian Edwards, and which will be presented at the Grand Opera House for the first time here on Tuesday night, March 8. For some time Miss La Rue has been the cause of much admiring comment, some of it extravagant, because of her singularly fine dressing. Her gowns indicate extraordinary cost as well as perfect good taste. This combination is not often met with in stage display, where money is abundant, and the individual is eager to shine in expensive costumes. Miss La Rue has had the advantage of art training, and the gowns with which she has adorned herself have always been of her own creation, gems of beauty and harmony of colour.

In the new opera, "Molly May," Miss La Rue's comedy powers are seen to their fullest for the first time in any role that she has assumed in her brilliant career, and the result has been a delightful surprise even to her keenest admirers. Her fine reading, delicate humour, superb singing and poetic dancing in this new musical piece have made for her a fixed place of respect among cultivated and critical theatre-goers. She has wisely summoned to her aid in exploiting this charming new opera, "Molly May," a company of remarkable individual excellence. In this selection are: James E. Sullivan, George Odell, Eva Faxon, Kate Rolla, Frances Keenan and Sidney Grant, with a score or more of the same established value. The chorus is large in number, and chosen with a consideration both for sightliness and vocal ability. The production as a whole is one of the most important of the year, and represents an expenditure of money that might well be called prodigal. As an example of rich and tasteful dressing, it is said that the costumes worn in the Models' Ball, in "Molly May" excel anything ever before presented in comic opera.

POST CARD COLUMN

To the Editor of the Examiner.

The management of theh various moving picture and vaudeville concerns operating in this city are to be congratulated for the way in which they aid in improving the moral and intellectual condition of the citizens. As an uninterested party, I must say that the pictures shown in these places of amusement are of great educational value, and there is nothing in any of them that should prove the least objectionable to the most refined individual or audience. The vaudeville acts are also above criticism and of superior excellence. Judging from the large number of people that patronize these theatres, it is self-evident that the people of this city appreciate the efforts made by the proprietors to secure the best pictures and vaudeville stars available. I believe in giving credit to those who deserve it. Clergymen and school teachers get theirs; and the fact should not be overlooked that the proprietors of moving picture theatres should get theirs.

AN OBSERVER.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir: In reply to South African Veteran's letter re the sergeant's smoking concert in memory of the battle of Paardeberg, which he says was won by Canadians, I am sure that not a non-com. in the garrison of Peterboro ever had such a thought in his mind as to the battle being won by Canadians alone, as the smoker was given in celebration of the victory of Paardeberg, in which their comrades took a part, the toast that was given was for the whole forces of the British Empire who took part in the surrender of Cronje. There is no doubt that this veteran has heard in our local sheets that the South African war was won by Canadians. Now, Sir, personally I have fought side by side with Canadians in South Africa. I have also worked with them in this country, and I am sure that not one of them has ever been heard to "blow" about what he did. He knows he did his best for the Mother Country and would be eager to do so again if he was needed. There is one thing I notice—this veteran mentions all regular troops. I hope that he will remember that the regular soldier is the fighting machine of the British Empire. What he does in active service or in time of peace he is only doing his duty for his King and Country, for which he took the oath when he enlisted, and when the regular army is to have all the praise and the irregulars none, what shall we do for volunteers in the near future if no recognition is taken of their work? Go to London and you will be told the war was won by the C. T. V.'s. Well let's pretend it. God bless them and all the boys who fought for the Empire's rights

I am yours, dear sir.

AN ENGLISHMAN AND AN S A. VETERAN OF THE REGULAR ARMY.

PROPERTY DAMAGED AS RESULT OF STOPPAGE IN MAIN SEWER

Board of Works Meeting Held Last Evening—Mr. S. Edwards Asks City to Make Good the Damages Resulting From Defect in Main Sewer.

OTHER MATTERS

That owing to a stoppage in the main sewer, damage to a considerable extent by water was done to a house of his on London street, was the complaint made by Mr. S. Edwards before the Board of Works at their meeting last evening. There were present, Alderman Hicks, in the chair; Mayor Morrow, Ald. Phelan, Duffus, Gillespie, and Metheral.

Mr Edwards stated that he had gone to great expense in endeavouring to find out where the trouble was. It was found that the main sewer was choked, there being nothing wrong with the connection to the house. The water backed into the house, flooding the cellar and doing considerable damage. Mr. Edwards said that he had lost a good tenant. McGregor & Reid's account, he said, for the work they had done, was $27.45, and he had to pay a woman five dollars to clean the house.

Ald. Duffus moved, seconded by Ald. Gillespie, that the matter be referred to the City Solicitor and the City Engineer.

Mr. S. Anglesey wrote, asking to have the banks of the creek along Murray street cribbed and repaired. —Referred to City Engineer to report.

Upon motion, it was decided that the street watering area should be the same this year as last, and that the rate for it be half a mill.

The request from some Benson St. residents to have a curb built there was again brought up. A report from the City Engineer as to the cost was read, but no action for the present was taken.

City Engineer Hay wrote, reporting several places in the city, where there were high sidewalks existing, and where protection was required. The cost for putting railways along these was estimated at $201.40. In view of the large amount that recently had been paid by the city in settlement of a claim for damages owing to an accident, caused by a high sidewalk this was considered a timely expenditure. It was moved by Ald. Phelan, seconded by Mayor Morrow, that the work be done.

Mr. N. T. LaPlante wrote asking for permission to connect with the outfall sewer, outside the city limits. The matter was referred to the chairman and City Engineer.

Regarding the building of platforms in certain places for the fire engine, it was moved by Ald. Duffus, seconded by Ald. Phelan, that these be built and charged to the appropriations of the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Mr. R. Elliott wrote asking to have a portion of Wolfe street, across Stewart street filled in. His request was complied with.

Mr. W. T. Carruthers wrote asking to be paid $6.15, money expended by him in connection with a sewer. Upon motion of Ald. Phelan and Ald. Gillespie it was ordered to be paid.

Ald. Metheral moved, seconded by Ald. Duffus, that a pipe drain be built on the north side of Charlotte street, from Park to Bethune streets.

NOT HEREDITARY.

Baldness Due to a Living Minute Germ.

Many people, even unto the present day of grace consider baldness due to hereditary influence.

Nothing is further from the truth—Baldness is caused by the onslaught of a minute organism, which secretes itself beneath the scalp and attacks the roots of the hair—causing it to lose its life and fall out.

This organism cannot be got rid of except by the free and persevering use of Newbro's Herpicide.

No matter how badly the scalp is effected the Dandruff surely disappears and hair health is restored when Herpicide is applied.

TOO MANY DOGS

And Not Enough Tags is the Complaint of Gilmour Street Residents.

A complaint has been received by the Examiner to the effect that there is a superabundance of dogs in the vicinity of Gilmour street, and what is more, that the said mentioned canines are not provided with that essential article of dog ware, a tag. At least no less than sixteen dogs were counted the other day and not one had a tag. It is not claimed that these dogs are mad, but some of the residents on the street are, and they have called upon the Examiner to call the attention of the authorities to the matter. It is bad enough that the dogs are a nuisance, but to allow them to bother people without even a license fee being paid for them is too much.

BUILDING PERMITS FOR MONTH SHOW INCREASE

Figures Given by "Construction" Indicate That There Has Been a Healthful Increase.

INTERESTING STATISTICS

"Construction" says of the building operations for January:

There is every indication that Canada is just entering on the greatest period of building activity the country has ever experienced. Judging from the pace established at the outset, the volume of work to be undertaken will practically double that which was recorded in the remarkable year just past. Januhry completely submerged all previous high water marks for that month, and all sections between orient and occident, and from boundary to hinterland, went flying past the boards as regards previous operations at this time of the year.

The average gain for the month, as based on comparative figures supplied Construction, was 94 per cent. and of the nineteen cities reporting, only two show a falling off. Those losses are noted in the case of Brantford and Sydney, but the amounts recorded for both last year and this, in either instance, are of such small proportions as to really denote nothing except a usual condition of mid-winter inactivity.

St. John, N.B., with a gain of 860 per cent., has the biggest increase for the month. Regina has the second highest standing, with an advance of 719 per cent. and Calgary comes next with a gain of 319 per cent.

The largest volume of work, however, was registered at Toronto, although Vancouver proved herself a most worthy competitor for first place in this respect. Both of these cities exceeded the six hundred thousand mark, which is almost double the amount recorded last year, the increase in either case being 79 per cent. and 72 per cent. in order named.

In fact, all cities, both large and small, forged ahead most substantially. Winnipeg over-shot last year's mark for the month, to the extent of 264 per cent.; Victoria annexed a gain of 65 per cent.; while Montreal came forward with an advance of 32 per cent. It might be mentioned in this connection, that Winnipeg, during the month, refused permits aggregating $875,000, owing to recent changes made in the building by-law regarding the first-class fire limits, apartment houses and surface foundations. All of these permits will be applied for again as soon as plans and specifications have been altered to meet the new requirements, so it is quite evident that this city is preparing to hold its own as regards building expansion during the coming year. Montreal and Victoria also, it might be added, have most excellent prospects immediately ahead, particularly in the way of important office and commercial buildings.

Other western cities besides those already mentioned, to show gratifying increases, are Edmonton, which notes an increase of 117 per cent., and Lethbridge, where an advance of 270 per cent. has been recorded. Prince Albert, but as yet an embryo town, indicates by an amount of $16,175, that the place is marching onward in a promising manner, especially so when one considers that in the same period in 1909 not one single project in the way of new buildings was undertaken.

In Ontario, besides Toronto's gain, other advances are: Ottawa, 141 per cent.; Peterborough, 210; London 153, and Fort William, 16 per cent. Windsor neither advanced or fell back, but simply broke even, registering the same amount as was recorded in the corresponding period of last year.

As for the East, this section of the country got away with a much better start than was experienced last year. Halifax, in attaching a gain of 74 per cent., finds herself in the very opposite condition from that which obtained at the beginning of 1909. This increase, together with the splendid advance made by St. John, precedes what is predicted to be one of the most active periods of development the East has ever enjoyed.

Sizing up the situation in general, the prospects are most brilliant. All sections send in promises of big things for the immediate future, and every sign and token indicates that within the next sixty days every branch of the building trades will be moving forward in a manner never experienced before.

A PLEASURE TRIP THROUGH THE THOUSAND ISLANDS

Interesting Paper by Mrs. T. McGrath Featured Meeting of the T. A. S. Ladies' Literary Society.

MUCH APPRECIATED

At the usual fortnightly meeting of the Ladies' Literary of St. Peter's T. A. S., the following interesting paper on the above subject was read by Mrs. T. McGrath:

"All dark and silent, each shadowy island,
Like a silhouette lies on the silver ground,
While, just above us, a rocky highland
Towers, grim and dark, with its pine trees crowned.

Never a sound, but the waves soft splashing,
As the boat drifts idly the shore along,
And the darting fire-flies, silently flashing,
Gleam, living diamonds, the woods among."

Passing down the quiet water of the Quinte, shut in from the great lake outside by the long, low-lying shore of Amherst Island, the grey mass of the city of Kingston is seen crowning the slope of the curving shore. From the western extremity of the curve the rising sun gilds the wide expanse of Lake Ontario.

Let us step on the steamer at Kingston in the early dawn of a summer morning, as the sun rises golden over the line of high land on the opposite shore of the harbour—the wide lake stretching calm and glassy in the blue distance in the West. The opposite islands stand out clear in their relative positions. Green Island, behind it Simcoe Island; to the west with narrow channel between it and Wolfe Island, Kingston rises on the gentle slope, the cool grey buildings and slender spires catching the warm glow of the level sunbeams.

Just outside the harbour you see the gateway to the St. Lawrence and a little fear mingles with your admiration, for you sail through a narrow stream that seems impassable to the eye. Look to the right and there is pretty little Cedar Island, in its new dress of delicate green and the soft, golden-brown of new life; to the left is historic old Fort Henry and the Military College.

Like a bird, the boat glides through and sweeps into the river-channel, and for an hour you enjoy the sweet, cool breezes and refreshing scenery. The rich and varied colourings of granite rocks, with overhanging foliage of every shade of living green are reflected in the glassy river, which the steamer's swell raises into a long, heavy undulation, and makes the scene like fairyland. All along, the islands are dotted with white tent-homes, like snowdrops in the woodlands. Groups of laughing, little children wave frantically from the shore, and you wave back again.

Just above Gananoque, the islands increase in number and beauty—to your great delight,—for you are now eager with anticipation of what is in store. A little further on and you grow bewildered as to which is the more beautiful—that one with the great jutting granite rocks fortifying its sides, picturesquely massed cedar and pine trees growing to the water's edge,—or this, so smooth and round, running out to meet the shining river, with the tender foliage of baby-vines creeping out of every moss-filled crevice. You cannot choose.

Round a bend and Fiddler's Elbow fascinates the vision, so narrow is the channel through which you are passing that you can almost touch the willow branches as they sway caressingly towards you. You pass close to rich masses of foliage mirrored in the still waters, bold rocks, flecked with the exquisite pale greys and greens of encrusting lichens, and shadowy bays, kissed by overhanging birch and cedar boughs, or bristling weather-beaten crags, tufted with solemn pines. Suddenly, you notice that it is very still. There is a hush in the air that can be felt. Emerald banks on each side seem to silently close in upon you. The water is so clear, the blue of Heaven's sky seems to sweep a veil of azure over it. Every leaf of tree or shrub is magically mirrored in this strangely quiet stream. The birds fly to and fro with softened whirr, they forget to sing, for you are passing through the Lost Channel, unequalled in mysterious beauty the world over.

A few minutes run and you have left nature unmolested and are in the midst of nature, which man has striven with every cunning device to improve. This is the land of the Stars and Stripes, where wealth and luxury abound. Stately castles, beautiful homes, magnificent yachts and house-boats, like floating palaces, pass by in a brilliant pantomine. Alexandra Bay, with its magnificent hotels, the abode of fashionable beauty and smart society, where you find the nations of the world represented by parties who have travelled many thousands of miles to see the world-famed Thousand Islands. At night the hotels are ablaze with electric lights, hundreds of red, yellow and blue eyes twinkle and gleam like elusive sprites.

With a long, winding cut across you come to Thousand Island Park, an ideal spot for the hundreds of families who theres pend the summer. It is a place essentially for women and children. The large hotel has broad, living verandahs, where the less energetic watch the tennis and croquet players who daily enjoy the little outdoor exercise. There is constant landing of hundreds of excursionists from every part of the Islands, and the nearest towns and cities. A large pavilion is erected where you can spend the warmest days on the river's edge and be fanned by refreshing breezes.

The islands now begin to darken into the rosy sunset glow, which makes the placid river reflect their beauty from a sea mingled with fire ere it merges into the purple light, and the plaintive refrain of the whip-poor-will adds pathos to the beauty of the summer evening.

The dusk is falling as you come to another fairy palace—Frontenac Hotel at Round Island Park, the most charming and exclusive resort. Now, you touch Clayton with the clang of the New York Central and the bustling activity of a United States town, but it soon fades in the distance.

Night has fallen and a great moon rises behind one of the dark islands, throwing its mysterious light over the scene, making a quivering pathway of fretted silver, on which the islands show like silhouettes—their wavy outlines of foliage marked out in shadow on the silver sea below. On and on, while you are wondering if it has all been a beautiful dream—a trip to fairyland through the land of Nod. The steamer's prolonged whistle assures you of the realistic, you can see the glittering of many electric lights and you collect the wits that have been wool-gathering for you are now entering the harbour of the old Limestone City.

The other numbers on the programme were:

Instrumental—Mr. R. Foster.
Selection by the Mandolin Club.
Recitation—Miss E. Bartley.
Vocal duet—Misses E. Flood and E. Kearns.

The next meeting of the Literary Society will be a very important one, being in the form of a "Scotch Evening," at which Rev. Father McColl will deliver a lecture.

FACES THAT PASS

The following verses are from the pen of Mr. Max W. Peters, formerly of this city and son of Mr. A. Peters, the local grocer, and are reprinted from the Winnipeg Tribune:

Get away by yourself and sit down and think
Of the millions of souls who must eat and drink,
Who must live through the hours, the days and the nights,
Must work and must suffer, must fight or delight.

Just stand on a corner on Saturday night
And watch the crowds surge 'neath the electric light;
And what you see in the faces that pass
Will make food for reflection and precepts that last.

You may take the first person that catches your eye;
Tis a man dressed in fashion, a spark in his tie.
His face, dissipated, looks weazened and old;
He's in need of a supper, if truth were but told.

The next is a woman in prime of her life,
Most becomingly dressed; she is somebody's wife.
How happy she looks, how contented her smile;
She is thinking of home and the dear ones the while.

"Paper, sir?" next draws your eyes down
To a face that is dirty and eyes that are brown;
The holes in his coat display a new toy
For a wee, tiny sister. "Ho! Ho! for a boy.

A young miss goes by with a smile and a smirk;
She is in from the country and looking for work.
Her face tells you nothing, but health and hopes high
And conceit in herself that she'll lose by and by.

Next comes a poor cripple, displaying his wares;
He is crowded and jostled, but nobody cares.
He surely looks needy; his hands they look cold,
But perhaps he's a spendthrift and spends all his gold.

A young man of twenty, with insolent eyes,
Stares the women and tries to make folks think he's wise.
The pasty-faced, vapid, conceited young snipe
Thinks ill of your sister, your daughter or wife.

A rustle, a shimmer, an odour of scent
Draws your eyes to an object of feathers and paint;
Her eyes stare you boldly; her clothes are too loud;
She's the chronic "street walker" you see in all crowds.

The stout business man dressed in pepper and salt,
A cigar in his mouth may his virtues exalt,
But under the cover of style and finance
His heart may be empty, and his pockets, perchance.

These are only a few of the faces you see.
Some are good, some are bad, as their cases may be.
There's the young and the merry, the feeble and old,
The sick and afflicted, the gross and the bold.

You may stand on that corner from seven to twelve
And see seraphs of heaven and demons of hell.
Be they Greek, Jew or German, Italian or Pole,
Be they native or foreign, they all have a soul.

SHE HAD THIS SORE FOR FOUR LONG YEARS!

NOW ZAM-BUK HAS HEALED IT.

You can't equal Zam-Buk for sores of all kinds, whether recent or of long standing. That is the opinion of Mrs. Wilson, of 110 Wickson Ave., Toronto. Mrs. Wilson says:

"About four years ago a sore spot appeared on the right side of my face, just about the angle of the jaw. This spot increased in size until it became about half an inch in diameter, and very troublesome. I went to a doctor, from whom at different times during fifteen years I had received treatment, but the ointment I got did not have any good effect on the sore. I had it cauterized, tried poultices and all kinds of salves, but it was no good, and this continued for four years. A sample of Zam-Buk was one day left at our house, and I used it.

"Although the quantity was so small, it seemed to do me some good, so I purchased from Mr. Bauld, Druggist, Scollard and Yonge streets, a supply of Zam-Buk. Each box did me more and more good, and to my delight, before I had been using Zam-Buk three weeks, I saw that it was going to heal the sore. In less than a month it was healed! It has now been healed for almost a year, and at the present time the only trace of it is a small patch of skin a little whiter than the surrounding tissue. If Zam-Buk can heal a sore of this kind, which had defied all treatment for four years, I am sure it must be a thing needed in scores of homes."

Try Zam-Buk for eczema, ulcers, sores, bad leg, varicose, ulcers, skin eruptions, face spots, baby's rashes, inflamed places, piles, blood-poisoning and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c all druggists and stores, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse "just as goods" and imitations.

MAKING ARRANGEMENTS FOR EARL GREY CONTEST

Mr. R. J. Devoy spent yesterday in Toronto arranging with the officials of the Royal Alexandra Theatre for the performance of the musical play at the Earl Grey Shield competition next month.

Up to the present about sixteen settings for plays are expected to be called for, and the Peterborough Amateurs were first in the field to take full advantage of the splendid equipment of the Alexandra.

A piece of courtesy very much appreciated was lending a stage front to a tea house for the production here, which Mr. Devey brought back last night.

The locals are working hard, fully aware that not only is their own play a most difficult one to perform, but that in this competition they are up against entries from every musical centre in Canada, some of which have been organized for years.

A specially selected cast is sparing no trouble in preparing the work, and the citizens of Peterborough will shortly have an opportunity of seeing and hearing the members in a comic opera, which has only been given once by amateurs in the Dominion of Canada.

SHINES IN SOCIETY

Women With Fascinating Hair Always Attract Attention.

If you are a woman with dull, lifeless, ordinary hair, do not feel distressed. Just make up your mind now that you can have just as luxuriant and captivating a head of hair as any other woman, and quickly, too.

Just go to Mr. Madill's this very day and get a bottle of Parisian Sage. Use it as directed, and in two weeks your scalp will be free from dandruff, your hair will be soft, lustrous and beautiful.

If your hair is falling out, Parisian Sage will stop it.

If your hair is thin, Parisian Sage will make it grow in heavily.

If you have dandruff it will quickly vanish when Parisian Sage is used.

It prevents hair from turning gray, stops itching scalp almost instantly and is the ideal dressing for daily use.

A large bottle costs only 50 cents at Wm. Madill's, or direct, all charges prepaid, from the Canadian makers, Giroux M'f'g Co., Fort Erie, Ont.

MAKE CITIES PAY SHARE

Gathering In Toronto Decides That Part of the Cost of Feeder Highways Should Be Sustained by the Towns Benefitted — Provincial Appropriation Too Small—New System of Railway Taxation.

Toronto, March 3.—That the provincial appropriation towards the construction and maintenance of county roads should be increased; that the City of Toronto should be subjected to a levy in aid of the up-keep of roads leading into the city, and that the system of taxing railway property should be changed, were sentiments which were strongly voiced at the opening session of the Ontario Good Roads Convention in the county buildings yesterday.

Delegates are in attendance from all sections of the province, and instructive speeches were delivered on the subject of road construction and supervision.

A lengthy program has been drawn up, which will not be concluded before Friday afternoon.

The president of the association, W. H. Pugsley, Richmond Hill, in an opening speech cast considerable light on the present situation as regards the good roads campaign. He said that of the 35 counties of Ontario, only 16 had taken advantage of the provincial act whereby the province contributes to the county roads funds. Thus far $700,000 had been contributed by the province towards country roads. He pointed out that York County had not adopted the good roads system because of adverse conditions, such as the scarcity of good material, but the county was now evolving a scheme whereby the city would co-operate with the county in the maintaining of better roads contiguous to the city.

The meeting derived considerable enlightenment from Geo. Diehl, engineer of Erie County, New York, who spoke of road construction in that state. It had been demonstrated that 25 cents would go farther than a day of road work as applied under the old statute labor regulations.

The statute labor system, he thought, should certainly be abolished in Ontario, as it had been in many of the States.

In New York State, Mr. Diehl continued, there were three classes of roads, state, county and township. The state roads represented about 4 per cent. of the milage and were constructed entirely at the expense of the state. County roads were constructed and maintained at the joint expense of the state, counties and towns, and represented about six per cent. of the mileage. Township roads made up about 90 per cent. of the mileage and were constructed at the expense of the municipality and the state, the state paying two-thirds of the cost.

Patten an Accident?

New York, March 3.—James A. Patten of Chicago sailed for Europe yesterday.

He said he had bought some cash cotton yesterday and predicted unless next summer's cotton reached 14 millions, which he considers unlikely, the price of cotton would reach a surprising level.

The next wheat crop, in his opinion, will be as large as last year's, and in Texas the largest ever.

"I regard myself very much as an accident," said he. "I should not advise a boy to enter such a field unless I knew he was especially adapted for it.

"The majority of men have no judgment. The professor, if you remember, told the bankers who were entertaining him at a recent banquet of the American Bankers' Association, that they were narrow-minded, saw nothing but New York and discriminated against the small man in business.

"Now, where he lacked judgment, in my opinion, was in saying such things to men who had invited him to address them at a banquet. But apparently he was talking about things with which he was not wholly conversant and that is 'a lack of judgment.' There is no truth in his statement that the banks of New York or anywhere else, discriminate against the little man."

A Priest In Trouble.

New York, March 3.—Rev. Innocenze Montcerri, of the Church of Mary, Help of Christians, in East 12th street, was paroled in the custody of the coroner yesterday for further examination on a technical charge of homicide.

Mrs. Maria Mata Iogudice, a young Italian woman, died on Feb. 24, and Father Montcerri admitted to the coroner's jury that he had applied a heated aluminum button to her body when he called upon her to render spiritual comfort.

He burned her body, he said, to relieve pain of which the woman complained, having been convinced of the efficacy of such treatment by trying it on himself.

Ross Rifle Aimed At

He Says That the Only Way to Have Rule Withdrawn Is For Canadians to Keep Away For a Time—Manitoba Protests Against Conmee's Bill—Extent of the Mad Dog Damages Is Not Known.

Ottawa, March 3.—The proceedings at the opening of the House yesterday were unusually interesting.

Col. Sam Hughes took a fling at a recent rule passed by the National Rifle Association (Great Britain) which seems to be aimed at the Ross rifle, and suggested that until the rule was removed Canada should refuse to send a team to Bisley. But the colonel thinks conspirators in Canada are at the bottom of the trouble, and he had a little duel with Col. Worthington.

Up till now, said Col. Hughes, the rifle which Canadian marksmen used at Bisley had been unquestioned, because the service arm of Canada was also the service arm of the Mother Country, but last year an attempt was made to prevent the use of the Ross rifle at Bisley. The N.R.A. this year had passed a new rule barring rifles other than the service rifle of Great Britain, unless one of the pattern had been deposited with the N.R.A. three months before the opening of the Bisley meet, and had been "approved for use." This left it uncertain whether the Ross rifle would be used, the effect being that riflemen were afraid to purchase the Ross arm.

No self-respecting association or Governments, he declared, would tolerate such treatment of its official rifle. The objections to it had been engineered by conspirators in Canada in the pay of the small arms companies of England, in order to discredit the Canadian rifle. So far as he was concerned not a Canadian rifleman should go to Bisley.

Dr. Reid: "How would you make them change the rule?"

"Let the Canadian boys stay at home," replied Col. Hughes, "until these gentlemen are brought to time."

The British Government should be notified that the Ross rifle was the official arm, and that the production of a certificate by a Canadian marksman that the rifle he proposed to use was the official arm of the Dominion should be sufficient.

Col. Worthington described the question introduced by Col. Hughes as a tempest in a teapot. The real question at issue was whether or not the Ross rifle mark II., double star, was the standard arm of the Canadian militia. He declared it was not. Only five hundred of these rifles had been ordered, and they were issued only for competition purposes.

Col. Hughes declared that letters had been written to the N.R.A. by Col. Worthington, not for the purpose of helping rifle shooting, but to prevent the use of the Ross rifle at Bisley.

Col. Worthington said any remarks upon, or stand against, the Ross rifle which he had made, had been for the purpose of placing at the service of the militia the best weapon possible.

In reply to a question in the House by Richard Blain, of Peel, Hon. Sydney Fisher said that the outbreak of rabies in Western Ontario, had seemed to call for some action by the Dominion authorities.

The veterinary director-general had communicated with the Ontario authorities and, as a result of negotiations, it was decided that the Dominion Department of Agriculture should issue an order to put certain parts of Ontario under a dog muzzling order. The provincial authorities issued an order at the same time that the municipalities should issue a similar order. He was not in a position to note any condition which would justify the cancellation of the order.

Major Currie asked if there was any possibility of compensating farmers whose stock had been destroyed by mad dogs. Mr. Fisher replied that they would have recourse against the owners of such dogs.

Major Currie remarked that that would be difficult, as a mad dog would run fifty miles, and the owner would be hard to locate.

Mr. Conmee's bill to incorporate the International Waterways Canal and Construction Co., didn't get much farther ahead at yesterday's session of the railway committee.

J. F. Whitson, chief surveyor of lands for the Ontario Government, attacked the project from an engineering standpoint. He said that between Lake Superior and the height of land there was an elevation of 1,100 feet to overcome. At certain points there was not enough water to float a canoe.

Hon. Geo. P. Graham remarked that he presumed that the promoters had satisfied themselves as to the water supply.

Mr. Whitson contended that along the highest stretches of the proposed canal there was no continuous stream.

The lockage, he said, would be three times as heavy as on the Erie Canal, and the cuttings would be through solid rock.

Mr. Conmee contended that it was an engineering question which the committee could not settle. He maintained that the water supply was better than that available for the Georgian Bay Canal.

The elevations to be overcome, he said, were not as great as on the Erie or Georgian Bay canals.

Because of the fear that the company plans to utilize the Winnipeg River, and so would imperil the source of Winnipeg's power, Alex. Haggart, M.P. for that city, suggested an adjournment until the City Council and Manitoba Legislature could be heard from.

Geo. Bradbury, M.P. for Selkirk, supported him, remarking that there were millions of horse-power awaiting development on the Winnipeg River, and it was important that this should not be allowed to pass to the control of the company.

On a strictly party vote, the Haggart amendment was defeated, when the preamble to the bill was carried. Hon. Mr. Pugsley then renewed his suggestion of reference to a sub-committee, adding Mr. Haggart to the committee.

Adjournment for a week was ordered, and in the meantime the westerners will be notified.

Two Trains Were Lost

Operator Carries Views of Terrible Disaster at Wellington, Wash., Where Great Northern Trains Are Swept Down Into the Canyon by Huge Rivers of Snow and Ice — 12 Bodies Recovered.

Everett, Wash., March 3.—Latest estimates last night place at 40 the number of persons killed by the avalanche that crushed two Great Northern passenger trains at Wellington.

While only 23 persons are known to be dead, nearly a score are thought to be buried in the wreckage.

Communication with Wellington is maintained only by men on snowshoes.

Twelve bodies has been removed from the 150-foot gorge, into which the snowslide swept the train.

These Canadians are dead: Frances Starrett, Lillian Starrett, both children of Chemainus, B. C.; and the missing are A. Beles Moberley, Ontario: H. D. Chantrell, Vancouver, and R. G. Thompson, Vancouver.

Superintendent O'Neill of the Great Northern made his way to the wreck late yesterday at the head of a party of doctors and nurses. The treacherous trip down the precipice was made on snowshoes.

The nearest telegraph station, Scenic, Hot Springs, is three miles below Wellington, down a precipitous grade that is covered with a deep blanket of snow that may slide down the mountain at any moment.

The Wellington telegraph operator arrived at Scenic yesterday almost insane from the scenes he had witnessed.

The railroad company is making strenuous efforts to reach Wellington from both sides of the mountain range. Relief trains have been despatched from Everett with supplies and a wrecking crew.

The road is blocked in several places by smaller slides and the high temperature leads to the fear that more may occur to impede the relief work.

The avalanche rolled down the mountain at 4.20 a.m. The two trains with three locomotives, four powerful electric motors, the depot and water tank, were swept off the ledge and deposited in a twisted mass of wreckage at the foot of the mountain.

The noise from the snowslide, which was a mile long, could be heard throughout the valley.

The first news of the disaster was brought by John Wentzell of Wellington. He staggered into Skyhomish, 18 miles from Wellington.

"All wiped out," he cried, "nothing but smooth snow where the tracks stood and the trains were dumped into the canyon."

He was so exhausted that it was several hours before he could give a coherent story.

Are Your Children Properly Fed?

LET us talk about the right feeding of children.

You want your children of course, to grow up strong and healthy; you want to equip them for the battle of life with rugged constitutions and good red blood.

Now, the first step is to see that they are properly fed. And these words "properly fed" mean much in the diet of youngsters. For it isn't quantity that counts, but quality. Overfeeding is just as bad as underfeeding. And wrong feeding is worse. Persistent feeding of wrong food results in gases and acids, stomach troubles, impoverished blood.

There is no better food under Heaven for growing children than plenty of first class bread and butter. They thrive on it, grow strong and fat and rugged. Their systems crave it because it is a complete, well-balanced food. But the bread must be good—the very best, and the best is made from flour which contains the full nutriment of Manitoba Red Fyfe wheat—for only wheat of this character contains enough of the right quality gluten to balance the starch. Gluten makes bone and muscle, starch makes fat. It takes the right combination of both to make properly balanced bread.

Bread made from OGILVIE'S ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR is richest in blood building, muscle building, health building gluten. Children like it better and thrive better on it.

With "Royal Household" you need never have anything but the very best results for it is always the same, absolutely uniform, year in and year out and is just as good for pastry as it is for bread.

If parents knew this important difference between ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR and other flours they would never use any but "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD".

Send in your name and address to The Ogilvie Flour Mills Co. Limited, Montreal, and get that splendid book of tried Recipes called "Ogilvie's Book for a Cook".

Troubled
Every Winter With Severe Colds.
Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup Cured Her.
Mrs. W. J. Hammond, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I beg to say that I have used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for my youngest girl who was troubled every winter with bronchitis and very severe colds. At night she would keep us all awake with her coughing until I tried your Syrup, which gave her instant relief. After the first bottle was finished I got more, and always kept a bottle in her room at night. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is certainly a wonderful thing in a case like the above mentioned and no one can praise it too highly. I have taken every opportunity to recommend it to all my friends and relatives."
There is nothing to equal "Dr. Wood's" for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Asthma, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Pain or Tightness in the Chest, and all Throat and Lung Troubles.
It prevents Pneumonia and Consumption.
Put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25 cents. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Teaching a Dog.

To teach a dog to "speak" hold some dainty before him when he is hungry. At first he will not know what is wanted, but say "Speak!" to him, and when he barks, which he is pretty sure to do when he finds the morsel still beyond his reach, feed it to him at once. He will soon associate the word "speak" with the bark and the dainty.

SAYS CITY LEAGUE IS DETRIMENT TO HOCKEY

"Fan" Claims That the Local Organization Does Not Permit of Any Possibility for a Winning O. H. A. Team.

GIVES HIS REASONS

Sporting Editor of the Examiner.
Dear Sir:

I am writing you on a subject my treatment of which may cause a howl of adverse criticism, but my views, I believe, will be endorsed by anyone who carefully considers the matter. I refer to the City Hockey League, to which body we see so many complimentary references in the local papers. Many people seem to consider the City League is all that keeps hockey going in Peterborough. I think, on the other hand, that the City League is a detriment to the game when viewed from the standpoint of Peterborough as a whole. As long as the players on the Peterborough O. H. A. teams are allowed to play in the City League we will never have a team representing Peterborough in the O. H. A that will be able to do themselves or their city justice. This has been amply proven in the last couple of years, and there are several reasons for the result. In the first place, the players get too much hockey and are never really in shape for a hard battle. There are enough O. H. A. games scheduled in the early part of the season without the added strain of a hard City League game every week to add to the work of the players. Players get stale and are never on edge as they should be for their O. H. A. games.

Then again players picked for the O. H. A. team in the past have often been placed in different positions, and the result has been that players have been expected to play forward one night in the O. H. A. and defence the next night in a City League game, conditions under which no player can be expected to do his best. It is ridiculous to suppose that men can play to best advantage against outside teams when they have to practise and play two different positions and with extra City League games thrown in amongst the O. H. A. fixtures.

The only way we can expect a good O. H. A. team for Peterborough is to pick seven or eight of the best available men at the commencement of the season, get them out to practice early, make them practice together on every possible occasion, arrange a couple of exhibition games before the O. H. A. season opens, and above all keep them out of the City League. Then when the team is called upon to play an O. H. A. fixture they will be in the pink of condition, used to each other's style and with no City League rivalry to worry about and possibly cause a lack of esprit de corps.

As for the City League, it is practically a local concern, the winning or losing of which amounts to little in way of glory, at least of outside glary. What is the City League compared to a winning O. H. A. team? It is merely, or should be, at least, a kindergarten for young players who as soon as they have shown they have class enough for the O. H. A. should get out. It might be all right to allow City League players one game in the O. H. A., and if they are found wanting, to give them a chance to go back. But that should be all. Of course, such conditions might make the class of hockey in the City League a good deal slower and less scientific, but who cares a tinker's cuss about that as long as Peterborough has a winning team? Better no City League at all than a good City League and an O. H. A. team that is useless.

I hope next season the wise magnates of the City League will begin to realize the truth of these arguments and not imagine that the hockey sun rises and sets around the City League. One would imagine from the excitement over the result that it was a Stanley Cup affair instead of merely a little local fence corner league.

Yours, etc.,
A TRUE FAN.

BRANTFORD ACCOUNT OF DUSTY-LEHMAN SCRAP

The Brantford Expositor says of the mix-up in which Ben Dusty was involved the other night: The row was precipitated, even as it was, by Lehman, the Berlin goal-keeper. Ben Dusty, by a quick piece of work, jumped through the statue-like defence of the visitors, and banged the puck in for Brantford's eighth goal, right off Lehman's stick, himself falling into the Berlin nets. This was enough to arouse the Dutch goal-keeper, but it was a clean, pretty piece of work. A minute later Dusty started a similar play and again getting in close to Lehman, the latter chopped severely at the Brantford player. In a jiffy the pair were at it, having cast aside their sticks, and Dusty put Lehman down. At that, it was a mere hugging match, an affair witnessed in almost every kind of game played at one time or another, but the players came up and made it worse. In a jiffy Jim Jeffries' punches and Johnsonian side-stepping featured the play, while the crowd looked on, breathless with excitement, wondering where it would all end. During this interval, there was a ponderous hammering at the gate to the ice and there finally emerged Chief Slemin and Sergeant Wallace. Both officers jumped into the fray as if it were nuik for them at breakfast, and while the crowd found its voice and commenced to yell, the next piece to the play was the exit. Chief Slemin had Corbeau and Wallace had Dusty, and they had them so they couldn't get away. Both players were arrested on the spot and taken to the police station, where they were bailed out. It only took another minute for Manager Williams to call quits.

SOME BASEBALL NEWS
EARLY TRAINING NOTES

The Toronto Ball Club has signed a right-hand pitcher named Stewart Gurney, who last season was with Dubuque of the Three I. League, winning 14 and losing 15 games, with a tail-end club. Previously he pitched for the Aberdeen club of the Pacific Coast League.

Gurney will be given a thorough trial on the spring training trip.

DELEHANTY AT HOT SPRINGS.

President McCaffery of the Toronto club received word last night that Outfielder Joe Delehanty had left St. Louis for Hot Springs, Ark., to get into condition. A despatch from there today says over 100 major and minor league players are snowbound there, an unexpected storm having prevented all outdoor work.

BISONS' SPRING TRAINING.

The spring training for the Bison herd will begin at Macon, Ga., Monday, March 21, and Manager "Billy" Smith has requested his 18 players to be on hand March 20. The men, with the exception of a few, will go direct from their homes to the Georgia plantation. "Rip Van" Vowinkel, Fred Burchell, Jack White and Business Manager James McGraw will comprise the party that will leave Buffalo.

It is probable that Henline, William, East and Brain will make the trip together. They all live in Illinois. McAllister goes from Detroit, Robertson from New York City, Johnson from Rossville, Ga., Kissinger from Adrian, Mich., Wally Woods from Portsmouth, N. H., Taylor from Olathe, Kan., Malarkey from Cleveland, Okla., Dubuc from Waterbury, Conn., Carmichael from Eaton, Ind., Sheetz from Nashville, Tenn., and Starr from Andover, Ohio, where he is taking the baths.

GRAYS HOLDING OUT.

All is not harmony in the Providence Club, Manager Jimmy Collins is having trouble with some of the players who returned their contracts unsigned. Harry Hoffman and Jock Cronin are said to be among the number. Manager Collins has been getting next to Patsy Donovan lately and has landed Outfielder Henry Perry, whom the Red Socks picked up on the York team of the Tri-State League last season. Perry is a good hitter, having walloped the horsehide at a .304 clip, which included seven home runs and numerous two and three-base hits.

After reported April 4 the team will take 12 days for limbering up and will hike to Lawrence, Mass., to tackle Jimmy Bannon's team, Brockton, Fall River, New Bedford, Hartford and Worcester (interposing a Sunday game at Rocky Point April 17 with the Boston Red Sox) will be visited by the Grays to get in condition for the opening of the Eastern League season with Toronto April 21.

JIMMY ARCHER SIGNS.

Jimmy Archer, the Toronto catcher, has signed his contract with Chicago and is on his way to join the team at West Baden, Ind. Archer was not a high-priced man last year and was procured by Chicago from Buffalo for the draft price. He made good from the start and almost caused the Chicago fans to forget the mighty Kling during the playing season. Therefore, when his contract came this year and did not call for what the big league star usually gets, Jimmy sent it back with a courteous but firm intimation that there would have to be more doing. He is to receive over $4,000 for the coming season.

EXHIBITION AND BASKET BALL.

The game for this evening will be played at 7 o'clock in place of 8 o'clock. A good game of basket ball is being looked forward to, and it is everyone's opinion that the people will get all that they are looking forward to in the line of basket ball.

GYMNASIUM EXHIBITION.

Everything has been arranged for a good evening for Thursday evening. There are to be some good gymnastic stunts by the boys of the P. A. C., and the Leaders Corps are going to put on some beauts. There will be drills of all kinds, but not the kind that people soon get tired of watching and want to leave. There will be a clever exhibition of club swinging, tumbling, hand balancing, etc.

Invest 15 cents and enjoy a good evening.

SOME OF THE TRAINING STUNTS JEFFRIES DOES?

Now, that little JimmyJeffries is back in his home town, all ready to settle down to serious work, it behooves the bards who sing the praises of modern heroes to delve down deep into the secrets of the retired champion's daily routine. Every one of his moves from now till the day of the big battle with Johnson will be chronicled as diligently as the pulse and respiration of a dying king.

From the reports of Jeff's daily work already slipped to us over the wire from the coast, the big fellow's daily schedule will probably read something like this:

6 a.m.—Arises and takes ice cold shower. Jumps out of second storey window and works up an appetite by running 50 miles on a rail fence. Comes home and puts on clothes.

6.10 a.m.—Sits down to light breakfast, which consists of three dozen hard boiled eggs, several loaves of bread, and 36 baked apples. Rests for one minute.

7 a.m.—Chops a few thousand cords of wood, plows a couple of thousand acres, milks all the cows in the neighbourhood and then starts to climb Mount Aasop, which reaches to an altitude of 10,397,461 feet above the level of the sea. To make the climb worth while as a means of taking off weight, he packs a ton of coal in each hand.

9.15 a. m.—Boxes 80 rounds with as many different trainers, wrestles with Gotch and eBrger and poses for an army of camera fiends.

10-12—Studies part in new comic opera rewritten by Berger, which will be produced after the big fight.

12 noon.—Eats two whole cows for a lunch.

1 p.m.—Allows a neighbouring butcher to give him a shave in orred to get his face accustomed to severe punishment. Spends the next hour with his surgeons.

3 p.m.—Takes lesson on the kettle drum. Jeff is very fond of music.

4 p.m.—Moves the piano and all the rest of the furniture out of the house and back again.

4.30 p.m.—Fires the cook

5 p.m.—Gets measured for a set of false teeth to be prepared in case he should lose his regular ones in the big fight.

6.30 p.m.—Orders a banquet consisting of 20 elaborate dinners and eats them all himself.

8 p.m.—Calls on an old school chum and pays back a dime he borrowed 27 years ago.

8.30 p.m.—Gives theatrical entertainment for benefit of society for the prevention of clams in clam chowder. Does three hours' Gym work.

12.30 a.m.—Retires.

PUBLIC INVITED TO THE INDOOR BALL GAMES

Two good games will be seen in the Garrison Indoor Baseball League at the armouries to-night and a cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend. There is no admission charge and the fans of the city will be heartily welcomed to watch the game from the public gallery at the west end of the building. The men are breaking into the game with enthusiasm and to-night's games should be the most exciting yet played in the League.

No. 7 Company of the 57th will play No. 2 Company in the first game, commencing at 7.30 o'clock, and the 24th Field Battery team clashes with No. 6 Company at 9 o'clock.

WILL BATTLE TO-NIGHT FOR CHURCH LEAGUE TITLE

There will be an important meeting in the Church League to-night when the George street and St. Andrew's teams will clash at the Auditorium Rink at 8.30 o'cloc. The ice is not in the best of shape and it will be a gruelling contest between the two teams. A win for St. Andrew's will give them the championship while on the other hand should the Methodists win the teams will be tied and another game will have to be played. These two teams have met twice before this season, the first resulting in a tie and the second in a win for George street by 6 goals to 5.

Had Heart Trouble.

Nerves Were All Unstrung.

Wherever there is any weakness of the heart or nerves, flagging energy or physical breakdown, the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will soon produce a healthy, strong system.

Mrs. M. McGann Can Do Her Own Work Now. Debec Junction, N.B. writes:—"I wish to tell you what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me. Three years ago I was so run down I could not do my own work. I went to a doctor, and he told me I had heart trouble and that my nerves were all unstrung. I took his medicine, as he ordered me to do, but it did me no good. I then started to take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and had only taken one box before I started to feel better, so I continued their use until I had taken several boxes, and I am now strong and well, and able to do my own work. When I commenced taking your pills I weighed 125 pounds, and now weigh 185 and have given birth to a lovely young daughter, which was a happy thing in the family. When I commenced taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, I could not go upstairs without resting before I got to the top. I can now go up without any trouble."

GEORGE STREET THE WINNERS

Captured the Championship of City Basketball League by Easily Defeating the Y.M.C.A.

The City Basket Ball League closed last night when George Street Church won the championship by defeating the Y. M. C. A. team by a score of 38 to 9.

The game was a good exhibition of basket ball, and the losers had more of the play than the score would indicate. The notable features of the game were the team work of the winners, Cressman's shooting and the poor shooting of the "Y." players.

The line-up was as follows:

George Street—Cressman (22), Miller (14), Downing, Best (2), Payne.

Y. M. C. A.—Martin, M. Miller, McCarrell, Bartlett (2), McLaughlin (7).

Referee—Laing.
Timekeeper—Nichols.
Scorer—Hastie.

INDOOR BASEBALL

Indoor baseball is beginning to boom at the armouries as evidenced by two fast games that were played last night. The 57th Bugle Band put it over the artillery artists by the score of 24 to 19 in a game that was all to the merry. The teams lined up as follows:

57th Bugle Band: Sharp, p; Butcher, c; Mills, rf; Seymour, 2b; East, ss; McWilliams, ss; Drysdale, 3b; Wetherstone, 1b; Fitzgerald, lf.

TRENTON, 3; WINNIPEG BANKERS, 2

Trenton, March 2.—An exhibition game of hockey was played here to-night between the Northern Crown Bank players of Winnipeg and the Intermediates. At half time the score stood 2 to 1 in favour of Trenton. Full time 3 to 2. The line-up:

Northern Crown Bank—Clark, goal; Fowler, point. White, cover point; Watson, right wing; Gardiner, left wing; Bartley, centre, Borland, rover.

Never Too Late To Put On

WEATHER STRIPS, like Fuel, are necessary in this climate. They keep the house cosy and warm, free from drafts and freezing, and save you fuel

You won't be selfish if you spend the money necessary to fit Chamberlain's Metallic Weather Strips on your doors and windows.

With best wishes, etc.

DEEP-SEATED COUGH

CURED IN 5 HOURS

New Home-Made Syrup.

(Cut this out.)

From Boston Press.

Progress in medical compounds never ceases, and now it is stated by a prominent medical man that any deep-seated cough or cold on the lungs can be actually cured in five hours by the clock. Opium and morphine have been resorted to in the past, as relief measures. But now it is learned that the system must be treated to rid it of inflammation and congestion. A tonic laxative cough syrup does the work so quickly and thoroughly as to be almost magical. What heretofore has taken weeks to cure can be accomplished in hours. Get this formula filled or mix it at home and always kept it on hand: One-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Shake the bottle and take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then take one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times a day until the system is purified and tones up. Give children less according to age. One filling will usually cure a whole family, as the dose is small.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

The good fortune that appears to be attending Peterborough theatregoers in the matter of opportunities of seeing first-class attractions is keeping up. Messrs. Turner and Sons are in a position to announce to-day the appearance at the Grand on Tuesday night next of "Molly May," Julian Edwards' latest and best comic opera, starring the well-known favourite comedienne, Miss Grace La Rue, formerly with the celebrated comedian, Sam Bernard, Miss La Rue, one of the prettiest and cleverest women in the musical comedy field, has never been seen here before, but is destined to be a warm favourite. Among the supporting company is Sidney Grant.

LONDON'S SMALL LEAD

London, March 2—London defeated Collingwood here to-night in the first of the home and home games in the O.H.A. Intermediate finals by 5 to 4. The score at half time was 3 to 3.

The ice was an inch deep in water and it was in consequence poor hockey. It is admitted that Collingwood was the more fortunate. Two of their goals were decidedly of the "fluke" order. In spite of the handicap both teams worked hard and they kept the fans, numbering over 2000, on the tip-toe of excitement.

London went to the front at the start and within two minutes of halftime it was 3 to 1 in London's favour. It was here that Collingwood scored their two lucky ones, tieing it up for the half. The second half was decidedly London's.

Carrothers on the wing, was the pick of the London men and Beatty and Fryer starred for the Northerners. Eddie Wettlaufer refereed with entire satisfaction to both teams. London goes to Collingwood for the return game Friday.

The teams:

The Ladies of Peterborough May Now Have Beautiful Hair. McDermid & Jury Have the Article And Guarantee it to Grow Hair.

McDermid and Jury, backed up by the manufacturers of SALVIA, the Great Hair Grower, guarantee it to grow hair.

SALVIA destroys Dandruff in ten days.

The roots of the hair are so nourished and fed that a new crop of hair springs up, to the amazement and delight of the user. The hair is made soft and fluffy. Like all American preparations SALVIA is daintily perfumed. It is hard to find an actress who does not use SALVIA continually.

Ladies of society and influence use no other.

SALVIA is a non-sticky preparation, and is the ladies' favourite. A large, generous bottle. 50c. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catherines, Canadian distributors.

Lenten Service.

—The regular weekly Lenten service will be held at All Saints' to-night. There will be a special sermon.

SHREDDED WHEAT BANQUET AT NORWOOD

Examiner Special.

Norwood, Mar. 1.—Mr. Fred H. Buck of Toronto spent a few days at his home here.

The shredded wheat banquet which was held in the Presbyterian Church on Monday evening was in every way a decided success. Many were present from Hastings and Havelock. Miss Quite, elocutionist, entertained the audience with several selections, which were appreciated by all present.

Miss Fife of Peterboro spent Sunday and Monday with Mrs. J. E. Roxburgh.

Mr. E. P. Cuffe was in Toronto this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bissell were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Mills on Sunday

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

An epidemic of diphtheria has become so widespread in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., that one school has been closed and others depleted of pupils.

The highest prices ever recorded for hogs in the Cleveland market was reached yesterday, when they were quoted at $10.10. The civil war record was $10.

Archbishop Bruchesi has placed his ban on the production of the Passion Play at the Academy in Montreal by a local French company, but the management declare the play will go on notwithstanding.

The members of the Royal Canadian Regiment who have been stationed in the colliery districts of Cape Breton for the past six months, in connection with the maintenance of order during the strike, have received orders to return to Halifax.

Was Murdered In Arizona.

London, Ont., March 3.—Sinclair Anderson, who until a few years ago was a resident of this city, was murdered in Arizona on Feb. 4 and left a mining claim valued at half a million dollars.

He had two brothers, C. E. Anderson of 659 Queen's avenue, this city, and John of Cleveland. The last letter from him was written just a few days before he met his death, and in it he described in a homely way, the hardships he had gone through for years to gain the success which has come to him within a few weeks of the end.

In his letter he said that he hoped to come back to Ontario this year, and "visit some of the fall country fairs."

Died "Poor" With Hidden Fortune.

Darlington, N.J., March 3.—Tucked away in odd corners of cupboards and between leaves of old books, currency and coins amounting to many thousands of dollars were discovered in the home of Miss Elizabeth Hayes, a supposedly poor spinster, who died Tuesday.

Miss Hayes, who was 86 years old had denied herself a servant for years, enjoying only the bare necessities of life.

Change In Name Opposed.

London, March 3.—At a meeting of the Royal Colonial Institute it was suggested that the name be changed to Royal United Empire Institute.

Murray Clarke of Toronto thought the change inadvisable, as there was now no thought of allowing the colonies to go.

Seine Is High Again.

Paris, March 3.—The continued rainfall has raised the level of the River Seine to 21 feet 5 inches, almost equalling the flood maximum of 1882.

The water is again pouring into the mouths of the sewers. The weather however, is gradually improving.

Four Vessels Collide.

New York, March 3.—Four vessels, three of them steamships, crashed together in two collisions in the dense fog which prevailed outside Sandy Hook yesterday.

None of the vessels was damaged to the sinking point, and no lives were lost.

The fruit steamer Minnesota, of the Cunso Importing Co., which sailed on Tuesday for Kingston, Jamaica, limped back into the harbor yesterday with her bow plates badly started from the shock of contact with the freight steamer Sidra. The latter, inbound from Cuba with a cargo of sugar, was harder hit by the shock, her bow being stove in from the deck to the water line as far back as the forecastle.

Wireless messages told of the running down, forty miles southeast of Barnegat, off the New Jersey coast, of the schooner Republic of Thomaston, Maine, by the Royal Mail Steam Packet Co.'s steamer Tagus, bound here from Kingston. The extent of the damage to the Republic is not stated.

Train Backs Into Car.

Hamilton, March 3.—A T., H. & B. train backed into a street car at James and Hunter streets yesterday evening about 8.30, but no one was seriously injured. There were seven or eight women in the car, but they escaped with nothing worse than a bad fright.

The crossing is guarded by gates, which had been lifted after an engine passed over the crossing. Just as soon as the engine crossed, a train on the other track started to back into the station, and it caught the street car squarely in the middle.

The car was thrown off the track, and considerably damaged. Conductor Misner was in charge of the car, with Motorman James Rennie.

A Wife's Confession.

Watertown, N.Y., March 3.—Jas. D. Farmer, whose wife Mary was put to death in the electric chair at Auburn on March 29 last, for the murder of their neighbor, Sarah Brennan, near Brownsville, N.Y., in April, 1908, was acquitted after a second trial in the case. He had previously been convicted of murder in the first degree, but Mrs. Farmer, before her death in the electric chair, left a statement exonerating him, and the court of appeals granted a new trial.

Ready to Build Radial Line.

Guelph, March 3.—That he will promote a radial railway line from Guelph to Hamilton, if the John Patterson scheme falls through was a statement made yesterday by W. A. Bugg of the People's Railway Co.

Quebec Utilities Board.

Montreal, March 3.—It is stated that the Quebec Government's utility board will be composed of Sir George Garneau, George Smith, ex-M.P.P. for Megantic, and a Montreal man whose name has not yet leaked out.

Insurgents In Bad Way.

San Juan Del Sur, Nicaragua, March 3.—Deserters from Gen. Menas' forces who have surrendered to the Government division at Accyapa, state that Gen. Chamorro arrived at San Vincente Tuesday with 60 horsemen, the remnant of the army of 1,500 with which he reached Tisma.

RUTHERFORD GOVERNMENT SUSTAINED LAST NIGHT

Alberta's Premier Gets the Support of the Legislative Members Who Approve His Stand---Resolution Condemning the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway Contract is Outvoted 23 to 15.

Edmonton, Alta., March 4.—The Rutherford Government was sustained late last night, when J. R. Boyle's resolution re the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway was defeated, 23 for and 15 against. Cornwall's vote was challenged, as being a member of the company.

The resolution declares that the contract does not protect the interests of the people, and calls upon the Government to expropriate the rights and privileges of the company, and to build it under the supervision of a commission of three.

Boyle is leader of the so-called insurgent Liberals, who have been opposing the contract.

In the afternoon Attorney-General Cross read an affidavit from one Hopkins denying that he had stated that Cross had authorized the sale of automatic 'phones on a condition of paying $12,000 to a campaign fund.

Cross dared a repetition of the charge outside the House. He offered to authorize the prosecution of Hopkins for perjury if the charge were sworn to by Mr. Bennett. The Opposition leader stated that he merely reported the statement made to the Minister of Public Works. He accepted the commission to prosecute.

Just what the effect will be on the Government is uncertain. Wednesday night R. D. Bennett, leader of the Conservative opposition, said he was not acting for private gain, but was willing, should the Government be defeated, to stand aside and let McDougall (Edmonton) or Cushing (Calgary) take the Premiership. It is more than likely that it will end in Cushing's elevation. It was his resignation from the office of Minister of Public Works, because of his objections to the Government's course that strengthened the insurgents.

A five hours' speech by R. B. Bennett, Conservative, and junior member for Calgary, culminated at midnight in charges that President Clarke, head of the Alberta and Great Waterways Co., had split up $300,000 with his colleagues on the sale of bonds, and that he himself had been approached by financial interests seeking to influencee his vote on this question.

Mr. Bennett said that the bonds actually sold at 110 and that the difference between that and par, at which price they were represented to have been sold, was the amount which went into the pockets of the Morgan house and the Clarke railway promoters. The Margans got more than $250,000.

Mr. Bennett also mentioned the report that Attorney-General Cross had demanded $12,000 for the campaign fund from the Automatic Telephone Co., as the price of the contract for an automatic system in Calgary.

HON. W. H. CUSHING.

"I shall ask the senior member for Calgary if this is not true," said Mr. Bennett.

"Substantially true," replied Mr. Cushing, who as Minister of Public Works was in charge of the telephone negotiations carried on by the Government.

Frontier Police Warned.

Welland, March 4.—Sir Percy Sherwood, commissioner of Dominion police, has written Chief Jones, asking him to be on the lookout for white slave operators and their victims. There apparently has been quite a lucrative business done in smuggling Canadian women and girls across the river for immoral purposes.

Mad Dog at Ottawa.

Ottawa, March 4.—Yesterday morning a little black and white fox terrier suddenly went mad on Nepean street, among a crowd of over one hundred school children. Foaming and frothing at the mouth, the animal ran amuck along the street, creating a panic. A policeman shot it.

Baby Poisoned by Pills.

Ottawa, March 4.—The fourteen-months-old child of H. A. Blackeney is dead. Playing with a box of pills, the baby opened the box and ate several of the pills, dying soon after. An inquest is being held.

A similar case was reported Wednesday from near Windsor.

Found Dead.

St. Catharines, March 4.—John Emmett yesterday found in the woods near his farm on St. David's road, the body of an aged man which was later identified as that of Wm. Marshall, who had left the industrial home on Monday of this week.

Another 'Phone Line.

Underwood, March 4.—A meeting of the ratepayers of the municipality of Bruce was held here yesterday afternoon to consider the installing of a rural telephone line connecting Tiverton and Port Elgin. Kincardine and Saugeen Townships are considering this same movement, and it was decided to call a joint meeting of the three townships here on March 10.

PLANS FOR GOOD ROADS

HOW IT WORKS OUT

Toronto, March 4.—Chairman Harold Parker of the Massachusetts Highway Commission told the Ontario Good Roads Association yesterday afternoon of the methods adopted by his state to secure a workable system of road construction and maintenance. A permanent state highway commission was appointed in 1893. About 800 miles of state roads, at a cost of $15,000,000, had been constructed, as well as hundreds of miles of municipal roads. The aim at the outset was to connect the main centres of population.

Automobiles were also controlled and licensed by the commission. The fees were expended entirely on highway improvement. Autos increased the cost of road maintenance about 50 per cent.

In building macadam roads the practice was to lay broken rock six inches deep where the soil is firm and the drainage good, but in poor soil it was necessary to concave the bed and fill to about 18 inches with field stones before laying on the broken rock.

About $600,000 a year was spent on roads. The state paid 75 per cent. of the cost of township roads.

W. G. Trethewey, representing the Motor League, read a paper setting forth the willingness of motorists to share the roads with horse vehicles and also to share in the cost of maintenance.

Oliver Hezzelwood put in a plea for wide tires.

C. R. Wheelock, C.E., of Orangeville, believed it was time to establish a provincial system connecting up the county roads.

W. H. Hoyle, M.P.P. for North Ontario, appeared before the convention during the afternoon and explained his bill to amend the system of bridge construction and supervision in the province. The meeting seemed in thorough sympathy with the proposed changes.

Views of up-to-date sections of macadam roads, and concrete bridges of Ontario were thrown on the canvas at the evening session.

Addresses were delivered by G. W. Farrington of Prince Edward County; A. McG. Rankin of Collins Bay; H. J. Bowman, C.E., Berlin and others.

W. J. Gage, president of the Toronto Board of Trade, occupied the chair, and delivered a short address, expressing personal sympathy with the proposal for joint city and rural support of trunk roads.

Mr. Bowman gave an interesting talk on the subject of Ontario highways, past, present and future.

The servicibility of concrete bridges in the building of country roads was ably set forth by James A. Bell, C.E., city and county engineer of St. Thomas, at the morning's session of the good roads convention. They could be constructed much cheaper than steel bridges and were on the whole more durable and reliable. He advised that straight beams be used instead of arches up to the limit of 40 feet, but above that length arches should be used.

H. G. Bleeker of Belleville, superintendent of Hastings County roads, read a paper on "Road Management in Hastings." They were spending about $40,000 a year. About 600 miles had already been constructed.

Mr. Bleeker extended an invitation to the convention to meet in Belleville next year.

C. F. Foy, K.C., of Perth, dealt with the economic benefits of good roads. He knew of land that had increased in value from $1,000 to $2,500 per 100 acres through good roads.

Macadam roads could be constructed for $1,000 per mile, but a $2,500 road was cheaper in the end.

Where Are the Inspectors?

Aylmer, Ont., March 4.—It is reported that deacon calves, commonly called "staggering bobs," are being shipped out of Aylmer to Toronto again in large numbers. These calves range in age from one to 24 hours, and are said to be used in the manufacture of "canned chicken" and other delightful table delicacies. The standard price paid for them is $1 each. The traffic is unlawful and some time ago a large consignmen' was seized and destroyed, but the trade has started up again.

Resign or Veto.

London, March 4.—(C.A.P.)—Speaking in the House of Commons yesterday, Premier Asquith said it was intended to ask the House to pass the budget immediately after the resolutions dealing with the Lords were dealt with.

If the Government were not in a position to secure that the proposals as to the Lords should pass into law, they would not continue in office.

Will Devote Life to Giving.

New York, March 4—John D. Rockefeller, jr., will probably become the active head of the new Rockefeller Foundation and devote his entire time to the philanthropic work undertaken by his father.

BESIEGED IN A CAVE.

A Girl the Principal Actor in a Defense Against Indians.

By MARTHA L. TWEED.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

"Well," said Charlie Elson as he leaned back against the side of the cave and laid down his rifle, almost for the first time in ten days, "I suppose we can consider the siege raised. The Indians would hardly collect their ponies and ride off across the plain with an idea of circumventing us.

"We have an unobstructed view for at least five miles in front, and they could never climb over the mountains behind. It is fortunate for us that Gertie remembered the cave and thought of it as a refuge."

"It is fortunate for us in everything that we have Gertie," returned his sister Kate, smiling affectionately at the seventeen-year-old girl who was crouching near the entrance of the cave, with one arm in a sling.

Of all the party she was the only one wounded, and of all the party it was she who had best acted the part of a man. She smiled back slightly, but without turning her head.

There was something in her whole appearance—her figure, her face, especially her mouth and eyes—that expressed firmness. Muscularly there was in her the same strength. She wore a skirt reaching but a short distance below her knees, a man's gaiters, a jacket buttoning close about her throat and a man's ordinary felt hat, without even a tiny feather in the band.

"When we first saw the Indians," Kate Elson went on, "it was Gertie who whirled the horses round, riding on her pony at their heads and urging them forward, and it was she who insisted on forcing the wagon almost to the very mouth of the lower cave and on bringing as much of the provisions and supplies up here as we could.

"If it had not been for them and the keg of water she brought up herself when the Indians were almost upon her we could not have held out so long."

"That's so," admitted Charlie Elson candidly. "I do not suppose I would have thought of the provisions myself or even of climbing to this upper cave instead of stopping in the one below. And it's the same about the marksmanship. I have been popping off the gun like a boy does his fourth of July crackers, for the noise, though maybe that did keep them off a little. But if Gertie's telling shots had not reinforced my imperfect ones the Indians would soon have caught on and scrambled up the rocks."

Charlie Elson's voice had been strained and depressed for the past ten days. Now, with the Indians moving across the plain, his tones became care free, almost jubilant. It was his mercurial temperament, and his sister looked across at him indulgently, but lovingly.

Whatever else he might be, careless, incapable, visionary, he was always lovable, always oblivious of himself. It was the careless, visionary nature that had started him west when his little property was lost and the obliviousness to self that had caused him to share his scanty means with the weak, emaciated creature they found wandering on the plain—all that was left of a frontier massacre.

He never thought of taking her to a trading post or transferring the burden to some one with means and a settled home. His only thought was that henceforth they would be three instead of two. Later she had developed into a beautiful, strong, lovable girl, to the wonder and satisfaction of himself and Kate.

Now, only three months from the rescue, she was returning the bread upon the waters a thousandfold. As she turned her face toward them for an instant there was something of the same expression in her eyes that appeared in Kate's, though with a difference.

No one could be in the tender hearted, irresponsible man's company long without loving him and wanting to care for him as she would for an affectionate, helpless child.

And in Gertie's life, even before the massacre of the harsh voiced father and stepmother, there had been little of love and caring for.

"Not many men could have held out so well as you have, Charlie," she said, using the last word hesitatingly, as though not quite accustomed to it. "You have scarcely slept at all since we've been in the cave, and you have kept us laughing most of the time with your funny talk."

"Done fairly well as a rank and file man," he interrupted gayly. "Of course I don't think I lack nerve or endurance. It's only that I need a leader with drawn sword. Now what shall we do? I"—

He was moving toward the entrance as he spoke, and with the last word there came a dull thud, followed by a sharp report. A bullet had flattened against the rock near his head. Gertie caught his arm and drew him back.

"Here," she cried, snatching his hat swiftly and replacing it upon the muzzle of his rifle. "They will not suspect the old trick, as they have just seen you moving. Now"—

She pushed the muzzle of his rifle toward the entrance, so the hat could be seen from below.

Almost instantly there were two more thuds and reports, and this time the bullets passed through the hat and then flattened against the rock.

"That empties their guns," the girl cried. "I know they have no rifles from the way they have been firing. Wait! Let me shoot, I have had more practice than you."

She slipped by him to the cave opening, where she dropped at full length in order to use the rifle with her uninjured arm.

Below she could see three Indians hurrying toward the cave. Evidently they had remained behind, hiding in some crevice in hope of the besieged coming forth when the main body rode away.

Believing their bullets had pierced the head they thought inside the hat and thus deprived the cave of one of its few defenders, they were rushing forward to complete the work before following the main body.

Gertie recognized with a sudden feeling of exultation that the middle Indian was the one she had seen giving directions all through the siege, evidently the chief. With him gone the danger would very likely be over.

There were a quick flash and a report, and then she slipped back into the cave.

"I shot him through the hip," she explained in answer to their inquiring looks. "I—I don't like to really kill any one, but he won't fight again. He was the chief, so they could not leave him. They are carrying him to their ponies now, which they have concealed somewhere. I don't think they will trouble us any more."

But she was mistaken. Maddened by the loss of one of their number, the two other Indians, after taking him to cover, were seen looking up at the cave and talking to each other, evidently deliberating upon a new plan of attack. They were aware that the party was not strong, but they had no heart for making an attack upon them, intrenched as they were in so strong a position. They wished to circumvent them. Presently by their pantomime the besieged discovered that they had arrived at a conclusion. Then they were seen gathering wood.

"Great heavens!" exclaimed Charlie. "They're going to try to burn or smoke us out!"

"I don't think they will succeed," said Gertie calmly.

"Why?" asked Rob.

"They must get above us and drop the firebrands down before the mouth of the cave. There is only one path by which they can climb, and down there to the left we can see a dozen feet of it. They must pass that point to get above us, and unless we miss them we can shoot them."

"They may make a quick dash," said Kate, who was fast losing her equanimity.

"I can do one of them," said Charlie, "and I know Gertie can do the other."

It was half an hour before the Indians had gathered wood sufficient to make the attempt. Then they disappeared. The besieged got ready to drop them as they passed the open space where they could be seen. Gertrude and Charlie each took a rifle, leveled it on a rest with the muzzle pointed to the space, knowing that they would have but a few moments in which to fire. Presently an Indian, covering his side with the wood, shot out into the open. Gertrude's rifle cracked, and he limped back. She had shot him in the foot.

They waited some time for the other man, but the next they saw of him he was helping his companion away.

"Now what shall we do?" asked Charlie Elson, some of the old depression returning to his voice. "Our wagon is burned, and all the horses are carried off except the two which got away and ran across the plain. I think maybe they will come back to us when their fright wears off. But how can we go on without a wagon?"

Gertie's face looked thoughtful.

"Suppose we don't go on," she suggested. "The land is beautiful around here and the soil rich, and we would always have this cave to protect us should there be any more danger. And then there is a fine spring of water, and"—

There was a look in her eyes which brought Charlie Elson to her side with eager questioning in his own.

"You—you don't mean, Gertie, that—that—why, I'm fifteen years older and an incompetent, and—you do?" as the look in her eyes slipped down into a tender tremulousness about her lips.

"Then we'll stay," a sudden vibrant ring of strength coming into his voice. "We could hardly find a prettier country. We will make a home on the edge of the plain down there."

A House in Pompeii.

In the exhumation of Pompeii one house was discovered which was evidently being repaired when the volcanic storm that overwhelmed the city buried it to the ground. Painters, decorators and cleaners must have been busy at the very moment of the catastrophe. Painters' pots and brushes and workmen's tools were scattered all over the house. Telltale spots of whitewash starred wall and floor. Such domestic implements as pots and kettles had been bundled up in a corner all by themselves. There was a bronze dish in waiting before the oven and on the dish a sucking pig ready to be baked. But the oven was already engaged with its full complement of bread. So the pig had to wait. It, however, never entered the oven after all, and the loaves were not taken out. They had remained where placed to bake, it is calculated, close upon 2,000 years. There were twenty-three of them, rather crusty, of course, and somewhat dark colored, but otherwise perfectly preserved.

The excellence of the Japanese as sailors is accounted for by the fact that most of Japan's coasting vessels are small, but there are a great many of them. Almost any man taken from a fishing village has had enough experience to enable him to become an efficient sailor in a short time.

Troubled With Backache For Years.

Now Completely Cured by the Use of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Thousands of women suffer untold misery every day with aching backs that really have no business to ache.

Backache is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from kidney troubles.

Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you in the same way they have cured thousands of others, and they cure to stay cured.

Mrs. W. C. Doerr, 13 Brighton St., London, Ont., writes:—"It is with pleasure that I thank you for the good your Doan's Kidney Pills have done me. Have been troubled with backache for years. Nothing helped me until a friend brought me a box of your Kidney Pills. I began to take them and took four boxes, and am glad to say that I am cured entirely and can do all my own work and feel as good as I used to before taken sick. I am positive Doan's Kidney Pills are all you claim them to be, and I advise all kidney sufferers to give them a fair trial."

Price 50 cents per box or 3 for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

When ordering specify "Doan's."

WHAT TO MAKE.

Only a Few Weeks Left For Working on Christmas Presents.

We all know the round wooden boxes that belong on the pantry shelves. They have been used for generations for salt, sugar, cheese and spices, but we've chosen to decorate them during late years with everything from the pyrographic needle to the paint brush. But it has remained for an artist to bring them to a high degree of polish over her painted surface, which indicates shellac and tube paint, besides an exquisite feeling for the beautiful.

The box lid and its sides were painted with antwerp blue, that wonderful color, transparent, yet rich and dark, and the band bordering the lid and the lower edge of the box were done with lampblack oil paint. On the top of the lid in a space left for it a previously drawn in basket of fruit was colored a dull yellow, with brighter yellows and reds for the fruit. An edge of black outlined this quaint basket and each piece of fruit. Over the whole box, top and sides, was the high luster of shellac put on by a skilled hand.

Whether it be colored in these rich tones, reminding one of sometime mellowed painting, or done in soft gray, with purple grapes as a lid decoration, the time honored wooden box takes on new glory when decorated and thus highly polished. It is intended for fruit and is a beautiful gift box for the friend who boards and needs a place for the bit of light refreshment for a caller.

If you have heard your father admire a verse in a magazine or a paragraph from a stirring speech, cut it out and mount it on a map of birch bark or green bristol board and hang it over his desk or chair. Another little gift is a holder for curling irons to be seen in the illustration, fashioned from crape paper. There is a supply of tissue paper for wiping the iron attached to the case.

Of Dresden Ribbon.

To protect the dress collar there is a valuable little gift made of Dresden ribbon about five or six inches wide. It will require a yard and a half of the ribbon, an interlining of wadding of almost imperceptible thickness and a facing of white china silk; if scant be used, the merest touch.

The merest edge of the ribbon is lapped back and hemmed upon the raw edge of the china silk, and the two cut ends of the ribbon are folded back over the facing to form pointed ends to this collar protector. At the back of the neck it is tucked into several folds to conform to the shoulder curves and to the coat collar.

For those who never wear gay colors this little gift may be made of black or navy blue, but invariably lined with white. Some of the season's brocaded ribbons would make it more handsome than plain satin or taffeta, and moire ribbon would be a happy medium.

Table Dainties.

Dates stuffed with marshmallows were recently served at a tea. Cream cheese is used as a stuffing for dates to be served with sandwiches. Of a similar nature are balls of cheese the size of marshmallows, with half of a large English walnut pressed against each side.

Sphere of Woman.

They talk about a woman's sphere as though it had a limit.
There's not a place in earth or heaven,
There's not task to mankind given,
There's not a blessing or a woe,
There's not a whispered yes or no,
There's not a life or death or birth
That has a feather's weight of worth
Without a woman in it.

ANALYSIS OF

St. Lawrence Sugar

THE STANDARD OF PURITY

Laboratory of Provincial Government Analyst.

MONTREAL, 22nd February, 1909.

I HEREBY CERTIFY that I have drawn by my own hand ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's EXTRA STANDARD GRANULATED SUGAR, indiscriminately taken from four lots of about 150 barrels each and six lots of about 450 bags each. I have analyzed same and find them uniformly to contain 99.90/100-to 100 per cent of pure cane sugar, with no impurities whatever.

THE IMPERIAL GUARANTEE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY
OF CANADA

Head Office: 46 King Street, West TORONTO

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Imperial Guarantee & Accident Insurance Company of Canada, was held at the Head Office, 46 King Street West, Toronto, on the 10th inst.

Mr. E. W. Cox, President of the Company, in reviewing the business of the year, made reference to the growing popularity of Accident Insurance, and its effect on the success of the business of the Company during the year. The amount of Insurance written was over $26,270,609 60, an increase of $1,949,660.60 over the business taken out in 1908. This is considered exceptionally satisfactory in view of the fact that the business of the Company is confined to Personal Accident and Guarantee Insurance.

The Gross Income for 1909 amounted to $919,741.76.

That being an increase over the year 1908 of $41,817.34.

The Assets now total $308,974.00, and, after allowing for Reserve for unearned premium calculated on the full Government standard, and all other liabilities, the surplus for the protection of policyholders has increased to $225,447.18.

The following Directors and Officers were elected:

Edward W. Cox, President.	Hon. F. T. Frost.

USE ONLY THE BEST SEED FOR GARDENING

From Farm and Dairy.

A. V. Main, Lanark Co., Ont.

Do you want to have a good garden this summer, a better one than last year? If so, in the first place, procure good, reliable seed from a reliable source. Where can such seeds be purchased? I have sown seed from all the noted firms in Great Britain where they specialize and have extensive trial grounds. Yet, I have had failures with seed not germinating.

You can't condemn a seed firm if some packet has given a poor percentage. Much depends on the treatment, temperature, moisture and depth of sowing for success with seeds. The individual or grower is largely in control of the seed proving good or bad. Because your neighbor has a better tomato crop than you have, the blame is laid on the seed, although it may be the same seed.

A firm that wilfully sells useless seed can never survive long. One fault is that too many dabble with seeds. In small towns, you find seeds displayed in almost every store. It is surprising that reputable seed houses that supply these off-shoots, as it were, do not have a better system. One agent in small towns and villages is surely representative enough for one firm.

I have found Canadian seed firms to furnish seed equal in quality and high percentage of germination to any house of fame in Great Britain. A large quantity doubtless comes from there and other countries. However, the seedsmen in the Dominion have the right article in stock and it is adaptable to the climate. I have experimented with several vegetable strains from the Old Land, but find them entirely secondary to Canadian sorts.

In Canada we should have great trial grounds and produce more of our own seed. There is no gainsaying the fact but that seed matured, harvested and carefully selected in this country would naturally be better acclimated than the foreign product. Nevertheless, we are more or less dependent on our neighbors for supplying our wants in this particular line as well as in many others. Farmers and gardeners that read Farm and Dairy should send direct to those seedsmen that use the columns of this paper as their advertising medium. It is just as economical and more profitable than local purchases. Leading seed firms test all their seeds before sending them to their customers. A sample of each sort is sown in pots or boxes in their glass houses. If it fails to give a satisfactory germination, it is not put on the market; thus, the customer cannot find fault with the purity of the seed. We should give our support to the Dominion seedsmen, and they should be encouraged to give more attention to the extending of trial grounds, hybridising and the selection of adaptable varieties suitable for the different parts of the land.

Gardeners themselves ought to experiment more and find the strains that give the best results in their own locality. The garden is too often subjected to random treatment; likewise, many orchards and farms. It is being felt more keenly every year that a random, haphazard, careless management of crops is ruinous and detrimental and cannot stand the rivalry of up-to-date methods.

BEST LOCATION FOR ORCHARDS

From Farm and Dairy.

Harold Jones, Grenville Co., Ont.

When considering the location of an orchard, we must first take into consideration the locality in which we live; we must consider our snowfall, the depth the frost usually penetrates the soil, the dryness of the atmosphere, prevailing winds and liability to late spring and early fall frosts.

As a rule, the ideal site for an orchard is one that is somewhat elevated above adjoining lands, or better still, sloping towards a large body of water. Such a position gives us the advantage of both atmospheric and soil drainage.

We all know that we are subject to serious loss by late spring frosts at blooming time and also to early fall frosts that cause serious dripping and injury to our fruits. So, to secure atmospheric drainage is of great importance.

On still nights the cold air drains down the incline into the valleys and ravines and lowers the temperature from three to eight degrees below that of the hillsides. Close observers will notice after a cool night with white frost in the early fall, fields of corn in the valley bottoms will be touched while that on the incline or hillside will escape.

Large bodies of water, particularly if they have considerable depth, have a great tempering effect, and will temper the air to an elevation of 100 to 200 feet. An elevation of a few feet is often sufficient to cause perfect drainage.

My experience has been that the exposure of an orchard is of minor importance, be it north, east, south or west, so long as you are sloping to a lake, river or valley below. In the St Lawrence valley all our best orchards have a southeastern exposure, and we find in those orchards the highest colored fruit coming to perfect maturity with no more injury to bark or bud than on the western and northern slopes, provided varieties are grown that are suitable to and hardy in the section.

Grow only those varieties in your particular section that you know are hardy and will come to maturity and perfection. For instance, we know that we can grow the Fameuse and kindred varieties to perfection on the banks of the St. Lawrence, and experience has taught us that the Spy, Baldwin, Greening, &c., do not reach perfection and are in many cases not hardy, whereas in central and western Ontario they are almost perfect.

It is advisable not to plant on the crest of a hill, as you are subject to the drying effects of the wind on the soil in summer, the drifting away of the snow and the drying out and perishing of the cell tissue of the tree in winter, besides suffering serious loss by the fruit being blown off at fruiting time. Select rather a position on the slope with a raise of land between the orchard and the prevailing wind, or if such a position is not possible, place it so that you can plant suitable windbreaks.

DAIRY INDUSTRY IN MANITOBA

From Farm and Dairy.

At one of the sessions of the recent Manitoba Dairy Convention Prof. J. W. Mitchell gave a very interesting address on the dairy industry of Manitoba. The extent of dairying, he said, was about as follows:

Dairy butter, 6,000,000 lbs.
Creamery butter, 2,600,000 lbs.
Cheese, about 1,360,000 lbs.

The quality of cheese produced, where conditions were right, was as good as the best. It was to be hoped that much might be done during the following year towards bettering conditions. Testing stations were to be established where patrons would be furnished by the government with sample bottles and spring scales. Samples would be taken and the milk weighed from each cow on the 10th, 20th and 30th of each month, the sample and the weights being sent to the inspector, or to some centre, where they would be recorded and the samples tested for percentage of fat.

Mr. Mitchell also urged the dairymen to install a good system of ventilation. He recommended the King system, not because it was necessarily the best, but because it was a good one.—H.N.T.

He who burns life's candle at both ends will find His tomorrows all bankrupt With no credit behind.
MUNYON.

LAST week I announced that I believed the time would come when people would live on almost indefinitely; that science would find the phosphates and elements necessary to supply the waste that takes place in the human body; that I considered it a crime for people to wear out their energies in 60, 70, 80 or 100 years.

This declaration has called forth praises and condemnations from all parts of the country. One prominent physician writes: "Your theory that the large bowel is responsible for most ills is well founded, but unlike the appendix, I don't see how it can be dispensed with." I don't either. But I do see how it is possible to keep it clean and sanitary. I do see the absurdity of carrying around in this bowel quantities of decayed, effete and gaseous matter which can only irritate the nerves, stagnate the liver and disarrange the digestive organs. I do know that biliousness, indigestion, headaches, heart palpitations, nervousness, and in many cases kidney and rheumatic ailments are produced by this clogged condition of the bowels. I have never known a person who suffered from constipation to be free from irritability. Now, I claim that this irritability and nervousness tax our vital forces and soon wear out our energies. When the bowels are clean and sanitary, the stomach performs its functions loyally and the heart has little to do in sending good, rich blood into every fiber and tissue of the body, so that uric acid, which causes so much kidney and rheumatic trouble, can find no lodgment in the human body. Keep the bowels in good condition and ladies will have very little use for cosmetics to give their cheeks the glow of youth or their eyes the brightness and vivacity of perfect health. Keep the bowels clean and sanitary, and there will be no blood impurities manifesting themselves as pimples and eruptions upon the face or any part of the body. I go further and say, keep the bowels clean and people will be less suspicious, less jealous, less envious, and there will be less cause for divorce and domestic infelicity. Furthermore, I believe that longevity depends upon the condition of the nerves and that the nerves depend upon the condition of the bowels. I am not alone in these opinions. I find that some of the most learned scientists of Germany and France are working on this theory, and I most conscientiously believe that Munyon's Paw Paw Pills will do more to prevent disease, to remove bodily ailments, to spread cheer and prolong life than any remedy that has ever been compounded. They not only stimulate digestion, correcting dyspepsia and the fermentations of the stomach, but they seem to coax the liver into activity by removing from the lower bowel in an antiseptic way all the effete matter, making it clean and sanitary. People who are suffering from constipation owe it to themselves to take a Paw Paw Pill every night. They are in no sense a purgative, but have the power of stimulating the bowels into a natural performance of their functions. People who eat hearty dinners or drink copiously will find these pills a great blessing. In order that every one may have a chance to try them, I have recently put up a 10-cent box, containing ten pills. The regular sized bottle contains about fifty pills and sells for 25 cents.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN IN MARCH

"Prune fruit trees, shrubs and hardy roses. Graft fruit trees with better varieties. Prepare for spraying. Sow seeds of tomatoes, cauliflowers, etc., in the hotbed. Start flower seeds in boxes in the house. Re-pot geraniums, ferns and other plants for summer decoration." These are some of the things that gardeners and fruit growers can do this month, according to the March issue of THE CANADIAN HORTICULTURIST.

Other topics discussed in this issue of that magazine are lime-sulphur vs. Bordeaux for spraying, low-headed peach trees, kind of apple trees to plant, raspberry culture and the growing of tomatoes, onions, potatoes and cauliflower. The leading article tells how fruit growers may make the commercial lime-sulphur wash at home.

Amateur gardeners will find much to interest them in articles on pruning rose bushes, sowing garden seeds, hardy shrubs, peonies, annuals, tree planting, polyanthus and many others. The issue is well illustrated. Samples of THE CANADIAN HORTICULTURIST may be had on request. It is published at Peterboro, Ont.

MONEY IN THE OLD ORCHARD

From Farm and Dairy.

At the short course in fruit growing held at the Ontario Agricultural College this winter, Mr. R. R. Sloan, Huron Co., Ont., stated that he picked 1,000 barrels of apples last year from 600 trees that were almost useless the year before, being in an orchard that had never received any attention until taken over by Mr. Sloan, who had it pruned, sprayed, cultivated and generally looked after.

"Of some varieties, 90% were No. 1," said Mr. Sloan, "and of others, 60 to 75% were No. 1. The large quantity of clustered and small fruit was very detrimental to the whole crop, a condition that prevailed in most districts last season. The crop was sold for $2.50 per barrel, f.o.b. The cost of spraying, figuring bluestone at 6½ cents a lb., lime at 40 cents a bushel and Paris Green at 25 cents a lb., was from 12 to 15 cents a tree. I left one Spy tree unsprayed just to show people the results. There were no marketable apples on the tree. If the whole orchard had been let go likewise, I would easily have lost $1,500."

A RICHER CREAM NEEDED

E. F. Paterson, Ontario Co., Ont.

It is time that creamerymen should use scales for testing cream, providing such a scale could be had that would be quick enough for the creameryman or buttermaker to do his testing in a reasonable time. If as Mr. Eagleton states, rich cream cannot be tested justly with the pipette it is high time that the pipette was discarded by all creameries because we need richer cream and less poor cream. While quite a number of the patrons at each creamery send a fairly rich cream there are a great number who send a very thin cream, some as low as 12 per cent.

As we cannot get as good results from thin cream as we can from a richer cream, anything that will induce farmers to send better cream would be a step in the right direction.

At our creamery we use the 9 c.c. pipette with the Mitchell bottles. We would gladly change to the scales if we thought each patron would get a more accurate test. However, I do not think it would do away with the trouble that creamerymen have with their patrons because it is the man that sends the poorest cream who nearly always is the most ready to find fault.

But if the scales are more correct than the pipette then I say we should change our method and use the scales.

OUR HEAVY HORSE INTERESTS

From Farm and Dairy.

Archie Crow, Bruce Co., Ont.

The breeding of horses is being carried on more extensively today in Ontario than perhaps ever before. This is due to the high prices that have been paid for good horses during the last few years. Farmers of this country have made a great mistake in former years in selling off their good young mares because they commanded big prices and then breeding their inferior mares and crossing them to any stallion that came along just because he was cheap.

The best horse for the farmer to breed is the Clydesdale. It would seem, however, that the majority of the Clydesdale stallions of today are just a little under size. A Clyde stallion when mature should not be less than a ton in weight. But what do we find? The most of them will not weigh 18 cwt.

It would be a step in the right direction to license stallions. It would be the means of getting a better type of stallion into the country. Through charging a small fee we could have all stallions examined by a practical man before they were allowed their license. I would like to hear more on this question.

BILIOUSNESS
Caused by a Disordered Liver
Cured by Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

The liver's work is to secrete the bile—that exceedingly bitter fluid which is often called gall. This bile is stored in the gall-bladder and at the proper time it is poured into the upper part of the intestines. There it helps in the digestion of the fatty and oily parts of the food, and regulates the action of the bowels, causing them to move often enough to clear the system promptly of indigestible food.

When the liver gets out of order, as it does with a surprisingly large number of people, the flow of the bile becomes irregular, and the quality of the fluid is changed. The bowels consequently become irregular also, being constipated and loose by turns; the food is only partly digested; the bile gets into the blood, acting there as a poison and demoralizing the whole system. A sudden dizziness is felt on rising, spots sometimes float before the eyes, the tongue is furred, there is a bitter taste in the mouth, and a most disagreeable feeling of sickness and lassitude.

This is Biliousness.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills get right at the root of the trouble and speedily relieve it.

They first put the disordered liver right, so that it supplies a normal quantity of healthy bile. This opens the bowels and clears out the clogged-up system. The blood is purified, the stomach cleansed, all the disagreeable symptoms disappear and the whole delicately adjusted mechanism of the body moves smoothly again.

Mr. J. C. McCulloch, a railway conductor of Westport, Ont., writes:

"It is with pleasure I write to inform you that your Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have proved of great value to me. I suffered from biliousness, caused by the improper action of my liver. I tried remedy after remedy but without any lasting good. Having heard of your pills curing such cases as mine, I decided to give them a fair trial. They proved satisfactory, restoring to me perfect health."

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

SOCIETY MODEL BROUGHT ARTIST DEADLY PERIL

MR. Harrison Fisher's Adventure with a Young Woman Whose Shoulders, Neck and Arms He Is Painting When a Jealous Sweetheart Shoots Through the Studio Door

AMONG the magazine and book illustrators of the day there is perhaps no better known name than that of Mr. Harrison Fisher, that artist famous for his conceptions of American types of feminine beauty. It would be difficult to imagine lives less open to the thrilling incident of quick peril than those whose pencils limn for us the soft curve of shoulder and the glance of eyes. Yet even in such quiet paths may there be quick dangers, as may be judged by the following story told by the illustrator himself.

BY HARRISON FISHER.

(Copyright, 1910, by the New York Herald Co. All Rights Reserved.)

IT happened about five years ago—that most thrilling incident of my life. A woman was responsible for it. Indeed, you will find that women are responsible for most of the thrilling incidents of this life. This woman presented herself at my studio one day as I worked. She was a majestic creature—a creature of satisfying curves and dark mother eyes—the kind you see in the madonnas which the old fellows painted.

She had Titian red hair, but not the sort that can be purchased. She had the kind that God gives you, free, when you are born. She wanted to know if I would take her as a model. Now, you don't get the mother eyes and the Titian hair—unbought—and the curve of neck and waist of a peculiarly satisfying subtlety every day. I entreated her to a chair. She had none of the silent indications of the professional models. Professional models, as of course you know, are almost invariably very worthy persons, but they bear upon them the marks of their particular gyves—just as we all do. This woman was different.

Her story was not unusual in these days of expansion and financial prestidigitation. Her family was one well known and well born, if its frequent mention in the weeklies which minister to society be an indication. It had been what is known as "wealthy," but its head had become possessed of the spirit of the age. He had experienced the seductions of Wall street. He came, he saw, but he did not conquer. The result of his financial experiences was such that neither his name nor that of his kin continued to appear in the chaste columns dedicated to society. He went to work as clerk in the accommodating business house of one of his acquaintances. His wife was not strong, and the amount which he earned was not great. It was naturally much less than when he had appeared in a purely decorative capacity. The girl feared for the comfort and health of the mother and had heard of fabulous sums which illustrators were supposed to pay to desirable models. So she had visited me.

I corrected her expansive conceptions as to payment, but accepted her services as model. I arranged that she should come to my studio each day at two o'clock, and returned to my moutons—well, let us call them covers.

After that she came regularly. I sketched her from two to five. She was a splendid model and a charming girl—witty, sympathetic, sensitive. We would often chat as I drew, and we became great friends. She had travelled in the days when her father was decorative, and we spoke of strange peoples and new skies. We talked of the acquaintances we had met. We placed them upon the metaphorical dissecting table. When people do these things they are on the way to confidence. So even did we become confidential in a certain hearty fashion. That is how I came to know her little romance.

She Loved a Man.

She was to be married. She loved the man. He, too, loved her, though that went without saying. She had met him on an ocean liner during what she referred to as her "palmy" days. He was young, rich, handsome—everything, in fact, which would in-

The man, it appears, had a blot on his escutcheon. dicate him as desirable in the market for matrimony. All this, I know, is purely conventional. It would naturally occur in any popular novel. Now, however, commences the romance. You will not have to wait long.

He was jealous. Love may be blind, but my model's mother-eyes were not blind to that. This was the commencing complication.

He knew of the family reverses, but he did not not know that she was posing. Her fiancé was a good American, but he would have been shocked at the idea of his sweetheart posing as a model. As I said, he was a good conventional American. This suggests development in complication.

I would "fake" the rest. I used to work on newspapers myself, you know.

Thus, I painted my unusual model in her dishabille. We didn't talk much on that day, although it was to be almost the ending of her visits to me, she told me. Latterly the fiancé had rung up on several occasions, and though the maternal voice was as reassuring as before it didn't appear so successful. The girl had commenced to detect the suspicion in her sweetheart's manner. He had been insistent in his allusions to her regular absences. His tone was light, but the girl was growing apprehensive. Women know.

quite understand the extent of the paternal downfall. This family pride was keeping from him. He did not know she was "working." He assuredly did

She had therefore decided to cease the posing. She would inform her fiancé of the real condition of the family and follow some more conventional occupation. However, I wasn't worrying much as to these things. I am sordid. I was thinking about the illustrations. Footsteps came up to the door and paused. I heard them pass away again and descend the stairs. Occasionally some one would knock, but I continued my work. I was conscienceless. As I said, I have worked for the newspapers.

Battering the Door.

Then came other steps; more insistent steps. There was another knock, and there could be no mistake about its character. It was the knock imperative. There was no pause between the footsteps and the knock. No heed had been devoted to my unpretentious placard. I owed no one money; I didn't fear the visits of the police, but I looked up at that knock. My model looked up too, alert, intent, perceptibly shaken by premonition.

There was a pause of a moment and then the knock came again. Do you know that strange feeling which comes to you when a person is said to be walking over your grave? I had it then; I don't know why. There was a knocking again, but its character had changed. This time it was the knock furious. It was followed by a voice, a raised, insistent voice; an unpleasant voice when you begin to suspect who its owner was.

"I know you're inside there!" it shouted. "Open the door at once!"

The girl had gone white. The mother eyes became the eyes of fear. Her hand went up to her lip as the quickest thing that moves. I could shaking on her chair.

The knocking was followed by a fusillade o "Open the door! Open the door!" came th It was now stark, furious, implacable. "O door or I'll break it in, by God! It's no use. you're there, Edith. Open the door!"

The last door mentioned was qualified by ad unsuitable for Sunday reading. The man's vo shaking with passion. He beat the door inse The girl had her lower lip in and her teeth and she gripped the chair as if it had been a d

If I hadn't known who the man was I known how to deal with him, of course. As I had to consider the girl. The man was ob furious and would not understand. So I sho "Stop that racket and go away. I'm busy; see any one to-day."

The Flight.

There came another shot, and another. There noises of feet upon the stairs, and then the so furious footsteps running from my door. I them dashing madly down the staircase, three o steps at a time. The fiancé was an energetic m man, whether in assault or retreat. I ran to the window and opened it. Almost as I opened fellow came forth like a bullet. It did seem rat sum up the situation.

After that I rang up the models' club and to work again. In the evening, however, I th about the matter. Artists can think, notwith ing a discouraging public impression. The thing, though thoroughly ridiculous, yet pos its serious aspects. The fiancé, becoming susp of the girl's regular absences, had followed her studio. He had drawn his own unjustifiable c sions. The girl was thoroughly blameless. It s obviously my part to explain things. I would c the girl, get from her the fiancé's address, a come the diplomatic expositor.

Next morning I went down to Eighth street, she lived. It was one of those old red brick h in a quiet section of the street, which a bustling ernity seemed to have passed silently by. A neat no of homekeeperlike appearance answered my I asked for—well, say Miss Merrion.

"Miss Merrion?" said she. "Miss Merrion le night. Her mother and father went, too. The rather suddenly. They left no address."

It was a strange incident, wasn't it? An strangest part of it remains. I've heard no m Miss Merrion or her decided fiancé from that d this. You would think she would have written line, wouldn't you?

Her confidences thus begun, there was no stopping my charming model. I was her repository of doubts and fears. She was nervous. Her fiancé had rung her up on several occasions during the afternoons on which she inspired art. Her mother, of course, answered the telephone and gave soothing answers; mothers have aptitude when they so desire. She thought that these answers were satisfying, but she wasn't sure. She fancied his manner remained unchanged, but she was not certain. She was distinctly nervous, however—but, of course, I said this before.

One afternoon I was dreadfully busy. I don't like to advertise my industry, but on this occasion it is necessary. I had placed a notice upon my studio door, "Will not be back to-day"—you know the kind. I had to switch my young lady from the heroine illustrations for which I had engaged her to other and more urgent heroine illustrations. One of them called for a ball dress scene. Now, I had no ball dress in the studio. Well appointed studios have most things, but mine did not possess a ball dress. Time was passing and I couldn't send for one. So I asked my model if she would mind taking off her blouse. I could thus draw her neck and shoulders and arms

MEETING COUSIN CARLOTTA.

WILLIAM ARMSTRONG and his cousin, Carlotta Blake, are not good friends. Carlotta lives in Albany. Last week she visited the Armstrongs. William did not know his cousin. Nevertheless, he undertook to meet her at the station. This is how he did it. He approached a young woman in blue who sat near the book stall and asked:—

"Are you Miss Carlotta Blake?"

"No," said the young woman, "I am not."

"I hope you will excuse me," William explained. "I am here to meet a Miss Blake. She is my cousin. I have never seen her. My sister Jennie is the only member of our family who does know her. Jennie intended to meet her, but she burned her face on a steam pipe this morning and doesn't look fit to come out of the house, so I had to come. She told me I would know Carlotta because she is so pretty. 'She is the prettiest girl you ever saw,' said Jennie. 'You can't make a mistake. Just pick out the prettiest girl in the station and you'll be sure to strike Carlotta.' So that's what I did. I hope you are not angry. You really are, you know."

The young woman blushed. William sighed.

"I'm sorry," she said. "I don't know whom to ask next. There doesn't seem to be anybody else in the whole shooting match that comes up to Jennie's description. I guess my cousin Carlotta didn't come."

A tall girl in brown sat beside the girl in blue. She got up and glared at William Armstrong.

"Yes, she did," said the girl in brown.

"Oh, Lord!" said William, "are you"——

"I am," said the girl in brown.

And, of course, nobody could expect a girl to be friends with a man after that.

THE RECOGNITION.

By Katherine J. Murray.

WHERE have I seen your face?
In what forgotten place
Of long departed race,
In days gone by?
Blue eyes, and jetty hair
Crowning that face so fair,
Whose proud smile lingering there
Shows spirit high.

WERE you that Irish maid
Who, in Partholan's raid,
With her young beauty paid
Some soldier's hire—
Drove her knife through his side;
Shrieked, laughing, as he died;
Laughed as her bonds I tied,
At death by fire?

WHEN Rollo's fleet of yore
Off Norway's rugged shore
(I chained to galley oar)
Rocked on the foam,
Were you the princess proud
Smiling upon the crowd
Whose shouts and cheerings loud
Welcomed him home?

AH! Memory serves at last!
In Rome's arena vast
You with the martyrs cast,
A soldier I;
The hungry lions roar,
Slow I unbar their door,
You turn your face once more
And smile goodby!

MR. HERMAN DYING OF STONE IN THE BLADDER

Gin Pills passed the Stone

513 James St., Hamilton.

"Four years ago I was taken down with what the doctors called Inflammation of the Bladder—intense pains in the back and loins, great pain and difficulty in urinating. The pain was greatest in the region of the bladder, and the attacks, which became more frequent, amounted to unbearable agony, and I became so weak that I could not walk across the floor. Doctors could do nothing to help me. My wife read in the paper about Gin Pills and sent for a box.

From the very first I felt that Gin Pills were doing me good. The pain was relieved at once, and the attacks were less frequent. In six weeks the Stone in the Bladder came away and the pain stopped entirely. I have had no return of the trouble and have not lost a day's work on account of it. I cannot express myself strong enough when I speak of what Gin Pills have done for me. When I remember how I suffered, and how now I am healthy and well and strong and able to do a full day's work, I feel I should speak and tell other sufferers of my experience and of the wonderful merits of Gin Pills."

BETTER EGGS AND MORE OF THEM

From Farm and Dairy.

C. Murray Smith, Brant County, Ont.

Professor Graham of Guelph says: "The egg end of the business is the best end." And he is right, for many reasons. First, eggs are always in demand, and the egg farmer gets eggs every day in the year, and his money comes regularly week after week, which is not the case in breeding poultry for market, or with any other kind of live stock; second, eggs may be sent a long way to the best market at little cost, without spoiling on the way or without losing weight as does live stock; third, eggs may be kept a long time without spoiling to wait for the best market prices.

To get eggs and eggs galore, why not keep one of the breeds that are first, last and all the time egg producers? If your object is market poultry, keep a breed that goes to beef, but don't expect both of one bird. You may get both in a measure, but only in a measure. The breed that has enjoyed the most popularity as the utility or dual purpose fowl is fast losing ground in this era of high prices. The trouble with the heavy fowl that should lay in winter (and perhaps does) is that she spends all the spring and early summer in trying to set on nest eggs, door knobs or any old thing that comes handy. She was best when only winter eggs brought high prices, but considering the prices that summer eggs bring nowadays and the lessened cost of producing summer eggs, she is no longer the most profitable proposition.

SPECIAL PURPOSE FOWL.

Farmers looked askance at the little Jersey cow when she first appeared on the scene, but she "made good." And what does the dairy farmer care about what her weight is after a few years of heavy milk production—or the egg farmer about the market price of a hen that has paid for herself many times over in heavy egg production?

The Mediterranean breeds, including Leghorns, Minorcas, Andalusians and Anconas are not heavy birds but all are heavy layers. Without prejudice, let us say we prefer Leghorns as "the poor man's friend. They are almost everlasting layers of large white shelled eggs and they rarely Quaker Oats is the best of all foods; it is also the cheapest. When such men as Prof. Fisher of Yale University and Sir James Crichton Browne, LL.D.-F.R.S. of London spend the best parts of their lives in studying the great question of the nourishing and strengthening qualities of different foods, it is certain that their advice is absolutely safe to follow.

Professor Fisher found in his experiments for testing the strength and endurance of athletes that the meat eaters were exhausted long before the men who were fed on such food as Quaker Oats. The powers of endurance of the non-meat eaters were about eight times those of the meat eaters.

Sir James Crichton Browne says—eat more oatmeal, eat plenty of it and eat it frequently. 99 ever set. Five Leghorns eat no more than three Plymouth Rocks, and the five Leghorns will lay more eggs than six Plymouth Rocks. They are persistent foragers by nature, while their great vigor enables them to stand confinement well. While often wandering a half mile away picking up a living, they invariably come home to lay, stopping the loss caused by hidden nests and the time spent in looking for them all over the farm.

If you have roosting room for 25 large fowl you can successfully keep 40 Leghorns, and 45 eggs are surely worth more than 25, and cost no more for the feed bill. They make the choicest "broiler" of any domestic fowl—and make it quick, going to a pound and a quarter in seven weeks. They are the earliest layers in existence—often starting at four months, and lay profitably at four and five years, while heavy breeds get too fat and lazy to do so after the second year.

THE INCUBATOR

From Farm and Dairy.

S. Short, Carleton Co., Ont.

No one need have any hesitation in attempting to hatch chickens with an incubator. They are now in general use; in fact, large poultry plants could not do without their incubators.

There is one important feature, the most important one, in hatching by machine as well as naturally, and that is, the eggs must be right that are put in the machine. Some beginners, having some doubt about the machine and lacking confidence in themselves, fill the machine the first time with store or market eggs justifying such a course with the argument that the loss will be less if the hatch goes wrong. The use of eggs of that class is not fair to the machine nor to the operator. The chances are the hatch will be poor under such circumstances and the machine sometimes gets the blame. Then again, suppose the hatch is a good one of mongrel chicks. They cost as much to raise as pure-bred stock.

Pure-bred poultry raising is now so general that no difficulty should be experienced in selling pure-bred stock. It is best to do business with a reliable breeder of some repute for he has his good name at stake and depends on the good will of his customers, so that usually he takes no chance when shipping eggs or birds. It is better to spend a little more for the eggs, if the fertility is guaranteed and they have been laid by fine birds, than to run risks with store eggs. All breeders quote low rates for incubator lots and the order should be sent in at least three weeks or a month before the eggs are needed to give the breeder a chance to supply them on the date asked for.

There are a great number of makers and patterns of incubators. It is sometimes convenient to inspect the machine a neighbor is using, and in that way a decision may be arrived at as to a good machine. The next best thing is to consult the advertisements. Preference should be given to Canadian firms and it saves freight to buy near at home. With each machine the fullest and clearest directions for its use are given and if the operator does that and fills his machine with fertile eggs, he or she will be delighted with the results.

ELECTRIC POWER ON THE FARM

From Farm and Dairy.

Arrangements are being made with the Hydro-Electric Commission to furnish power to the Guelph Agricultural College. Experiments will be conducted to ascertain the cost of operating machinery on the farm, with the idea of finding if the use of such power is practical on farms in Ontario reached by the lines of the Commission. The power will be used for running the engines both in the mechanics' building, as well as in the dairy, for cutting feed, running the threshing machines and other similar implements.

While speaking to a representative of Farm and Dairy recently, Mr. C. C. James, the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, who last summer visited the principal farming centres of Europe, stated that he found while abroad that the farmers of Sweden, Denmark and other countries are general users of power machinery. Power is used for churning and for running all kinds of motors. In Germany many of the farmers use alcohol produced from beets and potatoes. This alcohol is sold so cheaply it can readily be used as a fuel. "If we find," said Mr. James, "that we can furnish power to the farmers in Ontario by the Hydro-Electric Commission, on a basis cheap enough to make its use practicable on the average farm, our farmers will soon be the greatest users of power in the world."

It is sometimes convenient to inspect the machine a neighbor is using, and in that way a decision may be arrived at as to a good machine. The next best thing is to consult the advertisements. Preference should be given to Canadian firms and it saves freight to buy near at home. With each machine the fullest and clearest directions for its use are given and if the operator does that and fills his machine with fertile eggs, he or she will be delighted with the results.

ELECTRIC POWER ON THE FARM

From Farm and Dairy.

Arrangements are being made with the Hydro-Electric Commission to furnish power to the Guelph Agricultural College. Experiments will be conducted to ascertain the cost of operating machinery on the farm, with the idea of finding if the use of such power is practical on farms in Ontario reached by the lines of the Commission. The power will be used for running the engines both in the mechanics' building, as well as in the dairy, for cutting feed, running the threshing machines and other similar implements.

While speaking to a representative of Farm and Dairy recently, Mr. C. C. James, the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, who last summer visited the principal farming centres of Europe, stated that he found while abroad that the farmers of Sweden, Denmark and other countries are general users of power machinery. Power is used for churning and for running all kinds of motors. In Germany, many of the farmers use alcohol produced from beets and potatoes. This alcohol is sold so cheaply it can readily be used as a fuel. "If we find," said Mr. James, "that we can furnish power to the farmers in Ontario by the Hydro-Electric Commission, on a basis cheap enough to make its use practicable on the average farm, our farmers will soon be the greatest users of power in the world."

Enjoy your food---Starvation only aggravates Indigestion and Dyspepsia

Medical science strongly advises every dyspeptic to eat plenty of good, wholesome food because starvation only weakens the stomach as a digestive organ. Take a Little Digester after each meal and find out how easily the stomach will perform its function.

Little Digesters

are a compound of the purest drugs procurable—just the sort of prescription your family physician would write out for you. It costs nothing to try Little Digesters. These dainty tablets are put up in little red boxes—made to slip in the smallest purse or vest pocket. Your money will be cheerfully refunded if they do not effect a cure. Recommended by eminent physicians and sold by all druggists—25 cents the box.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts, a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

W. W. CORY,

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

IS THE C.N.R. TOO SLOW

R. R. Gamey Declares That Question of Who Builds the Line Into the Clay Belt Is Not So Important as That of Carrying In the People—Mr. Johnson Suggests More Public Ownership.

Toronto, March 4.—"Why not continue the good work of the T. & N.O. Railway, and give us a colonization road under the control of the people of the province, to bring in the settlers, and fill up the hinterland of Ontario?" said J. W. Johnson (W. Hastings) in the Legislature yesterday afternoon when speaking of his motion for a return of the House showing what steps, if any, the C.N.R. had taken to build the road into the clay belt for which the subsidy of 4,000 acres a mile was granted last session.

It was now within five or six weeks, he pointed out, of the time within which work had to be begun by the C.N.R. His eyes had been opened by last year's legislative trip. He had expected to see only muskeg and a good deal of rock. He saw the Cobalt mines and magnificent timber country.

If the C.N.R. agreement was not carried out in the near future, he offered Government ownership as an alternative. He thought, however, that there should be a partnership between the Government and Mackenzie and Mann for the colonization of the north country. There was no use looking to the C.P.R. or the G. T.P. All their colonization efforts were being directed to the west.

Mr. Gamey declared emphatically that the Government should spend money on a bigger scale in Northern Ontario. It didn't matter to him who built the road, but it should be built for colonization purposes. He favored the partnership idea, however. It would pay the province to give Mackenzie and Mann $1,000,000 or $2,000,000 on condition that they placed 100,000 people on the land inside two, three or four years. They could do it better than the Government. The railways were in the colonization business.

"The settlers should be put on the land in a way that they will be able to live when they get there," he continued. "You will never colonize the north country in the present way, by putting one settler on each section. Find somebody in the colonization business who is able to put in 100,000 or 200,000 people and build up the country. It is the biggest question in Ontario to-day."

Hon. J. J. Foy carried the second reading of a bill to increase the number of high court judges for the City of Toronto, the number added being left blank in the bill, though three had been recommended by the benchers. In answer to a question of Hon. A. G. MacKay, Mr. Foy said that no communications had passed yet with the Dominion Government, who have to pay the judges' salaries, with the exception of $1,000 which is paid by the province.

The Ottawa authorities would be notified as soon as the number of judges to be added was decided by the Government.

Sir James Whitney introduced a bill to make clear the membership of the executive council. There was some vagueness in the act as at present constituted, but there was no doubt whatever that the intention was that every Minister of the crown was to be a member of the executive council. The holding of a portfolio was only incidental, and was due to the exigencies to be represented on the floor of the House.

In the discussion on the bill of Hon. Frank Cochrane, respecting townsites whereby the Government retains one quarter of the land, D. J. McDougal (E. Ottawa) asked if it was meant to be restricted in its application to lands newly taken up. "How about a town that grows up naturally?" he queried.

"I never knew one to grow up naturally," retorted Mr. Cochrane. "It has to have a plan before it is a townsite. The bill provides that it does not become applicable until the plan is filed."

E. R. Gamey (Manitoulin), said that this was a new principle that was being introduced. He was not prepared to say that it was wrong, but it was an extraordinary principle to start out by taking a quarter of a man's land.

In answer to a question by Mr. Gamey, Mr. Cochrane stated that British Columbia had had a similar law for some time. He was not aware whether the Dominion had ever had such a law or not.

Hon. J. J. Foy pointed out that the railways got half of the lands through which they passed, and the people were glad to accede to the arrangement.

The Premier announced that the Government intended to appoint a commission to acquire first-hand information in regard to desirable changes in the "Workmen's Compensation Act."

Just before adjournment Sir James Whitney alluded to the probable retirement of an appeal court judge (Justice Osler), and said that it might be necessary, in consequence to have the Lieutenant-Governor attend on Tuesday next to give his assent to a number of bills.

Enquiry Into Girl's Death.

Oakville, March 4.—Coroner Dr. Williams yesterday opened an inquest into the death of Cora Howes, a seven-year-old girl, whose death occurred last Saturday. Her mother, however, did not call an undertaker until Monday. The enquiry was adjourned until March 16, and in the interval a postmortem examination will be made.

Blacklisted Man Told Remarkable Story in Court To-day as to How He Secured Some Whiskey—Was Fined $15.25.

HE PLEADED GUILTY

A well-known young man whose name occupies a position on the "Indian list" appeared in the police court this morning and pleaded guilty to having been drunk last night. In the absence of Magistrate Dumble, City Clerk Armstrong and City Treasurer Adams presided. A fine of ten dollars and costs amounting to $15.25 was imposed and paid forthwith.

The accused was put in the witness box to tell where he had procured his liquor. He told a remarkable story of having watched a man place a large bottle of whiskey near the Bell Telephone building on Hunter street. After the man went away the prisoner went and got the bottle and drank the entire contents.

"We will have to charge you with stealing," the Chief remarked laughingly. "What do you think the old man will say when he comes after it?"

FATALLY SHOT

Two Italians Quarrel Over a Small Amount of Money.

Special to The Examiner.

Guelph, March 4.—Angelo Addario, an Italian, employed by the Guelph Pipe Mills, is in St. Joseph's Hospital with two gaping bullet wounds in his side and George Carrare, a fellow countryman, is locked up, charged with the shooting. The affair took place this morning, and is said to have been caused by a dispute over a small amount of money. Addario is not expected to recover.

REAR END COLLISION

Two Toronto Street Cars Clash and Passengers are Injured.

Special to The Examiner.

Toronto, March 4.—Jas. Owen, 26 Gladstone Avenue, and W. M. Nickoe, 139 Gladstone ave., were seriously crushed about the feet and many other passengers bruised and shaken up by the rear-end collision of two Queen street cars at the corner of Peter street, at 7.30 this morning.

Owen Sound, March 4.—John Graham, 49 years old, was instantly killed in Wrigley's bush, North Keppel, yesterday, while felling trees. Owing to deep snow he was unable to escape in time to avoid a descending tree.

FOR BABY'S SKIN TROUBLES

There are times in the life of nearly every child when Dr. Chase's Ointment proves itself a blessing. The tender skin chafes and is irritated by the clothing. Oftentimes baby eczema developes from this very cause. In a dozen ways Dr. Chase's Ointment can be used to sooth and heal the skin and prevent suffering of the little one. No treatment is so well suited for this purpose and none is so entirely satisfactory.

LAID TO REST

Funeral of Late John Strain Took Place Yesterday.

The funeral of the late John Strain took place yesterday afternoon at half past two from the family residence, Robinson street, East City, to St. Luke's Church and then to the Little Lake Cemetery. It was largely attended, many friends turning out to pay their last token of respect to the memory of the deceased. At the church the rector, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, conducted the service, also officiating at the grave, Dr. Langfeldt referred very feelingly to the death of Mr. Strain and spoke in the highest terms of the many estimable qualities that characterised the deceased.

The pallbearers were Messrs. A. Weir, Wm. Crane, Frank Adams, John Kerr, Johnston, Alf. Lent and Alex. Fitzgerald.

Many beautiful floral tributes were received, testifying to the high esteem in which the deceased was held by numerous friends.

EXAMINER'S NEW SERIAL STORY BEGINS MARCH 9

The Examiner's new serial story which promises to be the most fascinating ever offered readers of this paper will commence in the issue of Wednesday, March 9, and there will be a generous supplement every day afterwards until the story is ended. "The Port of Missing Men" by Meredith Nicholson is a copyrighted story published by Bobbs & Merrell, and is as interesting and unusual as its title. There are few readers of fiction who do not appreciate a "yarn" in which the mystery strain predominates and as "The Port of Missing Men" is a romance of this character there is every reason to expect that it will be read with avidity. Full of stirring situations and lively action, containing a strong heart interest, as well as an appeal to the adventurous side of one's nature. Mr. Nicholson has turned a master piece of its kind. Some perhaps have read the story in book form and if so will have no hesitation in endorsing what we have said. Remember the "Port of Missing Men" commences on Wednesday next, March 9, and see that you do not miss a single copy containing the story.

SUGAR HAS INCREASED AGAIN

The wholesale price of sugar has advanced thirty-five cents a hundred weight since the middle of January. Such was the announcement of one of the men who are thoroughly acquainted with the conditions as they exist in Peterborough. The price has gone up several times during that interval ten cents at a jump. The advance up to to-day was really only 25c per cwt., but it was expected that another 10c would be tacked on before business closed. The reason of this increase is said to be the great shortage in the Cuban supply. One of the results of the present condition is that grocers are buying extensively while the price is at the existing figure. Some, of course, have a large supply on hand and will not be affected to the same extent. The consumer will soon begin to realize a difference from the increase if the price obtains at the present figure. The Examiner's informant states that the retailer cannot afford to sell granulated sugar at a better rate than 16 lbs. for a dollar if he pays the price that is now demanded.

AVALANCHE'S VICTIMS NUMBER ONE HUNDRED IN LATE CATASTROPHE

ASKED FOR CIGARETTES WHEN INFORMED OF HIS COMMITTAL

Robert Henderson Was Sent up for Trial by Magistrate Edmison at Session of County Police Court Held in Norwood Yesterday---Prisoner One of the Least Affected Persons in the Court Room.

It is reported of Robert Henderson that on being informed by County Constable Cochrane yesterday afternoon that he had been committed for trial by Magistrate Edmison he calmly looked at the constable, smiled and asked if he could get a few cigarettes. Probably no more striking example of the prisoner's apparent utter disregard of the proceedings could be offered than this.

He was taken to Norwood yesterday on the noon train by Constable Cochrane and was arraigned before Magistrate Edmison in the County Police Court for a preliminary hearing on the charge of murdering Margaret McPherson. The town hall, which served as the court room, was crowded with people. Every nook and corner was occupied, and many were jammed in the vestibule, while others had to be content with remaining on the outer steps. Curiosity was written on every face. Much had been heard of the prisoner, and the people of the Norwood and Havelock district were eager to get a glimpse of him. It is needless to say that they were disappointed. They saw only a boy of 17 years with nothing about his appearance to suggest viciousness or moral depravity. His disregard of the proceedings of which he was the very centre impressed them about equally with his youth and boyishness. The evidence was given, each witness being heard in turn, but Henderson might have been a hundred miles away for all the interest he displayed. The spectators near the front of the hall followed the case more intently than did the prisoner, and the general opinion of the assembly is expressed by what one farmer remarked, to the effect that he did not think the lad was "all there."

A large number of the people present were unable to hear the evidence. They caught the name of the witness when it was called out, but those towards the centre and rear of the hall had to be satisfied with an occasional passage.

Had Wrong Cartridges.

The evidence for the most part did not materially differ from that offered at the Coroner's inquest of a few days ago. Martha McPherson, the sister, retold her story. Henderson got the dinner he asked for and handed over 10 cents in payment. He went away and the women saw him go down the road around a clump of trees. About twenty minutes passed when a shadow darkened the window as Henderson, having returned, made his way to the back door. Almost at the same moment he entered the house carrying the axe which he had picked up in the yard. Apparently the murderous deed was an afterthought, but those who have visited the house cannot understand what the motive could have been. The dilapidated condition of the place could scarcely have hinted at a mint of money being found within. When the revolver was presented to the court by Constable Bennett of Havelock, Magistrate Edmison pointed out for the first time that it was loaded with rim fire cartridges, whereas the weapon is what is known as a centre fire. Several cartridges, it is stated, showed marks of the hammer having struck the cartridge, but as may be readily understood, none of them were discharged. "Just about as dangerous as a pipe case," was Constable Cochrane's laconic remark as he noted the marks. It is claimed that Henderson flashed the revolver at his pursuers that Friday and that, thanks to the cartridges he was supplied with, no shots were fired. It also is an explanation of his tame submittal to arrest when Constable Bennett approached him at the last stand.

After all the evidence had been received Magistrate Edmison stated that he could not but send him up for trial. The next sessions will likely begin towards the end of this month, and the prisoner will then appear for trial. Sympathy is expressed for the prisoner on account of his youth, but the farmers could not forget the nature of the crime that is laid at his door, and they concluded their opinions by believing that there is "something missing somewhere." Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared for the prisoner and Mr. R. E Wood conducted the prosecution It is understood that there are no funds for the defence, but Henderson is receiving every attention, even though he is without the wherewithal to pay for it.

Norwood, March 4.—The only additional new evidence brought out was that of George A. Parcels, who swore that as he was passing he saw the prisoner coming out of the McPherson home on the day of the assault.

Moving Picture Houses Are Equipped According To Law

In accordance with the regulations recently issued by the Fire Underwriters' Association the proprietors of moving picture shows are complying with the demands upon the fulfilment of which licenses are extended. When all the clauses of the regulations have been carried out, and that condition already prevails almost to the letter of the law, it will seem impossible that a fire could break out and it certainly could not advance further than the operator's box. Up to the present fires have originated from the bursting and igniting of the film, and for that reason the operator's room is fireproof. The new rules came into force on Tuesday, March 1st, and the proprietors have practically completed the necessary work required by the regulations. The regulation regarding the operator's room is as follows:

The operating cabinet must be lined inside throughout with two-ply of fourteen pound asbestos paper, and covered with metal, door opening outward with spring and shall have no lock (provided that any other fireproof cabinet that passes inspection of any Provincial Officer, authorized to inspect same may be used) and shall be equipped with an automatic cut-off, such opening to be equipped with fusible links or wire, all wires conveying electricity to this cabinet to be properly insulated by porcelain tubes or other proper insulating substances ,and cabinet shall be kept clean and free from any articles not required for performance.

REAL ESTATE IS MOVING FAVOURABLY

Real estate is taking an upward movement, much resembling a boom according to the statements of several of the men who are in the business in this city. January was a rather good month but February was slow until towards the end. Since that time there has been a favourable showing and considerable business has been transacted. An early Spring will do a great deal to enliven the business.

No Hope of Finding Any of the Missing Alive Beneath the Tightly Packed Snow and Debris in the Canyon.

BODIES ARE TERRIBLY MANGLED

Wellington, Wash., March 3.—Eighty-six names are now on the list of dead and missing passengers and railroad and postal employees who were carried down by the avalanche which destroyed two Great Northern trains on Tuesday morning. Statements of the number of labourers fighting the snow, who were sleeping on the ill-fated trains, vary from 20 to 30. An estimate of 100 dead is conservative, it is said tonight.

All the dead were residents of the northwest. Of the injured, only Rev. Bishop Winget of Chicago was from the east. No one who has seen the wreckage has the slightest hope of finding any of the missing alive. The explorations have uncovered none living, and some of the bodies are shockingly mangled.

An avalanche of dry snow might have covered its victims alive, but the gorge at Wellington is packed tight with wet snow, ice, huge trees and glacial boulders of enormous weight.

Two of the bodies recovered were those of electricians who were living in a cabin at the edge of Wellington, and who were carried three hundred feet down the slope.

All day a stream of men with packs strapped to their backs wound about the mountain path from Skykomish to Scenic and Wellington, carrying food and supplies for the injured. Some are digging for the bodies of friends or relatives. Sightseers were told that they were not wanted.

A labourer was caught taking trinkets from a woman's body, and he was compelled to start down the trail at once. One hundred and fifty men dug for bodies in the debris all day. Among the bodies found today were those of ex-Prosecuting Attorney R. L. Pettit, who, after a trip on foot to Skykomish, went back to his post, and Mrs. M. A. Covington of Olympia, who left Spokane to celebrate her golden wedding in Seattle today.

Vancouver, B. C., March 3.—Among those mentioned as missing in the Wellington train disaster on the Great Northern is H. D. Chantrell, a well-known resident of Vancouver. The members of his family here are in pained suspense as to whether the worst news is yet to be told. Details are still meagre; and there is but faint hope that many of the victims ditched on the Canyon train survive.

Mr. Chantrell was born in Somersetshire, England, in 1851, and came to Canada in 1876. He started farming at Port Haney, where for several years he shared the prosperity incident to thrift and industry in the fertile Fraser valley In 1890 he was appointed to a position in the Customs service.

THEY GOT MARRIED

Young Couple Who Were Arrested on George Street Have Since Been United in Marriage.

Harold McDonald and Lily Weaver who were arrested on George street, on Wednesday evening and were allowed to go yesterday morning, their case being enlarged until Monday morning were united in marriage last evening at the home of Staff-Captain Walton. Chief Roszel stated this morning that he would ask the permission of the Magistrate to have the charges of vagrancy against them withdrawn.

DISPOSED OF BARNS

Mr. R. H. Leary Sells Water Street Barns to Mr. Robt. Gibbs.

Mr. R. H. Leary has disposed of his livery barns now occupied by Mr. Robt. Gibbs, on Water street, to Mr. Gibbs. The deal was put through this afternoon. Mr. Leary intends removing to the West, and is disposing of most of his property.

CHASED HUNGRY LOOKIG HOUND THAT THREATENED LITTLE GIRL

Dr. Gray Believes it Would Have Seriously Injured Her---Carries a Baseball Club for the First Dog That Threatens Him---Women Express Themselves Against the Large Number of Worthless Dogs Allowed at Large

In these days of rabies and hydrophobia a dog bite, that six months ago would probably have been unnoticed, now entails the cauterizing of the wound or as an extreme measure, the Pasteur treatment. While the scare has fortunately not developed in Peterboro as in other cities, there seems to be a rather widespread uneasiness, sitting on a bomb, as it were, and uncertain whether the worst will happen or whether the spark in the city will result in a mere "swizz." It is to be hoped that not even a mad dog will be reported in this neighborhood and there are many citizens who have expressed themselves as dissatisfied with what they term the inactivity manifested by the powers that be, locally. In discussing the situation with an Examiner reporter a few days ago a man said that he had never seen a case of rabies but that during the past winter he had noticed his collie acting strangely at intervals. It would run along the sidewalk growling and sniffing and altogether seemed to have changed. Yesterday a collie in the southwest end of the city, which from various accounts had been making itself a nuisance and an annoyance, took the poison route to the stately forests of the fantastic hunting ground. A young man in the East Ward was reported bitten on the army by a dog. The exact nature of the attack, however, is not known. Added to these facts are numerous complaints about the number of alleged tagless dogs running about the streets.

One lady in the west end stated today that she had counted more than a dozen different dogs on the street, and she was morally satisfied that they were homeless and friendless, at least the tags were missing. Statements similar to this are reported from all quarters of the city, and several citizens while not in favour of a general muzzling of the canines, said they believed the dog population entirely too numerous and agreed that something should be done to at least rid the street of the tagless curs that are neither useful nor ornamental.

A lady stated to a reporter yesterday that after reading of the death of the little boy in Hamilton she was inclined to worry while her children were on their way to and from school.

Chased a Hound.

Dr. Gray, Sherbrooke street, told of an incident which happened a few days ago and thoroughly aroused his ire. He was shovelling the snow off the sidewalk in front of his residence when a little girl, May Howden, whose home is on the opposite side of the street, approached. A big, gaunt hound, showing every sign of hunger, barked and ran at her as if it would bite her. The doctor chased the animal with the shovel, but the brute returned before the little girl was safe in her home and had to be again beaten off. Dr. Gray stated that he fully believed that dog would have bitten her.

Carried a Club.

At the time of relating this incident the doctor was carrying a regulation baseball bat which for its size might have caused the original big stick a certain amount of envy. Dr. Gray will take no chances with a dog. He is a lover of well-bred canines, but considers that a man should keep his pet at home. Having seen a few things of late that impressed him and after reading certain articles recently, Dr. Gray simply came to the conclusion that he, at any rate, would take no chances and will "spill on the sidewalk" the brains of the first dog that approaches him. And he was thoroughly in earnest about his decision.

The bat is an old one that has decorated his den for years. He last used it in 1889 in a game at Gananoque. In his palmy days the doctor could play baseball or cricket with the next one and he has not yet forgotten how to swing a club. According to his statement a dog is taken with rabies if it is not fed with meat. That is what he believes happened in the western part of the province. The dogs were not getting a meat diet, and as in the case of wolves and foxes, several become mad and may have spread the dreadful condition to other dogs. "Let a man have a dog if he wants one, but let him keep it at home. You don't see cows at large on the streets, and you hardly expect a cow to chase or bite at people."

A number of comments have been heard on the street as to why the Council did not act upon the recommendation from the Board of Health. But that's another matter.

Ben Dusty Home From Trolley League

Ben Dusty is home after finishing the season with the Brantford pros, and the ex-Stratheona player declares that he had a very enjoyable season in the Trolley League, even if it did end up in a little session before the Magistrate yesterday. He was given the best of treatment by the Brantford management and players, and speaks very highly of the way he was used in the Telephone City. As to the hockey displayed it is nearly all of the individual variety, there being little combination used and every man works through on his own account.

Speaking of his little go with Lehman Ben says that it did not amount to much. Lehman is one of the best guardians of the nets in Canada, and in the game in question had been pulling off some fine stops. Randall finally shot dead on the nets, and Lehman saved. Before he could clear, however, Dusty charged in on him, and butted the rubber through, going into the nets himself. Lehman was sore over being scored on in that manner and warned the Peterborough boy not to do it again. A moment after Randall came up again, but his shot was wide and as Dusty went to skate across in front of the nets Lehman slashed him and the two clinched and went down, whereupon the police walked out.

When the case came up yesterday before the Magistrate, it was discovered there was no evidence of assault.

Gymnastic Exhibition At Y. M. C. A. Was A Success

The gymnastic exhibition given by the Park St. A. C. assisted by members of the Y. M. C. A. in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium was a gratifying success in every way, and the large crowd that watched the programme from the gallery was greatly pleased with the event.

The programme opened with a clever exhibition of tumbling by the Mack Brothers, whose hand balancing and somersaults were quite worthy of the applause they received.

Mr. Lillie, of the P. A. C., was seen in an interesting exhibition of rope skipping.

The Junior School Boys contributed a wand drill, followed by a club swinging performance by Mr. Lillie. The Junior School boys showed skill in apparatus work, and the employed boys caused much amusement by their high diving over the elephant, doing it in the approved circus style.

The P. A. C. squad were received with much applause in class work on the parallel bars, and their exhibition was followed by some mat work by the employed boys.

The programme closed with dumb bell drill by the P. A. C. and advanced gymnastic work by the Leaders' Corps of the Y. M. C. A.

Lorne Conway and Kyle Harstone added considerable amusement by their funny pranks.

LOCAL MAN DROWNED

Word Received in the City That Maurice O'Brien Had Been Drowned at Tekoe, D.C.—Formerly Peterboro' Resident.

TWO MEN OF THAT NAME

A telegram was received in the city yesterday to the effect that a man by the name of Maurice O'Brien, formerly of Peterborough, had been drowned at Tekoe, D. C. There are two Maurice O'Briens living in the west, both having at one time lived in this city. It is not known which one is dead, but it is thought that it is the person who left Peterborough some thirty years ago. His parents then lived in Ashburnham, but they have long since been dead. It was learned today that he had a brother living in Toronto, and it is thought some relatives of his are residing in Douro.

The message was sent by F. H. Moher of Tekoe, D. C., to Mr. J. C. Sullivan, East City.

JOHN LILLIE DEAD

Well Known Manufacturers' Agent Who Formerly Lived Here.

Toronto, March 4.—Mr. John Lillie, a well-known manufacturers' agent in Toronto, passed away yesterday at his home, 40 Nanton avenue, after an illness of about nine weeks. The late Mr. Lillie, who was 68 years of age, was a native of Ireland, and after coming to Canada resided at Peterborough for some time. For the past thirty-five years he had been a resident of Toronto, and prior to going into business for himself, some fifteen years ago, represented well-known Toronto wholesale houses. During his residence in Toronto the late Mr. Lillie was an officer and member of the Jarvis Street Baptist Church. The funeral takes place to-morrow at 2.30 p.m., to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

ANNUAL BANQUET

City Hockey League Will Honour the Champions on Monday, March 14.

The annual banquet of the City Hockey League, at which the presentation of the Examiner trophy to the Strathconas will take place, will be held in the Oriental Hotel on Monday, March 14, at 8 o'clock. The committee, which is composed of President C. C. Graham and Secretary F. D. Craig, are at work on the arrangements, and the affair promises to be a fitting climax to the most successful season in the history of the League. The invitations for the affair were sent out to the different City League Clubs today and a number of tickets will be placed on sale for the benefit of the public, as a number of fans are accustomed to be present.

PRESENTED WITH CHAIR

Mr. J. S. Donnelly Remembered by His Friends of the Porcelain Works.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Donnelly on Monday, Feb. 28, a very enjoyable evening was spent in music and games, when the ladies and gentlemen of the porcelain department of the C. G. E. presented Mr. Donnelly with a handsome Morris rocker. The address was as follows:

We, the fellow workers of porcelain department, on the occasion of your leaving us, offer you this rocker in the extreme hope that it will remind you of the good fellowship that has existed between us for many years, and to assure you that you carry with you the good wishes of your comrades for your success in your new sphere of labour.

Signed on behalf of the workers,
THOS. TURCOTT.

Mr. Donnelly has worked in the porcelain department during the past eight years and has given up his position to become a conductor on the local street railway.

WERE ENTERTAINED

McGregor and Reid Banquetted Their Staff on Wednesday Night.

MacGregor & Reid entertained their staff to a well-served supper at Coleman's Wednesday evening. Mr. MacGregor, as host, thanked his men for the very fine carving set presented to him by his staff. He appreciated the manner in which they all tried to look after his interests, especially after the recent fire. A very enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

FRIDAY, MARCH 4, 1910

PROROGATION OF PARLIAMENT.

Those members of Parliament who entertained the idea of prorogation of Parliament at Easter looked for the impossible. Those best acquainted with the conditions, having in mind the work yet to be done, the ground yet to be covered, do not look for a possible prorogation before the middle of April, if indeed the present session does not extend to and beyond the first of May. Important legislation that may not be deferred has yet to be dealt with.

BANK CHARITIES.

It is not at all probable that the legislation dealing with decennial revision of the Bank Act will be introduced, not to say passed, this session. The charters of the banks do not expire till July 1st, 1911, and though it is usual to deal with the Banking Act the year before the entering of the charters, in view of the heavy programme of legislation to be dealt with and the desire not to unduly prolong the session, the matter will be postponed till the next session.

CANADA'S CENTURY.

Canada has entered the twentieth century race with a great stride. During its first decade she has made great progress in every department of her national interests. She has gained a recognized high place among the nations. She is becoming, to a large extent, self supporting, and, while not offensively resenting, will not tolerate patronage. She does not have to go, hat in hand, to beg trade. Germany came to Canada's conditions, and sought, if not besought, relief from the independent action by which Canada showed her resentment of Germany's tariff penalty at the time of the British preference. And the days of Canada's looking to Washington have ended. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that, after the trade treatment given this country by the United States, if there was to be any resumption of negotiations for better trade relations, Uncle Sam must take the first steps. This has been done and two envoys from Washington are at present in Ottawa, practically asking Canada to discuss the trade relations of the two countries. Canada's population is rapidly increasing and it is probable that the next decennial census will show a population of eight millions, as against a population of five millions, odd, in 1901. And the United States is one of the largest contributors to our growth in population. Last year 100,000 United States farmers, with their flocks and herds, crossed the international boundary into Canada, and it is probable that the flow will continue in equal volume this year. Buoyancy and activity are the conditions in all great arenas of national enterprise and, with the blessing of Divine Providence, another bountiful harvest will hasten the accelerated forward impulse that has marked the first ten years of the Twentieth century.

MR. BORDEN'S TROUBLES.

Concession to political exigency has led Mr. Borden, leader of the Opposition, into trouble. In view of "alleged "emergency" he went back on the resolution which he and his following, as well as parliament, as a whole, voted for unanimously on March 29, 1909, and substituted for the proposal embodied in this resolution, that Canada should establish a navy, an amendment in favour of presenting to Great Britain 25 million dollars to be spent in building Dreadnoughts, or in any way the central government saw fit. Following the example of the Dominion leader of the Opposition, Mr. Monk, the Conservative leader for Quebec, moved a supplementary amendment, and this has been followed by divers new policies plainly advocated or hinted at in speeches by Conservative members during the naval debate. The cue thus given his followers by the leader, they broke bounds. Having no consistent and tenable policy to unite them, they took on a go-as-you-please pace, and travelled outside the record. Without reason of any kind the Opposition raised the old cry of disloyalty against the leader of the Government, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who had, it was charged more or less explicitly, invented the naval policy as the thin end of the wedge of separation from Great Britain. From this it was very easy to inaugurate a race-and-creed cry, and to pounce upon the French Canadian subjects of the King as essentially disloyal and anxious to cut the painter and drift into independence, to establish a French republic on the banks of the St. Lawrence. This attitude was not as temperately stated as this, but was accompanied by a good deal of insulting insinuation and super-legal invective. Mr. Borden has allowed this campaign of insult to go on, being unwilling or unable to check it. It is no wonder, therefore, that French Canadian Conservatives have at last resented specifically this sort of treatment, which has been not only an insult to them, but to the whole French Canadian people, and their representatives in Parliament. It is stated that a deputation of the most prominent Conservatives from the Province of Quebec, when they came to Ottawa a day or two ago, had a heart-to-heart talk with Mr. Borden, who had a very bad quarter of an hour in squaring himself with his Quebec friends. It is stated also, with considerable emphasis, that no such matter was discussed, but that the deputation came simply to take counsel upon the coming Conservative convention. That subject may have been discussed; but it is also natural that in moments of confidential consultation, the French Canadian contingent should take advantage of the occasion to remonstrate with the leader for permitting his fire-eating Ontario followers to insult and berate the whole French Canadian people, including, of course, themselves. One Conservative journal, The Journal, in Ottawa, asserts that there was nothing of the kind took place during the conference; while the other, The Citizen, says: "It was understood that strong exception was taken to some of the remarks"—a fine euphemism for set and systematic attacks buttressed by laboriously compiled quotations—"of certain Conservatives against the province of Quebec." This is the more probable version for our self-respecting Quebec compatriots, who do not submit tamely to the attacks of rabid Ontario journals, cannot be expected to lie down under attacks made, unrebuked, the presence, and inferentially with the approval, of the Conservative leader. Mr. Borden should have his following better in hand than to permit them, under cover of advocating imperial unity to incite to Canadian disunion and racial discord.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The mineral output of the Province of Ontario last year was of the value of $32,652,072, an increase of seven million dollars over that of last year.

The names of the tariff experts sent by the United States to talk over the tariff situation are Emery and Pepper. One may be expected to grind it fine and the other to dish it up hot.

The mild weather has made the outlook for the dairy business promising. The cows of the country have come through in excellent condition. Thus the foundation is laid for a good beginning of production.

The St. John (N. B.) Standard says that "Mr. Borden is exceedingly popular in Quebec." This popularity takes a peculiar form of expression. Quebec sends sixty-five members to Parliament. Of these fifty-four are Liberals and eleven Bleus, or Conservatives—admirers of Mr. Borden.

Cheese producers will do well to take into serious consideration the unwisdom of shipping green cheese. Such a course tends to injure the Canadian market in Great Britain. On account of New Zealand cheese supplying a larger share of the winter demand, Canadian cheese, when it begins to move enters into immediate consumption, and should, therefore, be ready for use.

The fire-eating imperialists and scare-mongers should scent a new casus belli with Germany. Free Trade England is now competing with and beating Germany in the production of cheap toys. "Made in Germany" will not any more be the exclusive label on the wobbly wooden sheep and horses Santa Claus deposits in Christmas stockings. England is beating Germany at her own game, in the matter of toys, is a clear lap ahead of Germany, who is vainly struggling to beat England in the game of producing war ships.

A few distinguished busy-bodies under the style of the Canadian Defence League waited on the Provincial Legislature yesterday, asking that body to vote, on motion of Sir James Whitney and Hon. Mr. McKay, Opposition leader, for a resolution endorsing Mr. Borden's give-away policy of presenting to Great Britain the price of two Dreadnoughts. If the Dominion Parliament, after three weeks' steady flow of unsteady argument cannot come to a conclusion, how can the Ontario Legislature, that knows nothing about the matter, vote intelligently. The Ontario Legislature should be well advised and not "butt in" or to use nautical language, not ram in.

If Mr. Fielding needs any justification of his announced intention not to continue the iron and steel bounties, he has it in the fact that the industry of steel production is in no need of bounties. The Dominion Steel and Coal merger will earn as high as fifteen per cent on its commerce stock, not later than 1911. The officials of the company have made provision for the withdrawal of the bounties. The Nova Scotia Steel Company is flourishing; its earnings for the year show an increase over the preceding year of $173,248, in spite of the great depression in business the earlier part of the year. And the Soo steel industries are on a sound and flourishing footing.

Stamina In Men And How To Possess It.

(From "Man's Maladies.")

A Prominent physician being asked the question: "What are the things in life a man needs most?" answered: "Physical health, strong nerves, mental efficiency, money and social success." Any man possessing these five attributes is a success. Any man possessing the first three can be a success and have the other two. Possession of a sound body with strong nerves is really the requirement which men need most. Men need stamina, courage, staying qualities, endurance and perseverance, but in order to have these qualities the nerves must be strong and keenly sensitive to every emotion. When a man has forebodings, sensations of fear, timidity, accompanied with such symptoms as trembling hands and limbs, weak voice, nervousness, sleeplessness, numbness, dizziness, heart palpitation, restlessness, forgetfulness, melancholia, weariness without cause, and many others of a similar nature, it cannot be expected that he will be a success financially, socially or otherwise.

Strong virile magnetism comes only to those whose nerves are properly nourished in a sound body. Nature in her wisdom has supplied certain extracts, essences, etc., which, if properly blended, will restore a normal keenness to the nerves so that any man can feel the rich red blood surging through his body, supplying all the elements necessary to derive the most out of life in all its various phrases.

For the benefit of these temporarily deficient in nerve strength the following ingredients can be obtained of any good druggist and prepared in the privacy of home. Purchase three ounces of syrup sarsaparilla compound in a six-ounce bottle. Add one ounce of compound fluid balmwort, shake and let stand two hours. Then add one ounce of compound fluid balmwort, shake and let stand two hours. Then add one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardomom) and one ounce compound essence cardiol. Mix. Shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring. All distressing symptoms will soon vanish and a complete restoration to normal follows.

ALL YOUR STOMACH TROUBLE VANISHES

No Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia Five Minutes Later.

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapepsin and realize not only immediate but lasting relief.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Get from your Pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fulness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odours.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drugstore.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disorder.

POST CARD COLUMN.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—In reply to an Englishman and a S. A. Veteran's letter of the 3rd inst. It quite begs the question. I have never heard a Canadian blow, but read in The Examiner of the 26th, 2-10, in commemoration of the great Battle of Paardeberg, won by Canadians. I flatly contradict that statement. I also have fought with the Canadians and found them full of pluck. If the Garrison N. C. O's didn't insert the insertion mentioned who did. I should like to state I am a veteran of the regular army also, but did not enter as a fighting machine, but for love of my country, as my forefathers did before me. I did not say there was no praise for the irregulars, but at the Battle mentioned, no C. I. V's. were there. I give all honour to all the boys that were there; they all done their best, every man Jack of them, for England, home and duty. I am,

Yours truly,

SOUTH AFRICAN VETERAN.

ST. ANDREW'S WIN THE CHURCH LEAGUE TITLE

Beat George Street in Hard Fought Battle on a Surface of Water and Slush at Auditorium Rink by 4 Goals to 2 --The Teams Were Tied at Half Time With One Goal Each.

For the second time in two years St. Andrew's won the championship of the Church Hockey League last night, when they defeated the George Street team at the Auditorium Rink by 4 goals to 2.

The ice conditions were about as bad as they could be with an inch of water in some places and two inches of slush in others, so that it was impossible to carry the puck and combination was out of the question. The players had to adopt a golf system of batting at the puck, and then chasing it, and under such conditions of course there could be little shown along the lines of good hockey. It was a hard, exciting, gruelling contest, however, and the little quota of fans which both teams had on hand made the night air ring with noise.

There was very little to choose between the two teams on ice such as they played on last night. The score at half-time was 1 to 1, but St. Andrew's banged in three in the second half before George Street found the nets at all, and one more was all the Methodists could secure before time was called. Strange to say a review of the play would indicate that the Saints would have scored more often in the first half as they had much the better of the playing, and that they really did not, on the play, deserve to score so many in the second half, when the going seemed more even. There were no particular stars on either team last night. There could not be under the prevailing conditions, but every man worked like a beaver, and came off looking as if he had gone through a shower bath. Special mention, however, is coming to Goal-keeper Wilson, of the George Street team, who stopped a host of shots, especially in the first half.

Wade scored the first for George Street a few minutes after play started, tipping one behind Patterson when the puck came out of a scrimmage to him. Rae equalized for St. Andrew's, after fifteen minutes' playing in almost the same manner, and the score remained so until half time, although the Saints had many openings, losing by bad shooting and more by Wilson's good goal-keeping.

St. Andrew's came back strong after the breathing spell, and Leitch soon put his team ahead by scoring twice—the first from a scrimmage and the second by a nice shot from the wings which hit Wilson on the knee and bounced into the nets. Sills got St. Andrew's fourth counter, Wilson lifting the puck out to the left wing, who returned into the counting station. Curtis scored the last goal of the game on a nice rush along the boards and a shot from the side.

"Mich." Quigley refereed satisfactorily and the teams were as follows:

St. Andrew's — Goal, Patterson; point, Staunton; cover, Clarke; rover, Currie; centre, Rae; right wing, Leitch; left wing, Sills.

Summary—
1—George Street, Wade.
2—St. Andrew's, Rae.
Half time.
3—St. Andrew's, Leitch.
4—St. Andrew's, Leitch.
5—St. Andrew's, Sills.
6—George Street—Curtis.

Penalties—Wade, Sills, Parnell, Curtis, Parnell, Rae, Wade, Staunton, Pratt.

Total—George Street 6, St. Andrew's 3.

A DEFENCE OF THE CITY HOCKEY LEAGUE METHODS

"True Fan's" Arguments Meet With Disapproval of Another Writer Who Points Out How Much the City League Has Done for Hockey in Peterborough.

MUST LOOK AFTER YOUNG MATERIAL

Sporting Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I was greatly interested in the letter which appeared in your columns last night, signed "True Fan," in reference to the City Hockey League, and while it is evident that "True Fan" is a person that has the interest of the game at heart I must disagree with him in his opinions in regard to the City League.

In the first place the City League is far from being the "fence-corner" affair described by the writer. The quality of hockey displayed, especially this season has been superior to most intermediate O. H. A. games, according to the opinion of Mr. Lawson Whitehead, who refereed the two last games, and who has handled games for the O. H. A. all over the province. Mr. Whitehead, in speaking of the last game between the Strathconas and West Ends, said that it was one of the best games he had seen this season, and that the Strathconas could defeat any team in Toronto, with the exception of a couple of the senior teams. Speaks pretty well for the City League brand doesn't it, Mr. True Fan?

The interest taken in the games by the hockey public is another proof that it is no fence corner League. During the past season an aggregate attendance of over 4,000 people saw the games, the figures being a record for the City League. Evidently the public does not share the feelings of "Mr. True Fan" in regard to the importance of the League.

Now, a word as to the benefits of a City League from the standpoint of raising players for senior hockey. Perhaps the writer of last night's letter may be ignorant of some interesting information on this point. Let me tell him that Ottawa has a City League, founded on the same lines as Peterborough's splendid organization. From that League the Ottawa Stanley Cup team selected young Gordie Roberts, whose playing has been one of the sensations of the National League this season. From the same League comes Currie, who has made good with the Shamrocks. Comes also Hamby Shore, of the Ottawa Seniors, Horace Gaul and Throop of Haileybury, Frith of the Varsity Seniors, and Cassells, of McGill. From the same League has graduated also the entire Cliffside team, prospective amateur champions of Canada. That's pretty fair for the Ottawa League, eh?

Where did Oshawa get their good juniors this season? From a Town League, which they kept up this season and next year expect to have a pennant winning team.

Stratford follows the same principle and there is no better hockey town in Canada. They believe in looking after young material by means of a City League.

Woodstock is the same, but they have adopted a system that might be worked to advantage here. From the reports of their referees they have selected fourteen of the best men, and since the closing of the League they have been practising together to be ready for next season.

For True Fan's benefit a word or two might be said as to the graduates of the local League. Among these might be mentioned Fred Doherty, captain of the Galt Professional team; Walter Miller, formerly of the Charlotte Street team, who made good with Brantford, and was considered classy enough to be taken east by the Edmonton Cup team; Ben Dusty, the ex-Strathcona player, who is with the Brantford pros.; Jakie Moore, with the Toronto Canoe Club seniors; L. M. Watson, with the Winnipeg Bankers, and Victorias, and Bert Laing, Art Mann and Ralph Quinn, with the Grand Forks (B. C.) professional team.

I think the officers of the Peterborough Hockey Club will be the first to say that they couldn't very well have gotten along during the past few years had it not been for the City League teams. From the ranks of the City League has sprung up an [illegible] years intermediate team. True some promising material [illegible] have failed to come to light otherwise. It is only necessary to mention Burritt and Denison of the Strathconas, Crane of the West Ends, and Hefferman, of the T. A. S., to convince any one of the justice of this statement. To refuse to allow O. H. A. men in the City League would practically kill that organization. It would mean that the quality of hockey would deteriorate. The public would take little or no interest in the games and with no support from the fans it is hardly likely that managers would be so persevering in their search after the best material. The young players would not receive the same coaching, the same encouragement and the same instruction, as they do now. It is only necessary to hark back a few years ago to prove this statement.

When Peterborough had a winning O. H. A. team they had an outfit comprising only seven or eight men who were in a class by themselves. As long as these men remained together things were all right, but when they dropped out of the game what happened? It was found that in the excitement of supporting this team the juniors had been neglected. There were no juniors of the necessary calibre to fill their places, and had not the City League come along at this stage and begun the work of training the young players as should have been done years before, Peterborough wouldn't have had any kind of an O. H. A. team from that day to this. True they haven't had a winning team since, but what could you expect. The youngsters were never given a chance. They were not asked out to practice, and running a junior O. H. A. team was considered too expensive an experiment, after being tried a short time. What the young players have learned has been picked up in the City League, which, I hope, will go right on with its work.

The City League has the confidence of the people, more so now than at any period in its history and need not fear the yapping of any body. True Fan, no doubt, means well, but has evidently rushed into print without carefully considering the matter. Perhaps the information I have given him will have the desired effect; at any event I hope so.

Yours, etc.,
"CITY LEAGUE."

Everyone Thought She Was Going Into Consumption.

Gained Ten Pounds in Two Weeks by the Use of Burdock Blood Bitters.

Mrs. Fred. Biggs, Kingston, Ont., writes:—"I was completely run down, my blood was out of order, and I used to get so weak I would be compelled to stay in bed for weeks at a time. I could not eat, was pale and thin; every one thought I was going into consumption. I tried everything and different doctors until a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I did not have one bottle used when my appetite began to improve. I used six bottles. I gained ten pounds in two weeks. When I began to take it I only weighed ninety-three pounds. It just seemed to pull me from the grave as I never expected to be strong again. I will tell every sufferer of your wonderful medicine."

The blood reaches every portion of the body to distribute nutriment and remove effete matter and waste products. Clearly then, any influence, good or bad, affecting matter must necessarily affect the system. Burdock Blood Bitters. It exerts its influence unapproached by any other remedy.

Auditorium Roller Rink Will Re-open Next Week

Lovers of roller skating will be glad to learn that they will be able to resume their favourite pastime in a short time. Manager Hurtubise, of the Auditorium Rink, has decided to recommence roller skating at once, and with that end in view, started a gang of men at work to-day, removing the ice from the floor. This operation will be rushed through, and it is expected the rink will re-open next week, as everything except the floor is ready. During the winter Manager Hurtubise has been making preparations for the roller season, and the stock of skates has been renovated, and other improvements made so that the Auditorium will be in better shape than ever to look after its patrons. The announcement of the opening of the rink will be hailed with delight by the young people.

THE O. H. A. GAMES ARE TO GO RIGHT ALONG IN THE SLUSH

Toronto, March 4.—Secretary Hewitt stated last night, that in spite of the fact that the weather man can locate no cold weather anywhere on the map or no prospect of any, the Preston-Barrie game will be played at the Mutual Street Rink to-night. Wally Hern will again officiate with the bell. In the three games in which these teams have met they have scored seventeen goals each, and they will try it again to-night regardless of the ice conditions. The winner of this sudden-death contest meets Kingston-Frontenacs in the final.

To-night at Collingwood the London team will meet the homesters in the last game of the intermediate finals. The Londoners have a lead of two goals. Gren. Caldwell will referee. The London team was in the city last night en route to the northern town.

To-morrow night, come what may in the matter of weather, the Argonauts and Parkdale will play the second game of their home and home semi-finals. Parkdale will go into the game with a lead of one goal.

Charges Against Players Were Dismissed

Brantford, March 3.—The Ontario Professional League season wound up with a two hours' session in the Police Court this afternoon, when the cases arising out of the recent Brantford-Berlin game were heard by Police Magistrate Livingstone.

Fighting and disorderly conduct during the game were charged against Hugh Lehman and Marvey Corbeau, of the Berlin team, and Ben Dusty and Reg. Sanford of the Brantford team, all pleading not guilty. The evidence showed that Dusty went into Lehman's crease in a fast rush, the two clinching and going down on the ice. Referee Kelly, who ruled both off for five minutes, did not consider the affair serious, and testified that the game would have proceeded had not the police interfered, with the result that the crowd rushed on the ice and a general mix-up ensued. This was substantiated by other witnesses.

The Magistrate dismissed all the cases, saying that while the police were no doubt justified in interfering as they did, thus preventing what might have been a fight, there was no evidence to show that a fight actually took place. The cases arising out of the attack on the Grand Trunk train as it was pulling out for Berlin will be heard Friday.

The promoters of the local professional hockey club report a deficit for the year. Injuries to players helped considerably to bring it about, as the policy of the locals has always been to pay players their full salary to the end of the season, when incapacitated.

SPORTING NOTES

NO MONEY FOR BERLIN.

Berlin, March 3.—The city fathers were waited upon by representatives of the local pro. hockey team, who requested financial assistance for the prospective trip after the Stanley Cup, but the guardians of civic coffers said them nay. Fifty dollars was asked for, but the Aldermen couldn't see any reason for the municipality to make the expenditure.

MUST HAVE BEEN FINE.

Berlin, March 3.—The caretaker of the rink had to go around and wake up some of the spectators at the close of to-night's Galt-Berlin pro. fixture. It was the tamest affair ever seen on Berlin ice. In fact it wasn't hockey, but simply a burlesque.

At half-time the score was 3 to 3, and at the finish Galt had five to Berlin's four. The teams play again in Galt to-morrow night. Lou Krueger refereed. His work was in line with the sort of hockey dished up by the other fourteen men whose names appeared in the cast.

"MOLLY MAY" FEATURED BY COSTUMES AND ITS SONG HITS

Julian Edwards' Best Comic Opera, With Grace La Rue, Sidney Grant and an All-Star Cast of Principals, With a Chorus Ensemble of Fifty-five Will be Seen at the Grand on Tuesday Night.

"Molly May," Julian Edwards' latest musical work, with Grace La Rue as the star, will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House on Tuesday night, March 8.

The production is made by Byron Chandler, the young Boston millionaire, and no expense has been spared to make it of compelling interest. The supporting company has been carefully chosen, and the ensemble numbers fill the stage with people. Prominent in the supporting company of Miss La Rue are James E. Sullivan, J. H. Goldsworthy, George Odell, Eva Fallon, Kate Rolla, Frances Keenan and Sidney Grant. The story evolves around an artist's studio, and Miss La Rue appears in the role of a model. Her gowns are charming, as is always the case with her—even a bit dazzling. A tigerskin cloak is one of the novelties of costume she introduces, and it, like all of her other dresses, point to a profound contempt for cost.

The music is composed in Julian Edwards' happiest vein, and one waltz song, "Molly May," is sure to be sung and whistled into enduring fame. It also serves for a magnetic dance between the principals in the last act. It is said that Miss La Rue portrays the leading character of this entirely novel musical production in a way that has inspired superlative praise wherever the opera has been presented, and personally fixes her in critical estimation as an actress of definite and unusual comedy power, as well as exceptional singing and dancing ability. The chorus is unusually large in number, beautifully costumed and presents a remarkable array of girls with good voices as well as fine features. Besides the waltz song referred to above, there are twenty other numbers, all of the sort that have made Mr. Edwards famous as the composer of tuneful music. An interpolated song with "Has Anyone Seen Kelly?" as its title is a gem of that style of composition and in its rendition Miss La Rue is said to fairly excel herself.

GOOD MEETING OF POULTRY ASSOCIATION

Barred Rock and White Wyandotte Classes Were Judged Last Night.

Last night the Peterborough Poultry Association held the first monthly meeting and immediately after regular business took up the judging of the classes, Barred Rocks and White Wyandottes, judging being done by Mr. Harry Lush, who gave good satisfaction to all parties. All points were well and enthusiastically discussed. These meetings are a great source of pleasure to the association, as from time to time all classes will come up for competition. The quality of birds in competition were of a very fine type and deserve special mention.

The prize-winners were:

CONSTIPATION AND HEADACHE

Mrs. R. Morrow, Bracebridge, Ont., writes—"For years I was troubled almost constantly with constipation and never got anything to do me the lasting good that has been obtained from Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Not only have they cured constipation but have also entirely cured the headaches from which I used to suffer terribly and have improved my health in every way."

LETTERS

A Short Story.

Miss Bayliss paused after she had stamped and sealed the last letter and stared at the little heap of envelopes with a somewhat whimsical smile.

One was to an old school friend in answer to the announcement of her engagement; another to a cousin who had written that the date of her wedding day was set; a third to a bride who had written how happy she and Tom were now they were at last settled in their own little home. All letters of congratulation, of sympathetic and loving interest, letters such as no one but Elsie Bayliss could frame. It came over her with a curious shock that no one had ever had occasion to write such letters to her. Into her busy, brilliant life there had never come the touch of common, human sentiment that seemed to illuminate the paths of the rest of the world. She had never thought about it before and she was startled at the keenness of the moment. Rising, she walked restlessly to the long windows at the end of the room and stood gazing out into the moonlit grounds. The big Bayliss estate had always been the show place of the town, and there had been days when it rang with the laughter and games of its children or was a fairyland when some entertainment for its sons and daughters had drawn every one from miles around. It had been closed the years Elsie Bayliss had studied in Europe, after the sudden death of her father and mother in an accident. She had been the youngest and her two brothers had long ago married and made homes for themselves in distant cities. The town had prophesied that Elsie, with her distinguished beauty and comfortable fortune, would never come back from abroad unwedded, but she had disappointed them, returning when she was twenty-eight, handsomer than when a mere young girl and with a voice that might have made her a name had she cared for public approbation. She had lived on quietly in the old home, the same gracious, friendly spirit pervading the big house as in the days of the past when the Bayliss place was the name for hospitality. She went away on frequent visits, and she often had her friends with her, and in the lonely times between she worked at her music and the various cares of overseeing the place. She had never missed anything.

And now these letters had suddenly plunged her into a state of surprised grievance at fate in general. It was not that she remained unsought, for there had been numerous men who conducted well-appointed sieges, but to all of them she had said no. One or two she had liked, frankly, but some subtle instinct had warned her that he was not the one for whom she was waiting. The nearest she had come surrendering herself was when Allan Imry had come into her life. And that, she admitted to herself with a trace of flush on her cheeks, had undoubtedly been because he had given no indication that he had cared for her, yet by some sense peculiar to women she had felt that he did.

He was tall and lank and straight, was Allan Imry, with a mouth that could set in lines of granite or be touched with the most whimsical and tenderest of smiles. He had drifted into the circles about Elsie in her Paris days and he had remained, unobtrusive apparently never seeking her special favor, but content to remain on the outskirts watching her, joining in the talk and badinage in an entirely desultory way. They called him the silent man, the others who were her friends, and jestingly protested that he was a mystery.

"Ask him the story of his life!" some one had laughingly demanded once of Elsie. "He looks as though he did have a story, you know. And he would tell you. I've seen his eyes when he has been looking at you from his corner!"

"Nonsense!" Elsie had laughed. "He is no mystery; he spends his days slaving at the medical schools and laboratories, and when he goes back to America he is going to be a big man. He hasn't time for idle chatter. I suppose we, with our frivolity, rest his brain as a dime novel relieves the brain tension of statesmen. He is free to come when he will!"

"Come!" echoed a man with a tone of jealousy. "You couldn't keep Imry away if you tried!"

And while she protested Elsie Bayliss, felt a little thrill of pleasure. The tall, silent man drew her in some unaccountable way. She found that their rare and brief moments of quiet talk lingered in her memory, as did the expression of his eyes. Apparently he read her thoughts, for when Allan Imry was about the little things she wished for were accomplished before she spoke. Chairs appeared at her elbow, books opened and music spread before she had spoken. She grew to depend on him. And through it all, he spoke not one word beyond that of calm friendship. Elsie refused an English baronet, and a New York broker that winter, and Allan Imry had watched the courtships as they unfolded before his very eyes, apparently in placid and detached interest, with no personal concern. But he was ever there, pleasant, remote and silent, and she was as distinctly conscious of his presence as though he had been at her side as were the others struggling for her attention and interest. She remembered now the cold shock which had spread over her that wet April morning when Allan Imry had suddenly appeared unheralded.

"I've come to say good-by," he had told her in his even, quiet voice, and had taken both her hands and held them. For an instant they started at each other, she in speechless surprise, the man with an intentness that seemed to photograph her face in his mind. "Good-by," he had said again and there was a little unevenness in his voice now. "I'm going back to America—and work. Some time—I am going to write you a letter." There had been a farewell pressure of the hands he held and he had turned and vanished before she had managed the lump in her throat and spoken. Afterward she told herself angrily she was a fool—that the man was odd, different from others, and his tempestuous farewell had been only his way. What else had she expected? Almost indignantly she had plunged again to work and social distractions and put Allan Imry out of her mind. She had the feeling that if she let herself think on the subject she would find she had taken an unwarranted amount of interest in a man who had cared nothing about her. He proved he cared nothing about her, because the letter he had promised her did not come. Three years had passed since that April day in Paris and Allan Imry had never reappeared in her life.

Perhaps she was tired, possibly a little lonely and blue for they had been very empty years. Deep in her inner self she acknowledged that she could have cared madly for Allan Imry—that indeed he had always cared.

She brushed the tears from her eyes and went back to her desk, standing there, a slim, graceful figure, her beautiful head down-dropped, looking at the little pile of envelopes. The servant who appeared saw her with a feeling of proprietary pride, for Staines had served the Bayliss family for years.

"Elkins' boy just brought this," Staines said, proffering a letter. "It was special delivery.

Staines wondered afterward at the glow which lighted the face of Elise as she took the thick letter, which was from Allan Imry.

"Now that I have told you all you were to me then and have been since and ever shall be," he had written, "I will explain my silence, I hadn't a cent in those days, Elise, and there were my younger sisters and invalid mother entirely dependent on me. I had no right. Death has taken my mother, marriage one sister and financial fortune has come my way. And so I am free to speak. Tell me if I may come to you. I have waited long."

The three letters she had written earlier in the evening were brushed to the floor unnoticed as Elise Bayliss wrote a fourth and wrote it with heart aglow.

HERE COMES SPRING

Who is there who will dare to say that SPRING is not coming? No one would take chances on earning the ill feelings of ALL by even thinking such a thing.

No other season in the whole year is so much welcomed as SPRING, with all its glorious wealth of sunshine and buds. Here SHE comes and out goes old WINTER. We are ready for Spring with everything to harmonize with the glad feelings of everyone ---men, women, and children.

This Saturday is practically the first Saturday of the first Spring month and as such promises to be one of the biggest days for New Spring Goods of the season. The store is a veritable "Paradise of the World's Loveliness" in wearing apparel. No need to visit New York and Paris to see the newest and best handiwork of Fashion artists—they're here in profusion. The second floor is one grand display of women's ready-to-wear garments—beautiful suits, dresses and coats—everything to delight the heart of a woman. A gorgeous display of American blouses in tailored and lingerie effects.

We are indeed proud of our exclusive showing of Dress Goods and Wash Fabrics. Nothing is left out that wi l make our stock the finest in this section of the country. See these stocks on the main floor.

Wall Papers and Home Furnishings are two of our ideal departments this season. We are showing some of the finest lines in the trade and are in a position to give ideas for the modern decorating and furnishing of the home that appeal to the best people. Our prices are very reasonable on all lines. "Small profits and quick returns" is our store's motto. See us Saturday and get an idea what department store shopping means to you—a decided benefit to be sure.

'ROUND THE STORES

It is becoming more and more evident that the newspaper with the sworn circulation is the better medium for giving out store news to the public. Bright, fresh store news from the leading stores in Peterborough, along with the up-to-date news of the day, must win the eye of buyers, no matter what expensive outdoor methods are tried.

• • •

The shades of night were falling fast, as through a sleepy village passed a youth who held a banner large, which bore, in painted words, this charge: "For Dry Goods, Nails and Coffin Screws, and Boneless Prunes, and Boots and Shoes, for Eggs and Hats and Soap Galore, Go Always to the Gold Brick Store." "Put down your sign," the old man said; "that sort of advertising's dead; the people of this hamlet buy the daily papers, and we try to get the divers goods we need from men whose ads we daily read. We do not heed the blatant yarn that's painted on a fence or barn, or on such banners as you bear, so go and try a change of air."

• • •

Approaching spring brings one face to face with the new ready-to-wear lawn waists made in various styles. They are finished with pleats, tucks; pretty lingerie, with allover embroidery fronts or lace yokes; others are trimmed with medallions, insertions and tucks, and lace; some have the new bishop sleeve and are buttoned back or front. Several sample lots have been received at Harry Adams' which were offered all week at specially low prices, as well as a line of new corsets that have had a good run of buyers.

Men's fur-lined coats of high quality are now very moderately priced at W. E. Lech's new fur store, 366 George street. This is the season when fur-lined coat buying is most remunerative to the purchaser. Although the price of the lining fur (muskrats) will probably be greatly increased next season, Mr. Lech is not holding on, but is letting the coats all go. Canadian muskrat lining of pelts evenly furred, beaver cloth shells fashionably designed, and glossy Persian lamb collar constitute what men like in a dashing winter outer garment.

• • •

Many women have a strong preference for the linens and household napery imported by Messrs. Robert Fair & Co. Irish linens have always been a hobby with Mr. Fair. His love for the Green Isle and a personal study of prevailing conditions in the process of manufacture are facts that figure in his purchase of pure linens. He has learned much by being painstaking in seeking out certain mills in both Scotland and Ireland that continue to use the old methods of grass bleaching. This process is credited with giving these particular linens that soft velvety finish after ironing which women so much admire. The newer methods of bleaching with chemicals lacks the superior quality of soft smoothness that the critical eye easily detects. Mr. McCartney, who has charge of Fair's linen department, prides himself on the values frequently offered in fine linens, napkins and other napery that are classed as "seconds" because of some slight variation in the size or shape of the article, but not in imperfect material. Cases of these "seconds" are frequently received and many women watch for them to replenish their household linen stores.

• • •

The grocery and fruit stores have received fresh supplies of "Sunkist" oranges, this week a special sale having begun last Saturday. The California Fruit Growers' Exchange are placing large quantities of their "Sunkist" oranges and lemons in Canada, and Peterborough dealers are handling considerable quantities. A. Long & Co., Hunter street, bring them in by the carload and job them out. Other fruit men prefer to bring them in direct from the Toronto branch for their own trade. "Sunkist" navel oranges are seedless, and are said to be as fresh as that eaten by our California friends. Physicians recommend oranges for their food value, and they are healthy any time of the day, but especially before breakfast.

• • •

The relations between the customer and the grocer can be greatly improved when the buyer carefully scans the store news in the Examiner and goes to the store to make her selections. In many families the ordering is left to the servant, and the bills begin to be large. The head of the house has very likely told the grocer's clerk that they want the best of everything, and, if their credit is good, they pay for the best, and often are not suited. It is a pleasure to refer to the quality of goods handled by E. F. Mason & Co., and the excellent service given. A splendid assortment of groceries, table dainties, fruits, etc., are handled. Just now a very fine showing of cheese is made.

• • •

"Good things to eat" from S. A. Oke's meat, fruit and provision store may be seen going out in loads all over the city. Well hung meats, seal shipt oysters, finnan haddie, fish, chickens, butter, eggs, cheese and canned foods; together with fine fresh fruits, vegetables, celery, cranberries and many other lines which go to make up the wide variety of goods handled by this firm.

Dutton's grocery has a very effective window display, made all the more striking by shredded wheat advertising features. Careful buying has given Duttons a reputation for high-grade goods, and the variety of the stock affords buyers the advantages of many new table dainties not generally found in other grocery stores.

• • •

Beyond a certainty we are on the eve of one of the best years Peterborough ever had. The Turnbull Co. are preparing for spring along strong lines. A reference to their half-page advertisement in this issue will reveal somewhat of the energy that is already being worked up into this store's favorite tactics. The temperament at Turnbull's for March does not permit of any stagnation in business. The shop windows and the strenuous work done by the cash carriers are but minor instances of the enterprise and activity which pervades the big department store. At present a ten days' sale of the season's most needful requirements is a feature that brings housekeepers daily to the counters. Read some of the tempting prices in their advertisement and profit by the ever-watchful eye of their buyers.

• • •

The hat question is one now occupying the mind of the male sex. Got to have a new hat for spring, sure—and an exceptionally pleasing display of new blacks are now on view at E. N. McWilliams' hat and fur store. Many of the new designs for the coming season include the favourites with smart young men.

• • •

Natty Novel-ti novelties in Neckwear loom up in pleasing effect at Laidlaw's Fashion-Craft shop, Hunter street. The Dejoinville cravats have a hearty call and are a credit to our local necktie industry. The Fashion-Craft Suits are also blossoming out in great shape.

• • •

The milliners are all preparing for Easter. They have been off to the big millinery openings and come back with the authoritative information regarding the new styles.

THE DENTAL JOURNAL SAYS THINGS ABOUT GOLD TEETH

The Dominion Dental Journal says: We have still among us men who are satisfied to deface personal appearance by setting "all gold" crowns upon conspicuous teeth. Persons of primitive taste like to display anything that looks like money. The shoddy dentist can cater to this taste without any shock to his own.

Gold crowns, gold-ended bridges and rows of white little store teeth are now made by a servant of the dentist called the "mechanical man," whose cheap labour enables dentists who use him to sell crude mouth jewellery at a price satisfactory to the bargain hunter.

What if diseased tooth-roots, mutilated gum and other conditions sure to result in disease are covered by crowns and bridges without surgical treatment? What if health of gum and neighboring teeth is sure of damage from these crude mechanical appliances? Well, the patient does not understand these matters, and the bargain dentist is not paid even for the little surgical or artistic skill he has. According to his own presentation of the case he is paid for precious metals and teeth at so much per crown, tooth or filling. The insertion of these is understood to be thrown in.

Why, in city, town or village do we see so many hideous rows of store teeth bearing little resemblance to natural teeth, less harmony with colour of faces and no redeeming features in the way of health or usefulness?

Wearers of these monstrosities were guided in their choice of a dentist by the prices at which he sold teeth. They thought they were buying goods, and so indeed they were. Goods was all they got—except occasionally disease transmitted by unclean apparatus.

People of this class have not learned that skilful or proper service in dentistry depends upon the personal ability and thorough education of the dentist. Intelligent people, on the other hand, know that dentistry is a matter of personal knowledge and skill and not a matter of merchandise. Many learn this by painful experience.

In my community where even one properly educated dentist conducts practice, there will be found some people who know that dentistry is professional work, that fine judgment and scientific skill are not to be expected of any man whose location, outfit, manner of practice and experience are adapted to the sale of teeth crowns and fillings. No man can be a shoddy salesman to one patient and a skilful surgeon to another.

The well qualified dentist receives his patients by appointment, keeps hands, instruments, outfit and office clean, never has a crowd waiting. He does not rush his work, use a "mechanical man," nor try to serve more than one patient at a time. Except to relieve pain in emergency, he does not work by lamplight. He does not make "a set day" nor $4 000 a year either. When cavities are large, pulps exposed or other difficulties are present, he does not say "Your teeth are soft," and propose to extract them—to make room for the goods.

Annual Meeting Of Apsley Telephone Co. A Success

The annual meeting of the Apsley Telephone Co. was held in Apsley on Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock with an attendance of thirty-five of the shareholders. The past year has proved most satisfactory, and the outlook for the coming year is especially bright. The financial statement was read by the secretary, A. W. Pattison, showing a paid-up capital of $1,225.00. At the end of the year 1909 there were no liabilities. It was decided to pay a dividend of 5 per cent. and to transfer the balance of the revenue to the reserve account. It is proposed to sell sufficient capital stock to extend the line during the coming summer to Lasswade. The company has now 18 miles of telephone line in good condition and giving satisfactory service. It is connected with the Bell Telephone long distance line at Mount Julian. A vote of thanks was extended to the officers, and the following directors were appointed: Messrs. Duncan Brown, Benj. Coones, Geo. A. Bullied, Alex. McColl, Zacheus Burnham, W. S. Davidson of Peterboro and Wm. James. At a subsequent meeting of the directors the following officers were elected: President, Mr. D. Brown; secretary, Mr. A. W. Pattison; auditor, Mr. T. W. Eastland.

MISS VIOLA ALLEN MADE THE CHILDREN VERY HAPPY

A despatch says: In a St. Valentine's postoffice, a mass of flowers with an open post window, Viola Allen, on St. Valentine's Day, distributed valentines and boxes of bonbons to 65 crippled children at the Alvin Theatre, Pittsburg. They were delivered by a little girlish Cupid. Then Miss Allen got a valentine. It was a bunch of American Beauty roses, nearly as large as some of the children. The children were whirled to the theatre in big touring cars.

At the theatre the children faced a stage decorated with plants and cut flowers. Packed in the seats the little ones looked over the heads of the Alvin orchestra, clapped their little hands in glee and were in real fairyland. Then a programme was given by the members of Miss Allen's company. Stripped of any make-up, James O'Neil, Miss Gale, William Farnum and Mrs. Pitt, all well known actors, assisted by other members of the company, entertained the children. Miss Allen, herself, presided. She smiled and chatted her way to the hearts of the children.

This was the programme: Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet, Mr. Dana; recitation, The Goose, Mrs. Warner; song, Norwegian Slumber Song, Miss Allrud; recitation, Pyramus and Thisbe, Miss Gale; song, Sally in Our Alley, Mr. Ling; recitation, Mrs. Pitt; song, There, Little Girl, Don't Cry, Miss Valliere; recitation, The Duel, Mr. Farnum; song, The Frog and the Horse, Miss Foote; recitation, Nora Darling, Mr. O'Neill.

At the last the children were carried to the stage and had their picture taken with Miss Allen in the centre of the group.

In connection with this despatch the Billboard will say in an editorial:

It was only another instance of the overflowing kindheartedness of stage people, but there was something so gracious and so tender in the little celebration in which Viola Allen and a party of crippled children of Pittsburg joined on St. Valentine's Day, that it can not be passed without note.

The children were the crippled mites of humanity who are cared for by institutions of Pittsburg. They were those who are often thought of as the least of God's people, in their power to be of aid to themselves or to others in life's battle. Condemned by the hand of fate to be dependent, it is their appealing faces and thankful souls which must be the reward reaped by strong men and women who stop and stoop to place a warm hand in theirs.

And so, when Miss Allen, on Valentine Day, became the postmistress and handed out to each eager little waif the printed picture and token of love written thereon, supplementing the gift by bon-bons, so dear to children, it was really worth going far to witness the happiness depicted on the childish faces. Nor was this all. For, at the Alvin Theatre, a programme had been arranged and was carried out wherein all the members of her company took part, containing just the particular things in song and play to suit the minds of the dear little auditors. If happiness was brought to these little derelicts on life's sea, what meed of satisfaction came to the soul that originated the beautiful idea can only be surmised. Down the centuries come the words of One who gave Himself to humanity:

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, ye have done it unto Me."

British Columbia Legislator Calls Supreme Court Legislator a Scoundrel—Makes a Virulent Attack.

A STRIKING SCENE

Victoria, B.C., March 5.—A remarkable attack on the Supreme Court bench of British Columbia was made in the Legislature yesterday by A. H. B. MacGowan, member for Vancouver. In referring to a bill to amend the Supreme Court act of the province, MacGowan moved that a new section be added reading: "Provided, however, that no person shall be eligible for the position of judge of the said court, or sit in judgment on any case, who had been tried and convicted of crime, or who has been charged, and not absolutely exonerated, of such charge, or against whom the slightest suspicion of wrong doing remains."

MacGowan said he had never had a case before the Supreme Court, and he hoped to God he never would. The judiciary was bad. The judges were appointed through political influences. The highest legal authorities in the province had characterized the Supreme Court bench as comprised of two lunatics, one fool and one scoundrel and fugitive from justice. The three former he would leave to their desserts from the Almighty.

Of the latter, he had something to say the perquisite of a judge was to protect those unable to protect themselves. The man of whom he spoke was better fitted for the penitentiary than to hold any positions in the courts of the land. He was worse than a beachcomber, awaiting the incoming tide to rob its human jetsam, worse than the ghouls prowling around the morgue to wrest the rings from the fingers of the dead.

What was the history of this man? Years ago, a miner had died in the Yukon. His widow came forward and claimed her inheritance of gold, only to find it had been taken by another man. There were delays, unintentional or otherwise, before the wheels of justice commenced to revolve. The culprit escaped, for a couple of years he rusticated, then turned up again in this province. He was promoted to the courts.

A good political tool, his promotion was rapid. He reached the Supreme Court bench. The methods the Yukon had followed this man to British Columbia. Justice was being bought and sold. Here, it was only necessary to make it right with the "powers that be," and justice was meted out accordingly.

In the course of the debate, Attorney-General Bowser pointed out that the province had no power to deal with the constitution of the Supreme Court bench in British Columbia, and pressure of MacGowan's motion was withdrawn.

Former Magistrate Sentenced.

New York, March 5.—Convicted of bribery, former City Magistrate Furlong stood before the rail in the Supreme Court yesterday and heard Judge Kapper sentence him to Sing Sing for an indeterminate term, the maximum of which is two years and a month and the minimum one year.

PHILADELPHIA STRIKE BECOMES GENERAL

75,000 Men are Now Out---Huge Sympathetic Tie-up Started at Midnight When Musicians, Cabbies, Taxi Drivers and Others Stopped Work---Two Men are Shot ---Outsiders are to Come to Assistance of Union Men.

Philadelphia, March 5.—Encouraged by messages of sympathy and offers of assistance from labor organizations in all parts of the country, the union workers of many trades ceased work at midnight and began what promises to be one of the greatest sympathetic strikes ever witnessed in the history of organized labor.

The committee of ten says at least 75,000 organized workers, as well as many unorganized sympathizers of the street car men, have already ceased work.

Promptly at midnight union orchestras playing in the leading hotels and cafes picked up their instruments and started for their homes.

Union cab drivers and chauffeurs also abandoned their posts and the hotel and railroad cab and automobile service was badly crippled. The drivers of both taxicab services in the city are members of a union and refused to take out their machines after the strike had gone into effect.

The committee of ten remained in session at its headquarters all night receiving reports from the various local unions.

The various labor leaders refused to comment on the report that the police officials would prevent the demonstration planned for this afternoon in Independence Square.

Rioting, which began last night in several sections of the city and was particularly severe in the northeastern district, is thought to be a forerunner of more serious trouble today, when thousands of idle men will throng the streets.

While the labor leaders are receiving support from their fellow workmen in all parts of the country, many associations of employers have sent letters and telegrams to the officials of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co., and the city officials, commending the stand taken, and urged them to remain firm in their determination not to submit to the strikers demand for union recognition.

All policemen, firemen and specials who have been on duty since the strike began, received orders last night to remain at their posts.

The emergency automobiles in the City Hall courtyard were increased in number and measures were taken to send a force of men to any section of the city at a moment's notice.

Many of these machines were driven by their owners, wealthy men, who have volunteered for police duty and have been sworn in by Director Clay.

The final word making effective the general strike already ordered for midnight last night was sent to union workers all over the city last night, when the committee of ten received word from the secretary of the carmen's union that the last effort to secure arbitration had failed.

A proclamation was also made to unorganized labor. Another proclamation calls for public demonstration by the working people of Philadelphia in Independence Square this afternoon at 3 p. m.

All this followed the rejection of an offer by the company to submit to arbitration by a committee of nine, three from those who refused to strike, and three to be chosen by the other six from all the employes. As to arbitration with the strikers under the act of 1853, the company said that that cannot be done as the relationship between the employes and employer has been severed.

Two Men Shot.

Wm. Brexler, aged 42 years, was probably fatally wounded last night by a policeman, who shot at a crowd on Frankford avenue, in the northeast section of the city.

Several cars had been stone by the crowd along this street, and the police guarding them fired a volley in the air. One of the bullets struck Brexler in the stomach.

Crowds also attacked cars in the downtown and northwestern sections of the city.

While assisting a young woman across Howard street in the northeastern section last night, Robert Modell, aged 19 years, was shot in the back by a policeman who was endeavoring to disperse a crowd that had been stoning a trolley car. His condition is serious.

Editor John Houston Dead.

Vancouver, B.C., March 5.—John Houston, editor of the Fort George paper, founder of the Prince Rupert Empire, and former mayor of Nelson, died Thursday at Quesnel of pneumonia.

Seven years ago, while serving a second term as Nelson's mayor and member of the Legislature, he disappeared, and a few weeks later turned up in Goldfield, Nevada. He did not return to British Columbia for two years.

Steamer Abandoned March 1.

New York, March 5.—The Russian steamer Korea, buffeted by storms on the North Atlantic and pounded into helplessness by heavy seas, was abandoned by her crew on March 1 and left to her fate. She was sinking fast when her men abandoned her. The Korea's crew of 48 men were taken off by the Anchor Line steamer Caledonia, which arrived in the nick of time.

"Class A" Medical Colleges:

Kingston, March 5.—According to advices received here from Chicago the American Medical Association has placed four Canadian Medical Colleges, McGill, Varsity, Queen's and Manitoba, in class A.

Millions In Rubber.

New York, March 5.—A cargo consisting of 1,433 tons of crude rubber, worth between six and seven million dollars, was brought into this port yesterday on the steamship Clement of the Booth Steamship Co. after a long cruise from South American ports.

The cargo is the most valuable of its kind that has ever before been brought to this country, and is all due to the remarkable increase in the automobile industry during the past year.

Killed by Falling Tree.

Owen Sound, March 5.—John Graham, aged 49, of North Kepple, was killed by a falling tree while chopping wood in Wrigley's bush. He was unable to move fast enough, in the deep snow to avoid the danger.

Two More Dog Victims.

St. Thomas, March 5.—A collie dog belonging to Fenton Bros., of Highgate, went mad. The dog was locked up in the barn. When the hired man opened the door to see what the dog was growling about, it ran at him and fought its way out. In trying to recapture the dog, Anderson Fenton was bitten on the wrist.

The animal ran across country, biting every animal it came in contact with, and was finally shot in Howard Township. John Fenton was bitten by the same dog a few days ago, and the two brothers left for Toronto yesterday to take the Pasteur treatment.

Eight Men Fear Rabies.

London, Ont., March 5.—Donald Campbell of Coldstream and seven of his neighbors, who helped him try to manage a mad horse on his farm yesterday, are en route to the Pasteur Institute in New York, where they will be treated.

The animal was bitten by a mad dog some days ago, and died yesterday in horrible agony. Campbell and his neighbors tried to attend it, and received many scratches and bruises, and were covered with the froth from its mouth.

Postmaster's Boy Bitten.

Galt, March 5.—There is a mad dog scare in the Village of Troy, ten miles from Galt. A pet dog of Robt. Clark, postmaster, bit his seven-year-old boy, who has gone to New York for Pasteur treatment. The dog had all the symptoms of rabies.

Differ Only as to Method.

London, March 5.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—J. M. Clarke, Toronto, addressing the British Empire League, said the differences on the question of the defence of Canada were only as to the method of carrying out a determination to take her fair share.

SPECTACLES
Should be Changed

Frequently people will get spectacles which suit them, and then go on wearing them for years without having their sight tested to discover whether any change has taken place. This is wrong. All who wear glasses should have their eyes tested at intervals, even if the necessity for such be not apparent to them. As a general rule, spectacles for close work require changing about every three years, but it is desirable that the sight should be carefully tested every a years.

TWO AND A GUIDEBOOK.

The Combination Worked Wonders in Two Days.

By M. MACLEAN HELLIWELL.

How it did rain! Barbara pressed her woebegone face against the windowpane and strained her eyes in a vain endeavor to catch a glimpse of the gleaming white of the distant monument. She had been in the beautiful capital of her country nearly twenty hours, and she had seen nothing—absolutely nothing—of it. Nearly twenty hours of a few precious days of her visit gone in impotent, heartbreaking waiting for Jupiter Pluvius to exhaust himself and retire in favor of old Sol.

As a fresh gust of wind drove a volley of raindrops in a yet fiercer onslaught against the glass and dashed them in scurrying streams down the dripping asphalt the girl's head drooped despairingly, and she sighed.

The young man who for some time had been watching her sympathetically over his book now threw it aside and stepped to the other window.

"What a day!" he said as the ivy, clinging desperately to the wall, was tossed hither and thither by the boisterous wind.

The girl's face brightened, and she turned to him impetuously.

"Oh, thank goodness you have spoken at last! I was going to start the conversational ball myself. I simply couldn't stand the silence any longer. Do you know I have not uttered one word this morning since I ordered my breakfast. It's an unprecedented record, but the strain has been awful." She dimpled roguishly, and a faint flush rose in her cheek. He might think her very bold, this handsome young stranger, but she really could not help it. The limit of her silent endurance had been reached. She must speak or—perish.

But the idea of boldness never entered the young man's head. He was thinking how very pretty she was, how soft and curly her hair, how piquant her dimpled smile and how becoming the little tinge of pink in her round cheek. He laughed in comprehending sympathy.

"Why, I wanted to speak to you long ago, but didn't like to venture. Isn't it the very dickens of a day? Who could go sightseeing in this?" as a fresh fury rattled the windows.

The girl's face fell again.

"Who, indeed?" she echoed disconsolately. "Think of coaxing all winter for just three days of Washington and having the whole of one of them like this!"

"It is rather rough," said the young man. "I'm in precisely the same box myself—that is, for coaxing read man aging. But it only increases one's agony to look at it. Won't you sit down?"

He turned a rocking chair with its back to the window, and as Barbara dropped into it he threw himself into the sofa corner opposite.

"Is this your first visit to Washington?" he asked.

"My very first. Father comes here on business every spring, but he hates to be bothered, and I could never persuade him to bring me before. He poked his head into my room before I was up this morning to say that he would probably not see me again today as he had oceans of business to do and an official dinner tonight, and he enjoined me most emphatically not to think of going out as long as it rained. I have written letters to every one I can think of, and if it doesn't clear after luncheon I'll go to bed."

The young man laughed and looked at his watch.

"Why, it's a quarter to 2," he said. "Suppose we have luncheon now, if you will honor me, and perhaps the outlook will be brighter by the time we have finished."

The girl rose with alacrity.

"I'm ravenous," she declared, "but I simply could not face that great dining room again all by myself. I positively cannot swallow unless I have some one to talk to while I'm eating. My breakfast this morning was martyrdom."

That luncheon was the jolliest meal Barbara had ever eaten and, she maintains, the most delicious. When it was over and they adjourned to the stately drawing room her companion left her for a minute. When he returned he brought with him a couple of books and a huge bunch of violets.

"These," he explained when Barbara had arranged the flowers upon her person to her satisfaction, "are guidebooks—one to Washington in general, the other to the Congressional library in particular. As the rain god is still in command of affairs, suppose we just 'do' the capital and library right here where we are. It's really, when you think of it, much the more satisfactory way. If we went to the actual buildings we'd have to walk our feet off on the hard floors. We'd have to lose our breath climbing innumerable stairs or else have our brains addled by being jerked up and down in elevators. We'd dislocate our necks tilting our heads back to see the pictures on the ceilings. And at the end of the day we'd probably come back to the hotel cross, tired and dissatisfied, having doubtless forgotten to look at the one thing above all others we particularly wanted to see. Now, with these valuable little books we can defy the elements and study at our ease every detail of the buildings—exteriorly and interiorly—but we can absorb priceless knowledge about them that all the gazing at the originals could never tell us. What do you say, shall we begin with the library?"

Barbara's eyes sparkled. "It's the inspiration of a genius!" she cried ecstatically. "Yes, let us begin with the library by all means, and you may read its history aloud before we look at the pictures."

By dinner time they knew more about the capitol and the wonderful Congressional library than many a native Washingtonian, and they had also learned the height of Washington's monument and all the details in connection with its construction.

After they had dined they repaired to the palm room, where, to the accompaniment of sweet music, each unfolded to the other various chapters of personal history, which, strange to say, they found even more interesting than the history of their country.

Barbara's sympathetic attention and undisguised interest encouraged her companion to discourse at length upon his occupation, prospects, hopes and ambitions, a compliment she returned in full, being inspired to confidence by the delightful discovery that her new acquaintance was actually the Arthur Howard of whom "Cousin Tom" was always talking, who had been his Fidus Achates at Yale and his comrade in arms in Cuba.

The precious hours flew only too quickly now. When at last Barbara felt compelled to say good night she tripped blithely to bed, happy in the knowledge that she had another whole day in Washington and that, no matter how busy her father might be, she would not have to spend it alone.

Not even the undeniable fact that it was still raining when Barbara pulled up her window blinds the next morning could dampen her buoyant spirits.

By a strange chance Mr. Howard reached the dining room door just as Barbara and her father appeared, and, papa having cordially greeted "the Mr. Howard who nursed Cousin Tom through that dreadful fever in Cuba," the three went in to breakfast together.

"I'm sorry, little girl, to have your visit turn out so dull," said Barbara's father as they were leaving the dining room, "but there's a meeting of directors this morning, and I'll have to be with Bryce up to train time this afternoon, so I'm afraid I can't show you around today any more than I did yesterday."

"If you and Miss Warren will permit me," cried Howard eagerly, "I shall be only too delighted to be her cicerone. Mine is purely a sightseeing visit."

"Capital!" answered Mr. Warren. "I have a great respect for Tom's judgment, and I leave my daughter in your care with perfect confidence. Only don't take her out if it rains hard." And, accepting a hasty kiss from Barbara, the busy man hurried away.

"Suppose," suggested Howard as they wandered into the drawing room, "that we read up the Smithsonian institution and the Corcoran Art gallery this morning. Then if it clears we can go out right after luncheon and drive around the city. By that means we can at least see the outside of all the places of interest, which will be better than vainly attempting to see the inside of only one."

Mr. Warren reached the door of his hotel that evening in a heavy downpour just as a closed carriage drove up, from which he was amazed to see his daughter and her escort emerge.

In spite of the rain and the thick, gloomy fog that enveloped everything Barbara's cheeks were flushed with happiness, her eyes gloriously bright.

"You've never been sightseeing in this weather!" cried Mr. Warren as they followed him in. "Are you both crazy? Where have you been?"

The young man stepped forward eagerly, but Barbara forestalled him. Laying her hand on her father's arm, she said coaxingly:

"No, dear, we're not crazy; just engaged, and we've seen the outside of everything, and"—

"And next year, sir, with your permission," broke in Howard, "we'll come back together, Barbara and I, and see the inside of them all."

"Engaged! Seen everything!" gasped the astonished old gentleman. "All inside of twenty-four hours!"

Barbara laughed.

"Two people and a guidebook can do a good deal in two days—if they understand how to study the guidebook!" she declared. And her father was forced to believe that they could.

MODERN MARTYRS!

The age of martyrs is not passed.

There are thousands of women all over the country enduring physical torture and mental anguish almost beyond description. They are not victims of persecution, like the martyrs of old; they are not called on to face the scaffold or the stake, but their sufferings—borne in silence and hidden from the world at large—are scarcely less intense.

These ladies, as a rule, are women and girls of refined and sensitive temperaments. Knowing that their sufferings are due to a disordered condition of the female functions, their native modesty deters them from seeking relief in the earlier stages; and when they do consult a physician, they usually get some drug mixture to take internally, which is not more effective for troubles of this kind than it would be for a toothache, a bruise, or any other strictly local ailment.

The seat of the trouble being in some one of the female organs, the remedy, to be effective, must act on this portion of the anatomy.

This is the secret of the success which always follows the use of ORANGE LILY in derangements of this kind. It is a strictly local treatment. It is absorbed directly into the parts that are inflamed and congested and its beneficent soothing influence is noticeable from the start. The irritation of the delicate membrane is relieved, the congestion is overcome by the discharge of the watery matter which served to oppress the nerves and cause mental depression, the nerves are toned and invigorated, and the sunshine and joy of life again becomes part of her being. Read the following letters:

Archer, Ont., Feb. 1, '09.

Dear Mrs. Currah:—I received your kind letter some time ago, but was feeling so well, and not needing medicine that I neglected replying sooner. I must say I have more confidence in ORANGE LILY than in any other thing I have ever used. Before I knew or found out anything about this medicine, I doctored away hundreds of dollars, and when I thought I was dying with inflammation of the womb, a box of ORANGE LILY was sent me through the mail from a friend. The first suppository I used I was greatly relieved and in a few months completely cured. That was nine years ago this winter, so you can imagine with what esteem I hold the ORANGE LILY. I am thankful there is such a relief for poor, suffering women, for I have been one of them and can sympathize with others. Your sincere friend, MRS. NORMAN WEAVER.

Trenton, Ont., Dec. 4th, 1909.

Mrs. F. E. Currah, Windsor, Ont.—

Dear Friend,—I feel it my duty to write you a testimonial as to what Orange Lily has done for me. Last winter I was feeling very miserable indeed. I could scarcely do my housework during my menstrual period, and for two months or more I was never free from pain in the womb and ovaries. The pain would run down the groin, so I would frequently nearly double up. Then the pain began going up the back of my neck to my brain until I hardly knew what I was doing at times. Life was a burden indeed. I finally could endure it no longer, so went to our leading town doctor and had an examination. He pronounced it (I forget the word) a rigid condition of the generative organs, produced by repeated attacks of inflammation. He said I would have to take a course of treatment, and if that failed to overcome the rigid condition I might, in time, be compelled to have the ovaries removed. I objected to that, so filled out Dr. Coonley's symptom blank and forwarded it to him, and he diagnosed the disease as my local doctor, so I decided to take Dr. Coonley's Treatment. I have used two jars of Cerate Massage, two packages of Herbal Womb Tonic and six boxes of Orange Lily. It is eight months since I began the treatment, but I feel like a new woman. I work right through everything now. Hardly know a pain, even during menstruation now. I often say, "I would not take $100 and be in the state that I was last March." I feel that Dr. Coonley's Home Treatment is a Godsend to suffering womankind, and shall continue to sound its praises whenever I have an opportunity.

Yours gratefully, MRS. T. H. HATTON.

ORANGE LILY as a remedy for these ills, as well as for leucorrhoea, painful periods, irregularities, cancers in their earlier stages, tumors, displacements, lacerations and all ovarian troubles, has long since passed the experimental stage. So confident am I of this that I will send ten days' treatment, which is worth 25 cents, to any sufferer ABSOLUTELY FREE. The treatment is inexpensive, used at home, and no physician is necessary. Heart Trouble Cured.

Through one cause or another a large majority of the people are troubled with some form of heart trouble.

The system becomes run down, the heart palpitates, you have weak and dizzy spells, a smothering feeling, cold clammy hands and feet, shortness of breath, sensation of pins and needles, rush of blood to the head, etc.

Wherever there are sickly people with weak hearts Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will be found an effective medicine.

Heart Trouble Cured.

Mrs. Wm. Elliott, Angus, Ont., writes. "It is with the greatest of pleasure I write you stating the benefit I have received by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I suffered greatly from heart trouble, weakness and smothering spells. I used a great deal of doctors' medicines but received no benefit. A friend advised me to buy a box of your pills, which I did, and soon found great relief. I highly recommend these pills to anyone suffering from heart trouble."

Price, 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Mrs. Rosa Herrman of New York is president of a big lumber and furniture company which does an international business.

Mrs. Gusale Ogden of Cincinnati has given $1,000 toward a fund to be used for the protection of women slandered by their husbands.

Mrs. Carrie Bahrenburg of Belvidere, Ill., a trustee of the University of Illinois, managed a street railroad for five years. The job was forced upon her by the death of her husband.

Mrs. E. H. Harriman is above average height, very slight of figure, with a charming expression of face—kind, frank eyes and a smile that is far more than a mere widening of the lips.

Mrs. H. J. Tennant and Lady Frances Balfour have been appointed by King Edward members of the royal commission to inquire into the English divorce law, especially as it is administered among the poorer classes.

Miss Theodora J. Franksen of Chicago, who has been totally blind since she was eight years old, has been elected to the Phi Beta Kappa society in the University of Chicago. This is an honor conferred for high scholarship. The title of associate in literature was awarded Miss Franksen at the same time.

A statue of Pocahontas will soon be erected on Jamestown island, Virginia. William Ordway Partridge, the distinguished sculptor, has just completed the statue, which is of heroic size.

Countess Troubetzkoy, who is better known to Americans as Amelie Rives, will soon come to this country and will have with her a pet wolf. It was captured when young in Russia and tamed and walks along at the end of a leash like a dog and quite as harmless.

Mrs. Martin J. Wessels of Spokane, Wash., is said to be one of the few artists, if not the only one, whose work is devoted exclusively to pictures of grain. Among her pictures are the frescoes in the rooms of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce and the decorations on the walls of the Spokane building at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition.

You Are Invited to Visit This Place.

This is a view of the laboratory in Lynn, Mass., in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made.

There is a sign 5 feet long and 2½ feet wide attached, permanently to the front of the main building which reads as follows:

Public inspection invited—from 8 A.M. to 4 P.M.—Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co.

What does this sign mean?

It means that public inspection of the laboratory and methods of doing business is honestly desired. It means that there is nothing about the Pinkham business which is not "open and above-board."

It means that a permanent invitation is extended to anyone to come and verify the statements made in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made exclusively from roots and herbs?

Come and See for Yourself.

Do the women of America continually use as much of it as we are told?

Come and See for Yourself.

Was there ever such a person as Lydia E. Pinkham, and is there any Mrs. Pinkham now to whom sick women are asked to write?

Come and See for Yourself.

Is the vast private correspondence with sick women conducted by women only, and are the letters kept strictly confidential?

Come and See for Yourself.

Have they really got letters from more than a million women?

Come and See for Yourself.

Have they proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured thousands of these women?

Come and See for Yourself.

This advertisement is only for doubters. The great army of women who know from their own personal experience that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female ills will still go on using and being benefited by it; but the poor doubting, suffering woman must, for her own sake, be taught confidence—for she also might just as well regain her health.

THE IMPERIAL GUARANTEE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

Head Office: 46 King Street, West TORONTO

The Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of the Imperial Guarantee & Accident Insurance Company of Canada, was held at the Head Office, 46 King Street West, Toronto, on the 10th inst.

Mr. E. W. Cox, President of the Company, in reviewing the business of the year, made reference to the growing popularity of Accident Insurance, and its effect on the success of the business of the Company during the year. The amount of Insurance written was over $26,270,000.00, an increase of $3,240,000.00 over the business taken out in 1908. This is considered exceptionally satisfactory in view of the fact that the business of the Company is confined to Personal Accident and Guarantee Insurance.

The Gross Income for 1909 amounted to $319,741.76.

That being an increase over the year 1908 of $48,817.84.

The Assets now total $366,974.60, and, after allowing for Reserve for unearned premium calculated on the full Government standard, and all other liabilities, the surplus for the protection of policyholders has increased to $213,447.13.

The following Directors and Officers were elected:

A CHARMING HOME

Like numerous other individuals, this lady had for some time an ideal home in mind, one that could be built for three thousand dollars or less and yet be roomy and convenient in every particular. She consulted an architect in whose judgment she trusted, and together they planned the dwelling. As the drawings progressed it was found that a few hundred dollars additional would allow of several essential conveniences that would otherwise have to be omitted, and after careful deliberation the owner decided that the benefits to be derived would warrant the extra expenditure. The plans were accordingly completed, and when the desired location was secured the house was built at a cost of three thousand five hundred dollars.

The site chosen is particularly attractive and the house situated in the centre of the lot on slightly rising ground, is especially well placed, with broad stretches of grassland surrounding it on every side. At the front two short flights of stone steps lead to asphalt-laid paths that wind on either side of a central grass-plot planted with flowering shrubs to the veranda entrance, and to the right and left great clumps of shrubbery relieve the monotony of grassland stretches.

At the rear is a fine old-fashioned garden filled with a wealth of the flowers our grandmothers loved, and outlining it at one side is an artistic arbor that separates it from the clothes-yard space and which in time will be entirely concealed by the vines that have been planted and which even now partly hide it.

During the first year the house was built, dahlias were planted everywhere to relieve the bareness always attendant upon a new location, but during the following year, the owner, who is passionately fond of flowers, determined to have a variety of blossoms. Now, in the third year of its existence, the house is literally ensconced in a bower of shrubs and flowers, and in the future the display will be even more beautiful.

The trellis framework arranged about the roof supports of the broad veranda that extends the length of the front of the dwelling is now entirely hidden by vines that have been trained to clamber about it, and the spaces between the posts are brightened by boxes filled with geraniums and periwinkle. The weathered gray of the shingle finish of the exterior of the dwelling harmonizes admirably with this wealth of shrubs and flowers, and the whole outlined at the rear by great old trees constitutes a charming exterior hard to duplicate.

The entrance door opens from the veranda into a small hallway, lighted by a wide side window and characterized by a handsome staircase of simple design, beneath which is a large coat-closet.

At the right is the living-room finished in hard pine, stained a soft brown with plastered walls tinted gray and floor of hard wood stained and polished. At on side is a broad fireplace, with facing and hearth of brick, above which extends a simple mantel supported by finely ornamented standards. A great art square of good design is arranged upon the floor and dainty white muslin draperies shade the window spaces.

From here at one end opens the dining-room, charming in its attractive finish of white woodwork and Dutch blue-painted walls, and beyond is a spacious china-closet and butler's pantry, fitted with the customary shelves, cupboards, and sink.

Opening from the rear of the main hall and extending to the dining-room is a long passageway which practically divides the service department from the living-rooms and makes possible entrance to each apartment without having to go through any other. This is a feature particularly noteworthy, for not only does it save the bother of traversing several rooms to reach a certain apartment, but it also prevents the smell of the cooking from penetrating into the main rooms.

The kitchen, finely arranged in every particular, opens into a good-sized pantry provided with numerous cupboards and shelves, and at one side it connects with the rear entry and porch.

On the second floor are three large airy chambers characterised by several interesting features, such as a built-in dressing table in one and built-in chests of drawers in another, sufficiently deep to allow of the arranging of a dress full length, thus preventing its being crushed. Here also is found a spacious linen-closet and a large bath-room.

The house shows in its location and equipment a careful study of essential details, and the result is a harmonious whole. No incongruous note mars the charming simplicity of the interior, and the restful, homelike atmosphere that pervades each and every apartment is a worthy tribute to the good taste of the owner. The simple beauty of the exterior surroundings is well matched by the charming equipment of the interior, and in both an evidence of studious planning is plainly discernible. The arrangement of the whole was not thought out in a day, or even in a week, and, in fact, it was only after considerable thought and no small amount of labor that the present satisfactory results were brought about.—Harper's Bazaar.

FIRST-CLASS NURSERY STOCK

From Farm and Dairy.

R. C. Treherne, Lincoln Co., Ont.

In selecting nursery trees to set out a fruit plantation, it is of prime importance to possess an idea of what is and what can be considered to be first-class stock. Various conceptions on this point are held by the very best fruit-growers but the consensus of opinion resolves itself to somewhat of this description. Stock to be first-class must be thrifty, clean, of good growth and of a character and shape true to the variety.

It would be impossible to lay down a hard and fast rule as regards the shape of a tree that would be broad enough to cover all varieties of nursery stock. Some of our best varieties are naturally, if grown on their own stock, crooked, gnarled and ugly. But what matters that, if while corresponding to characteristics the tree is thrifty and of a definite weight, the bark is clean, of good color and devoid of insect injury, and the twigs are full of vitality and life? Such points as these are of greater importance than the actual shape. While it is desirable to have a tree with a central leader and three or four side branches symmetrically arranged on a straight growing trunk, it is not always possible and should not always be expected.

Two points can now be deducted. First, it is more important to pay attention to vigor than to shape; and secondly, select your varieties from the market qualities of the fruit that the tree will in time produce, being thereby not deluded by the seemly appearance of a tree growing in the nursery row. It is well to remember, in this latter connection, that it is the fruit-grower and not the nurseryman who should set the demand.

Furthermore, a tree to be first-class should be one of medium size. The majority of two-year-old apple or plum trees, for instance, should go about three-quarters of an inch, four inches above the bud. Quite a number of the sweet cherries should run about the same. No definite rule again can be given but it would be well to mention that it appears that the prevailing opinion decides in favor of trees rather under the average in diameter in preference to trees above the average in diameter. Possibly if the trees did not have to be transplanted from the nursery row, the larger size would be in favor.

At the present time it is found that the planting of one-year-old stock is yearly gaining ground. It would appear that the tenderer the tree the younger is it purchased, so that it can become established quicker; for example, peaches and sweet cherries.

One point further might be mentioned. If our tree is all that can be desired as regards shape and thrift, it might be a little closer to perfection if the bud or scion from which the tree has grown had been taken direct from a bearing tree. While it is unreasonable to suppose any difference between a normal mature leaf bud taken from a nursery tree and a similar bud taken from a bearing tree, yet yearly taking scions from a number of nursery trees naturally allows of a system of inbreeding which might result in slight harm. Nurserymen are in the habit of renewing their buds from bearing trees every so many years, so that the possibility of deterioration is reduced. The elements of heredity are presumably present in every bud and a type once established naturally breeds true, so that if there is a falling off it must be due to adverse selection, accidental or otherwise.

One of the Big Fellows

A fine large green squash grown last year in the garden of Mr. Fred. A. Hodgson, Collingwod, Ont., by his gardener, Mr. O. S. Ryder. It weighed 285 pounds, and won first prize at the Great Northern Exhibition in that town.

THE HOME VEGETABLE GARDEN

From Farm and Dairy.

A half-acre devoted to the various kinds of garden crops will easily supply a family with $100 worth of vegetables during the year. This is but one argument in favor of every farm having its vegetable garden. A bountiful supply of vegetables close at hand where they can be secured at a moment's notice is of even more importance than its mere money value. They have a direct bearing on the health of the family and they add much to the happiness of the home. Few there are who once have had a garden would care to do without it.

The home vegetable garden is worthy of increased attention. A greater number and a greater variety of crops should be included in the garden. There are wonderful possibilities in a garden and there is nowhere that a garden can be handled to better advantage than on the farm. It is frequently noted that the more land a man possesses, the smaller is his garden. A reasonable acreage on every farm should be properly fenced and set apart as a garden plot. In its layout, arrangement should be made to plant the crops in rows, wide apart, in order that they may be cared for so far as possible with the larger implements used with hoe crops common on every farm.

The garden is worthy of our best attention, and while it would not do to sacrifice important farm work for the garden, nevertheless the garden has an importance often overlooked. Now is the time to plan for the garden of 1910. The catalogues published and distributed by those seed firms that advertise in Farm and Dairy will be found valuable aids in planning a garden.

PROVIDE FOR SUMMER FEED

From Farm and Dairy.

While addressing a gathering of farmers recently, Mr. J. H. Grisdale, agriculturist at the Central Experimental Farm made the following remarks in reply to queries concerning fodders for summer feeding:

We must depend on the corn crop; we must depend on rape and things like that. Let the winter look after itself and get after the summer. I believe that is why we are weak in Eastern Ontario, we are too prone to look after the winter and forget the summer. We say cows can get enough; let them run and they will find it, but they cannot, because it is not there, and we have got to get the feed for them in the summer, and if every cheesemaker and butter-maker in Eastern Ontario would get after the farmers and get them to provide feed for their cows in the summer you would not have 3,000 pound cows but cows giving five or six thousand pounds. The idea of depending on pasturing is ridiculous in my experience. If you take the feed condition in Eastern Ontario it will take three acres to keep a cow right, and what farmer can afford three acres to pasture a cow. We must supplement that pasture with some soiling crop. We are cheese makers in Eastern Ontario and we must get the milk in the summer and to get the milk in summer we must have good pasturage and soiling crops.

ROBIN HOOD FLOUR IS DIFFERENT

Every housewife who uses flour must be interested in ROBIN HOOD "the flour that is different."

You hear it makes a bigger loaf, that the loaf is sweeter-flavored, more nutritious, more easily assimilated than bread made with other flours.

We can tell you why ROBIN HOOD Flour makes that kind of a loaf, but what ought to interest you more than "why it does" is that "it does."

You can prove what we say as true at no risk of loss to yourself.

It is largely a matter of making up your mind to use "Robin Hood."

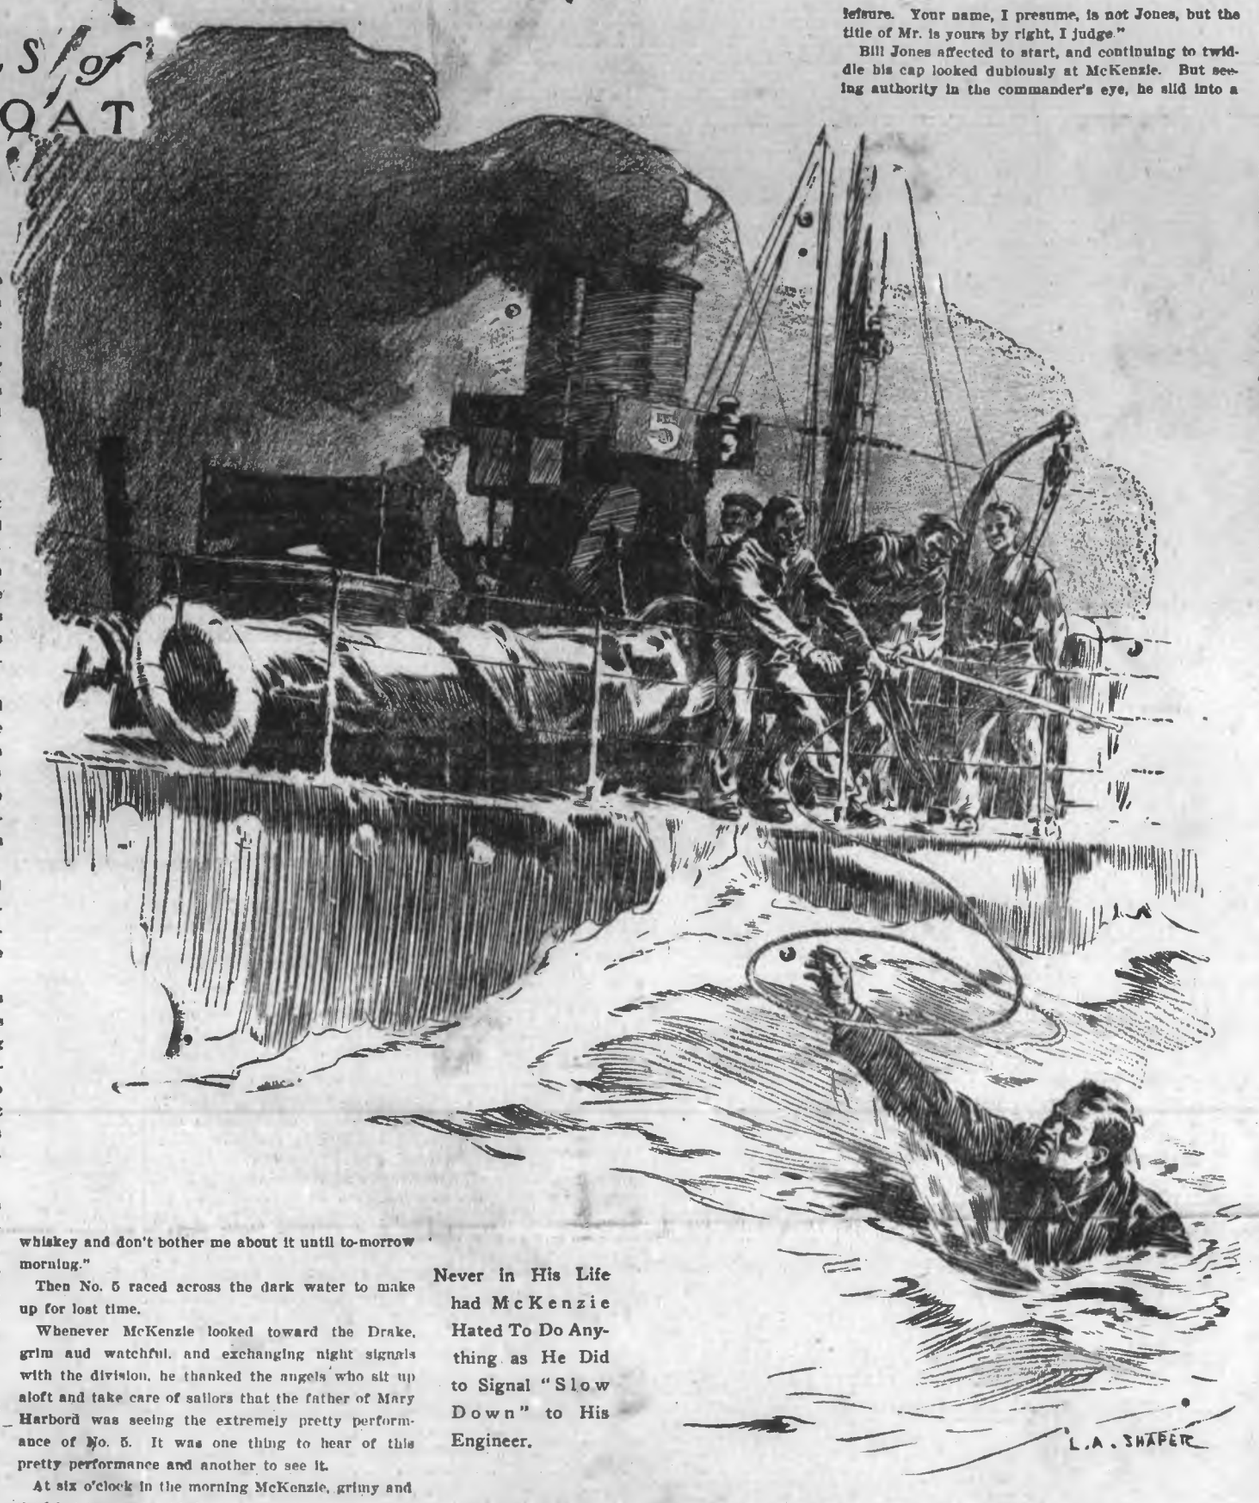
No. 2
ADVENTURES of TORPEDO BOAT No. 5

By Foxcroft Davis



Never in His Life had McKenzie Hated To Do Anything as He Did to Signal "Slow Down" to His Engineer.

L. A. SHAFER

WAR is the game of the gods, and torpedo boats play this game blindfold and with death as an opponent. Torpedo boats are the assassins of the sea and slink in darkness to strike death blows at the vitals of a ship, as a whale is harpooned. They are gregarious and hunt together for the ship, armed and watchful but, like Achilles, vulnerable at the last. These assassin vessels fly while the ship walks, her only defence being a frail net spread outboard, which may or may not stop the bolt of destruction aimed at her unprotected keel. Terrible are these swift and fierce little marauders, which, in their turn, are pursued by marauders still swifter and fiercer than themselves, the torpedo boat destroyers. There were five of these torpedo boats skulking about the waters of the Yang-tse, that great saffron river which brings destruction at the flood and rich plenty at the recession of the waters.

It was night and across the turbulent and haggard river five torpedo boats, with lights out, slipped like ghosts past the British first class cruiser Drake, on which Vice Admiral Harbord watched with a hawk's eye the evolutions of the torpedo boat division. He was so pleased with the quiet and disciplined murderousness of the division that he grunted with pleasure.

Another man besides Admiral Harbord felt a thrill of satisfaction. This was Lieutenant Kenneth McKenzie, a red headed, long legged, keen eyed Scotchman with triumph in his eye as he paced the little bridge of his little vessel.

The evolutions were to take place during five nights while the division, under the nose of the Drake, was making its way down the river to Hankow. During the daytime the assassin division proceeded in an orderly and decent manner, keeping its speed down to the slower gait of the big first class cruiser. But when the night fell then the torpedo boat division was exercised in all its potentialities of murder and arson.

Lieutenant Kenneth McKenzie knew torpedo boats well and he also knew that Admiral Harbord cherished a violent affection for them. Nothing recommended a young officer so much to the Admiral as the smart handling of an assassin vessel. And Lieutenant Kenneth McKenzie knew the Admiral's eldest daughter, Mary Harbord, and loved her in his hard Scotch fashion.

Mary Harbord's Fate. ings.

As for the Admiral, he believed in his bulldog British way that the best plan to secure his daughter's happiness was to marry her to a man who understood the full value of torpedoes in naval warfare.

Much had come to Mary Harbord's father concerning that charming creature's fancy for Alywin, the American lieutenant who commanded for a time the gunboat Alietta. Dashwood, the Alietta's captain, was back from the hospital at Hankow, where he had been nursing his rheumatism, and Alcott, the first lieutenant, was cured of a broken leg and in the ship once more.

On the day the Drake, with the five torpedo boats in leash, started for Hankow Admiral Harbord was told that Alywin had gone down to Hankow on a fortnight's leave. This annoyed Admiral Harbord so much that he stopped the mail steamer on its way to Han Yang City, where there was a new telegraph station, and sent a peremptory despatch to Miss Mary Harbord that she should cut short her visit to the British Consul's family and go up to the convent at How-Chiu-Kwang, where Clarice, her younger sister, was interned, and there await further orders.

While writing this despatch the Admiral swore inwardly that never again would he bring his daughters out of England, and called himself a damned infernal fool for so doing. That episode about the loss of the rifles and their return by the American Lieutenant worried the Admiral excessively, but the performance of the torpedo boat division the night they started did much to soothe his turbulent soul. From the bridge of the Drake he watched, in the murky night, the ghostly little craft stringing out as they shot softly past the headland, which, when the great river remained soberly within its banks, towered heavenward. But now in the winter, when the enraged river was in its madness, this headland was only a plateau, upon which the people of the lowlands huddled until the furies of the waters were past.

Number 5 had the tail of the procession and was logging it at a very pretty gait when it stopped suddenly for five minutes. Just then a dissipated, bloated old moon came out from behind the scurrying clouds and leered at the river in its orgie. Then the Admiral saw No. 5, after its momentary stop, proceed on its way without making any sign of disaster.

The stop made by No. 5 was to pick up a man swimming twenty yards away who cried lustily for help. Never in his life had McKenzie hated to do anything as he did to signal "slow down" to his engineer. Particularly as the riffraff of nations usually sought the ships in the China seas. After the man was hauled aboard the master at arms, Benson, commonly known as "Jimmylegs," reported, and McKenzie's orders were brief.

"Pump the water out of him and fill him up with whiskey and don't bother me about it until to-morrow morning."

Then No. 5 raced across the dark water to make up for lost time.

Whenever McKenzie looked toward the Drake, grim and watchful, and exchanging night signals with the division, he thanked the angels who sit up aloft and take care of sailors that the father of Mary Harbord was seeing the extremely pretty performance of No. 5. It was one thing to hear of this pretty performance and another to see it.

At six o'clock in the morning McKenzie, grimy and tired but happy, tumbled into his bunk and slept like a baby until eight bells sounded. Then he waked to find Benson, a big man with whiskers, standing in the cabin door.

"If you please, sir," said Benson, "that there's a queer haul we made last night, and 'e tells a tale that's mighty fit for the marines."

McKenzie sprang out of his bunk, and, ringing for hot water, prepared to begin shaving so as not to lose a moment during Benson's recital. The hot water came in a jiffy, and McKenzie who had the art of shaving while No. 5 tossed up and down upon the turbid water, assumed the attitude of a Colossus of Rhodes and scraped his face while Benson talked. Nothing Benson could tell him could lessen the performance of No. 5 the night before in sight of Mary Harbord's father.

A Man of Many Lies.

"Well, sir," said Benson, "it seemed 'ard when we was doin' on our twenty-five knots as smooth as silk to 'ave to stop for that sort of flotsam. We got the fellow aboard and pumped 'im out and filled 'im up with whiskey accordin' to your orders, sir, and then 'e started into lyin' most beautiful. The first lie 'e told was 'is name was William Jones. Next 'e said 'e was cook's mate aboard the American cruiser at Hankow and that 'e made up 'is mind 'e'd quit 'is job and get in the galley of a British ship because 'e loved us so. 'Then you're a deserter?' says I. At that 'e hauls off and 'its me a clip on my nose, and I'll thank you, sir, just to take a look at it."

It would have been difficult to escape the sight of Benson's nose, which was large at all times, and now the size and shape of a beet.

"That lick closed up one eye, but it opened the other one. There ain't no cook's mate that ever I see yet who is ready to 'it at 'is savior and benefactor for callin' 'im a deserter. I looked 'im all over. 'E 'adn't shaved for two days and 'e didn't look pretty, I can tell you, sir. 'E 'ad on a peajacket and 'is neck was muffled up, but I see where the line was where 'is 'igh collar come; below it was just as white as a lady's neck. Says I to 'im:—'Mr. Jones, I could 'it you back with all the pleasure in life, but in the British navy there's a rooted prejudice against a man of my ratin' 'ittin' a quarter deck orficer. Men 'as been 'anged at the yardarm for it, strange to say, so I won't take no revenge on you. That is to say in the way of 'ittin'. But I'll get my money's worth out of you, Mr. Jones, without no reprimand for myself.' 'Mr. Jones?' What do you call me Mr. Jones for?' he asked. 'I'm Bill Jones, cook's mate.' I didn't argy the point with 'im, sir, but by way of findin' out 'is profession I showed 'im a place where 'e could sling 'is 'ammock and 'e slung it as quick and sailor-like as ever I see. This mornin' when I went in and told the men to show a leg, my gentleman 'ops out of 'is 'ammock and was standin' on 'is feet inside of ten seconds. I told 'im that our cook was down with a lame back and if 'e'd go into the galley and lend a 'and we would appreciate the favor extremely. 'E said 'e'd go and be glad of it. 'E 'adn't been in there but five minutes when I 'eard words and languages. The cook, who didn't 'ave nothin' the matter with 'im, was swearin' at Bill Jones, as 'e calls 'imself, for spi'lin' a whole kettle of duff. Mr. Jones was apologizin' very soft spoken and tryin' to make out 'e knew 'ow to cook duff to a charm.

"Judgin' from 'is 'ands I should say 'e was more used to playin' the piany than cookin' duff. But with all of 'is slipslop ways in the galley 'e was mighty perticklar about the paint work, and 'nd a kind of grin on 'im all the time when the cook was lambastin' 'im I went in and said to 'im, 'Mr. Jones, I am afraid you're not used to these 'umble surroundin's.' 'E didn't take no notice when I spoke and went on polishin' up a brass kettle. Then, seein' I was talkin' to 'im 'e says, touchin' 'is cap, 'I ain't used to hearin' myself called mister. In the American navy cook's mates is just plain Jones and such.' So I said, sir, 'Plain Jones, you stay there under the cook's eye till I tell Cap'n McKenzie about them dark, unfathomable things the caves of ocean bear.' I didn't tax 'im point blank with bein' a orficer, because, though 'e lied quite easy and refined like, I didn't want to put too much strain on 'is conscience."

The Case of Bill Jones.

"Send him to me in the cabin in half an hour," McKenzie replied, wiping the lather off his face.

At the end of half an hour McKenzie, shaved bathed, dressed and breakfasted, sat at the cabin table. There would be nothing doing until ten o'clock that night except to get No. 5 in readiness, or, rather, to keep her in readiness to report before the eyes of the Drake.

Presently Bill Jones slouched into the cabin, and, standing in an abject attitude before the commander of No. 5, twiddled his cap as a cook's mate usually does when in the presence of a high inquisitor. McKenzie's cold blue eyes studied Bill Jones all over. He was a good looking pink and white fellow of a particularly refined type, with beautiful teeth in perfect order. The collar of his rough pea jacket was turned up around his neck and he wore a pair of rough shoes, surprisingly small for a cook's mate. After a moment or two McKenzie said with great politeness:—

"Have a seat, Mr. Jones, so that we can talk at chair on the opposite side of the table, meanwhile assuming a hangdog expression.

"And now, Mr. Jones," continued McKenzie affably, "will you kindly pronounce for me the name of the plateau which fronts the town of Plymouth?"

"The Hoe, sir," mumbled Bill Jones.

"That is perfectly satisfactory, Mr. Jones. No cook's mate in the service pronounces that word in that manner, or ever did. They say 'Oe. Now I have a theory concerning you, Mr. Jones. It strikes me that you came off an American ship and that you have slipped on board No. 5 to find out a few things concerning British methods with torpedo boats. I may be wrong, but I shall act upon my assumption. I shall put you in the brig and keep you there for the next five days, when we are due at Hankow."

Bill Jones received this information in a singular manner, for he could not suppress a grin of delight.

"I may remind you," continued McKenzie, "that the brig affords few, if any, opportunities of studying British naval evolutions."

Evidently a Spy.

He touched his bell and "Jimmylegs" appeared.

"Take charge of this gentleman," said McKenzie to Benson, "and keep him in the brig until we get to Hankow and have an eye on him meanwhile."

Bill Jones, being thus dismissed, turned at the door and touched his cap again with a look of ecstacy which puzzled McKenzie. As Benson and the alleged cook's mate disappeared McKenzie felt a perceptible increase in the secret pride which welled up in his Scotch bosom over the performances of No. 5. He had evidently bagged a spy in Bill Jones, and when the disclosure was made it would not be at all bad for Lieutenant Kenneth McKenzie. This thought recurred to him several times during the day and each time with an agreeable sensation. At night, however, there were other and more important things on hand.

On each of the next five mornings Benson had a report to make concerning Bill Jones.

"'E's game to the backbone, sir," was Benson's account the first morning. "The brig, as you know, sir, ain't the abode of luxury, but 'is acts like 'twas the cabin of one of the R'yal yachts."

On the second morning Benson's report was as follows:—

"That 'ere chap, sir, beggin' your parding, sir, is an orficer sure. Yesterday afternoon 'e was layin' asleep and breathin' soft like a baby, and I went up to 'im and called out quick, 'Lieutenant!' 'E was on 'is feet before the word was out of my mouth. I laughed, and then 'e started in with 'is pleasant way of lyin' and swore to me 'e didn't know what I said."

McKenzie heard this with renewed gratification. No. 5 had kept up its record and the sky of life looked rosy then to the vessel's commander.

On the third morning McKenzie asked of the master at arms when the daily report was presented concerning his prisoner:—

"How does the poor devil stand it?"

"Like a dandy, sir. 'Is happetite is good enough, but 'e ain't used to eatin' without a napkin. It's downright comical to see 'im tryin' to balance 'is tin plate on 'is knees, and 'e don't understand no more 'ow to get pea soup out of a tin cup than the Prince of Wales does."

McKenzie's light blue eyes scintillated with delight. The more he heard of his captive the more pleased he was.

Benson's report on the fourth morning was as follows:—

"The men calls 'im the 'Uman Blackbird,' 'e sings and whistles so cheerful-like. 'E says 'e's goin' to write a book and call it ''Appy Days in the Brig of No. 5.' 'E says to me this mornin', 'Mr. Benson,' says 'e, 'I take the deepest interest in the performances of No. 5, and if we'—we, if you please, sir—'if we don't get a first class report to the Admiralty I'll forswear the ship's galley and go for the stokehole.'"

On the fifth and last morning Benson wore a positively dejected air when he came to make his final report. The roofs of Hankow lay on the horizon and the harbor, alive with shipping, glittered under a wintry sun. The work of the torpedo boat division was over for that season, and the five little vessels kept decorously in the wake of the Drake as she steamed in with the bow and smile of a cruiser entering the company of other cruisers which sat at their ease within the harbor.

By a professed accident a broom was left upstanding in the very middle of No. 5's forward deck which might be taken as a hint that she had swept everything clean before her. No. 5 had clearly the best of the whole torpedo boat division during the week.

McKenzie, on the bridge, glanced toward the white walled consulate, over which floated the British ensign. Within those white walls, he thought, was Mary Harbord. It would be good to see her, and it would also be good to see Admiral Harbord's stern face and menacing nose, and to hear from him some word of chary praise, such as "Your performance, Mr. McKenzie, was not at all bad." He was roused from this pleasant train of thought by Benson.

"Mr. William Jones seemed gay enough all the time, but this mornin' 'e's 'ilarious, sir. 'E done some more of 'is agreeable lyin' to me, describin' the lowly 'ome from which 'e fled to seek 'is fortune and 'ow 'e was so smart at 'is dooty in the galley as to harouse the jealousy of the skipper's cook, and 'ow 'e expected to be a chef de cuisine afore 'e died to King Edward, or maybe to the President of the United States. 'E likes to try and pull my leg, but my leg ain't easy pulled."

"As soon as we are docked," replied McKenzie, his mind still on Mary Harbord, "bring the fellow here."

By the time No. 5 was tied up Bill Jones was ushered into the cabin, where, as at the former interview, McKenzie sat at the table. Before him lay several letters which had just been delivered by the mail orderly. One was addressed in a handwriting which McKenzie recognized at once as Mary Harbord's delicate writing, to "Lieutenant Hugh Alywin, U. S. N., care of Torpedo Boat No. 5."

Solving the Puzzle.

McKenzie glanced at the letter and felt a cold chill in the region of his heart. He recalled that Alywin was the name of the young American naval officer who had been so devoted to Mary Harbord during the autumn festivities at Hankow, and whom McKenzie had heard she looked upon not unkindly.

There was a marked change in Bill Jones' air and manner on this morning, and without the slightest protest he took the chair offered him by McKenzie.

"I may as well tell you, Mr. McKenzie," began suavely the erstwhile Bill Jones, "the whole story, so that you won't make any mistake in the report concerning me. I am Lieutenant Alywin, of the United States gunboat Alietta, on a fortnight's leave from my ship. I succeeded in getting on your vessel, not for the purpose of investigation. In the American navy we prefer to get our information by actual experiments ourselves, but I had—ahem—it was, I may as well admit, a wager with a lady. I hope you will not ask a more detailed explanation. You can find out the truth concerning my identity by writing my ship, which is still lying up the river, where we left her five days ago. As an officer of a sister service I hardly think you would wish to take any proceedings which would detain me beyond my leave. I am simply a half drowned man whom you picked up during the evolutions."

At that moment Alywin's eyes lighted on the little white letter. Involuntarily he seized it and tore it open, his eyes sparkling meanwhile. The expression on his face convinced McKenzie that neither Admiral Harbord's wishes nor the performance of No. 5 would avail anything with Mary Harbord. His clear Scotch head showed him the whole thing at a flash. Alywin had accepted a challenge from Mary Harbord and had slipped on No. 5 and remained five days without his identity being known, and Mary Harbord's letter would never have been delivered to Alywin if he had been elsewhere. The letter itself was so fascinatingly interesting to Alywin that he read it over three times, grinning delightedly meanwhile; then he put it carefully in his breast.

"I think, Mr. Alywin," said McKenzie dryly, "except between ourselves we will consider what you have told me as being unsaid, and we will turn you loose as a rescued man calling himself William Jones."

"Thanks awfully; nothing could suit me better, and we will let it go at that."

Alywin rose, and, taking off his rusty cap, offered his hand to McKenzie, who took it with wrath in his eye. Ten minutes afterward Alywin was bidding goodby to Benson on the pier.

"You're a good fellow, Mr. Benson, and I think there are a lot of fine fellows on No. 5. Perhaps I shall change my profession from the galley"——

"To the quarterdeck, sir. That's just what I've been a'thinkin' ever since you was 'anded over to me. Goodby, Mr. Jones, and good luck to you."

Benson held out his paw to Bill Jones, who shook it warmly and then darted off. When he was gone Benson looked into his hand and saw there a couple of gold sovereigns.

"I 'ope I'll see that 'ere gent again," was Benson's inward comment with an outward chuckle.

That night Alywin was a fellow guest at dinner at the British Consulate with Admiral Harbord and McKenzie and the coquettish Mary, who had not got the Admiral's telegram after all. The Admiral was in a savage humor, for his daughter had told him that day she meant to marry the American Lieutenant and amid gurgles of laughter told the story of Alywin's getting down to Hankow on No. 5.

After dinner Alywin slipped off from the gentlemen in the smoking room. Half an hour afterward the Admiral, passing the open glass door of a sweetly scented and dimly lighted conservatory, caught a glimpse of his daughter behind a huge flowering gladiola in a green tub and heard Alywin's voice whispering:—

"Shall I break it to the old man to-night, darling?"

Mr. J. Harper of Peterboro was the guest of Mr. F. J. Squire this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hall of Forget, Sask., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Boardman last week.

Mr. Philip O'Brien has secured a position in the Roadmaster Office at Smith Falls. His many friends in town wish him every success in his undertaking.

Misses M. McWilliams, Eva O'Brien and Mr. T. E. Dineen attended the R. C. bazaar in Marmora on Thursday night of last week.

The Town Council will hold their February meeting on Monday night next, March 14. The auditors will present their report at this meeting.

The marriage took place at the Methodist parsonage on Wednesday morning of Miss Bessie Sutier of Dummer to Mr. Joseph O. Newton of Belmont, Rev. D. Balfour officiating.

After the band concert on Monday night the "Amity Club" held a little dance, which was largely attended and thoroughly enjoyed.

Confirmation service was held in St. John's Church on Sunday morning last at 11 o'clock, fourteen candidates being confirmed, after which Holy Communion was administered to the largest number in any years. His Lordship Bishop Sweeny of Toronto officiated at both the confirmation and communion service, addressing the candidates to be confirmed. His Lordship also preached again at the evening service, which was highly appreciated by the very large congregation present.

Mr. Joseph Bertram intends to resign from the C. P. R. service this spring and move on the farm near Campbellford, which he purchased last fall. He has sold his residence in town here to Mr. E. Goddard, a resident of town.

The "Amity Club" concert in the Opera House Monday night given by the 57th Regt. Band of Peterboro was indeed splendid and was highly appreciated by the citizens of Havelock. Under the direction of Mr. Gliddon the band delighted the crowded house with many difficult but well rendered selections. "The Forge in the Forest" seemed to be the favorite with the audience, having to respond to the hearty applause. Mr. Joseph Halpany rendered several comic songs, which were well received, as was also the cornet solo, which was exceptionally well rendered by Master Mowat Garratt of town. Miss Choate, Miss Hallihan and Miss Reesor, whose names appeared on the printed programmes, for some reason or reasons did not appear—which proved a great disappointment to the audiance, having on former occasions been very pleasantly received.

Mrs. Alex Innis is confined to her bed, suffering from a fall which she received on Monday night when leaving the Opera House, falling on the ice and striking the back of her head.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Bunnett and son of Shannonville are the guests of the latter's cousin, Mrs. Ed. Williams. Mrs Bunnett (nee Miss Marion Marion) formerly resided in town, and her many friends welcome her back again.

The death occurred on Monday of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Timmerman (Little Clement Arnold). The funeral took place Tuesday to Maple Grove Cemetery, service being conducted by Rev. C. W. Holdsworth. The sympathy of all is extended to the bereaved young couple in the loss of their little darling.

Early Needles.

It is said by some that steel needles were invented by the Moors. Before their general diffusion throughout the civilized world thorns and fish bones, the latter with a hole pierced for an eye, were in use. The first needles made in London were by a Moor, in the reign of Henry VIII., and in Queen Mary's day steel needles were sold in Cheapside and other streets of London. After this time the manufacture increased rapidly, many Germans migrating to England and establishing needle works in various places

Learn Dress Cutting and Making

Classes to Commence in Y. W. C. A., Peterborough, Monday, March 14th.

WANTED, ladies to learn Dress Cutting, Dress making and Coat making. No accomplishment you can acquire will prove to you of such every-day life-long value as a practical knowledge of dress-making. We teach you everything, from the plainest shirt waist to the most elaborate toilet, and guarantee perfect satisfaction. We stand prepared to forfeit $25 to any lady who after taking our course, can show us an article in dress-making she cannot cut, fit and put together. Not only the lining, but all the outer goods in Coats, Skirts, Waists, Sleeves, Wrappers, Girdles, Children's Clothes, etc.

Charge for full course is now only $12, to be paid when through if satisfied. This includes one of the most perfect systems in use.

Hours for day class, 9.30 to 12, and 2 to 4.30. An evening class will also be taught for the benefit of those who cannot come during the day, from 7 to 9 p.m.

All wishing to learn, or for full particulars, be sure to meet me on

REFUSED TO GO ON

Tories on Special Committee Refused to Accept the Nomination of Wallace Nesbitt as Counsel For the People, Although He Is a Conservative—Big Deputation to See Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Ottawa, March 5.—Yesterday afternoon Messrs. Lennox, Barker and Crothers, the Conservative minority on the special committee appointed to investigate the charges of H. D. Lumsden, resigned as a protest against the refusal of the majority to permit them to name counsel to represent the people in the pending enquiry.

It has been arranged that Messrs. E. M. MacDonald and Sam Barker, for the respective sides, should try to agree on a counsel to represent the committee, but they failed, and yesterday Mr. Barker moved that the minority appoint the counsel. This was voted down, 4 to 3.

"Speaking for myself," said Mr. Lennox, "I cannot help feeling it would be a waste of time to stay here, under the circumstances."

Mr. Macdonald then moved that Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., be retained as public counsel. This was seconded by A. H. Clark, but Mr. Barker did not believe that a counsel appointed by the Government supporters on the committee would be likely to afford satisfaction to the Opposition. Counsel would do the utmost for the people who retained him, in this case the Government.

Mr. Macdonald remarked that this was a most peculiar situation. The Opposition had not moved for a committee to investigate the charges of Mr. Lumsden, neither had they made any charges against the Government.

Mr. Clark observed that he did not think party feeling should enter into the case at all, and a moment later charged the minority with seeking to make political capital and with having no desire to get at the real facts.

Victor Geoffrion, the chairman, observed that he did not think a lawyer of Mr. Nesbitt's standing would risk his reputation by being a partisan in the conduct of the case.

"We have nothing whatever to say against Mr. Nesbitt. It is a principal we are fighting for," said Mr. Barker.

The four Liberal members then carried a motion appointing Mr. Nesbitt.

There is a rule, that must be obsolete by this time, that if a member appointed by the House of Commons to a special committee refuses the mandate of the Commons, he can be incarcerated in the tower and kept in durance vile.

In the House yesterday, C. L. Owen (East Northumberland) said that while the Canadian surtax against Germany had been wholly removed in the recent adjustment, the German discrimination against Canada has only been removed in part. He asked Mr. Fielding if the German arrangement precluded Canada making any arrangements she pleased with the United States.

Mr. Fielding thought Canada was not bound in anyway. He also said Mr. Owen was wrong in saying Germany had a surtax against Canada.

E. N. Lewis (W. Huron) referred to recent delays in the tariff negotiations with the United States, as emphasizing his previous demand for a Canadian embassy at Washington. Sir Wilfrid intimated that the matter might be discussed.

Richard Blain (Peel) said last night in the Commons, it was becoming too easy for speculators to get a valuable railway charter for the object of disposing of it for a large sum of money. He suggested that, before any charters in the future were sold, the original promoters should be compelled to get the authority of the Governor-in-council.

Presenting petitions asking that the Welland Canal be deepened, a deputation of fifteen workingmen from Montreal and Toronto saw Sir Wilfrid Laurier yesterday afternoon. They urged that the work go ahead, particularly on account of the employment which it would give and also by reason of its benefits to navigation. In the delegation were J. F. Stratton, Daniel McKay, J. M. Embleau, T. Beland and A. Pelletier, of Montreal; Daniel Ryan and Timothy Kelly, of Toronto.

The Premier said the Government was fully alive to the importance of this work, as well as the Georgian Bay Canal. He gave no definite assurance.

Quebec Utilities Commision.

Quebec, March 5.—The official announcement of the appointment of the members composing the Public Utilities Commission was made yesterday. The members are Col. Hibbard of Montreal, chairman; Sir J. George Garneau, and M. Charles Laberge, professor in the Polytechnical School, Montreal. The secretary has not been named yet. The commission has been named for a period of ten years.

The chairman will receive $4,000 a year and the other commissioners $3,000.

Of Course, All the Reporter's Fault.

Montreal, March 5.—La Patrie explains how the bogus interview with Rodolphe Forget, M.P., appeared in its columns repudiating the leadership of Mr. Borden. The reporter had two interviews in his book, one with Mr. Forget and the other with an anonymous Conservative member for a Quebec constituency. The two got mixed.

Burned Himself to Death.

Montreal, March 5.—John Logan, a steamfitter, wound up a drunken spree at his home at 24 Archambault lane early yesterday morning by upsetting the kitchen stove, setting fire to the house and burning himself to death.

Orangeville Local Option Defeated.

Orangeville, March 5.—Judge McCarthy gave judgmenet yesterday on the local option bylaw, declaring it defeated. His honor finds the petitioner was justified in removing ten voters who were not entitled to vote. The majority for local option was four.

The case for the petitioner was presented by Mr. Haverson and W. J. L. McKay, and for the respondent by H. E. Irwin and C. R. McKeown.

Greece Asks Italy's Aid?

Rome, March 5.—Crown Prince Constantine of Greece arrived here yesterday in the strictest incognito and asked for an audience with King Victor Emmanuel.

He wished to submit to His Majesty the situation in Greece and to request the assistance of Italy's influence in the solution of the Cretan question.

Pasteur Treatment In Toronto.

Toronto, March 5.—The Pasteur treatment is being carried on by the medical staff of the Provincial Board of Health in a special clinic of the Toronto General Hospital, kindly placed at the disposal of the board of the governors.

To insure as early treatment as possible, in every instance, notice must be sent to Dr. C. A. Hodgetts, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, otherwise embarrassing delays may occur in the commencement of the treatment. This notice may be sent by long distance telephone or by telegraph.

The public are also informed that it will not be necessary that the patient should be kept in the hospital during treatment. Patients who choose may arrange to board outside the hospital.

HOME CURE FOR ECZEMA

Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and Glycerine, Combined, Used as a Simple Wash.

Does it not seem strange that so many people suffer year in and year out with eczema?

There's a simple wash that stops the itch instantly and permanently cures.

This wash is composed of mild and soothing oil of wintergreen, mixed with thymol and glycerine, and known as D. D. D. Prescription. It has now been used for so many years, and has proved so highly successful that no sufferer should hesitate a moment before trying it.

If you suffer tortures from eczema or any other skin disease write at once to the D. D. D. Laboratories, Dept. P. E., 23 Jordan St., Toronto, for a free trial bottle. We are confident that D. D. D. will cure you entirely and it will certainly stop that awful itch at once.

For sale by all druggists.

E. F. MASON & CO. GROCERS : GEORGE ST.

PETERBOROUGH, January 29th, 1910

W. H. HILL, Esq.,

Manager Sun Life Assurance Co., of Canada

PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

DEAR SIR,—About five years ago my late husband took out $1,000.00 insurance in The Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada, on which he only paid the first three premiums. Shortly after his death, which occurred on the 6th inst., although I was under the impression that his policy had lapsed, I called at your office to inquire if anything could be done whereby we might get something out of it. You can imagine my surprise and genuine gratitude to learn that, owing to your non-forfeiture privilege, the policy was still in force at his death, and that I was entitled to the full thousand dollars, less only the two unpaid premiums and interest.

This seems to me such extraordinary and generous treatment that I wish to add my expression of most sincere thanks and appreciation to the many others your Company must receive.

I also wish to acknowledge and thank you for your courtesy and promptness in procuring for me a cheque to-day covering th policy, and to state that if my endorsation of the already mentioned feature of your policies is of value you are quite at liberty to use it.

Gratefully yours,

MARGARET LONG,

184 Hunter Street,

PETERBOROUGH

Complicated Smuggling.

Windsor, March 5.—A smuggling case which has dragged along for the past six years is now finally settled in the United States District Court, Detroit, where Alonzo Burrows was fined $300 for smuggling six bales of tobacco across the Detroit River from Sandwich.

Burrows testified that he received $20 per bale for making arrangements to get the tobacco across the river. The bales were shipped from New York in bond, and then smuggled into the States again, after they had been taken out of bond in Canada to defraud the Government of the tobacco tax. The tobacco was taken across from Sandwich in a row boat.

Ex-Alderman Escapes Damage Suit.

Montreal, March 5.—Justice Weir yesterday dismissed the action for $25,000 damages taken by the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Co. against ex-Ald. Cleribue, who was alleged to have charged the company with having tried to bribe him to vote for a lighting regulation before the City Council in 1906.

Cleribue claimed he said he was approached "for" the company, and not "by" the company, as they claimed, he said. Appeal has been entered.

Girl's Heroism at Fire.

New York, March 5.—While gas, paints and oils were exploding in her burning home on the ground floor of an east side tenement yesterday, Fannie Goldman, 12 years old, groped her way through the flames and heroically rescued her father, who had fallen senseless in a blazing room, and her two-year-old sister. Firemen said it was as heroic work as they had ever seen.

A gas stove set fire to a curtain and the flames quickly reached a storeroom of paints and oils. Goldman ran towards a rear bedroom to save the two-year-old daughter and a four-year-old son, when he was knocked unconscious by an explosion. Then Fannie rushed in.

PETERBOROUGH SATURDAY MARCH 5 1910

IMPORTANT MEETING TO BE HELD AT LAKEFIELD MARCH 12

On Saturday evening, March 12, another of the series of meetings decided upon at the Liberal Convention in Norwood to be addressed by distinguished members of Parliament, will be held in the Town Hall, Lakefield, beginning at the usual hour. The gentlemen who will address the gathering are Mr. A. H. Clarke, M.P., South Essex, and Dr. M. Clarke, M.P. for Red Deer, Alberta. These gentlemen, who are among the most forcible, finished and effective speakers in the House, will deal in a most interesting manner with live questions that are at present enjoying the attention of the members, two hundred odd, of the Dominion Parliament. The object of these meetings is to put or keep the electors in touch with the course of parliamentary events and measures, and give them an opportunity of seeing how their representatives are discharging their trust.

MARKET CLERK TO BE APPOINTED BY DIFFERENT METHOD FOR 1910

Property Committee in Favour of Letting Contract by Tender or Public Auction—Decide to Advertise for Tenders—Market Year Begins April 1st.

OPINIONS EXPRESSED

The time has swung round again for the appointing of a market clerk. Chairman Duncan brought the matter up at the meeting of the Property committee last night. From the countenance of last night's meeting the present system of letting the market is about to have a few tin cans tied to its tail. Ald. Duncan expressed himself against the salary method, and Ald. Batten also thought it was about time for a change. The latter stated that after the clerk was paid for the past year there would be about $300 left. Ald. Duncan compared this with $1,070, which was offered when tenders were asked for last year. The new year begins on April 1st. Mayor Morrow thought the question ought to be introduced in the Council, but it was stated that in that case it would be referred back to the committee. A motion was passed authorizing the calling of tenders for the year beginning April 1st and that Mr. Ball be notified of the intended change in the system.

FREE SIGN BOARD FOR CITY? PERHAPS

If J. J. Turner & Sons Agree to Proposal From Committee.

A short time ago J. J. Turner and Sons asked permission from the Council to erect a sign board on an island above the C. P. R. bridge. The intention was to advertise the firm, and the locality is well adapted for that purpose as a sign placed there would be most conspicuous. The Property Committee dealt with the matter last night and upon Ald. Duncan's suggestion it was decided to grant the request. However, there is a little proviso to the same. The sign board must be built in the shape of a very broad V, with the blunt angle facing the bridge. This really constitutes two signs and on one side J. J. Turner and Sons may advertise themselves, providing they put in a word for the city on the other side. In this way the boost for the city will be noticeable more particularly when approaching the city from one direction, and the firm's advertisement will attract attention on the other side. A committee was appointed to select the matter for the city's "ad" providing Turner and Sons agree to the offer the city extends to them.

TAKE A COLD SERIOUSLY

The possibilities of every cold are dreadful to contemplate. Bronchitis, pneumonia, consumption, usually begin with a simple cold. Why not fight the cold from the start and assure success by using Dr Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It allays inflamation, keeps the cough free and loose and protects the bronchial tubes from danger.

TO-DAY'S MARKET

Butter, 25 to 28 cents; eggs, 30 cents; pork, front quarter, 13 cents; pork, hind quarter, 15 cents; beef, fronts, $7.50 a cwt.; beef, hinds, $8.00 a cwt.; live hogs, $9.00 a cwt. The above were the leading prices on the market this morning.

The attendance both of buyers and sellers was large and the supply of produce appeared smaller than usual. Eggs were fairly plentiful, but butter was a trifle off. The price of pork promises to vary more than any other article on the market. Various prices were commanded this morning, and for live hogs $9.00 prevailed.

"THE PORT OF MISSING MEN"

The Examiner's great serial story "The Port of Missing Men," commences in the issue of Wednesday next, March 9th, and there will be daily supplements from that date until the romance is finished. A more fascinating, engrossing story has never been printed in serial form in this paper, and subscribers and readers of the Examiner should not allow themselves to miss a single copy of the paper while the story is running.

ENGLISH BOY TO GO BACK TO OTTAWA HOME

Chief Roszel Received Communication From St. George's Home for Boys Regarding Harry Wall—Ran Away From Farmer.

MANY APPLY FOR HIM

Harry Wall, the young English boy who sought refuge in the police station the other night, is not sixteen years of age but is only thirteen, according to a letter received by Chief Roszel from the Rev. Mother Superior of St. George's Home for Boys, Ottawa. She wrote, enclosing a ticket with which to send the young lad back to the Home. The reverend lady further stated that Wall ran away from Mr. Fitzgerald's home in Otonabee. He is at present in the county gaol on remand.

Since it was stated in the Examiner the other evening that endeavours were being made to secure the boy a good home, Chief Roszel has been besieged with enquirers, all anxious to secure the boy. The enquirers were mostly farmers wanting to get the lad to help on the farm.

New England Tea Murray St. Baptist Church, Friday evening, March 11. Tea served 8 o'clock, to be followed by music and addresses, all conforming to the New England idea. The church will be assisted by Judge Huycke, F. D. Kerr, L. J. Pettit, and others. Tickets 25c. 1d51

COACH CROWDED

Disgraceful Crowding of Local C. P. R. Train From Toronto to Peterboro'

If the members of the Peterborough Board of Trade or of the City Council had been passengers on the local train from Toronto to Peterborough last evening they would have seen the necessity of taking some steps to call the attention of the President of the Canadian Pacific railway to the crowded state of the coach. The shameful crowding of passengers was simply disgraceful to a railway of the capacity and generally good condition of the Canadian Pacific railway. There was not seating accommodation for all the passengers when the train left Toronto, and when the single coach left Burketon eighty passengers were counted in the car, with seventy-two seats. It is high time that some steps were taken to make the Canadian Pacific railway realize that Peterborough is deserving of better accommodation. It is up to the Board of Trade and the City Council.

SNOW SLIDE ON C. P. R. AT 1 O'CLOCK THIS MORNING---THOUGHT MANY WORKMEN ARE DEAD

Conflicting Reports of the Accident---Revelstoke Despatch Says That One Hundred Men Have Been Killed---Two Rotary Plows Were Buried in Rogers' Pass, Just East of Glacier---Manager of Western Lines Says That Many of the Men May Have Taken Refuge in Snow Sheds---Wires are Down and Little Information is at Hand.

Special Wire to The Examiner.

Winnipeg, Man., March 5.—Two gangs of C. P. R. employes, numbering forty men or more, operating rotary snow ploughs, are said to have been overwhelmed by a snow slide in Rogers' Pass, on the line, 169 miles west of Banff. Little information can be obtained as the wires are down. One rumour has it that 60 men are killed, but Mr. Bury, manager of western lines, states that not more than forty men are in the gangs, and that many of these and probably all may have taken refuge in snow sheds and be safe.

ONE HUNDRED DEAD?

Vancouver, B.C., March 5.—A despatch from Revelstoke to-day says that 110 men have been killed by a gigantic snowslide in Rogers' Pass, just east of Glacier. The Avalanche, which occurred at 1 o'clock this morning, buried the crews of two rotary plows, comprising from 60 to 100 men, according to various estimates. It is believed that the number is fully 100.

THE TROUBLESOME QUESTION OF THE SMOKING HABIT DISCUSSED BY PROMINENT DOCTOR

Tobacco always had its detractors and its worshippers, never its indifferents. It brings pleasures that are more psychological than physiological. Humanity would miss it more than it would miss playing cards. It is adored by recluses and it gives pleasure in social life. It is the opium of the Western world.

Here is the indictment; Smokers, chewers and snuffers absorb a whole series of poisons or of substances that are at least harmful, of which nicotine is the principal ;the others are ammonia, carbonic acid, prussic acid and divers pyridic bases. Smoking is the absorption of the products of a dry distillation of fermented leaves. Just as there is alcoholism, so there is tobaccoism, acute tobaccoism and chronic tobaccoism. Nervous disorders, troubles of the sight and hearing, disorders of the heart action and of the arteries, slow digestion, dyspepsia, maladies of th emucous membrane of the mouth and tongue—what a list of crimes! Tobacco must be a sweet thing that for its sake mankind should brave so many terrors at once!

And here is the eulogy. According to many old-time physicians there was scarcely an organ that tobacco did not soothe, scarcely a disease that it did not cure—paralysis, epilepsy, neuralgia, intestinal strangulation, constitpation. It has been asserted a hundred times that smokers are immune to epidemic. According to Vasali, at the time of the great epidemic of influenza in 1889 there was not a single case among the workers in the tobacco factories at Genoa. Smoke protects the teeth against decay. It has been believed to be efficacious against consumption.

Researches have been made to find out if tobacco possesses an antiseptic property. The experiments of Miller and Tassinari show that its smoke prevents the development of disease germs. It is true that all smoke contains traces of formol.

Tobacco contains from .41 to 4 per cent. nicotine acording to where it comes from. But the strength or mildness of tobacco does not depend solely upon the nicotine it contains. According to Pontay 3.5 ounces of tobacc give in burning 1.25 grains of prussic acid; acording to Habermann, from .30 to 1.25 grains. The prussic acid is formed only at the moment of combustion. Again, 15,432 grains of tobacco produce in burning 2.5 cubic inches of carbonic acid, according to Pontay; .031 of a cubic inch, according to Toth.

Half the nicotine, according to Habermann, passes into the smoke, the rest remains in the end of the cigarette or cigar-in the "butt." But all that enters the mouth in the smoke is not absorbed by the system, and happily one becomes immune to it.

It is less dangerous to take the smoke into the lungs than it is to swallow saliva that has dissolved the principles of tobacco. More nicotine is absorbed from what is swallowed than from what is inhaled.

Smoke slowly. The same weight of tobacco gives off resinous products in proportion to the rapidity with which it is smoked. The same quantity burned in five minutes yield three times as much as when it is smoked in fifteen minutes.

Nicotine gathers in the end of a cigar or cigarette; this should not be kept between the lips or teeth and should not be smoked almost to the end.

Washed smoke is less toxic. The Orientals act as if they knew this, and we should not do badly to adopt their naghilies.

The hygienists believe we should not smoke on an empty stomach; but to say so would be to lower oneself in the eyes of the true smoker.

Weak hearts, diseased lungs, tired or excited brains are better off from abstinence or the greatest moderation in smoking. But if we have none of these organic defects ,let us smoke and know how to smoke. But at the same time, we shall never become ill from abstaining.

It would be waste of time to wage war upon tobacco. Civilized man will never give it up. As we see inveterate smokers attain extreme old age, as life and fate have not created two classes of men, smokers and non-smokers, the only sensible rule is moderation. This applies to the consumer as well as to the hygienist. To retain the pleasure and minimize its risks, each according to his strength and his temperament, therein is wisdom.

NAVIGATION COMPANIES OF DISTRICT ARE MAKING THEIR PLANS FOR THE COMING SEASON

With the arrival of fine weather, navigation interests are becoming active and the fleets of the various companies are being overhauled, preparatory to starting the season's business.

The steamer Sovereign will ply the waters of Stony Lake in a much changed appearance. At the present time she is being overhauled at Lakefield, and is being made into a first-class passenger craft. The Sovereign is having 15 feet added to her, and her upper works are being entirely rearranged. The work is being done by Mr. John Craig, shipbuilder of Port Hope. The Sovereign is owned by Mr. Charles Gray of Lakefield.

The steamer Majestic, the well-known boat of the Stony Lake Navigation Company, is, as has already been stated in the Examiner, being rebuilt. Visitors to Stony Lake will scarcely recognize her this season.

The Government fleet at Lakefield is being put in shape for the season.

At Peterborough the Government tug Empire is being rebuilt. Her name is being changed to the J. B. McColl.

The steamer Dawn, owned by Mr. R. Sheehy, is receiving a new coat of paint. It is rumored that she has been sold to Messrs. Bishop & Buchanan, contractors, who have the contract for the construction of the new dam at Burleigh.

CAROLINA MERCHANT SHOOTS THREE PEOPLE

Special Wire to The Examiner.

State Senator E. L. Travis and Representative A. P. Kitchin, brother of Governor W. W. Kitchin, and of Congressman Claude Kitchin of the Second North Carolina district and Deputy Sheriff C. W. Dunn, all of Halifax county, were shot down on the main street of the town this afternoon by E. E. Powell. Travis and Kitchin are seriously and Dunn is fatally wounded.

According to the best information obtainable, Powell met his three victims walking along the street together. He approached Senator Travis and asked him for his reason for not replying to a letter he had written him. Representative Kitchin, thinking that Powell was out of humour, placed his hand gently on his shoulder and uttered words intended to placate him. Powell drew a pistol, shot Kitchin, and in quick succession fired on Travis and Dunn. Powell then walked to his store, secured a shotgun and barricaded himself in the place. No offer was made to arrest him, but to-night he surrendered and was taken to the county gaol at Halifax.

Annual "At Home" Of Normal School An Enjoyable Social Function

The second annual "At Home" of the Normal School was held last evening and was one of the most enjoyable functions of the present social season. Between three and four hundred people were in attendance, and a very delightful time was spent. The first part of the evening was given to a musical programme, after which a number of promenades were held excellent music being provided by the Halpany Orchestra under the leadership of Mr. Jas. Halpany.

Principal Walker acted as chairman and welcomed the guests of the evening. The following musical numbers were introduced:

Selection—Orchestra.
Vocal solo—Mr. H. Quinlan.
Instrumental solo—Miss Kingsley.
Reading—Mr. John.
Vocal solo—Miss Davies.
Selection—Orchestra.
Reading—Mrs. Pettit.
Violin solo—Miss K. Wallis.

At the conclusion, dainty refreshments were served.

THE SUGAR QUESTION

Apropos of the alleged sugar advance, a Hamilton grocery advertises in Friday's papers as follows:

1,000 bags of sugar at $1.09. The above 20-lb. Cotton Sacks of the very best quality Granulated Sugar will be placed on sale at $1.00 per bag Saturday morning at 8.30. If you would like to secure a big snap secure one of these."

This does not look as if the consumer has any right to pay the long price, yet a while.

A PRESENTATION

Trainer W. Milburn Honoured by the West End Club.

"Bill" Millburn, trainer of the West End and Peterborough Hockey Clubs, during the past season, left to-day for Detroit, where he has secured a good position. Last night a very pleasant function took place, at the West End club rooms, when Mr. Milburn was presented with a handsome gold locket and a pipe, as a mark of the esteem in which he is held by the members of the Club. The president, Mr. Joseph Sharpe, expressed the thanks of the members to Mr. Milburn for his services and the regret that was felt in his departure from the city. Mr. Tom Riley then presented him with the locket, while Mr. Cyril Giroux made the presentation of the pipe.

THE REAL TEST.

Of Herpicide Is In Giving it a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigours may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure, and free from oil or grease.

THE MOVING PICTURE ARTISTS' WORK WAS VERY REALISTIC

Niagara Falls, March 4.—Pursued by an irate and hot-tempered gentleman apparently about 70, dressed in a frock coat and silk hat, the exciting trip of an eloping couple over the ice bridge was watched by hundreds of spectators on the banks. The young couple were noticed making a hasty journey down the bank and across the bridge, followed at an equally brisk pace by the old gentleman. They were followed by a wondering crowd eager to see the denouement. When the expectant people arrived at the American side of the ice bridge they were amazed to see the pursued and pursuer talking amicably. The angry father, in the person of Will S. Rising, once a popular tenor singer, explained that they were posing for moving pictures.

THE SKATING SEASON IS NOW AT AN END

The winter sporting season in Peterborough is at an end. Today workmen commenced to remove the ice from Brock Street Rink, and the arena will be prepared for roller skating, as soon as possible. This is an unusually early ending to the ice skating, particularly as there has been no opportunity for a glide during the past week. Caretaker Thirnbeck will be at the rink to-night and next week, to allow patrons to remove their property from the rink.

CITY TO DEVELOP SURPLUS POWER AT WATERWORKS DAM

By-law Being Prepared Authorizing the Borrowing of $70,000 by Debenture Issue to Proceed With the Work.

MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

To borrow $70,000.00, in order to provide for the utilizing of the surplus water power at the new water works dam was decided upon by the Committee of the Whole Council, at a recent meeting and on Monday evening at the regular session of the Council a by-law will be introduced authorizing the sale of debentures for the sum mentioned above. The Water Commissioners conferred with the committee, and reports were read from the engineer, Mr. Wm. Kennedy, Jr., of Montreal. The whole matter was gone into thoroughly, and it was felt that the water flowing through the sluice, which the Commissioners had constructed for future use should be harnessed. The Council and Commissioners are practically united in their opinion. It is understood that a power plant could be completed in four months. The Commissioners are obtaining still further information, which is expected to be ready for Monday night.

STERLING COAL CO.

Transfer is Expected to Take Place Within a Few Days

The work of passing titles to the properties which have been purchased by the Sterling Coal Company is reported to be proceeding satisfactorily, with the expectation of taking transfer within a few weeks. Meanwhile, Mr. H. D. Hileman of Cleveland, who is to be general manager of the company, advises that he has been selling surplus coal at $1.50 a ton f.o.b. cars at the mine. Mr. Fergie's estimates are based on a price of $1.05 a ton, so that the new company appears to be entering the field under favorable conditions.

The Sterling Coal Company take over the properties as of January 1st last.

CHARITY CONCERT

The Lady Woodmen of the World will hold an entertainment in the Sons of England's Hall, on Monday, March 14th, at eight o'clock. A programme of songs, etc., will be given, followed by progressive euchre and refreshments. The proceeds will be devoted to charity. Admission 25c. 3d-sws

SON OF GEN. BOOTH COMING

Mr. Herbert Booth, son of Gen. Booth, will give his famous lecture on "The Early Christians" in St. Paul's Church on the evening of March 23, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid. It will be illustrated by cinematograph and music. Further particulars later.

ISOLATION HOSPITAL TO COST $12,000 WILL LIKELY BE BUILT

Property Committee Have Taken Taken Up the Work Again and Will Prepare for a Smaller Building Than That Proposed Last Year..

REVISING THE PLANS

With the total cost cut down to $12,000.00 the Property Committee has again taken up the question of erecting an Isolation Hospital. A meeting was held last night, with Ald. Duncan in the chair and Ald. Morgan, Batten and the Mayor, present. It is now distinctly understood that the expenditure for the building, complete, including furnishings, is not to exceed the figure mentioned above. Mayor Morrow stated that he considered $8,000 sufficient to cover the cost of the building. The City Clerk said he thought Mr. Blackwell had prepared plans for such a building a few years ago, and they could still be utilized. Ald. Duncan stated that there was no need of securing new plans, and if the old ones were not available a later set of plans could be cut down. On motion of Ald. Batten and Morgan, the question was left to the chairman. The site of the hospital will have to be determined, and from present prospects it looks as if the building will take material shape during the coming year.

RADIANT HAIR

New York Society Women's Hair Matched Only by Parisians.

While much attention is given to choicest gowns by New York society women, the turbulent fad just now is the care of the hair.

For many years the clever women of Paris have been famed for the magnificent beauty of their hair.

"Glorious hair," a Virginian calls it; "so radiant and luxuriant that it not only attracts but fascinates and compels unstinted admiration."

But now that the elite of New York, ever anxious to improve their beauty, have learned that Parisian Sage, a remarkable and almost marvellous hair nourisher and beautifier, is almost entirely responsible for the charming hair of the ladies of France the demand for it has become enormous.

Parisian Sage is now sold all over Canada and in Peterborough by Mr. Madill, who is glad to guarantee it to eradicate dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back. Large bottle, 50c.

BAND INSTRUMENTS TO BE TAKEN BACK

The Former Practice Hall in City Buildings is Ready For Re-occupation.

A solution of the problem which confronted the Property Committee in regard to the band instruments, seems to have been secured, and they will likely be brought back to the hall in the city buildings. At the time of the fire in the city buildings, some months ago, while the band room itself escaped the flames, the hall way and surroundings were badly scarred. Ald. Duncan told the committee last night of a conversation he had with Col. Stevenson lately. The latter had said, Ald. Duncan explained, that he wanted the instruments removed from the armouries. After the fire Mr. Gliddon had been given permission to take them to the armouries. While they remained there the regiment asked for some control over them and not wishing to be at loggerheads with the band, Col. Stevenson asked that a former request made to the committee by the officers be withdrawn. An effort would be made to make new arrangements with the band, when the instruments were taken back. The bandsmen think they are right, and the officers consider that they are in the right. On motion of Ald. Batten and Morgan the matter of the instruments was left with the Chairman.

PROFITABLY COPYING CANADA.

The State of Pennsylvania and its capital, the "City of Brotherly Love," has hardly lived up to the principle upon which it was founded. Philadelphia has, for a week or ten days, been in the hands of mobs, the harvest of the street car strike. They have filled the streets with car wreckage and the morgues and hospitals with dead and wounded. Pennsylvania has long outgrown the pacific legacy of Quakerism of William Penn, who bequeathed to the State his principles and gave the State his name. Pennsylvania has in its time been disgraced with more truculent strikes and bloody riots arising from them, than any other state in the Union. Heretofore the police have been quite unable to cope with these disorders, and it has been only by taking a leaf out of Canada's book and organizing a mounted force, the "Black Hussars" on the same lines as the Canadian Northwest Mounted Police, that terror has been stricken into the hearts of mobs, and brought them into subjection. It is much to Canada's credit that she is able to give lessons in the matter of maintenance of law and order.

SAM'S INCONSISTENCY.

The truth would not suffer nor he, himself complain if Mr. Sam Hughes, M.P. for Victoria and Haliburton, were described as ardent, impulsive, imperialistic and patriotic. But he might object if he were described as inconsistent. In his speech on the naval bill the genial Sam supported Mr. Borden's policy of a gift of 20 or 25 millions to the British Government ot strengthen the British navy, and he poured broadsides into the Government's "tin-pot navy," arguing, if not directly, by inference, that Canada could not build a navy up to the mark, or in time to be of any use in the mythical "emergency". But a day or two ago Col. Hughes, with the military and patriotic stop pulled out full length, championed the Ross rifle and scored the authorities of the National Rifle Association of Great Britain and Ireland, for their unfair discrimination against the Canadian rifle, with the object of shutting it out of the Bisley meet. He emphatically declared that the improved Ross Rifle, as adopted by the Militia Department of Canada, was the "best military arm in the world." He hinted that British Opposition to it was inspired by jealousy of its superiority and splendid record in the hands of Canadian marksmen. "Last year," Mr. Hughes said, "at Bisley the Ross rifle won the McKinnon Cup for the first time in history, with a score of 1909 out of a possible 1800. It won the Kolapore Cup with a score of 765 out of a possible 840. It also won the Graphic Cup, with a score of 35, out of a possible 35; another Daily Graphic Cup with a score of 35 out of a possible 35; the Jubilee Trophy, with a score of 2,375, out of a possible 2,-640; and the All-comers aggregate with a score of 167 out of a possible 175." Col. Hughes also pointed out that the campaign carried on against the Ross Rifle, headed by Col. Worthington, and other Conservatives in the House of Commons, was the result of a conspiracy on the part of rival manufacturing concerns in England an evidence that the Conservative party in the house are equally divided in councils upon the matter of a rifle as they are upon the matter of a naval policy. Where Col. Hughes' inconsistency comes in is when he champions the Ross rifle as "the best rifle in the world," and opposes a Canadian navy because, for one reason, he yields compliance with the policy of his party, founded upon the contention that Canada is not competent, in the way of skill, to build a navy. Col. Hughes asserts that the Ross rifle is the "best military arm in existence." It was invented and is manufactured in Canada. Now, the manufacturing of a rifle, which demands the highest character of mechanical precision, requires in its production much more mechanical skill than a warship or a cruiser; and, if Canadians have the skill to produce "the best rifle in the world" they certainly have or can acquire the skill, which, plus the material resources—steel, nickel, coal, etc.—we possess in abundance—will enable us to build and equip the vessels of our own navy, giving employment to our own resources, our own skill, our own men.

MAKING POLITICAL CAPITAL.

The Conservative Opposition at Ottawa is a great industrial concern, diligently devoted for the past four months, to manufacturing naval policies and political capital at the same time. Anything almost to make political capital. They use the public accounts committee rooms as one department of this great national and patriotic industry. What is called the Lumsden charges is the last raw material to be employed. Mr. Hugh Lumsden, Chief Engineer of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway, shortly before the meeting of the House, last November, resigned his position, on the plea that he had lost confidence in a part of his engineering staff, who had, he says, been guilty of over classification of the rock material of excavations. Parliament appointed a special committee to investigate the matter. The committee, as is the rule, was composed of the chairman, who is a Liberal, and three Liberal and three Conservative members. Before the committee was organized for work, the Conservative members showed a captious spirit. Mr. R. C. Smith, of Montreal, was appointed counsel for the railway commission, and Mr. Lumsden declined the aid of counsel Mr. Lennox, for the Conservative members, demanded the unprecedented privilege of the minority of the committee, to nominate the counsel to watch the investigation "on behalf of the people." This modest request was not acceded to and at a recent meeting of the committee it was arranged that Mr. E. M. McDonald, Pictou, Liberal, and Mr. Samuel Barker, Hamilton East, should endeavour to agree upon a counsel that would be acceptable to the whole committee, and submit his name at a subsequent meeting. Yesterday (Friday) afternoon the committee met, and it was announced that these gentlemen had failed to agree, the point of difference being not so much a matter of person, as "principle," Mr. Barker, Conservative, insisting that the Conservative members of the committee should supersede the majority, and have the sole privilege of selecting the counsel. Of course the Liberal members could not entertain the idea of the doctrine that the tail should wag the dog—that the four sheaves should make obeisance to the three sheaves—that the minority should usurp the prerogative of the majority. The name of Mr. Wallace Nesbitt, K. C., ex-judge of the Supreme Court, and a Conservative in political leanings—for he is not a politician—was suggested, and rejected by the Conservatives. The Conservative members insisted upon their point that the minority of the committee should suggest a name which must be accepted by a committee of which a majority would be opposed to his selection. This being naturally and properly refused, the Conservative members of the committee, Messrs. Barker, Crothers and Lennox made the dramatic, but at the same time, childish stage play of withdrawing from the committee and refusing to carry out the order of Parliament, which had appointed them to compose the body entrusted with the investigation of the Lumsden charges. They raised no objection to Mr. Nesbitt for the very good reason that none could be made on the score of ability and judicial fairness. The only ground upon which their action can be understood is that they saw a prospect of making more party capital out of a puerile recalcitrancy that they think can emphasize the contention that the Conservative members refused to be made the victims of a brute majority, and parties to an alleged partisan inquiry, than could be made out of the investigation itself. The Conservative members of the committee, in taking an action without parliamentary precedent confessed that they had brought their political prejudices into the committee, meaning that they had prejudged the case and disqualified themselves to act as impartial investigators. Feeling thus it is natural that they should judge the other members of the committee by the low standard they had set up for themselves. The fact that their action was inspired by some party authority, further emphasizes the contention that the Conservative Opposition in Parliament is sorely in need of a guardian.

RECORD YEAR FOR THE SUN LIFE.

The most remarkable year for business which the Sun Life Assurance Company has enjoyed was the year just closed. The annual report for 1909, appearing elsewhere in this issue shows a series of increases which must be of the most gratifying character to all concerned. The fact that this company can report over twenty million dollars of insurance issued in one year establishes an era in life insurance in Canada. It likewise indicates the wide popularity of the Sun Life; and while it reflects the progressive advancement of the company, it testifies to the sound financial condition of the country.

Among other splendid features of the year, is the fact that the profits of over a million dollars have been secured at a much reduced ratio of expense, and shows how successfully the company has been managed.

The Sun Life has now a total life insurance in force of $129,913,689.52. The Peterborough offices, presided over by Mr. W. H. Hill, the sagacious manager for Central Ontario, have contributed splendidly to these results, and both office and field staffs, as well as policy holders, must be elated with the results.

NO VINDICATION.

Hamilton Herald (Independent)

We cannot view the verdict as a vindication of Mr. Foster. That he did nothing criminal as manager of the Union Trust Company is, of course, true; if he did we may be sure that, being the best-hated Conservative in Canada, partisan spite would long ere this have found a way to clap him in the prisoners' box. But that he acted imprudently, carelessly and not with a scrupulous regard to personal honour is, we think, equally true.

RHEUMATISM

WEATHER THIS

But Dodd's Kidney Pills Always Cure Rheumatism.

What They Did for W. H. Craine, and Why They Always Cure Rheumatism — They Remove the Cause.

Toronto, Ont., March 4.—(Special)—In these days of sudden changes of temperature known to so many suffering people as Rheumatism weather the experience of W. H. Craine, of 103 Gladstone Ave., this city, is of wide-spread interest. Mr. Craine suffered from Rheumatism. He is cured and he knows the cure. It was Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"Yes, I know Dodd's Kidney Pills cured my Rheumatism," Mr. Craine states. "For after I started taking them I used no other medicine. I never cease recommending Dodd's Kidney Pills to my friends."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Rheumatism by putting the Kidneys in condition to strain the uric acid out of the blood. It is uric acid in the blood that causes Rheumatism. Cold or damp causes it to crystallize at the muscles and joints and then come those tortures every rheumatic knows only too well. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Rheumatism by curing the Kidneys. The cured Kidneys remove the cause of the Rheumatism.

BY A BACHELOR GIRL

From the way in which a man's digestion affects his love-making one would fancy the heart was simply a gastronomic organ.

Cupid doesn't waste time aiming at hearts any more; when he gets really serious he points his arrows at a man's vanity and a woman's ambition.

A woman's face may be her fortune, but at the present price of corsets and tailors, her figure depends on her husband's fortune.

Kissing is love's dope; just a little stimulates it, but an overdose puts it in a comatose state.

In the game of love a young pauper makes a more interesting partner than an old millionaire.

Nowadays a man's heart interest is usually placed where it will yield 6 per cent.

Every man knows there are just two kinds of wives in the world—his own and other men's.

THE QUEEN'S

Toronto, the Queen City of Canada, has much of the beautiful. It is found in the many handsome churches, artistic public buildings, imposing offices, public drives, parks and gardens. Its government buildings are fine. Of hotels there are many; none, however, approaching the Queen's for perfect service, quiet comfort, and homelike surroundings, and the peculiar excellence of its cuisine. Its fame is far-reaching, and many remember with pleasure the hours spent within its hospitable walls. The charges are based on the American and European plan, and are as follows:

Rooms without bath (American Plan) $3.00 per day up; Rooms with bath (American Plan) $3.50 per day up; Rooms (European Plan) $1.50 per day up

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE TO CREDITORS

NOTICE is hereby given, pursuant to the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1897, Chapter 129, Section 38, and amending acts, that all persons having claims against the estate of Levi Pelling, Junior, late of the Township of Hamilton, in the County of Northumberland, stage driver, deceased, who died on or about the 27th day of Sept., 1909, at the City of Peterborough, are required to send by post prepaid, or to deliver on or before the 21st DAY OF MARCH, 1910, to the undersigned solicitors for James A. "TRUE FAN" STILL THINKS HE IS RIGHT IN MATTER

Sporting Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—"City League" makes a very poor reply to my letter regarding the benefit of the City League to hockey in general. He talks at great length about the men this and other city leagues have turned out, and so far he is alright. I am not denying the City League the glory of bringing out good players. What I say is that as soon as a player is good enough to get out into other company he should cut loose from the City League and that is what Roberts, Gaul and all the other Ottawa men, he referred to, have done. Surely the players wold rather help to win an O. H. A. championship for Peterborough than potter around in a little local competition but as long as they are allowed to do both they will do so. Let the City League make a rule barring O. H. A. men and then we will have a chance. It will give the young players more opportunities and bring more men in the game. It would bar a lot of men off the Strathconas and West Ends, but it would give the O. H. A. team more scope.

Yours, etc.,
"TRUE FAN."

Collingwood Are The Intermediate Champions

Collingwood, March 4.—Collingwood beat London to-night by a score of 5 to 1, thereby winning the O.H.A. intermediate championship by two goals At half time it was 1 to 1. The match was well contested, every man doing his utmost.

Fryer succeeded in scoring the first goal in one minute and a half, London holding it at this for 13 minutes, when Mallen scored one.

In the second half Collingwood scored in two minutes and another in sixteen minutes. London held the puck at the local end for some time, when a rush was made by Cane, who made the fourth goal for the home team, giving the homesters one in the lead for the cup. With seven minutes to play Cane again scored in five minutes, leaving only two minutes to finish up, neither team doing any scoring in this time.

Much credit is due to the London team, all doing star work throughout the whole game. Casselman was very good and made some brilliant rushes. The combination of London was the best ever witnessed here. Only six penalties were imposed in the entire game.

Preston Put Barrie Out Of The Running

Toronto, Mar. 5.—At Preston, Preston 8, Barrie 6; at Barrie, Barrie 9, Preston 7. At Toronto, second game, Preston 4, Barrie 2.

Total on four games: Preston 21, Barrie 19.

Preston's junior team won the right to meet Kingston Frontenacs in the final home and home games for the O.H.A. championship by defeating Barrie in a sudden-death engagement at Mutual Street Rink last night by 4 to 2, making the score between the teams 21 to 19 on the four games in which they have met. The teams defeated each other in their resepctive home towns by two goals and played to a tie at 2 to 2 here last Tuesday night after battling for almost four hours.

There is really little difference in the abilities of the two teams, as the score on the four games readily attests, but last night the Preston lads asserted their slight superiority and had fully as much of the favour of the game as the reader would be led to believe by reading the score. It has been said that Barrie would have won on fast ice, but that statement is open to question as the best Barrie could do at home on very keen ice was 9 to 7 against the Prestonites. At that Barrie has a way of piling up a mountain of goals against visitors to the Lake Simcoe town. A very pleasing feature of the games between the two teams has been the good sportsmanship and cordiality which has prevailed. They visited one another in the dressing-rooms, and after their four hard battles the winners were roundly congratulated by the losers before leaving the ice. There was no back talk to the referee, and the gentlemanly deportment of both teams in all of their games has been the subject of frequent remark in contrast to some of the scenes enacted on Toronto and other ice.

Her Daughter

Took Very Sick As Result Of Catching Cold.

Mrs. Dennis Delaney, Friar's Head, N.S., writes: "At the close of the year 1907, our youngest daughter, five years old, took very sick as the result of catching cold. She became very weak and could not move around at all. We consulted doctors and gave her various kinds of medicine but they did not seem to relieve her any. On the advice of a friend I procured a bottle of your valuable remedy, Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after using the first bottle noticeable improvement was the result and after using three bottles she was entirely cured. I can certify that it was through your valuable remedy that she regained her strength and would advise every mother having young ones similarly afflicted to obtain your valuable remedy. For myself I would not be without a bottle in the house."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup contains all the lung healing virtues of the Norway pine tree combined with Wild Cherry bark and other pectoral remedies. It has stood the test for many years, and is now more generally used than ever. Price 25 cents at all dealers. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

A BATTLE BETWEEN NATURAL FORCES

A boy died recently from bloodpoisoning in a wound which had only been inflicted a few days. It is terrible to read of cases like this when timely use of Zam-Buk is a known preventive of blood-poisoning.

The microscopic germs, which are able to cause blood-poisoning and death, cannot be seen by the human eye, but they are instantly killed by Zam-Buk. Zam-Buk is prepared from purely herbal extracts. In other words, it is a natural healing force. By applying Zam-Buk to a sore or other poisoned place, you, therefore, pit nature's healing power against nature's destructive power. What better line of action could be taken? And, just as surely as nature's benficent power is greater than its destructive power, in most cases Zam-Buk wins. Try it on that old wound, that ulcer, that bad leg, or that eczemous patch. Only fifty cents a box, all druggists and stores, but don't have any imitation!

POST CARD COLUMN.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

In reply to S. A. Veteran's letter of last night, I did not say the C. I. V.'s were at Paardeberg. What I said was, "Go to London and you will be told that the war was won by them by a section of the public." Veteran knows as well as I do that one small company of troops could not win it. Also I am certain that the Peterboro noncoms. did not have the insertion put in. I presume it was put in by some outsider, as the non-coms. have better sense than to know Paardeberg was won by Canadians alone. If Veteran is going to take notice of all he reads in papers he will always find something to complain of, and, being a veteran of the regular army, ought to have had better sense than to take notice of such a thing. And as for enlisting for love of his country (perhaps so), I enlisted, like scores of other young fellows do, because I was out of work, and whether for love of country or not, we all belong to that same fighting machine. I notice Veteran has changed his tone. In the first letter he asked if there was no honour for the Imperial forces. Let me tell him, self-praise is no recommendation, which, he being a veteran, was asking for. Now, old sweat, I am not going to take up any more space in this paper arguing on such a childish question, but will leave it to the Garrison non-coms., or if you still require a little praise I will write to the boys in the land of the Kangaroo. Perhaps they will help you, as you seem to find the land of the Maple Leaf so unsympathetic, with all due respect to the regular and irregular forces of the British Empire. I still remain

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTIONS

Jesus the Healer. Matt. 8:2-17.

Golden Text. Himself took our infirmities and bore our sicknesses. Matt 8 17.

Verses 2-4. What is the nature of the disease of leprosy?

How many points of resemblance are there between leprosy and sin?

How were lepers treated in those days?

How had this leper probably learned that Jesus had power to heal him?

Did Jesus desire that this leper should never tell who had healed him, or that he should tell the priest first, and just get his cure officially recognized before telling any other person?

If God wills he can do anything, but to how many of our requests may we be certain that he will say "I will"?

What prompted Jesus to grant the request and to heal this leper?

Verse 5.—What was the position of a centurion, and if he had been some obscure person, would Jesus have treated him just as courteously?

Verses 6, 7.—What benefit is it to us to-day, to bring our sick ones to Jesus?

So far as the records show, Jesus while in the flesh, healed all the sick ones that were brought to him, is that sufficient to prove that he will do the same to-day?

Verses 8, 9.—From the commendation which Jesus afterwards gave him, was not this man more worthy than he thought?

What are the relative moral values of thinking too much, or thinking too little of ourselves?

Why should not a man be blameable for folly if not for sin, for having an estimate of himself, whether for or against, other than the facts warrant?

What was the ground for this man's sublime faith, and is such faith possible, for all of us, when we pray for specific things

What is the force of a centurion's analogy between obedience rendered him as a general, and the instant obedience of the laws of nature to the commands of Jesus? "Speak the word only."

Verse 10.—What reason is there to believe, that in every nation, and under every form of error and superstition, men are found who fear God, and that all who do fear him are accepted of him?

Verses 11, 12.—When it comes to a matter of personal salvation, what advantage did the Jew have over the Gentile, and what advantage has a man from a Christian family over one from the family of an infidel?

What is the reason for the belief that any heathen will be saved in that day, and many church members shut out in the darkness?

Verse 13.—Have you any reason to believe that this man's faith and its results, are other than typical of cases that are constantly happening?

Verse 14-17.—Does God to-day purpose to cure our sick miraculously, like these cases, or are these exceptional and for a special purpose? (This question is to be answered in writing by members of the club)

Lesson for Sunday, March 13th, 1910.

WAS POSTPONED

Meeting of Conservatives of West Riding This Afternoon Did Not Materialize

The meeting of the Conservatives of West Peterborough called for this afternoon for the purpose of selecting delegates to represent the Association at the Conservative convention to be held in Ottawa in June did not materialise owing to an insufficient attendance and was postponed for two weeks until Saturday, March 19.

AT WARNE'S DRUG STORE

There was another overflowing attendance of shoppers at Warne's drug store today. The attractive Saturday bargains advertised in the Examiner brought buyers from all parts of the city. The store staff were kept busy from 9 o'clock this morning, and all day the cashiers were put to severe tests keeping the tracks clear. The crowds are expected to be still greater this evening, as the bargains hold good for all day.

NO MORE WRINKLES

BEAUTIFUL BUST

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR VANISHES LIKE MAGIC BY A NEW DISCOVERY

Let this woman send you free, full particulars, follow her instructions, then if you are pleased, recommend her wonderful methods to your friends.

SHE LOOKS LIKE A GIRL OF 18

This clever woman has not a wrinkle upon her face; she has discovered a marvellous, simple method which brought a wonderful change in her face in a single night. For removing wrinkles and developing the bust, her method is truly wonderfully rapid. She is fast becoming famous as the most expert beauty culturist in the world.

She made herself the woman she is to-day and brought about the wonderful change in her appearance in a secret and pleasant manner. Her complexion is as clear and fair as that of a child. It is a well-known fact that she turned her scrawny figure into a beautiful bust and well-developed form. She had thin, scrawny eyelashes and eyebrows, which could scarcely be seen, and she made them long, thick and beautiful by her own methods.

You can imagine her joy whey by her own simple discovery she removed every wrinkle from her face and developed her thin neck and form to beautiful proportions.

Nothing is taken into the stomach, no masks or common massage, no harmful plasters, no rollers, no worthless creams.

By her secret process she removes wrinkles and develops the whole figure plump and fat.

Many of those who have used her process report astonishing results. Mary Merritt, of Wis., writes that her wrinkles have entirely disappeared. Miss Hanson writes her bust is beautifully developed and wrinkles gone. Mrs. Markham writes she has not a wrinkle left. Ada Dunkle, of Oil City, writes in that her bust developed one inch in a few days. Miss Devereaux writes that she made her eyelashes and eyebrows long, thick and silky by this remarkable method. Mrs. Harry Baker also writes in that the new treatment made a wonderful change in her face and body quickly.

It is simply astonishing the hundreds of delighted women who write regarding the wonderful results from this new beauty treatment.

All our readers should write her at once and she will send you, absolutely free, particulars regarding her new discovery and will show our readers

How to quickly remove wrinkles;
How to develop the bust;
How to make long, thick eyelashes and eyebrows;
How to instantly remove superfluous hair;
How to remove blackheads, pimples and freckles;
How to remove dark circles under the eyes;
How to quickly remove double chin;
How to build up sunken cheeks and add flesh to the body.

Simply address your letter to Evelyn Cunningham, Suite 206, 7 Randolph street, Chicago, Ill., and don't send any money, because particulars are free, as this charming woman is doing her utmost to benefit girls or women in need of secret information which will add to their beauty and make life sweeter and lovelier in every way.

Everything she sends is free and private, and she wants every woman, mother, wife, or girl to write for her famous beauty secrets and her latest book, "Nature's Way to Beauty," which will be sent free. Now is the time to write and learn her beauty secrets, lest your beauty passes, even as the petals of a rose wither into the drift of yesterday's flower.

The world would be better if there were a few more kind women like this in it.

OBITUARY.

IRENE CASEY.

PLAYS SONG IN STREETS TO FIND HIS SWEETHEART

Hungarian Count, Who is Violinist, After Music Fails, Appeals to Authorities of Bayonne to Help Him Find Girl.

New York, March 4.—Playing his fiddle through the streets of Bayonne and always ending his serenade with "Ungar-Land, Mein Heimath Land," in the hope that this last song would cause his lost sweetheart to make her appearance, Joseph Dario, a Hungarian, twenty-four years old, gave up his quest in despair and yesterday at a last resort appealed to Recorder Mara in the Bayonne Police Court to help him find his lost love.

Dario prides himself on being a Magyar and a descendant of the first families of Hungary. He told Recorder Mara that he came to America two years ago and started to fiddle his way into fame by playing the popular airs of his native country. He did most of his playing in the streets of New York and was making money, so much that he finally decided to send for his sweetheart.

When she arrived here he was ill and in a Brooklyn Hospital. Alone and ignorant of the English language, she was unable to trace him. With her scanty store of money soon gone, she got a position at housework, as he heard from friends in Hungary, to whom she wrote, but, womanlike, neglected to say more about her address than that it was "in Jersey." There was an intimation that she was receiving attention from a countryman and that she might wed him.

The young man was mad with jealousy and anguish at the thought of some one else winning the bride, and he started to search the State of New York for her, always fiddling "Ungar-Land."

A few days ago he learned that she was in Bayonne. Dario went there. He began to play his fiddle as soon as he reached the first street, continuing to do this all through the city in the hope that the girl might hear her favourite song played by her sweetheart and come back.

When he had made the circuit of the entire city without results he appealed to the Recorder for help in locating the missing girl.

The musician told Recorder Mara that he had heard that a Mrs. Herman Seiler, who lives in Twenty-second street, could tell him where he could find the girl, and at the suggestion of Dario a letter was written by the Recorder to Mrs. Seiler, asking her to aid the unfortunate lover in locating his sweetheart.

New Health and Strength For Weak and Ailing Girls

Can Be Had Through the Rich, Red Blood Made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

There comes a time in the life of almost every girl when sickness attacks her. The strain upon her blood supply is too great, and there come headaches and backaches, loss of appetite, attacks of dizziness and heart palpitation, and a general tendency to a decline. The only thing that can promptly and speedily cure these troubles is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This is the only medicine that actually makes new, rich, red blood, and a plentiful supply of rich blood is the one thing needed to maintain the health of growing girls and women of mature years. The truth of this statement is proved in the case of Miss Esther E. Sproule, Truemanville, N.S., who says: "At the age of sixteen years I left my country home to attend high school. The close confinement and long hours of study nearly broke me down. My blood supply seemed to be deficient and I grew pale and depressed. I was dizzy nearly all the time, and pimples broke out on my face. I was altogether in a miserable condition and it seemed impossible for me to continue my studies unless I found a speedy cure. I tried several tonics prescribed by the doctor, but they proved useless. My mother urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I finally consented to do so. I had hardly finished the second box before a change for the better took place, and the use of a few boxes more fully restored my health, and I have since been well and strong. I feel that I cannot say too much in favour of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I strongly recommend them to other ailing girls."

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FOUND SWEETHEART IN MOVING PICTURE

Ohio Man Recognizes Long Lost Girl in Scene on Canvas.

Dayton, Ohio, March 4.—Portrayal of his former sweetheart on a moving picture film awakened the love slumbering in the breast of Isadore Mendel and a proposal of marriage is now in the mails destined for Europe. The remarkable romance, for the successful consummation of which Mendel is hopeful, began at Frankfort on the Main, Germany, when he fell in love with Teckla Perlinger.

Both were eighteen. To escape military duty the youth came to America six years ago and never heard from the girl again. A few months ago Mendel was astounded to see her depicted in pictures at a local theatre as a nurse in charge of a group of Paris children. To the film company at Paris and the United States consular office the young man wrote letters begging that they might furnish information to enable him to get into communication with the original of the photographs. Recently he received a reply verifying his identification and giving Teckla's address.

She is, the letter stated, employed in the French capital as a nurse, and was pleased to hear that he was enquiring for her. Mendel immediately sent a missive of love and proposal. He is a cigarmaker and resides at No. 1113 East Fifth street.

A WINDSOR LADY'S APPEAL.
To All Women: I will send free, with full instructions, my home treatment which positively cures Leucorrhoea, Ulceration, Displacements, Failing of the Womb, Painful or Irregular Periods, Uterine and Ovarian Tumors or growths, also Hot Flashes, Nervousness, Melancholy, Pains in the Head, Back, Bowels, Kidney and Bladder troubles where caused by weakness peculiar to our sex. Summers, Box 231 Windsor, Ont.

THE SLIM WOMAN IS WINNING

The day of the slim woman's triumph has arrived. "The thinner one is the more stylish," say the dressmakers.

This would have been sad news for the fat woman a year ago. She would have had to try dieting or exercise. Nowadays, however, the woman who is too fat for the style goes to a druggist and gets a case of Marmola Prescription Tablets, one of which she takes after each meal and at bedtime and so reduces her superfluous flesh quickly.

These tablets, being made in accordance with the famous prescription are perfectly harmless, and they are, also, the most economical preparation a person can buy, for they cost only 75 cents a large case, one of which is frequently enough to start a person to losing fat at the rate of 12 or 14 ounces a day. Pretty nearly every druggist keeps this tablet in stock, but should yours be sold out, you can easily obtain a case by sending to the makers, the Marmola Company, 833 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

"GIE GUID."

Through the thoughtfulness of Mr. Robert Fair, a few of the Examiner staff commissioned to study out the vital question of high living, have been feasting on Scotch shortcake. Mr. Fair has a very mindful friend in Glasgow, Scotland. Ex-Alderman Nelson, a prominent business man of that city—who lately sent him out a box of dainty Scotch sweetmeats, which arrived in the city a few days ago. Among the toothsome contents of the package was a generous sample of genuine Scotch shortbread, bearing the heraldic label of the makers. Macfarlane, Lang & Co., Glasgow and London, by Royal authority." Mr. Fair unselfishly shared up with the Examiner, and if an expression of opinion was asked, the verdict of the beneficiaries would be that the shortbread was "gie guid, thank ye."

THE FAMILY HEARTH

MOTHERS OUGHT TO KNOW.

When the children have colds slice one or two onions in a saucer, sprinkle them with sugar and set on the stove to simmer into syrup.

When you put the children to bed give a half teaspoonful of the syrup to the older children.

A large Turkish bath towel makes a nice bathrobe for a baby or small child. Use white cotton curtain cords for the girdle and make the hood of Turkish face cloth. This little robe is serviceable and convenient and easily laundered.

Every mother has trouble with baby's shirt slipping up. To remedy this, cut off the shirt, beginning under the arm seam, two inches below arm hole. Then make a flannel shirt not over a yard in width with the side seams shaped to make it narrower at the top and gather to the shirt, finishing raw edges with loose buttonhole stitch of mercerized cotton. Knitted bands, to which the diaper is pinned, can be worn under this.

MEATLESS DISHES.

One pint of toasted bread crumbs, one pint water, one-half pint strained potatoes, one-half pound nutmeats, chopped fine, flavor with finely sifted sage.

Mix well and salt to taste. Bake in buttered shallow pans until brown. Serve with egg gravy.

Rice and Egg Balls.

Broil six eggs one-half hour. Remove shells and put through a potato ricer, or serve with an equal quantity of boiled rice. Season with salt, pepper and a little grated nutmeg, a tablespoonful of chopped parsley and two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Make into small balls and dip into beaten egg and cracker dust. Fry in deep hot lard until light brown. Serve on thin slice of buttered toast, with melted butter dressing.

Egg Gravy.

In one pint of water dissolve one level spoonful nut butter. Thicken with flour until thin gravy. Just before removing from the stock, add one egg, well beaten. The white of egg may be used or omitted, as desired.

Queen Cream Biscuits.

Two cupfuls of sifted flour, half a cupful of cream, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one of sugar and a half saltspoonful of salt. Mix the flour, sugar, salt and baking powder together, then add the cream and one well-beaten egg, mixing all together with a silver knife.

Handle the dough as little as possible while making it into small round cakes. Bake in a hot oven for about ten minutes. This quantity will make a dozen biscuits.

Apple and Banana Sauce.

Cook apples as you would for ordinary apple sauce. When just about tender add one or two sliced bananas (according to amount of apples you use).

Let cook until both are tender. Remove from heat and add sugar to taste. If apples are not too sour you will not need to add sugar.

Molasses Pudding.

English molasses pudding is made of one cupful of chopped raisins, three-quarters of a cupful of molasses, a teaspoonful of soda beaten into the molasses, three tablespoonfuls of melted butter, one egg, one and one-half cupfuls of flour, and one and one-half cupfuls of sweet milk.

Steam for one hour in the oven.

Powdered Borax for Pretty Hands.

It is not as difficult to have pretty white hands as many persons imagine, for by constant and unceasing care rough or red skin can be softened and bleached, though this cannot be accomplished in a week's time.

To improve their neglected condition begin the treatment by carefully cleansing the flesh of fingers and palms.

It is said of a dandy of olden times that he never bathed his hands in water, always in olive oil. This is not sticky, as might be thought, and it is essentially cleansing. One application will remove the dirt, and a second will wash away the soiled oil. Very thorough wiping afterward with soft, thin linen will remove all the grease, and the skin will then be cleansed and nourished.

Few persons care to take this trouble, and such bathing is expensive, but hard water is not to be used, no matter how soiled the hands. Indeed, the dirtier they are the more harm it will do.

Hard water does not remove dirt, but it does dry and crack the surface, so that soil is taken below the surface, rendering the skin grimy and coarse.

It is said, and truthfully, that no woman should go away to make even a short visit without taking some powdered borax in her valise. A teaspoonful of this will soften a basinful of the hardest water and render it much better for the skin.

Puffed Potatoes.

Peel the potatoes; with one even cut slice them one-eighth of an inch thick the length of the potato; they must all be of the same size and shape. Soak them in cold water for one-half hour; dry them on a napkin and fry them in moderately hot fat until soft, but not coloured. Remove and place on a sieve to drain and cool. Then immerse them in hot fat, when they will puff. Toss the basket, sprinkle with salt and serve on napkin or as a garnish.

Household Information.

Don't throw away broom handles. Covered with cretonne or crepe paper and with a long cord or ribbon loop tied in the centre, twelve-inch lengths, are fine for coat and skirt hangers.

If a range has become red from overheating or rust, before applying stove blacking, rub the surface well with vinegar and allow it to dry. Blacken when the stove is slightly warm, not hot.

Faded spots on wood, caused by heat or light, can be removed by rubbing with linseed oil or sweet oil mixed with an eighth part of alcohol. Old linen or flannel rags are best to use for this purpose.

To clean and tighten cane chairs, soak them well with hot water and use soap if necessary. Dry them in the open air and when thoroughly dry they will be as tight as when new, and perfectly clean.

Before using raisins or currants in a cake, wash them, put into a wire basket, and plunge for an instant into boiling water. If this is done the day before they are used, they will be plump and much sweeter.

When frying in deep fat, never put too much food into the frying basket at once, else the heat of the fat will be reduced and the outer surfaces, instead of becoming crisp and dry, will absorb all the grease.

To remove a dent from a table or cabinet, cover it with four thicknesses of paper that has been wet and then set a very hot iron on the surface for a few seconds. The steam will raise the compressed wood layers.

An easy way to fill preserve jars is to use a gravy boat. The handle makes it easy to dip into the boiling kettle of fruit, and the long neck fits into either pint or quart jars and prevents any spilling of the juice.

After naphtha-cleaning gloves, laces and ribbons at home, they may be placed directly upon a steam radiator and will be found to dry in half the time usually required, while the odour will disappear in less than an hour's time.

If meat, when cooking, has to be turned, be careful not to pierce it with a fork. Boiled or stewed meats should be seasoned while cooking. Broiled and fried meat should be salted and seasoned after removing from the fire.

For finger marks on white painted doors, there is nothing finer than just whiting and water, rubbed on with a soft cotton rag, avoiding the use of soap, for the whiting will remove the dirt and not injure the texture of the paint.

WHAT A GLORIOUS TONE!
When famous pianists and great singers come to Canada, their first consideration is the choice of a piano. When they hear the New Scale Williams, their natural exclamation is "What a glorious tone!"
As a consequence, the leading artists of the old and new world use the New Scale Williams on their Canadian tours.
The favourite of musicians is likewise the favourite in the homes. In every part of the Dominion, the New Scale Williams Piano is held in highest esteem.
If there is a new piano to be bought this season, see the New Scale Williams at the warerooms of the J. M. Greene Music Co., L'td., Opera House Block.

HEALTH FOR BABY COMFORT FOR MOTHER

The mother who has once used Baby's Own Tablets for her children will always use them for the minor ailments that come to all little ones. The Tablets give a guarantee of health to the child and ease and comfort to the mother. They cure all stomach and bowel troubles, destroy worms, break up colds, and make teething easy. Mrs. H. Lavoie, St. Felicite, Que., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for indigestion constipation and other troubles with perfect results. I think so much of the Tablets that I use no other medicine for my children." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE LAST RESORT

When all else failed, the Doctors said, "try Fruit-a-tives"

And "Fruit-a-tives" cured Mrs. Cadieux

PLANTAGENET, ONT., JANUARY 31ST, 1910.

"About March 1st 1909, I was taken deathly sick with Stomach Trouble, Backache and General Breakdown. I failed from 125 pounds down to 80 pounds, was confined to bed for eight weeks, and was unable to eat or keep anything on my stomach, vomiting nearly all the time. I expected to die, and took many remedies as well as employing different physicians. The doctors said they could do nothing for me and, as a last resort, one of the doctors told me "to try Fruit-a-tives"—they would not cure me, nothing would".

MRS LAURENT CADIEUX

My husband bought "Fruit-a-tives" from Mr. Arthur Roleau, merchant of Plantagenet, and I started taking them at once, and inside of ten days, I was able to leave my bed. My stomach got strong and I could eat and retain my food. I gained rapidly and soon had my usual good health back again, and today I weigh as much as ever, 125 pounds."

MDE. LAURENT CADIEUX

Even the doctors are recommending "Fruit-a-tives". They realize now that these wonderful fruit juice tablets will positively cure all Stomach Troubles, Indigestion and Dyspepsia, and they are using "Fruit-a-tives" in their practice.

Few people realize the vital importance of keeping their blood pure. Impure blood is the chief cause of Stomach Trouble, because it is from the blood that the stomach obtains the fluid which digests food. When the blood is laden with impurities, the digesting fluid (or Gastric Juice) will be impure. These impurities may come from a congested liver, from Constipation, from weak kidneys, from an inactive skin, or from all four. Naturally, the ordinary "digestive powders" and "pepsin tablets" will not cure the trouble, because they only help to dissolve the food—they do not go to the seat of the trouble. "Fruit-a-tives" is the greatest remedy ever discovered for all forms of Indigestion, Dyspepsia and other Stomach Disorders, because "Fruit-a-tives" is unequalled as a blood-purifying medicine. "Fruit-a-tives" acts directly on the liver, regulates the bowels, strengthens the kidneys, stimulates the skin, and thus rids the whole system of all impurities. "Fruit-a-tives" will positively cure you of any kind of Indigestion. "Fruit-a-tives" is sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50 or trial size, 25c. If you are unable to obtain "Fruit-a-tives" conveniently, do not accept substitutes but send to "Fruit-a-tives" Limited, Ottawa and the regular size-packages will be mailed you, postpaid, on receipt of price.

"MOLLY MAY"

Last Tuesday's Montreal Herald has the following to say of Grace La Rue, now appearing at His Majesty's Theatre in "Molly May":

"Molly May" is one of the cleverest and brightest musical shows that Montrealers have been privileged to see this season. Unfortunately, it took some of the audience nearly a whole act to discover this. One reason for this perhaps is because the piece has a plot. A musical comedy with a plot is something quite new to Montreal, and therefore, rather hard to understand. Because of this plot one Jack Willoughby gets blamed for all the sins of his father-in-law, who is some cut-up, and is always funny because he is always in trouble.

By the middle of the first act last night, however, people began to sit up and whisper to their neighbors that they were glad they came. At the close of the act the audience became really enthusiastic, and from that on the show went with a swing that was lacking at first, and the audience became happy and enthusiastic, and fairly wild in its noisy demand for encores.

None of the members of the "Molly May" company is the possessor of a grand opera voice, but there is no single member who has not what may be called a good voice—and this includes the chorus. The latter is well trained and evenly balanced and some of the music gives opportunity for members to show their vocal power to advantage. The songs are tuneful and catchy and can be whistled.

Miss Larue is clever, and the gowns which she displayed made a decided hit with the ladies. Her singing and dancing were both good. Sidney Grant, who has most of the comic work, is clever, and gets everything across the footlights, so that he establishes a friendly feeling between actor and audience. The other principals give good support, and the stage and scenery is elaborate.

SPRING STYLES
In the Suit Department are both Novel and Effective

Fashion has decreed a decided change in the Styles of Suits which women & misses are to wear this spring. "Becoming" is the word which most properly describes them. New and interesting features are in evidence.

The Russian Blouse effect is especially emphasized—although in many cases much modified from the old-fashioned idea of this type of garment.

Materials are smart and effective—both rough & smooth textures coming in for a considerable share of attention.

Qualities and Workmanship are all that the most exacting could desire—and prices notwithstanding are very modest :: :: ::

Select from our splendid well-made garments and your spring outfit will prove a source of lasting satisfaction.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

(By F. M. D.)

"INDIAN LIST" MEN.

The law as it stands at present in regard to hotel keepers and liquor dealers supplying "Indian list" men with drink might very reasonably have an auxiliary condition attached which would be of service to dealers in recognizing blacklisted individuals. There is not an hotel keeper or liquor dealer in Peterborough who would willingly supply one of these men with drink, and as the penalty for infringement of the law is so heavy it is only fair that they should be furnished with the best means available for safeguarding themselves.

It is said that there are nearly one hundred blacklisted persons in Peterborough. It must be a practical impossibility for any one person to know and recognize them all. It would be a move in the right direction for the authorities to have photographs taken of every man placed on the list and to publish copies of such photographs with such additional information as was necessary for identification in booklet form. These could be furnished to the hotel keepers and liquor dealers at cost price with the proviso that they were to be treated purely and simply as confidential reports.

MAD DOGS.

The present mad dog scare shows every evidence of extending to Peterborough. That there are many useless, homeless dogs in this city is plainly evident; that there are a few ferocious ones is also evident. Nobody would be sorry to see such animals put out of the way. But there is absolutely no sign, nor has there been anything recorded, tending to show that any Peterborough dog, or for the matter of that, any dog in the county, is affected with rabies. Although the old-fashioned fun-producing method of tying a tin can to a dog's or cat's tail has luckily fallen into deserved desuetude, boys everywhere find ingenious ways of torturing animals and making them bad-tempered and vicious. The Peterborough lad is no better nor worse than his dear little brother of other cities, and he is possessed of just as keen an eye for fun and mischief as any of them. Baiting a dog is with him a favourite form of enjoyment, and the more a canine barks and growls at him the better he likes it. There is nothing so well calculated to make a dog bad-tempered, and it is only reasonable to suppose that many a dog that has been classed as ferocious has been made so by the playfulness or the cruelty of boys.

Constantinople, which is noted for its hordes of wild dogs, that swarm the streets and act as public scavengers of the city, is not spoken of as a place where rabies is prevalent. But the Moslems leave the dogs alone and the dogs in turn leave them alone. We do not advocate the methods of Eastern scavenging, but we can, at any rate, take a lesson from the Turks in regard to their kind treatment of their canines.

18th Century Ideas of Aeronautics.

It is strange reading to glance over what writers of past days thought of matters that have now come to be looked upon as almost commonplace.

In 1784 Blanchard, the Frenchman, made an ascent in a balloon from Chelsea, and Horace Walpole delivers himself as follows, on the art of ballooning:

"I chiefly amused myself with ideas of the change that would be made in the world by the substitution of balloons for ships. I supposed our seaports to become deserted villages, and Salisbury Plain, Newmarket Heath and all downs arising into dockyards for aerial vessels."

Then, in a spirit of fun, he goes on to imagine the sort of aeronautic news that will be furnished in days to come.

"The good balloon, Daedalus, Captain Wingate, will fly in a few days for China. He will stop at the Monument to take in passengers."

"Arrived on Brand Sands, the Vulture, Captain Nabob; the Tortoise snow from Lapland; the Pet-en l'air from Versailles; the Dreadnought, from Mount Etna; Sir W. Hamilton, commander; the Tympany Montgolfier; foundered in a hurricane, the Bird of Paradise, from Mt. Ararat; the Bubble, Sheldon, took fire, and was burnt to her gallery, and the Phoenix is to be cut down to a second-rate."

"In these days there will be fights in the air with wind-guns, and bows and arrows; and there will be prodigious increase of land for tillage, especially in France, by breaking up all public roads as useless."

Looked at in the light of our present day progress in the conquest of the air, Horace Walpole may be regarded as somewhat of a true prophet, notwithstanding his badinage.

The Lure of the West.

The advancing days of spring bring with them the usual tales of departure for the Northwest of young and able-bodied men from almost every hamlet in Ontario. This in itself would not be such a loss if fresh men were to be found to take their vacant places on the farms. The arrivals from England have not shown themselves in the past to be superlatively fitted for farm work. And drawn, as most of them are, from the cities, it would be strange indeed if they were. Farmers are accused, sometimes justly, ofttimes unjustly, of overworking and underpaying their help, treating their sons and daughters as so many parts of machinery of the farm, and generally of being money-grubbers. Readers of letters in farm journals must have noticed scores of epistles accusing the farmer of being primarily the cause of the exodus of young men and women from the farm. It is much more reasonable to think that the young man or young woman leave the farm in the belief that more money, shorter hours of work and greater freedom await them in the far West or in the nearby city.

Everything rights itself, however, sooner or later, and as most of us are eager to obtain whatever shekels are going, it will be a strange thing, indeed, if farms will long remain vacant or help be lacking when hogs are quoted at close on 10c. a lb. and all classes of farm stock are steadily soaring in value.

There will be no need for the farmer to go to the West when an easy fortune is awaiting him at home.

FARMER'S DOG SHOT IN HIS ABSENCE

Report From Millbrook of Boy Bitten While Trying to Part Two Dogs

From Millbrook comes the story of a recent dog scare, but there is nothing to show that the dog was mad. Harry Elson, a farmer living a few miles north of the village drove in on business a few days ago and behind the sleigh trotted his faithful dog. Having completed his affairs he started for home in the afternoon, but Collie or Fido, whatever he answered to, remained in the village. It was not long before trouble came his way in the form of another dog. It was with a little boy and when the two canines began to fight, as many dogs have done before, the boy tried to separate them. In so doing he was bitten by the farmer's dog, so the report goes. He was taken to a nearby drug store, where his wound was treated, and in the meantime Constable Miller arrived on the scene with a shot gun, and, being no mean shot, the constable did not need to pull the trigger more than once. The farmer missed his dog as he went along and returned too late to save him. He was informed of the fight and the shooting, as the dog was suspected of being mad. It was stated that his head would be sent to Toronto, but it is not likely that this intention was carried out.

KIDNEY OR BLADDER DISORDERS VANISH

A Few Doses Will Clean and Regulate the Kidneys and Make You Feel Fine.

A real surprise awaits every sufferer from kidney or bladder trouble who takes several doses of Pape's Diuretic. Misery in the back, sides or loins, sick headache, nervousness, rheumatism, pains, heart palpitation, dizziness, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelids, lack of energy and all symptoms of out-of-order kidneys vanish.

Uncontrollable urination (especially at night), smarting, offensive and discoloured water and other bladder misery ends.

The moment you suspect kidney or urinary disorder, or feel any rheumatism, begin taking this harmless medicine, with the knowledge that there is no other remedy, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a 50-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

It is needless to feel miserable and worried, because this unusual preparation goes at once to the out-of-order kidneys and urinary system, distributing its cleansing, healing and strengthening influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completes the cure before you realize it.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Only curative results can come from taking Pape's Diuretic, and a few days' treatment will make any one feel fine.

Accept only Pape's Diuretic,—fifty cent treatment—any drug store—anywhere in the world.

MY LOVE.

My love (dear man!) turns in his toes,
My love is tangle-kneed,
Cross-eyed, left-handed, hair and beard
In hue are disagreed;
He has no soft and winning voice,
No single charm has he,
And yet this awkward, ugly man
Is all the world to me.

My neighbor Gay rejoices in
A beauty of a man;
Straight-limbed, fair-faced and, find his peer
She knows no mortal can.
I look upon his handsome form
And own 'tis fine to see;
But turn back to the homely man
Who's all the world to me.

There's Mrs. Flint and Mrs. Chat,
Each with a cavalier;
They smile and wonder how I can
Call such a sight "my dear."
But it is just as strange, I think,
How they can happy be Without my homely man, for he
Is all the world to me.

Don't ask me why—I cannot tell;
'Tis all a mystery;
I've sought, myself, a thousand times
Its secret history.
Meanwhile my heart grows sad to think
How drear this world would be Without this awkward, homely man
Who's all the world to me.

GRACE LA RUE,

The handsomest dressed comedienne on the stage. Here next Tuesday in the Comic Opera "Molly May," direct from His Majesty's Theatre, Montreal. Seats now selling.

MISS LA RUE'S GOWNS ATTRACT MUCH ATTENTION

The Montreal Herald says of the gowns worn by Miss Grace La Rue, who appears here on Tuesday in "Molly May":

Two of the magnificent gowns and two of the cloaks worn by Miss Grace La Rue in "Molly May," at His Majesty's Theatre this week, were on exhibition yesterday in Rea's window.

A blue princess gown ornamented with pink, coral and a pink wrapper ornament with large pearls were two of the dresses exhibited.

The illustration shows Miss La Rue in a wonderful dancing dress made in Paris by Redfern. The bodice of this gown is hip-length and worn without a corset. The skirt, kilt-pleated, is made on to the bodice and comes down to the ankles. The gown is composed of charmeuse in moutache colour, embroidered with bangle and bead trimming at the bottom of the skirt. Where the skirt fastens to the bodice is a chiffon sash with an eleven-inch bugle fringe, fastened in a soft bow on the left side. Over this is worn a cut-away coat of one thickness of material, with a two-and-a-half inch fringe of bugle trimming.

With this striking gown Miss La Rue wears a long changeable—satin mustard-coloured coat, that changes in colour from yellow to purple. It is cut like an evening cloak with Dolman sleeves and a lining of black chiffon with the purple showing through.

The startling feature of this long coat is a collar at the back formed of a tiger's head with the eyes showing, and when Miss La Rue stands with her back to the audience the heads appear to be alive and snarling. The sleeves are shirred into four-inch cuffs composed of the animals' paws with the claws bent over as ornaments. The coat is gathered at the bottom into a white band of skin to complete the striking tiger effect. This remarkable coat was made for evening wear, but it matched the gown so well that Miss La Rue decided to combine the two. The costume is topped with a picturesque tam-o-shanter of tiger skin.

A gown of white chiffon, embroidered with pink pearls in lattice-work design, with solid bugle roses, climbing up the lattice, is the first gown worn by the clever actress. The bodice is decorated with rhinestone grapevine leaves and the lattice-work comes to a point under each arm. Turkish bloomers instead of a petticoat show occasionally at the ankles.

The long coat is made of pink coral chiffon with white pearls embroidered on it in a chrysanthemum pattern.

A good model for a street gown is shown in another dress; a princess that hooks up the front, with a square-cut train pinned back to form wings; an invention of Miss La Rue's, who designs many of her own gowns. It has black and white horizontal stripes, an effect carried out in the parasol and the large black hat with a white plume.

What Miss La Rue calls her "Flame Gown" is one of the most striking of the dresses. It combines a riding habit with a princess gown and Turkish bloomers. In colour it is like the flame of a bright fire, and has a most unusual appearance.

The back is cut like a riding-habit and it is draped up on the left side. The train goes sideways. The boots form a striking part of this dress. The gown ends a little below the knee, showing Turkish bloomers heavily embroidered in silver. A very expensive hat of the same material as the dress, with silver cloth trimming and black and white osprey plumes completes the costume.

CHARLEY GRAPEWIN IN A NEW PLAY

It is not at all likely that the current theatrical season will bring in anything of greater interest than Charley Grapewin in his brand new comedy, "Above the Limit," a play that fairly scintillates with bright and breezy lines, that is chock full of fun from start to finish and yet contains an undercurrent of seriousness. The principal character is that of Jimmy Hicks, a typical rounder of the slums, with a vocabulary of slang which includes all that was ever heard on the Bowery. He meets the niece of a wealthy manufacturer and falls in love with her, but realizing that his ignorance is the one barrier that will prevent him from winning the girl he loves, he determines to gain an education. He goes abroad as manager for his brother, who is a jockey, and devotes every spare moment to books, and when he returns five years later he has succeeded in accomplishing his object. He meets the woman who has been his inspiration, and renews his suit. She, realizing the strength and manhood of the man, falls in love with him. He then proposes to the girl he loves, using excellent English. She asks him to repeat the proposal in the language he would have used five years before, and when the curtain falls he is in the midst of a proposal which is the "Hickiest" of slang.

The character Mr. Grapewin plays affords him an opportunity of displaying his clever characteristic ability, and he never fails to send it home to his audience. It takes more than a mediocre artist to handle some of the scenes. It takes a man who can do more than make an audience laugh—one who can impress upon those who go only to be amused, a feeling just a little in sympathy with the struggles of a Bowery tough to wear off the rough lines and smooth over the effects environment has builded.

One of the most pleasing and noticeable features are the scenic effects, and the three acts are masterpieces of stagecraft.

There is a Difference

Scott's Emulsion is the original Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and has been the world's standard for 35 years.

There are thousands of so-called Emulsions, but they are cheap, worthless imitations and never half as good as the standard. They are like thin milk.

Scott's Emulsion

is like thick, rich cream. It is a concentrated food-medicine of the most beneficial sort. You can make it thin with milk or water, but don't buy the thin, worthless imitations.

SPRING WEATHER FROM TEST DAY

"Did you notice Thursday, lad?" asked a respected elderly citizen of an Examiner reporter this morning. It may be explained that the said long resident is considered the unofficial weather man, whose statements as to the future are seldom in error, and who has for some time been giving little tips as to what is going to happen.

"Well, lad, the onths don't take long in flying by. It only seems like last week when we were talking about the weather for winter. You remmebr I called your attention to the east wind that was blowing on the first Thursday in winter, and if you remember rightly the worst weather we had was when you were facing an east wind. Oh! yes. We had winds from the north and west. We always will have. You know it does not mean that the wind comes from that direction all the time, but I have always found that you can take the first Thursday as an example of the general weather for the three months following."

It would not have been fair to have denied him even if he were wrong, and his judgment was based on years of experience.

"Now, we're going to ahve a pretty nice Spring, or I'm greatly mistaken. The wind was from the West, the day was bright and the Spring months should be fairly dry and warm, and generally delightful. That's the way I gathered it. We may have a spell of cold weather yet, but you mark my word it will be rather short."

The old gentleman would have his way even as the child who persisted that they were seven. None of his intimates would question him to any extent. Indeed, they accepted his knowledge and there are many others who believe in the test day of the season.

On Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock Rev. E. A. Pearson will give a lecture, illustrated with stereopticon views of Florence, Valentia, Venice and Rome. Programme of vocal instrumental solos. Admission 15c.

CHARGE WAS NOT SUSTAINED

Liquor Dealer Charged With Selling Liquor in Broken Packages at the Police Court This Morning.

WHAT DOES BROKEN MEAN?

A Simcoe St. liquor dealer was charged with selling liquor in broken packages contrary to the liquor license act, at the police court this morning. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared on behalf of the accused. No conviction was made, the prosecution failing to prove that the flask in question did not have the seal on it, when it was sold.

The Evidence.

Inspector Stewart stated that the accused was the holder of a shop license. The flask produced to him appeared to be an unbroken package.

George Thompson said that on Saturday, Feb. 26th, he purchased a flask of whiskey at the shop of the accused. He wouldn'd say whether there was a seal on t he bottle or not.

P. C. Meharry arrested the last witness on Saturday, Feb. 26th. Three bottles of whiskey were found on him. The flask produced was like one taken from the last witness. On Saturday last on serving the accused, the latter remarked that they had been selling liquor that way all along. He didn't think it was breaking the law.

The clerk in the store admitted selling liquor to Thompson. He got a flask like the one produced. Flasks of that kind were filled in the shop. He thought an unbroken package was a bottle filled and corked. Nothing else, to his mind, was required.

Mr. Howson, Inspector of Weights and Measures, stated that the half pint measure produced bore the government stampM which testified its correctness. The flask contained a little less than a half pint as witness showed in court.

Chief Roszel stated that the bottle produced was the one taken by P. C. Meharry from Thompson.

SHOT GIRL WHO HAD ELUDED HIM

Special to The Examiner (2.45 p.m.)

Winnipeg, Man. March 7.—Gus. Smith, young coloured man, well known in Toronto, attempted to murder Verna Miller, (white) also of Toronto, last night. The negro had persuaded the girl to come west with him. She ran away from him in Saskatoon, and returned to Winnipeg. Smith found her in the "Red Light" district, and shot her twice.

COULD NOT KEEP THIS SECRET

"Six months ago I was cured of piles by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment," writes Mrs. G. A. Swayze, Copenhagen, Elgin Co., Ont. "I had been afflicted for over thirty years and tried all sorts of treatments in vain, so I was surprised and delighted to be cured. I don't care for publicity but would like to tell every one suffering from piles about Dr. Chase's Ointment."

The Stock of an Art Store

is most difficult to describe. To say it is artistic, or exclusive, or select, is vague and amounts to little ; particularly when similar claims are made by many others.

Words cost nothing. It is so easy to say our stock is better, cheaper, more artistic and desirable than that of others; but such assertions are not always convincing to one of knowledge and experience.

Therefore we ask that you personally come and see what we have to offer. We shall gladly accept the verdict of your judgment. Upon this basis we ask your patronage, for by this policy we have won recognition from a discriminating and experienced clientele. But again we say, come in and see for yourself. We are supremely confident that you will not be disappointed.

PASSENGER TRAIN HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM IMMENSE SLIDE

Special to The Examiner (2.45 p.m.)

Vancouver, B.C., March 7.—Work of rescue at the scene of avalanche at Rogers Pass is being carried on with utmost vigour, and it is believed all the bodies will be recovered and the track cleared by to-night. The 600 men at work are ever in danger of other slides. Total number dead 62, of whom 37 are Japanese. The bodies will nearly all be brought to Revelstoke, where preparations are being made for a great funeral on Wednesday and Thursday.

Train No. 97, carrying over 100 persons, escaped destruction by the narrowest margin. One minute after it passed a point east of Field Station, a huge slide buried the track for 1,000 feet. The passengers are now at Field, being stalled between two slides.

SPRING IS NOT FAR AWAY WILD GEESE SEEN TO-DAY

Spring is not very far away.

To-day's weather perhaps does not suggest lighter underwear, spring hats and the young men's fancy lightly turning to thoughts of love, but just the same there are signs that gent'e Spring can't be any more than just around the corner, in any event. Lockmaster Wm. Collins this morning furnished the Examiner with an important clue, when he supplied the information that a flock of wild geese numbering a score, flew over the lock in a northwesterly direction, this morning. These harbingers of balmy weather to come "honk-honked" cheerily and bravely through the falling snow, as they headed for their haunts in the Northland. You may fool the oldest settler on the weather proposition, but it is almost impossible to slip one over on the wild goose, when it comes to sizing up the probabilities.

Last night the people of Peterborough had the somewhat unusual experience of a severe thunderstorm in early March. The electrical effects were unusually brilliant and the thunder rolled with all the vehemence that one is accustomed to associate with a sultry night in July. The storm has had the effect of changing the weather a few degrees colder, but it is not expected to last.

As for the snow this morning it is merely "sugar making" snow.

Stallion And Bull Show To Be Held On Saturday, April 30th

The committee arranging for the Stallion Show, met on Saturday afternoon, there being present Messrs. J. H. Garbutt, (chairman), R. H. Leary, Cruickshanks, Storey, Redmond, Elliott and King. It was decided to hold the show on Saturday, April 30th. The classes to be shown are Clydes, Shires or other lesser draught breeds (imported), Canadian bred Clydes, Percherons, Standard, Hackney and Thoroughbred. The pedigree must be produced to secretary Hall when making entry. Entries close at noon on date of show. The secretary w ill be at R. Denne's to receive entries.

It was moved by Mr. Leary, seconded by Mr. Redmond, that the above classes be adopted and that the prizes range five, three and two dollars, and diplomas for three year old classes. The exhibitors must be members of Peterborough Industrial Exhibition for 1910.

The classes in the bull competition are as follows: Durham, Polled Angus, Holstein, Ayrshire and Jersey. The prizes are to be five, three and two dollars and badges. Mr. C. C. Nixon, Editor of Farm and Dairy, was appointed judge of the bulls.

In the field crop competition, competitors must also be members of the Society.

Lost Two Dollar Bill And Had A Cold Bath

Search after wealth sometimes brings unsatisfactory results and a young gentleman whose connection with mail delivery and with hockey have brought him somewhat prominently into the limelight furnishes the latest illustration of the truth of this statement.

It appears that as this individual was crossing the bridge over the creek at Bethune street to-day his eagle eye detected the verdant hue of a two dollar bill firmly esconced on a cake of ice lodged in the raging waters of the creek. Now two dollars looks good at any time and so Mr. Postman climbed down from the bridge unto the ice, and reached out for the green back. Unfortunately the ice gave way just as the mail man swung himself aboard and in less time than it takes to tell it, found himself up to the neck in water, which is far from being at a blood heat temperature just now. What is worse the cake upon which rested the filthy lucre became loosened in the shuffle and sailed gaily down stream, leaving a water-soaked individual, who sadly hummed to himself as he crawled out of the water: "If Money Talks All it Says to Me is Good-bye."

OTHER UNIONS OUT

Special to The Examiner (2.45 p.m.)

Washington, D.C., March 7th.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labour, has been called to Chicago, for a conference with the National Labour leaders, with a view, it is reported, to calling a general strike of street car men in Pittsburg, Cleveland, Omaha and San Francisco and thus making the strike a national issue. Not only will the proposed general strike affect the street car men, but the central labour union and other labour bodies in Pittsburg, Cleveland, Omaha and San Francisco also it is stated will be asked to join in the demonstration.

NEIGHBOURS HEARD REVOLVER SHOTS

Out at the west end of King street five shots were fired last night, with a slight pause between the first and second, the rest in quick succession. It did not seem to be from a house on King street, and the man who related the incident to the Examiner was at a loss to explain the reason for it, or from what direction the sound had come. The shots were heard about nine o'clock, after the storm's cannonade, and in the immediate neighbourhood rang out sharp and clear. Persons ran out doors thinking the worst but nothing serious has been learned in the meantime. The affair remained as much in the dark as it was last night and undoubtedly as inconsequential.

HOUSE HIT BY LIGHTNING

Home of Mr. EdWard Dunford, of Douro, Totally Destroyed in Last Night's Storm.

Special to The Examiner.

Lakefield, Ont., March 7.—During a terrific thunder storm last night the house of Edward Dunford, a farmer living about a mile out in the township of Douro, was struck by lightning and totally destroyed. Part of the contents were saved. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

Quaker Oats Company Buy Land Opposite Their Mill Owned by Mr. Alex. Dawson, East City.

FOR NEW SIDINGS

The Quaker Oats Company has purchased the Dawson property opposite the mills on the West side of the railway track. This property was owned by Mr. Alex. Dawson, Dufferin St., East City, and comprises the house at present occupied by Mr. H. Newton, also lots on both the East and West sides of the house.

Mr. W. H. Denham, superintendent of the local mills, stated to the Examiner to-day that it was the intention of the Company to utilize the newly-acquired property for the construction of new railway sidings.

PREVENTION IS WORTH WHILE.

When you consider the risk to life, the expense, the anxiety which is involved in an attack of appendicitis and a surgical operation, it is certainly worth while to avoid it by keeping the liver and bowels regular by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Doctors are now unanimously of the opinion that appendicitis comes from neglect to keep the liver and bowels in a healthful condition.

SPECTACLES Should be Changed

Frequently people will get spectacles which suit them, and then go on wearing them for years without having their sight tested to discover whether anychange has taken place. This is wrong. All who wear glasses should have their eyes tested at intervals, even if the necessity for such be not apparent to them. As a general rule, spectacles for close work require changing about every three years, but it is desirable that the sight should be carefully tested every 2 years.

HAVE EYES TESTED AT INTERVALS

When you feel uneasy in your spectacles, don't hesitate to call and see us.

THE LURE OF THE WEST.

The Canadian West is still the lure of the land-seeker. During the month of January last the total of homestead entries was 2,700, an increase of 100 per cent. over the figures of January, 1909, indicating a great inpour of immigrants—land tillers, not mere prospectors of fortune. Almost every entry means at once, or in the near future, an addition of about 2,000 bushels to the total wheat production; so that, if immigration keeps up at the rate of last year, and production of wheat is proportionate, it will not be many years before the western output of wheat will reach the 500 million bushel mark. The quality of these homestead entries is good, too. Of the 2,700 mentioned, 761 are Canadians, and 43 Canadians come home from the United States; 935 of these are Yankee cousins; 331 are English; 97 are Scotch; 29 Irish, and 513 belong to other nationalities. There has been a fear that our Canadian immigration would be too heterogeneous to be wholesome, too largely composed of people of inferior races. But the above table shows that there is a leavening predominance of the Anglo-Saxon strain. There is, however, reason to fear that undesirable social and moral conditions will arise in a mixed population, unless active means are taken to prosecute a propaganda of assimilation. The new districts opened will be destitute of religious and educational influences, very few homesteaders bring a chaplain with them and even those addicted to piety from lack of facilities for the observance of its practices, will develop carelessness, not to speak of the unreligious character of others of the new comers. Under these circumstances the Canadian churches have their work as well as their duty, plainly indicated. While missionary enterprise is always commendable it is especially so when it can be made to serve, in conjunction with religious interest, great national interests.

PARTIZAN TO THE HILT.

The Conservative members of the special committee, appointed by Parliament to investigate Mr. Lumsden's charges of overclassification of rock in connection with Transcontinental Railway construction, have done their best to burk an investigation, they professed to be so anxious to obtain. The reasons for this course of action, so far as the political moves of the Opposition are influenced by reason, are not far to seek. At the very first meeting of the special committee Mr. Lumsden admitted that he made no charges of bad faith or wrong doing on the part of the engineers, in whom he said he had lost confidence, and that the matters at issue were practically questions of engineering differences of opinion. This admission destroyed the hopes of the Opposition to make the expected and wished-for political capital out of the investigation. At the second meeting Mr. Lennox, the leader of the bolters, declared frankly that the Conservative members of the committee brought partizan feelings to the investigation. This was a statement not open to serious dispute; especially when it was supplemented by the statement of the Conservative members of the committee, that they would withdraw, unless, contrary to all precedent and parliamentary principle, they, the minority, were allowed to supplement and strengthen their admitted partizanship by appointing a partizan lawyer of their own selection. They were so wedded to this idea that they rejected the nomination of Mr. Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., ex-judge of the Supreme Court. Although a Conservative, Mr. Nesbitt was suggested by the Liberal members of the committee, because he is one of the most eminent members of the bar in the Dominion, one of the ablest and one of the fairest, who could not afford to besmirch his reputation by anything like a partizan bias in the conduct of an investigation on behalf of his fellow citizens, the people of Canada. Hopeless of making political capital, by discrediting the Government through the medium of investigation, the Conservative members of the committee, sought to attain the same object by refusing to act and posing as political martyrs, because their proposal to add to the confessed partizan attitude they assumed, by allowing them to select a partizan counsel, was not acceded to. Now, the committee has no other course open to it but to continue the investigation; because it is stated by the Conservatives that no other members of the party will consent to take the places of the bolting members. This shows that their action was not the result of personal pique, but the deliberate policy of the party in the House. This policy may or may not have been endorsed by Mr. Borden, the leader; for it is painfully palpable that his approval or disapproval has not much influence when his followers think it proper to take any course of political policy that their unregulated partizanship suggests. Partizanship, as a basis of policy, is incompatible with true patriotism.

CANADA'S INDEPENDENCE.

During the naval debate, or perhaps more correctly, oratorical debauch, we have been regaled with plentiful, if more or less veiled charges of separation and independence thrown flippantly across the gangway in the midst of the government party. It has been especially charged that Sir Wilfrid's naval policy is intended as a step towards the independence of Canada and separation from the British Empire The idea is as preposterous and impossible as that of Great Britain's separation from the Empire. Canada enjoys a large measure of independence, but she is as much an integral part of the empire as she was in the days when our domestic business was done, and very badly done, too, in Downing street, This independence is practically demonstrated in many ways. Canada directly negotiated the treaty with France and we have at Ottawa at the present moment two emissaries from the United States, sent by Uncle Sam's government to negotiate with Canada the basis of mutually satisfactory trade relations. And these negotiations are being conducted on our side by Canadian ministers, without the consent, asked or given, of the British government, and without its knowledge, except possibly that gained through the press. Great Britain as a government also acknowledges our independence—within the Empire—in a less negative way. The last issue of the Canada Gazette contains a despatch from Lord Crewe to Earl Grey, giving the detail of an extradition treaty concluded between Great Britain and France and Tunis. Lord Crewe in the note accompanying the despatch, calls the particular attention of the Governor-General of Canada to the proviso at the end of the order-in-council, in regard to the Dominion of Canada, which contains the condition that Canada shall not be bound by the terms of the treaty, without the consent of the government and parliament; another prosaic concession of the poetic fact: "Daughter am I in my mother's house, but mistress in my own." And it becomes the duty of some of the jingo members of the Conservative Opposition in the House—hysterical flag flappers, "more loyal than the green'—to discipline Lord Crewe and the British government as separationers. This latest recognition of Canada's right to self government in affairs that pertain to herself, is strengthened, by the "separationist," London Times. The Times has had the audacity to approve of the naval bill of the Laurier government and to endorse the "disloyal" provision that the Canadian navy may not leave Canadian waters even in case of war without the consent of the Canadian government and Canadian parliament. Regarding this the Times says:

"In principle the proposition is indisputable. It applies to all and every form of co-operation of contribution towards Imperial defence."

What more practical rebuke could be given to the puerile policy of the Conservative opposition in Parliament, who in default of any logically tenable argument against the naval bill, take refuge in contradictory policies and slander and libel of the loyalty of their political opponents. It is not uncharitable to suggest that the opposition themelves do not believe in these makeshift, substitute policies, but they see no other way to make any political capital out of the situation. After committing such absurdities in regard to the naval bill one is not surprised at their child's play in connection with the Lumsden committee of inquiry, pretty plain evidence, that hopeless of making any political capital out of the Lumsden charges, they felt that a little buncombe "business" might answer as a substitute. Apparently the Conservatives at Ottawa like being in opposition; at least they very effectually antagonize any possible desire on the part of the people to relieve them of its responsibility.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The New York Mail prints the estimate that the value of the "United States" exports of men to Canada last year, was equivalent to 450 million dollars. We don't know how the Mail reaches its figures, but it is certain that 100,000 United States settlers in Canada last year brought in cash and effects the large sum of 90 million dollars, an amount nearly equal to the total revenue of the Dominion.

Kidney Troubles Attack Peterborough Men and Women, Old and Young.

Kidney ills seize young and old.
Come quickly with little warning.
Children suffer in their early years,
Can't control the kidney secretions.
Girls are languid, nervous, suffer pain.
Women worry, can't do daily work.
Men have lame and aching backs.
The cure for man, woman or child.
Is to cure the cause—the kidneys.
Booth's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.
Cure all forms of kidney suffering.
Peterborough testimony proves it.

Mrs. A. Graham, of 547 Water St., Peterborough, Ont., says: "My back was so weak and tender that I could not turn in bed. A heavy dull pain had settled across the small of it and caused me almost constant suffering. I became weak and languid. I was run down generally and had little ambition to move around. Headaches were frequent and often accompanied by spells of dizziness. Spots would dazzle before my eyes and I would be unable to see. I had tried numerous remedies without getting results. Booth's Kidney Pills were advertised at Wm. Madill's Pharmacy, which I tried and soon found relief. The kidneys were quickly regulated and each symptom of kidney trouble was quickly cured. I am glad to recommend Booth's Kidney Pills as I believe them to be the best and most reliable of all kidney remedies."

Brakeman May Die.

Galt, March 7.—James Philips, of London, brakeman on the C.P.R., and unmarried, met with a probably fatal accident yesterday morning.

He was on top of the caboose of a freight, when, in applying the brakes, he slipped from the car. At Galt hospital he was found to have several fractured ribs, one of which pierced his lung, rendering his chances of recovery slim.

Big Fire In Boston.

Boston, March 7.—The heart of the wool district of Boston was seriously threatened by a spectacular blaze on Saturday night, which called out nearly the entire city's department on five alarms, and destroyed the New England building at 200 Summer street, opposite the South Station. The loss is estimated at half a million dollars.

Dog Shot at Port Hope.

Port Hope, March 7.—A mad dog was killed yesterday on the outskirts of the town, near the cemetery.

The collie was seen running wild Saturday, and a party with firearms immediately gave chase. The canine ran across the west side of the town, but bit no one so far as can be learned. The head was sent to Toronto.

McGill Students on a Tear.

Montreal, March 7.—After painting the town red Friday night, a crowd of McGill students burst into the Colonial Lunch on St. Catharine street west, at 2 o'clock Saturday morning, and in the course of their jollifications did $150 damage. One was arrested.

Ownership of the Air.

Berlin, Germany, March 7.—The Kaiser is greatly worried lest airships of foreign nations—France, particularly—soar over Germany's mightiest forts, and study the armament.

The Emperor summoned Councillor Koettzen, of the Ministry of Justice, before him, and had him elucidate on a man's right to the air over his own property.

Councillor Koettzen, the greatest specialist on the international aspect of aeronautics, dealt, too, with the question as to what international arrangements can be made to prevent airships from cruising over the fortresses of other nations.

Councillor Koettzen said that dirigible balloons and aeroplanes have reached such a stage of development, that an international law governing their flight is absolutely imperative.

Zeppelin's Bold Enterprise.

Hamburg, Germany, March 8.—The Zeppelin north polar exploration committee met here Saturday under the presidency of Prince Henry of Prussia. Count Zeppelin, Prof. Hergesel and Prof. Ewald were among those present. The committee discussed the program of the summer's work, which will be devoted to a preliminary expedition to study ice conditions. The Government will be asked for the use of the exploring vessel Poseidond for about two months.

The expedition will start for Spitzbergen July 1 on an excursion steamer, and there will transfer to the Poseidond. A Norwegian ice steamer will be used to force an entrance into the polar ice, and the expedition will return at the end of August.

Apparently no airship will be taken for summer use.

Tried to Poison Minister.

Trenton, N.S., March 7.—Dr. Raymond B. FitsRandolph, director of the State Laboratory, has reported to the Arlington Board of Health that he has found enough arsenic on rolls delivered to Rev. A. J. Voeglin, of this place, to kill forty-eight persons.

The unusual powder on the rolls had excited the clergyman's suspicion and he called on the health authorities for an analysis.

It is declared that a former parishioner of Dr. Voeglin had threatened his life because the parishioner's wife had left him.

To Revise Greek Constitution.

Athens, Greece, March 7.—Mons. Dragoumis, the Premier, had a long audience with the King Saturday, during which the monarch expressed himself thoroughly pleased with the vote authorising the Government to proceed with the revision of the constitution.

As a result, although not officially announced, it may be taken as certain that His Majesty will himself read the royal edict in the chamber, which meets the last day of the session—about March 20—in solemn sitting.

War In Telephone Rates.

Cleveland, O., March 7.—Directors of the United States Telephone Co., the Morgan independent long distance concern, decided late Saturday to wage a rate war against all competitors.

It is reported that all officers originally named by James Brayley, jr., have resigned connection with the company.

PEOPLE'S PULPIT.

Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

Doctrines of Christ vs. Doctrines of Men

Whosoever will do the will of My Father which is in heaven shall know of My doctrine. Ye do make void the law of God through your traditions—the traditions of the ancients (John vii, 17; Mark vii, 13; I. Peter i, 18).

Brooklyn Tabernacle, March 6.—Pastor Russell preached twice here to-day. His discourse on "Inferno" was delivered in Brooklyn's largest Auditorium, the Academy of Music, which was overcrowded. It was estimated in advance that this subject would draw a larger crowd than the Tabernacle would accommodate. The other meetings of the day were held in the Tabernacle. We report Pastor Russell's discourse from the text foregoing, as follows:

It is difficult to please everybody. The duty of a Christian minister is to seek chiefly to please the Lord. "Let the words of my mouth and the meditations of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength and my Redeemer" (Psalm xix, 14). Our ministerial friends seem to be annoyed because we preach the "doctrines" of Christ. In substance, their sentiment is: Brother Russell, Do you not know that in the fashionable topics of our day doctrines are tabooed by the great ministers of all denominations? Instead, as you perceive from the newspaper announcements, it is now quite the thing to discuss political, scientific and sociological doctrines. You should give the public lectures on subjects like these: Social Democracy; Rapid Transit in Brooklyn, from the text, "Many shall run to and fro;" Female Suffrage; the Boys' Brigade; The Best Novel of the Year; The Narrow Way of the Bicycle Rider; Will the Comet Sweep the Earth With Its Tail; Can Football Survive, etc.; or occasionally, for effect, gently rake the rich on better housing for the poor, or belabor the Trusts for soaring prices of food. Such topics as these, Brother Russell, interest the Christian public in our day. And the public constitute our principal congregations when we lift our largest collections. The only people who will be interested in the doctrines you are preaching are the old foxy, out-of-date folk, and you will find the majority of them poor in this world's riches. For pity's sake stop teaching the "doctrines of Christ"! Doctrines were good enough in the days of Jesus and Paul and Calvin and Luther and Wesley, but the people are not accustomed to them nowadays.

I have no fault to find with my Christian brethren in the ministry of the various denominations. It is not to me, but to the Lord, that they must give an account of their stewardship—of their grand opportunities for declaring the Gospel of Christ. To their own Master they must stand or fall. It is not for me to forbid them because they follow not with us. It is for each one who stands as an ambassador of Christ and of God to follow his own convictions faithfully. Besides, I am assured that many of them are loyal to the core.

It is my understanding that, as a minister of the Gospel, I should take for my guide in this matter the instructions of my ordination. Like St. Paul my ordination to preach the Gospel was from the Lord. I must preach the message which I believe he has given me (I. Timothy ii, 7). As his ambassador I must preach the Word, following the example of the Lord and the Apostles. As they avoided politics, so must I. As they avoided vain philosophy and "science falsely so called," so must I. As they preached the doctrines of Christ, so must I—whether men hear or forbear to hear. I remember the words of St. Paul to Timothy: "Preach the Word, . . . with all long-suffering and doctrine. For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own preferences they shall gather teachers to themselves; having itching ears they shall turn away their ears from the Truth and shall be turned unto fables" (II. Timothy iv, 2-4).

There must be a reason why Christian preachers and their hearers have abandoned the study of the "Doctrines of Christ" set forth by the Apostles and Prophets. Is it not because they no longer believe those doctrines? Is it not true that the College and Seminary Professors have led the majority of the ministry afar into unbelief in the Bible, and that these ministers are gradually leading their confiding flocks into other "pastures green" than those which the Great Shepherd and His appointed mouthpieces, the Apostles, approved? Is not the Higher-Criticism infidelity of the colleges gradually penetrating even into the Sunday School Lessons and even into the High Schools of our land—undermining all faith in God's Book? But what led to this departure from the Word of God—into Higher-Criticism infidelity and into the Evolution theory, which makes void the Word of God; and into Christian Science, which puts a premium on falsehood; and into Theosophy and Spiritism, the deceptions of the fallen angels—demonism? How comes it that all these unscriptural theories now flourish, whereas only a century ago God's Word was respected and its doctrines were studied by Christian people of various and conflicting creeds? The answer is that with the increasing light of our day the creeds of the past are seen to be fallacious, irrational, by all who use their thinking apparatus. The leaders in the various Churches discovered this in advance of their flocks. They promptly and reverently set their creeds on a high shelf where the people might not so particularly notice their flaws, but might continue their reverence for them, until gradually their attention would be drawn aside and their hope and faith transplanted to Evolutionary soil or Theosophistic and Spiritualistic child's play.

With the decline of Christian doctrines, including heart union with Christ and an understanding of its terms and conditions, Churchianity came in, to take the place of Christianity. To-day the pride of all denominations centres, not in their doctrines, but in their institutions. The people are no longer exhorted to hold fast to the doctrines of Methodism, Calvinism, etc., but to hold fast to the System. They are no longer encouraged to think of their system as being the only one, outside of which there would be no salvation, but they are encouraged to cultivate a partisan spirit, which takes pride in their organization, its wealth, the value of its church property, the largeness of its collections, the grandeur of its music, the wisdom, learning and ability of its preachers, and the fashion and wealth of its constituency.

It is not our wish to offer a single unkind or unbrotherly criticism. It is our duty and privilege, however, to point out that the creed doctrines of the various denominations, now set on the shelf as too frail and imperfect to stand handling and investigation, are not and never were the doctrines of Christ and the Apostles. It is our duty and pleasure to show forth to Christian people to the extent of our ability that the teachings of the Bible, the doctrines of Christ, are grand, noble, reasonable, "worthy of all acceptation." To the extent that we succeed in doing this we are bringing back straying Christians from the deceptive bogs of Evolution and Higher-Criticism to the firm foundation, the solid rock of Truth—God's Word.

"Faithful are the wounds of a friend" is the Divine assurance. We cannot, therefore, better show our friendship and Christian love to our brethren than by pulling down from the shelf their reverenced creeds and allowing them to fall in pieces beyond repair. If every church could be thus induced to pull down its creed-idol, the present Laodicean stage of the Church would speedily come to its senses, as suggested by our Lord. Then, instead of feeling themselves rich and increased in goods and having need of nothing, our dear Christian brethren of all denominations would realize the meaning of our Lord's words—that Churchianity as a whole to-day is poor and naked and miserable and wretched and blind (Revelation iii, 14-22). As Christians of all denominations we have cause of rejoicing that we have outgrown the trundle-bed creeds of the past and that we can no longer wrap ourselves comfortably in the narrow bigotry of error. The Lord caused this to be written in the long-ago through the prophets, saying, "For the bed is shorter than that a man can stretch himself on it; and the covering narrower than that he can wrap himself in it" (Isaiah xxviii, 20). If in connection with this growth which has come to us and by which we have nobler conceptions than had our forefathers of the rights of man under the Golden Rule, it is a cause for rejoicing. Even though the transition has been accompanied by a great falling away into Higher-Criticism, Infidelity, Evolution, etc., nevertheless even these errors are in many respects preferable to the blindness and bigotry. Happy are we, dear friends, if, the eyes of our understanding being opened, our hearts are led to a closer walk with God, a more careful and prayerful study of his Word, and to a subsequent growth in grace and in the fruits of the holy Spirit.

Do some inquire for clearer specification respecting the features of the creeds put upon the shelf, which we think should be no longer cared for, but allowed to fall? We answer that of course there are good features in all of our creeds—truths which will never fail. But with these truths are mixed the errors which are, as the Proverb says, "Dead flies (that) cause the ointment to stink" (Ecclesiastes x, 1). There is plenty more of the ointment in God's Word. It is indeed the "balm of Gilead" and pure—without the corroding fly of error. This is what we all want, whatsoever our denominational name, and the sooner we get it the better for us, for the Cause and for "the brethren," whom we love to serve.

I give an illustration: Those of us who are Calvinistic may well hold fast to some of the precious Scripture teachings so long revered, but we want to cast out quickly and effectively the gross error which teaches that all the non-elect, instead of having hope for a blessing through "the elect," are to be everlastingly tormented. Those of us who are Arminian in doctrine have much that is precious, but need also to cast away from us the thought that our loving Heavenly Father is merely good-intentioned and lacks the power, the ability, to make his benevolent desires effective towards any except a small handful of humanity. Our Disciple friends should cast aside the thought contained in their teachings that only the water-immersed experience forgiveness of sins and reconciliation to God and salvation from eternal torment. Similarly those of us who are Baptists, while holding to the precious truths which so long have comforted and strengthened us, should insist now on casting away as unscriptural and irrational the thought that has long perplexed us, namely, that no others than the water-immersed could be members of the Church of Christ heirs of glory, and be saved from damnation. Once we get these absurdities removed, not only from our heads and hearts, but also from our professions, we shall be ready and anxious to have the doctrines of Christ on these subjects. Then we will search the Word and have God's blessing in finding its harmonies. "He that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened" (Matthew vii, 8). But so long as we hold to the fallacies how can we seek or pray for or find the Truth?

The word doctrine signifies teaching. The doctrines of Christ, therefore, are the teachings of Christ; the doctrines of men, the teachings of men. What the Church needs to-day is, to receive into good and honest hearts afresh the doctrines of Jesus and the Apostles—allowing these to displace the doctrines which Christendom now holds but disesteems, and which were formulated in a time of less light than the present. Instead, therefore, of discouraging each other in respect to the study of the doctrines of Christ, we should, as Christians, become more earnest in the study every day, hoping and expecting that in the wonderful light of our time God would be able to make clear to our understanding the harmonious interpretations of his Word. We should study to find the relationship between Election and Free Grace. We should clearly understand what is meant by baptism and what kind of baptism is necessary for our induction into the Body of Christ as members. On every line we should be looking for the harmonies, instead of rejoicing in the errors which have long divided us into hundreds of sects and parties.

However, in some respects sectarian energy is better than federated death. Might we not even say that if all the creeds were dashed to pieces and each Christian stood forth unshackled as respects denominational bonds, the result would be a great improvement so far as individual thought, study, and relationship to God would be concerned? In a word, each Christian should have his own creed, his individual faith; and none should do more or less than to assist his mind to a full understanding of the Word of the Lord in respect to every subject.

All doctrines which cannot show a foundation and full authority in the teaching of Jesus and the Apostles and Prophets, are doctrines of men. The teachings from above come to us through heaven-appointed channels. The jargon which prevails in Christendom in respect to Christian doctrines proves that they are of human origin. The Scriptures alone furnish to us the doctrines of Christ.

Briefly stated they declare, "To us there is one God, the Father, and one Lord, Jesus Christ" (I. Corinthians viii, 6). To us there is one Holy Spirit; to us there is "one Church of the Living God, whose names are written in heaven"; to us there is "one Lord and one faith and one baptism; one God and Father of all" (Ephesians iv, 4-6). However impossible these statements may have appeared during the "dark ages," they are no longer so. The light of Divine Truth is now shining. God has not only put into our possession wonderful Bibles, and wonderful helps for Bible-study, but has also given us the ability to read, to study the Word critically. And he is pleased now to assure us through the prophet that we are living in the time when "the wise shall understand" the "mystery hidden from past ages and dispensations," which could not be understood previously without working an interference with God's eternal purposes.

What, then, dear friends, shall we do? Shall we float on ingloriously, daily, hourly coming closer and closer to the great cataclysm which is swallowing up so many now in infidelity, called Higher-Criticism? Or shall we accept God's Helping Hand, the doctrines of Christ, and know the Truth and be made free from the error and be brought into fellowship with our Redeemer on the highest plane? Let us, as the "wise virgins" of our Lord's parable, wake from sleep and trim our lamps, and, in the light thereof, see God's wonderful riches of glory as they stand revealed on the threshold of the New Dispensation—the Millennial reign of Christ!

In conclusion: Our Lord admonishes us along the lines of this discourse as follows: "I counsel thee to buy of me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich, and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear; and anoint thine eyes with eye salve, that thou mayest see" (Revelation iii, 18).

To Be DYSPEPTIC Is To Be MISERABLE.

Dyspepsia is the prevailing malady of civilized life. It is largely due to gross errors in diet, over-eating, too free indulgence in stimulants and over-taxing the stomach with indigestible food, eating too rapidly without chewing the food sufficiently, indulging in hot biscuits, pastry, pickles, confectionery, etc.

Burdock Blood Bitters has an established reputation, extending over thirty-four years, as a positive cure for dyspepsia in all its forms, and from all diseases arising from it.

Can Eat Anything Now.

Mrs. Herman Dickanson, Benton, N.B., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters and find that few medicines can give such relief in dyspepsia and stomach troubles. I was troubled for a number of years with dyspepsia and could get no relief until I tried Burdock Blood Bitters. I took three bottles and became cured and I can now eat anything without it hurting me. I will highly recommend it to all who are troubled with stomach trouble."

FRITZI SCHEFF A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Forced to Leave Her Company—Fainted After First Act in Detroit.

Deroit, Mich., March 5.—Fritzi Scheff, leading lady in the "Prima Donna," now playing at the Detroit Opera House, has gone to New York and will not return to Detroit to finish her engagement.

When Mme. Scheff fainted after the first act Tuesday night her understudy, Miss Alleen Hodgson, was put on and went through with the play. Last night the leading lady herself appeared at the theatre, but left suddenly a few minutes later and returned to her apartments in the Pontchartrain hotel.

When the play was about half over the announcement was made by the management that Miss Hodgson had made such a hit that she would continue in the stellar role for the balance of the week in Detroit.

Mme. Scheff, it was said, was suffering from nervous breakdown. She was attended by Dr. P. C. McEwen, who remained with her until she left the hotel.

Mme. Scheff's indisposition is regarded in theatrical circles as due to something more than illness, notwithstanding a denial by her manager.

New York, March 4.—Tired and jaded Fritzi Scheff, who, in private life, is Mrs. John Fox, Jr., reached the Plaza Hotel last night. Mme. Scheff emphatically denied the report that she had left the company because of a misunderstanding with Mr. Dillingham. Mr. Dillingham also said that the singer and he are on excellent terms.

Mr. Roth, her business manager, who accompanied Mme. Scheff from Detroit, said a nervous breakdown, caused by excitement and fatigue, of twenty weeks' travelling in the West and upon the coast, made it necessary for Mme. Scheff to come to New York.

PROMISES GOOD FOR MAPLE SAP FLOW

Weather up to Present Has Been Ideal, So the Farmers Say.

A few more weeks and the farmers, at least a fortunate few of them, will be at work in sugar maple groves engaged in what to city folks appears to be a most enjoyable outing. The bright sunhine of the past few days and the night frosts combine for a copious flow of sap and from the news that could be secured on Saturday last the weather augurs ideal conditions. It is hoped that the same brand will be dealt out in the near future when the season actually begins. With an abundance of maple syrup the farmers will hardly have the nerve to increase the price beyond last year's figures.

"WHY BE SO THIN?"

Thinness is Embarrassing, Unhealthy and Not Natural—Formula Now Used Which Adds From One to Three Pounds a Week.

Every one ought to have some extra flesh on the bony structure of the body, both for the sake of health and self-esteem.

Most thin people are sensitive to the harsh, unfeeling criticisms which are constantly being hurled at them by the more fortunate well-figured persons.

Every one pities a thin, bony horse, but horses don't know it—while thin people are both pitied and ridiculed. It ought not to be so, but it is.

A well-rounded figure, be it man or woman, excites admiration; not only for the figure but for the bright eyes, pink cheeks, red lips, and vigorous nourished body.

Strength, health, beauty, and sound flesh abound, if the blood and nerves get enough nourishment out of the food eaten.

This prescription aids nature; helps absorption, digestion and assimilation; helps distribute the blood and nerve elements which make sound flesh. Get the ingredients and make it at home, and see how very fast you gain in weight.

In a half-pint bottle, obtain three ounces of essence of pepsin, three ounces syrup of rhubarb. Then add one ounce compound essence cardiol, shake and let stand two hours; then add one ounce tincture cadomene compound, (not cardamom). Shake well and take a teaspoonful before meals and one after meals. Also drink plenty of water between meals and when retiring. Weigh yourself before beginning.

WORKING IN FEAR OF ANOTHER SLIDE

Rescue Parties Cannot Make Much Progress in Exploring Cars Buried in Snow.

Wellington, Wn., March 7.—All the bodies of the victims of the Wellington disaster will not be recovered for a month, according to a statement made by Superintendent O'Neill to-day. The great tree trunks that were carried down by the snow are entangled with the wreckage of the cars and other equipment make it difficult to get to the bodies. Frequently when an opening is made in the side of a car the snow rushes into the hole and retards the work of rescue.

As soon as the railway line is opened to the outside world, which will be within eight or ten days, wrecking derricks can be sent to the scene and the trees and other debris cleared away with greater facility. The list of forty-eight bodies so far recovered is expected to be materially augmented to-day. There still remain thirty-three bodies of passengers and railroad men and those of an unascertained number of labourers in the snow tomb.

The danger of a second slide is imminent. The snow behind the hotel is as high as the roof, and entrance is gained through a tunnel of snow from the front.

KILLED IN STORM ON THE ATLANTIC

Passenger on Empress of Britain Died as Result of Injuries—Vessel Struck by Giant Wave.

Halifax, N.S., March 7.—The Empress of Britain arrived Friday night with 1,500 passengers, several of whom were at once despatched to St. Mary's Hospital. They were injured during the terrible stormy weather, which the big liner encountered during the trip across.

On Wednesday a giant wave swept over the ship and hurled a number of the steerage passengers to the decks. One man, E. Sames, was fatally hurt, dying in two hours. Another had his leg broken, and a half dozen more were painfully bruised.

PETERBOROUGH ONE OF THE SIX CITIES

The Management of "The Grand" Fortunate in Booking Grace La Rue in the New Comic Opera, "Molly May"

This is one of the six cities in which Grace La Rue will give single performances of "Molly May," the Edwards' and Browne comic opera, in which she is now appearing with immense success. At the conclusion of this week she goes to New York where she will enter on a run which, judging by her success elsewhere, should be of long duration. With Miss La Rue will be seen here identically the same company that has lent material assistance in making "Molly May," the substantial success that it is. This, the latest of Julian Edwards operas, will receive its initial local presentation on Tuesday (to-morrow) night, March 8.

WHERE IS MR. CROSBY?

Are Both of Halifax's Members Against The Navy?

Halifax, March 4.—In addition to being bombarded with protests from the Quebec Conservatives against the Francophobia of some of his supporters, Mr. Borden appears to have been deserted by his colleague, Mr. A. B. Crosby, M.P., for Halifax. Mr. Crosby has been in Halifax for more than a fortnight, and it has been openly stated in the press that he is trying to dodge the vote on the naval bill. Mr. Crosby was the member who led the singing of the National Anthem after Mr. Borden's speech, proposing the gift of the price of two Dreadnoughts, but it has since dawned upon him that it would be suicidal for him to vote against the Government proposals, which mean so much to Halifax. Hence his determination to dodge the vote, and to leave his leader in the lurch.

At a meeting of the council of the Board of Trade yesterday afternoon the advisability of taking action with a view to further advocating the claims of Halifax in connection with the naval proposals of the Government was considered in view of the fact that Messrs. Borden and Crosby, representatives of Halifax in the House of Commons, are both opposed to the Government's programme. It was decided, however, that as the Board of Trade, at a largely attended quarterly meeting, held on Oct. 28th, 1909, had already placed itself on record, no further action was required at this time. The resolution adopted by the Board of Trade on that occasion contained the following:

"Resolved, that we approve of the projected scheme of establishing naval bases and ship-building yards in Canada, commending to the Dominion Government, the unrivalled advantages (in port equipment, fortifications, accessibility and geographical position) of Halifax harbour as a location for works of this character, and also presenting the strong claims of the people of Nova Scotia, historically identified with marine interests and marine pursuits, to consideration in connection with any Government proposals for the establishment of such works."

TO BUILD NEW CHURCH

At a meeting of the Charlotte Street Methodist church held on Friday, a committee was appointed with a view of making arrangements for better and increased accommodation for the congregation. The church is considering the adivisagality of tearing down the old building and erecting a new edifice on the present site. Other members favour the purchase of a new site and the erection thereon of a church sufficiently large to accomodate the congregation which is now sadly in need of a more commodious church. The comittee will consider the whole atter, and will report in the near future as to what they will recomend.

FARMERS WANT A LITTLE MORE SNOW

Fall Wheat in Danger From Frost and Fall of Snow Would Protect it.

According to the statements of one of their number, the farmers are not over pleased with the weather. They are telling the weather man to keep his foot on the soft pedal for awhile, and are really afraid that too much of a good thing is worse than none at all. The little fear that has been expressed since Old Sol smiled so benignly, is that the fall wheat will suffer. "It would be all right if this were the first of April," said a farmer this morning, "but this fine weather has come about two or three weeks too early." It would be something unusual anyway if the farmers were all satisfied, but in this case they seem to have a good reason for their complaint. The snow has disappeared as if by magic during the past week and the fall wheat is unprotected. The farmers, therefore, are hoping for a return of the snow until the winter has entirely gone.

1400 PASSENGERS ON THE HESPERIAN

Many Crossed With the Intention of Taking up Farm Work.

William Payne reported at the local immigration office this morning with a view to taking up farm work in his district. He arrived in the city his morning on a special train from Montreal, having crossed on the 'Hesperian". About 1,400 made the passage, an unusually rough one, sea sickness playing havoc with a large number. Many of the men intended to go west in the hope of being hired on farms, having been told that the West offered grand opportunities. One of the passengers on the Hesperian died and was buried at sea.

CANADIAN CLUB ON MONDAY NIGHT

Mr. J. P. Downey, M.P.P., Will be the Speaker at the Third Meeting.

The third meeting of the Canadian Club will be held in the National Hotel on Monday evening next at 8 o'clock, when Mr. J. P. Downey, M. P.P., will give an address. His subject has not yet been announced, but a notification in this regard will be made in a few days. The meetings of the club this year have been most successful in every particular. The speakers have been most capable, and the attendance in each case was very encouraging. The officers hope to see a continuance of the interest that has been manifested during the present season. Mr. Downey requires no introduction and whatever his subject may be it will certainly be well worth hearing.

A SURE SIGN OF SPRING

In the spring the young man's fancy used to turn to thoughts of love; now it turns to ball and swatstick, catcher's mitt and fielder's glove

Though the snow is on the diamond and the outfield's clad in white, he's already doping out the chances for the pennant fight.

For the players all are hiking to the training camps and springs, tuning up their batting optics, thawing out their frozen wings.

Oh, I'm sighing, softly sighing, to behold once more the scene, where the white-robed biff-stick artists gambol lightly on the green.

Trooping, trooping to the ballyard, how I love to see the crowd piling, jostling through the entrance, laughing long and shouting loud.

Oh, to sit upon the bleachers in a battered old straw hat; oh, to listen to the music of the ball against the bat.

Oh, to hear the rising murmur and the rooter's lusty call as the umpire softly hollers "Batteees," and then "Play Ball!"

Yes, I love the dear old ball-game, and it's there I would hike, when the batter stamps and cusses, while the umpire chortles "Stri-ike."

* * * * * * * * * * * * *

Comes a voice from out the bleachers, "Say, yer bat is full of holes," or another, "Tell that catcher he'd make good at shovelling coals!"

"Hey, you with the ugly mug there, you remind me of a pup; where's yer muzzle?" "Spike him, Kelly!" "Gee, the pitcher's goin' up."

How I love to see the swatter knock the fence down with a thump, while I slake my thirst with pop and throw the bottle at the ump.

Give me but a bag of peanuts and a seat behind first base, and with him who sits behind the plate I would not change my place.

I do not care a continental what the pitcher's got, the curves and drops and vapor floats my interest capture not.

I only want to see the ball go chasing to the sky; I only want to hear the fans rise on their legs and cry;

I only want to yell and shout and ease my mind a bit by pounding on my neighbour's head whenever there's a hit.

And I follow not the de tails of the tabulated score; I'm rooter pure and simple, only this and no thing more. BRUCE.

THE HOME JOURNAL

Spring Fashion Number Contains Much That Is Interesting

The March Home Journal — our Canadian friend — is the "Spring Fashion Number," instinctively the women will turn to those pages on clothes, embroidered gown, hats a' la mode, lingerie blouses, etc., and of a truth there is an excellent assortment. Home Journal pages seem always to have the knack of disclosing "just the thing you wanted," and the patterns are of a splendid exactness.

After getting through with the fashion section, the readers will find interesting, entertaining reading from the editorial outlook to the "joke page" at the end. The stories are all good; there's a sketch of the great painter George Frederick Watts, by Katherine Hale; the music and word of a Canadian boat song, written by Tom Moore, a century ago; "Running Rabbit Stories," Indian lore for the children by Marjorie Pickthall; Jeanie Allen Moore (Mrs. Seaman) who writes "Around the Hearth," has the knack of putting interest and worth into the everyday doings. The new Horticultural department seems to have landed in favourable soil, for it is flourishing bloomingly. Miss Blacklock blends sound advice, garden small talk in an helpful, suggestive department. "Discrimination in Wall Paper" will bear many readings, certainly for a general plan of selection before any new work of this kind. Altogether a well rounded number.

W. A. A. EXHIBITION

Annual Affair Will Be Held in Toronto Commencing March 15th

The annual exhibition of work in connection with the Womens' Art Association of Canada will be held in Toronto, opening March 15th. The exhibition will consist of: Oils, water colours, pastel, etching, miniatures, designs, mural decoration, stencilling, illustrations, ceramics, pottery, wood carving, metal work, leather work, book binding, enamelling, jewellery, photography, (decorative only), homespuns, rugs, needlework, laces, bead work, basket work, etc.

Any person, whether member or not, wishing to send work, may do so by communicating with the secretary, Mrs. Currier, Fleming Terrace. The exhibits must be in Toronto by March 11th.

NAMES OMITTED

Two Others Who Took Part at the Normal "At Home" Friday Evening

In the report of the annual Normal School "At Home" on Saturday, in giving the programme, the names of Miss McCaw and Mr. Downey were omitted. Miss McCaw gave a well-rendered instrumental number, and Mr. Downey a recitation that was enthusiastically received by the audience.

SPRING STYLES

In the Suit Department are both Novel and Effective

Fashion has decreed a decided change in the Styles of Suits which women & misses are to wear this spring. "Becoming" is the word which most properly describes them. New and interesting features are in evidence.

The Russian Blouse effect is especially emphasized—although in many cases much modified from the old-fashioned idea of this type of garment.

Materials are smart and effective—both rough & smooth textures coming in for a considerable share of attention.

Qualities and Workmanship are all that the most exacting could desire—and prices notwithstanding are very modest :: :: ::

Select from our splendid well-made garments and your spring outfit will prove a source of lasting satisfaction.

HOW LARGE IS YOUR VOCABULARY?

By A. C. I.

How large is your vocabulary? How many different words can you summon to mind and write in one hour, two hours or five hours, with only your memory to guide you? Milton's vocabulary is said to have been 9,000 words; Shakespeare's 15,000. It has been estimated that an illiterate person uses from 500 to 1,000 words and that a well-educated person today, knows perhaps as many as 25,000 and uses 15,000 to 20,000 in conversation. Even a person who cannot read may command 5,000 words, according to writers. Yet, only seven years ago, Prof. William Swinton said that for the ordinary English conversation of adults 4,000 words is a liberal estimate. The Century Dictionary is said to contain about 25,000 words and the Standard lays claim to more than 30,000. How many of these words do you know?

Sitting one day with some literary friends who were discussing the vocabulary question, one of them inquired how many words I thought I knew. Rashly, and with nothing definite on which to base such a conclusion, I made a wager that I could write 5,000 different words in five hours. A howl of derision greeted my statement. That fixed my determination to try it. I volunteered to go to a desk, write for the prescribed period, trust only to my memory and submit the papers to them for decision without counting the words myself. The afternoon of the next day was appointed for the self-imposed ordeal.

Armed with plenty of paper and pencils I retired to my den at one o'clock, p.m. From that time until six o'clock, p.m., with only three minutes break for a glass of water. I wrote words, words, words. As to how many I was writing I had no conception. At the end of each hour I tossed aside by themselves the result of the hour's work.

The physical results of the strain were to me novel and remarkable. At the end of the first hour my brain throbbed and I felt feverish. At the end of the second I was mentally and physically weary and my right arm ached with a dull pain akin to that of rheumatism. The conclusion of the third hour found me about "all in." I trembled and just knew that I looked pale. It was then that I paused for a drink. My wife obviously startled by my appearance, remarked rather caustically, but not without real concern: "I think it would be wise to smile and went back to the job. I stop now. What's a hat compared with a collapse?" I smiled a wan smile and went back to the job. I returned considerably refreshed to my desk and for the next hour wrote apparently as rapidly as during the first. That water seemed to have given me a new exhilaration. It was really water. Thus when I entered my last rou's round with my vocabulary brain cells I was certain of victory I even imagined I had already exceeded 5,000 words. So I pegged away until the last tick of the 300th minute, giving a whoop of satisfaction when all was over.

The five bundles of sheets each representing an hour's effort, were turned over to one of my friends and he eliminated all duplicate words. The next day he approached me with a grin and said: "Well, old man, you lost; but you did so well that we'll call the bet off!" Here was the result: First hour, 987 words; second hour, 811; third hour, 684; fourth hour, 775; fifth hour, 713; total 3,970. From these the censor climated 152 duplicates, leaving me just 3,818 different words to my credit.

Prevention As The Only Means To Fight Against Tuberculosis

The International Society Against Tuberculosis," said Senator Bourgeois, "is trying to bring about a universal alliance against a universal danger. All men must be enlightened about the evils which menace all men in all lands, at all ages and under all conditions. And we call these evils the 'ills of society,' precisely because their causes do not dwell in individuals but result from the social conditions in which they live, and because these ills do not stop with the individual, but reach his family, his neighbors and all society. Experience has taught us a truth which all of us should know—namely, that there are evils from which wealth and the advantages it procures can save no one.

"But is there no remedy for such dreadful contagion, such terrible universality in disease? Happily there is a remedy, but there is only one. To this universality can and must be opposed another. Society, since the ill is born of it or is made worse by the very fact of its existence, has the duty of protecting and defending its members. These are not individually responsible for that from which they suffer and die, and as individuals they are unable to save themselves from it. But once they are instructed as to the evil and its remedy, they perceive that they can and that they should unite for the common good.

The danger being reciprocal, the resistance must be mutual. Since we are all involuntarily associated in the peril, mere good sense counsels us to associate ourselves voluntarily for defence. Others pursue the greatest social or economical liberty, the health of the individual, and we know that health depends upon social life and is necessary to social life. There is a health of society. All these are closely associated and the method of union is applied without difficulty to health.

"Now, how shall the war against these dangers be conducted and maintained? In health, as in other things, two methods present themselves—prevention and co-ordination of efforts.

"Without misunderstanding the noble sentiment that inspires them, charity and assistance are wrong in arriving after the battle, and as fast as all the world learns the facts we are becoming more and more certain that it would be possible to prevent or to avoid the battle. What we want then, is to substitute everywhere the method of prevention for the method of assistance—to do for the body social for all the world that which hygiene makes advisable to the individual himself, not to wait until disease is born before fighting it. This is the guiding principle of social hygiene.

"It is therefore essential that all means of provention be organized.

"The enemy is numerous and everlasting. It menaces all ages of human life, the mother, the baby, the child, the grown man and the aged. It slips into the food, our clothes, our service, our dwellings. You see to what an extent the campaign can be varied, how those who are keenly sensible of the impartial injustice with which diseases strike right and left have opportunities to expend their helping good will. The essential thing is that every individual at every moment and under all circumstances be ceaselessly included in the network of defence. If one link breaks the others lose their efficacy.

"It has often been remarked that when a husband alone belongs to some mutual benefit society and attends its meetings he is multiplying relations, which take him away from his home. The wife, not seeing at once the benefit to be derived from a society which ignores her and of which she is ignorant, becomes hostile to it. The family is disunited and the society is neglecting a force of which it has great need. Mutuality must be extended to the whole family if it is to yield all its fruits. As it is with the mutual benefit society and the family so it is with all the organizations, charitable, hygienic, etc., throughout the world. They must be co-ordinated and the work of disease prevention must be parcelled out among them."

WITH THE PLANETS

Rev. Dr. Marsh Will Address The Peterborough Astronomical Society Tomorrow Night.

The regular fortnightly meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society will be held in the Collegiate Institute on Tuesday evening.

Rev. D. B. M. Marsh, the secretary, will give an illustrated talk on "A Night With the Planets" Owing to the large number of beginners, who have joined the society this year, the meeting will be chiefly for their benefit. All new members should make a special aim to be present. The public will be cordially welcomed as usual.

OBITUARY

MR. E. H. D. HALL.

The many friends of Mr. E. H. D. Hall and family willbe grieved to learn of the death of Mrs. Hall, which took place in the Montreal Hospital on Saturday, March 5th. Mrs. Hall had undergone an operation at the hospital, which affected her heart, resulting in death. Since Mrs. Hall's removal to Peterborough she endeared herself to many friends, who will receive with much regret the intelligence of her sudden demise.

MUZZLES ARE SEEN ON THE STREETS

Although there has been no law prescribing the dogs to muzzles there are a number of the kind, known as the Government muzzle in use in Peterborough. "I'd rather put a muzzle on my dog than have him poisoned," remarked a young man this morning, as he pointed to a light wire cage-like contrivnce which is so much talked of in Toronto, and has found its way to this city to the number of three or four dozen. It is of such a nature that a dog may drink easily, but it is impossible for a dog to bite any one while this style of muzzle is on him. Benj. Shortly has a number of this particular kind, and it is reported that not a few have been sold. It was believed by this man that with this muzzle on his dog it could not eat things on the street. In this respect there are numbers of reports coming in every day about the work of poisoners and all told the dogs are having a rather hard time of it.

FARMERS' CLUB

Pine Grove Institution Had An Enjoyable and Instructive Evening.

Pine Grove, March 7.—The regular business meeting of the Farmers' Club was held here in the hall on Friday evening, the 26th ult., at which a goodly number were in attendance.

Mr. Duff of Norwood, was present and delivered a very lengthy and interesting address on the Cultivation of the Soil, Drainage, etc. Two members of the South Douro Club were also present and all enjoyed themselves very much.

The Club have decided to hold a sepial or public meeting on the evening of the 11th inst., the programme to consist of readings, recitations, instrumental music, etc. The principal feature of the evening's entertainment will be a very important debate, subject: "Resolved that selling the grain off the farm is more profitable for the farmer than feeding the grain on the farm. This is a very important subject, and no doubt will be ably handled by intelligent debaters. There will be three on each side, including the leader, so that the subject will receive ample justice and promises to be of considerable interest to all who participate in the evening's entertainment.

The ladies of the neighbourhood have arranged to provide lunch and surely nothing can prevent this occasion from being the best ever held at Pine Grove. The club kindly extend an invitation to all.

Doors will be open at seven p.m., and the programme will start at 7.30.

Congress Wants to Know.

Washington, D.C., March 7.—Congress wants to know just how John D. Rockefeller intends to spend his money for the benefit of humanity.

The Senate committee on District of Columbia affairs took up on Saturday the bill to incorporate the Rockefeller foundation, introduced a few days ago by Senator Gallinger.

After a brief discussion it was decided to invite Starr J. Murphy, one of the men named as incorporators of the foundation, to appear before the committee next Friday.

Germany Now In the Race.

Berlin, Germany, March 7.—A German south polar expedition has virtually been arranged by Lieut. Filchner of the general staff of the army under the auspices of the Geographical Society. Lieut. Filchner announced at a meeting of the society last evening that the expedition would start next October if the necessary funds were forthcoming. He said that it would take $500,000 if two vessels were used, and $250,000 if they confined themselves to one vessel.

Pinchot Leaves the Stand.

Washington, D.C., March 7.—Gifford Pinchot concluded his part in the Ballinger-Pinchot enquiry Saturday and James R. Garfield, former Secretary of the Interior, another prominent member of the Roosevelt tennis cabinet, took the stand. Mr Garfield had barely started his testimony when adjournment was taken until Thursday.

Pinchot's story ended with a reiteration of the statement that he had little personal knowledge of the facts to which he had called attention during the four days he was on the stand, and with a general defence of the forest service. Mr. Pinchot summed up the various "inferences" he desired the committee to draw from the documents that had been introduced in evidence, and from statements of witnesses yet to come.

A Sinner's Mite.

Some weeks ago, when the evangelists of the curb were still in the full fervor of their mission, Ben Allen, the blind singer, who carols forth tidings of peace and goodwill in Toronto on Sunday nights, was at his old post.

Among his hearers was a man who had somewhat the appearance of a lucky miner out for a good time. He was a fine, big, loose-limbed fellow, but a slightly glazed look about his eyes suggested that he had strained his optic nerve gazing on the ruby wine.

He listened with reverent attention to Ben Allen's baritone voice made sympathetic enquiry for the whereabouts of the "wandering boy." At the conclusion of the time-honored hymn, he put a large hand into a large trousers-pocket and drew up a generous vein of silver, which he deposited in a clinking shower in Ben Allen's tin cup.

Another hymn was sung and then went down into his pocket as before, but this time the output was lighter.

A third and fourth time he gave a dwindling donation at the end of each hymn. But finally he got to the end of his resources in small change.

As the fifth hymn was brought to a conclusion he drew from his coat-pocket a large orange. He placed it in the cup, the top of which it filled completely. And then putting his hat on his head, he walked off with the swagger which speaks of duty nobly fulfilled.

The Hon. Mrs. Howard.

The Hon. Mrs Howard, who before her marriage was Miss Margaret Charlotte Smith, is a daughter of Lord Strathcona, and heir to her father's title. She was married a number of years ago in Montreal to Dr. J. B. Howard, and has three sons and a daughter. The latter, and her oldest brother, Mr. Donald Howard, have recently been twice in Canada, and accompanied Lord Strathcona to Quebec at the time of the Tercentenary celebrations. Mrs. Howard, who is devoted to out-door life, and is a capital tennis player, spends much of her time with her parents at their English and Scotch homes. When Lord Strathcona was the tenant of Knebworth Park, Lord Lytton's estate, Mrs. Howard assisted her mother in the duties of hostess, and many Canadians have the most pleasant recollections of visits to that delightfully hospitable home.

Speed Statistics.

A gentle wind travels about five miles an hour, a high wind about thirty to forty-five miles an hour, a hurricane eighty to a hundred miles an hour. The velocity of the earth on its own axis exceeds, it is estimated, 1,000 miles an hour. The velocity of the earth around the sun is calculated to be 68,000 miles an hour, and the velocity of the moon is calculated to be 2,273 miles an hour. Sound travels through dry air at the rate of about sixty feet a second; through water at the rate of about 240 feet a second; along steel wire at the rate of about 17,130 feet a second. Electricity is said to travel along wires above ground at the rate of about 22,360 miles a second. Light travels at a velocity estimated by astronomical observation to be about 186,770 miles a second.—London Standard.

A Question For the King.

Divinity doth not always hedge a king. There have been many rulers who could take as well as give in the joking line. The most striking instance of this kind is seen in the case of Charles II., that good natured Stuart, who once asked his chaplain, Dr Stillingfleet:

"How is it that you always read your sermons before me when, as I understand, you can preach eloquently enough elsewhere without book or notes?"

The good doctor answered that he was so overwhelmed by his majesty's presence that he could not trust himself otherwise, continuing, "And now sire, may it please you to tell me why you read your speeches when you have no such excuse?"—St. Louis Republic.

Pension Long Due.

Some queer old things still happen in England. The other day an order was made in the London law courts which will enable an old cabman named Robert McLaren to obtain a share of the pension granted to his ancestor, Richard Pendrell, by Charles II. for helping him to escape after the battle of Worcester. It was stated that Mr. McLaren had been entitled to the pension since 1886, but had only now been able to establish his title to it.

RIOTING CONTINUES

Men Say a Hundred and Twenty-Five Thousand Are Out While Police Declare That There Are Not More Than Twenty Thousand — The Company Operates Thousand Cars—200 Ran Last Night.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 7.—Until the disorders which came with darkness last night the strike developments of the day had been neither many nor important.

Conflicting claims still continued as to the number of men who have responded to the general strike call, and there seems to be no present way to obtain accurate figures. The committee of ten, in charge of the strike, claims that 125,000 persons are out. Figures gathered by the police department, however, are cited by Director of Public Safety Clay to support his previous claim that not more than 20,000 men struck.

The labor leaders say 150,000 men will be out by to-night. The police declare that things are working the other way, and assert that to-night will find even fewer men not working than on Saturday.

The traction company, which operated some 800 cars during the day, left 200 or more of them in operation last night—the first Sunday night during the strike on which it has taken this step.

This probably had much to do with the disturbances of the evening. These began early after dark at Eighty and Christian street, an Italian settlement, where a mob stoned passing trolley cars.

When the reserves from four stations were unable to quell the disturbance, a riot call was sent out and four automobiles loaded with officers were sent from the city hall.

After a sharp attack, in which clubs were freely used and a number of heads broken, the disturbers were dispersed and more than half a dozen prisoners taken.

The most serious affair of the night occurred a little further down Christian street, at Fourth street. During a disturbance there, a fireman doing police duty, fired on the crowd and a bullet struck Bessie Weiner, a woman of 23, fatally wounding her. The fireman was guarding a car which the crowd attacked.

A shot was fired during another disturbance at 26th street and Lehigh avenue, one man being slightly injured, when a bullet struck him in the arm. A demonstration at Sixth and Johnson streets was threatening for a time, and reserves had to be called out at this and other points to quell incipient rioting.

The Kensington, or factory, section, where so much trouble has occurred since the strike started, was held well in check. There was one rather threatening outbreak, however, in which women participated. In breaking it up the officers made several arrests and four of their prisoners were women, charged with inciting to riot.

George Costello, aged 52 years, was shot in the back, but not dangerously injured, at 26th street and Lehigh avenue, during a disturbance.

Vaccination Unpopular In England.

London, March 7.—The rapid growth of the objection to vaccination in Great Britain is shown by the latest statistics. In the year 1906, 935,338 births were registered and the certificates of declarations of conscientious objections to vaccination numbered 52,391, or 5.6 per cent.

In 1907 the certificates of objection amounted to 6.2 per cent. of the births, and in 1908 to 17.2 per cent. In the first six months of last year, 1909, they reached 18 per cent.

The percentage of unvaccinated children yearly is even greater than those figures show, as the statistics quoted refer only to those who have not been vaccinated because of conscientious objections on the part of their parents.

King to Play Bridge More.

London, March 7.—The King left London last night. The tedium of his long journey to the south of France will be relieved by rubbers at bridge, as he has just had a special card table installed in his private car, which is so perfectly balanced that no vibration is felt. It has been noticed lately that the King's interest in the game is waning. He no longer sits at a card table for the whole evening. During the journey to Biarritz he intends to revive his interest in bridge.

Leaning Tower's Needs.

Rome, March 7.—The commission appointed to examine the Leaning Tower of Pisa has reported that it thinks its foundations may need strengthening. A spring exists under the tower, the water of which is raised by steam pumps for the use of a local factory.

RIOTS IN BERLIN.

Socialists March Through Streets In Protest Against Suffrage Bill.

Berlin, March 7.—Serious conflicts between the police and Socialists, involving a lengthy list of wounded, were the outcome of most impressive open-air demonstrations against the suffrage bill carried out in Berlin and the other cities of Prussia yesterday. It is estimated that in Berlin alone 120,000 persons took part in what was called a "demonstrative stroll" in various parts of the city.

The Chief of Police of Berlin, fearing danger from the assembly of so many thousands in the popular park of Treptow, the place chosen by the Socialists, forbade a demonstration of any kind there. But the Socialists' newspaper, Vorwaerts, announced that the manifestation would be held in spite of the order of prohibition.

This caused the concentration of a powerful force of armed police and gendarmerie in Treptow Park, which left the rest of the city vitually unguarded.

The Socialist leaders yesterday morning, observing that their plan had been frustrated, quietly and quickly passed the word to their followers to proceed to the other end of the city. These instructions were obeyed by 30,000 manifestants, who succeeded in accomplishing the "stroll" almost undisturbed, while the others who had remained around Treptow Park came into severe collision with the gendarmerie and police, with serious consequences. The police, however, in the majority of cases, acted with the utmost moderation, and obeyed the orders to avoid, as far as possible, using their arms, which were issued by Chief Von Jagow.

Suffrage Sympathizers Sentenced.

Breslau, Germany, March 7.—Several manifestants, who simply shouted "Hurrah for Suffragettes" at recent demonstrations, were Saturday sentenced to terms of imprisonment ranging from eight days to one month

STOMACH DISTRESS AND DYSPEPSIA GO

Makes Your Out-of-Order Stomach Feel Fine in Five Minutes.

As there is often some one in your family who suffers from an attack of Indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapepsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort and overcome a sour, gassy stomach, five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily see why it makes Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distress go in five minutes and relieves at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from Indigestion and Dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with the common every-day cures advertised that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This, no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead it ferments and sours, turns to acid, Gas and Stomach poison, which putrefy in the digestive tract and intestines, and, besides, poison the breath with nauseous odours.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slighest discomfort or misery of the stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapepsin.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Two unknown men in a rowboat were swept over Niagara Falls late Saturday.

A new R. C. diocese has been created at Regina, and an apostolic vicariate at Keewatin.

The new Canadian Canneries' Association is negotiating for two factories at Tecumseh and Story Point, Ont.

One thousand express packages on N.Y.C. train No. 27, were looted during Friday night. The discovery was made at Rochester.

A Lehigh Valley express train, Buffalo to New York, jumped the rails at Redington, Pa., when it hit a landslide. Several were slightly hurt.

Horace Greeley Robinson, held in Toronto jail since Feb. 21 for the San Jose, Cal., authorities, on charges of fraud, was released Saturday, because the United States authorities declined to send for him.

Farman's New Record.

Mourmelon, France, March 7.—Henry Farman on Saturday established a new world's record for aeroplane flights with two passengers, remaining in the air for one hour and ten minutes.

Died From Six Gashes

Pasquale Ventricini, While Under the Influence of Liquor, Fatally Wounds Fellow-Laborer and Tries to Hide Himself Under a Bed—Police Stratagem Saves Fight—Lads Held as Witnesses.

Toronto, March 7.—Pasquale Ventricine, an Italian laborer living at 265 Claremont street, stabbed Raffaele Fabbio, a fellow-countryman to death near the boarding-house of Mrs. Tony Butcher, 299 Manning avenue, at 8.30 Sunday night.

Tony Bush, brother of Mrs. Butcher, who was present at the time of the stabbing, declares that Ventricine had been drinking and stabbed the other without provocation other than the advice of his victim, who urged him to go home as it was late.

The prisoner declares that Tony Bush, the dead man, and three others set upon him and that the stabbing took place in the melee. The story told by Tony Bush is borne out by that of another Italian lad.

Word of the murder was 'phoned to the Farley avenue police station at 8.43. Sergeant Umbach left immediately and met Detective Mitchell on the way. They hurried to the scene and were told that Ventricine had done the stabbing and would likely be found at his home. There they found him trying to crawl under the bed. He was taken to the house on Manning avenue. His appearance was the signal for a hostile demonstration on the part of the Italians there, and it was with the greatest difficulty that the police got the prisoner from the house to the patrol wagon, which had been summoned. To do this they employed a ruse. Knowing that the Italians would stand respectfully away from the body as it was carried out, they took Ventricine out on a stretcher. He is a small man and was easily hidden by the constables.

When the police arrived at the scene Fabbio was found sitting in a chair in the house on Manning avenue. He was bleeding terribly from six knife wounds, and although medical aid was summoned, he died at 9.05, having been in a state of stupor throughout.

At the police station, Tony Bush and another lad, held by the police as material witnesses, told the same tale over again. They declared that Fabbio had called to see Bush yesterday afternoon. The prisoner had come later and Tony went to the door and went out with him. Fabbio and the other followed. Tony left the prisoner, and Fabbio tried to pesuade him to go home. A moment later Ventricine drew his knife and stabbed him. These two were held lest they might come to harm at the hands of the Italians who live with Ventricine.

Millions For Aged Workmen.

Paris, France, March 7.—The old-age workingman's pension bill, which insures to every laborer in town or country a pension at the age of 65, and will cost France an additional $100,000,000 yearly, may now be considered as voted. The Senate has agreed to make only very slight amendments, and the Chamber, on the eve of the general elections, will undoubtedly pass the bill when it comes back to it from the Senate. This measure, together with the increased financial demands of the army and navy, and the uncertainty of the results of the new methods of taxation, places the official financial situation of the French Government on a critical basis.

Some Birds Were Maimed.

Hamilton, March 7.—There is an odd development in connection with the raid on the cock fight last Sunday morning at Waterdown, and an attempt is being made to have the agents of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, who laid the information in the case, as well as the police, prosecuted on a charge of cruelty to animals. The fifteen birds seized were offered for sale by auction Saturday, and it was then discovered that nearly all of them were badly maimed, although taken from the cock-pit in good condition. The police say that the birds injured themselves by fighting when they were being fed.

Disastrous Avalanche

Twenty-Four Canadian Workmen and Thirty-Eight Japs and Italians Meet a Terrible Death While Clearing the Main Line at Rogers' Pass In the Selkirks—Relief Rushed to Scene—Official Report.

Vancouver, B. C., March 7.—Snowslides in the Rocky Mountains have caused the death of 62 more men. The latest victims were workmen engaged in clearing the Canadian Pacific track in Rogers' Pass at the summit of the Selkirk Range. They were entombed by an avalanche soon after midnight Saturday morning.

The following is the list of the dead as far as is known:

P. J. Buckley, conductor.
T. Griffith, fireman.
G. Anderson, foreman.
W. Phillips, engineer.
T. Potteruff, engineer.
A. Johnson, foreman.
J. Fraser, roadmaster.
J. McLelland, bridgeman.
W. Wellander, foreman.
G. Nichols, bridgeman.
A. Mahon, brakeman.
F. Wagner, laborer.
H. Martin, laborer.
J. McDonald, bridgeman.
Twelve of Bridge Foreman McDonald's men, names unknown.
Thirty-eight Japanese and Italian workmen.

The men were attempting to clear away the debris of a smaller slide in the Arrow Valley of Bear Creek, flanked on either side of precipitous mountains covered with a depth of snow varying from 20 to 50 feet. While the men were trapping in this valley the second avalanche descended at 12.30 a.m. It started on the side of the canyon opposite the point where the first slide occurred. Thousands of feet above, a few rolling masses of snow, growing in volume and momentum, started on a pathway of destruction.

In a few seconds, with a noise like a thousand thunderbolts, the avalanche leaped from shelf to shelf, uprooting and carrying with it a tangled mass of ice, trees and boulders. There was no escape for the unfortunate workers.

The avalanche piled on top of the first slide, burying the tracks for a distance of a quarter of a mile around to a depth of fifty feet. Hundreds of thousands of tons of other debris in the wake of the avalanche bounded off the huge heap and half filled the valley of Bear Creek, hundreds of feet below.

As soon as the news reached Revelstoke a relief train conveying physicians and nurses and over 200 railway men and other citizens, was speeding east to Rogers' Pass.

Calgary made an equally prompt response. It also sent a special relief train with 125 workmen, as well as nurses and doctors. The special arrived at Rogers' Pass at 10 o'clock.

The bodies of many of the victims were probably swept into the canyon and may not be recovered until summer melts the snow. Six hundred men are now digging out the track.

Montreal, March 7.—The following facts are culled from despatches received from the Rogers' Pass accident by the president of the C.P.R., who is most anxious that the papers be supplied with all possible information.

From forty to fifty persons were killed, twelve being white men.

There were three distinct avalanches in Rogers' Pass, at the summit of the Selkirks. The first snowslide was a comparatively small one, and occurred at noon on Friday. The track was burried for some distance, and a repair train, consisting of an engine, rotary plow, and a gang of a hundred navvies, mostly Japanese, was sent out from Revelstoke on Saturday morning.

The fatality was greatest in the middle of the avalanche where the train stood. Those who were farther away were able to escape without injury. The horror of the situation was aggravated by the fact that the avalanche had torn away the telegraph line, so that little could be done during the night, the more so as a fierce mountain blizzard was raging.

Early on Saturday morning, however, a party of the survivors telegraphed to Revelstoke for help, when a wrecking train was at once despatched, with two hundred men and a corps of physicians, nurses, etc. This train got through all right, but shortly after it had passed Glenogle, a few miles west of the scene of disaster, a third avalanche slid down mountains from the south, cutting off communications with Revelstoke, as well as again breaking telegraphic connection.

All day Saturday the rescue party, aided by the survivors of the wreck, labored in a blinding snow storm in the hope that some of the victims might still be alive.

It was at first feared that the tracks would be blocked for two or three days yet, but a despatch from Mr. Whyte to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy yesterday said that it was hoped to clear the line for traffic by to-day.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Here's a Baby!

Ottawa, March 7.—Four months old to-day, and he can walk and talk! He is little George Cadieux of 288 Champlain avenue, Hull.

The child, though only four months old, can walk around the room with the aid of chairs, and can say easy work words, such as papa and mamma, very distinctly.

At fifteen days the child could stand by holding on to a chair. This peculiar trait seems to run in the family. Another child, now two years old, was born with four teeth, and now has a full set. George, the baby, weighs 22 pounds.

Falls Dead While Singing.

Vienna, March 7.—Herr de Muth, a famous singer of the Vienna Imperial Opera House, died suddenly of apoplexy, while singing at a concert at Czernowitz, Bukowina. After a storm of applause he began to sing an encore and fell dead.

London For Progress.

London, March 7.—The ratepayers Saturday elected county councillors, who control and manage the affairs of the metropolis.

The Municipal Reform Party, or Moderates, as they used to be called, who have governed London well and economically for the last three years, failed to maintain the advantage they gained over the Progressives three years ago, after having been out for 18 years.

The new London County Council now consists of 54 Municipal Reformers, 56 Progressives and three Laborites, the Progressives having a net gain of 21.

The Municipal Reformers have to thank their own apathy for this falling away. With a general election just over and another one looked for by midsummer the man in the street is sated with politics.

It is always difficult for some Londoners to interest themselves in municipal politics, and it is the Reform party that suffers most from this.

With the newly-elected council so even balanced it should be possible to keep a check on Progressive socialism and extravagance of various sorts.

LITTLE DIGESTERS

are a positive cure for all stomach disorders.

You simply won't know you have a stomach if you take one of these dainty tablets after each meal.

Little Digesters do not force the process of digestion. They simply promote sufficient secretion of gastric juices—mildly stimulate the movement of the stomach walls and thereby cause easy, healthy, and invigorating digestion.

Little Digesters are compounded of the purest drugs known to medical science. Your family physician will prescribe them, or write out a similar prescription.

Put up in convenient and dainty red boxes—25 cents each—at your druggist's or by mail.

A cure guaranteed or money refunded.

Trinidad Favors Reciprocity.

Port of Spain, Trinidad, March 7.—The royal commission which is enquiring into the trade relations between Canada and the West Indies, have concluded the taking of statements on this subject.

The opinion here in general is favorable to Canadian reciprocity. The cocoa planters, however, are entirely opposed to it, fearing reprisals by the United States, which would affect nearly fifty per cent. of their product now sold in that country. Suggestions were made with reference to improvement in steamship service, and the lowering of rates on travel, as a means of developing trade.

The members of the commission visited the oil fields near Asphalt Lake on Saturday, and will proceed to England on Monday.

Canadians Honored.

London, March 7.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The King has sanctioned the following appointments to the order of the Hospital of Grace: Earl Grey, Lord Strathcona, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy; as an Esquire, Dr. C. A. Hodgetts.

The Grand Priory of the Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem in England was incorporated May 14, 1888. The sovereign head is King Edward VII., and the grand prior, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales. The objects are ambulance and hospital work.

Dr. Hodgetts is secretary of the Ontario Board of Health.

Three-Cent Fares for Brooklyn.

New York, March 7.—Real competition with the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co., which has had a monopoly in many sections, is to be brought about by the Board of Estimate, if the action of that body Saturday indicates its future attitude. The board adopted the report of the transit committee, which recommended the granting of a franchise to a new traction company, the Manhattan Bridge Three-Cent Fare Line, provided terms acceptable to the city are arranged.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe med'cine in any condition of the system.

THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

SPORTING NEWS

WOLGAST BEAT HIS WAY TO SCENE OF FIRST SCRAP

Interesting Story of How the New Light Weight Champion Made His Debut in the Squared Circle.

STARTED AT EIGHTEEN

Cadillac, Mich., March 5.—Adolph Wolgast, conqueror of Battling Nelson and new lightweight champion of the world, rode into the prize ring by beating his way on a freight train from Cadillac to Petoskey.

That was less than four years ago. To-day he is the leader of his class in the fighting game, and in that time had but one decision given against him. Curiously enough the only boy who ever beat Wolgast was one who adopted the name of his latest victim and went under the name of "Young" Nelson. This took place at Grand Rapids, July 12, 1906.

Wolgast's father was a cigarmaker and when young "Ad" was old enough to get into the money making line he went with his father and learned the gentle art of turning out perfectos. This did pretty well until he was eighteen years old. Then he saw there wasn't much chance to make any great amount of money in the cigar business. He became restless, but going into the fighting game had never entered his head. He had had a few street fights, as any boy will, but he had never had a boxing glove on.

During this restless period news drifted into Cadillac that there was to be a fight at Petoskey. Young Wolgast heard them talking about this scrap and decided he wanted to see the mill. He had never seen a ring battle before. He didn't have any coin in his pockets, but the freights slow down going through Cadillac, and they have to stop at Petoskey, or go into Lake Michigan. Therefore the future champion hopped on one of these freights and landed in Petoskey on the afternoon of the battle. Then he found that it wasn't as easy to beat his way into the arena as it had been to get into town. He stuck at the entrance. After a while the promoter came to the door with a worried look on his face. One of the boys billed to go on in the preliminary had failed to show up. He wanted some one to go on.

Wolgast's First Fight.

Adolph W. decided that he would be willing to stand up before the other guy for a chance of seeing the big "go" and in addition pull down two dollars and a half. This was as good as two days' work with his father in the cigar shop. "Kid" Moore was the boy he had to face. The "Kid" had been out a few times and was looking pretty good to the fight followers of Petoskey.

Wolgast didn't know anything about boxing. Neither does history tell who seconded him in this first "mill." The main fact is that he borrowed a pair of trunks, waded into "Kid" Moore, and, by dint of hustling and fighting every minute, won the decision after six rounds. He felt proud of himself after that victory, and some of the Cadillac sports reckoned that they had a winner.

WANDERERS WIN THE STANLEY SILVERWARE

Ottawa, March 6.—(Special.)—Outplayed and outgeneralled in a fierce ly fought match decided in slush and water, Ottawa were defeated by the Wanderers of Montreal on Saturday night, the final score being 3 to 1. The result gives the Wanderers the Stanley Cup, which the Ottawas had captured from them just a year previous, throwing the Ottawas into second place. Wanderers have yet to play Les Canadiens, but the result will not effect the championship, while Renfrew, should they succeed in defeating Ottawa at the Creamery Town on Tuesday night, will tie the red, white and black seven for second place.

Combination or good shooting was out of the question, and while Wanderers played a heady, consistent defensive game from beginning to end, Ottawa failed to come up to expectations. The Ottawa defence was good, Lesueur's great work in the nets preventing Wanderers from scoring twenty goals. Lake at point was very effective throughout, and Smaill at cover-point proved one of the shining stars of the night, his work from beginning to end being gilt-edged. Shore, at rover, after being switched from defence to make room for Smaill showed up poorly, Captain Lake pulling him back to the defence, and he himself going up to the line. Walsh at centre was covered so closely that he never shone, Ridpath being the best of the line. Kerr should not have been in the game at all. He has been in the hospital nearly all season and was not fit for such a contest. Wanderers got to him hard at the commencement of the match and he was afterwards useless.

All the Wanderers appeared good. Hern only had a few shots to stop, turning aside all that came his way but one. Marshall was very reliable at point, while the elongated Johnston at cover was the most sensational performer of the night, blocking almost every rush on the part of the Ottawas. The Wanderer line had it over Ottawa at all stages in every way. Hyland starring at right wing. Glass and Russell outclassed Walsh and Shore in the centre positions, while Gardner held Ridpath closer than the Toronto boy has been held all season. Wanderers showed far more staying powers than Ottawa, and in addition outskated the champions of 1909.

Play was very rough, Ottawa suffering 36 minutes in penalties and Wanderers 35, but despite criticisms from the Ottawa rooters, the decisions of both Patrick and Kirby, who were chosen at the eleventh hour to officiate, were absolutely square and impartial.

Six thousand people attended the game. Thousands of dollars were wagered on the match, Ottawas being favourites when the betting closed at ten to seven. Close followers of the game had figured out that Ottawa would have a big bulge on their opponents on the soft ice, but Wanderers proved the better "mud horses," wild scenes on the part of the visiting rooters followed the close of the match. The line-up:

Ottawa — Lesueur, Lake, Smaill, Shore, Walsh, Ridpath and Kerr.

Wanderers—Hern, Marshall, Johnston, Glass, Russell, Hyland and Gardner.

Referee, Frank Patrick, Renfrew; judge of play, Chauncey Kirby, Ottawa.

NORTHERN CROWN CLUB WINS THE CHAMPIONSHIP

Montreal, March 6.—The Northern Crown Bank team of Winnipeg defeated the Quebec Union of Montreal by 4 to 1 on the Arena Saturday night for the championship of the bank leagues of Canada.

The ice was in poor condition, but the play was nevertheless fast, and the result of the match was in doubt until near the end of the second half, when the Winnipeg team scored their third goal. After that the Winnipeg men had the best of the battle.

Both forward lines played well and kept the puck travelling rapidly from one end to the other. Shorty Borland, the rover, and Watson, the right wing of the Westerners did more work than any other men on the ice, and it was chiefly due to their efforts that their team can claim a victory.

STRONG CITY LEAGUE FOR PETERBOROUGH THIS SEASON

The baseball pot has commenced to simmer.

With the removing of the ice from the skating rinks the hockey players have taken a step towards the rear and in a few weeks the boy with the two-foot drop, or the husky lad with the home-run corked up in his bat will have wiped the hockeyists out of sight and temporarily out of memory, too.

As regards the local prospects it is likely that there will be a strong City League this season, with about four teams in the race. The two great hockey rivals, the West Ends and Strathconas, will be in line with baseball teams, and the managers are out on a lively hunt after players. The West Ends claim that they will revenge themselves on the Commissioners for their defeat at hockey, while the Red and White team say that they will show some surprises when the slogan "Play ball!" is heard again in the land. Rumour has it that the Shamrocks will re-organize this season, and place a team in the City League, and among the names mentioned in this connection are some of those who wore the uiform of the Champion T. A. S. team last season. Park Street Athletic Club will also have a team, and there is likely to be a red-hot battle for the pennant.

Chemong Entertainment Was A Great Success

The Chemong Athletic Club, organized last June, held their first tea and concert in the Chemong Town Hall March 3rd. Tea was served and the dining hall was crowded from 5 to 7.30 p.m.

A programme was given by the Alderville Brass Band and Rifle Club. The programme was splendid, and every one was greatly pleased with it. It consisted of music by the brass band, string band, songs and duets, dialogues by the Rifle Club. The Hiawatha Choir gave some excellent pieces, with some solos, and everything went off smoothly. Rev. Mr. Joblin of Alderville, acted as chairman. There were about three hundred present, of whom one hundred were friends from Alderville, Hiawatha, and Scugog Island. The following day (Friday) a rifle shooting match was held between the Alderville Rifle Club and the Chemong Athletic Club. The score was 14 to 9, in favour of Chemong. The Chemong Club had been beaten by the Alderville Club a few weeks ago, and the clubs have decided to meet and have the tie played off before the first day of July (Dominion Day). This was done by shooting off-handed and as this is to be an annual affair they will shoot in different positions next year. The defeated club had to pay for a supper for all the shooters, which had been prepared in the Town Hall, when a splendid programme was again given by the Alderville Club which kept the audience in roars of laughter for a couple of hours. The captain of the Alderville Rifle Club, Mr. S. Comeau, was chairman at the second concert.

The next morning the visiting club left for home, and, as the teams and sleighs lined up at Chemong ready for the journey, some hearty shaking of hands took place and they parted the best of friends, hoping to meet again. The proceeds amounted to about $70.

WANTS TO RACE HERE

The Sporting Editor of the Examiner has received a letter from George M. Brown of Auburn, N. Y., who since beating Hougland here last has styled himself champion heel and toe walker of the world, asking the scribe to arrange a race for him in this city. However, the Sporting Editor feels that he doesn't need the money just now and is ready to let any other deserving person step in and arrange the race and incidentally make his fortune. Mr. Brown is not particular as to what kind of a race it should be. He is willing to walk fourteen miles while Tom Longboat runs twenty or walk a relay against Harrison and Spenceley or any old arrangement asked for.

SPORTING NOTES

Where is Ernie Brumwell? Isn't it about time that hustling individual was getting busy arranging for the annual meeting of the Midland Football League? After the very successful season last year he will have a lot of new teams in, and it will take some time to get them into line. This fine weather savors of outdoor sport, so, Ernie, get busy and blow in some of that last year's surplus in postage stamps.—Com.

Do You Realize What an Important Work the Kidneys Do?

Do you know that every drop of your blood goes to the kidneys hundreds of times every day? Do you know why?

To be filtered and purified from its impurities. That is the great work the kidneys have to do. They filter the blood. Then the impurities go to the bladder and are passed out of the body along with the urine.

Do you think it possible for you to be well, unless the kidneys do this work thoroughly?

It is these impurities—this unfiltered blood—that causes backaches, headaches, rheumatism, diabetes, Bright's disease, etc. They poison and interfere with the whole system.

If you have any kidney trouble let Doan's Kidney Pills do for you what they have done for thousands of others. They cure all forms of kidney trouble, and they cure them to stay cured.

Mrs. Maurice Doiron, Charlottetown, P.E.I., writes:—"I was troubled with my kidneys for five years. They were so bad at times that I could not cross the floor for the pain. I went to a doctor, but he did me no good at all. I sent to the druggist and got five boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, and I am glad to say that after taking them I was cured. I have had no trouble for nearly three years now."

Price 50 cents per box or 3 for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

LINES TO BATTLING NELSON

By John O'Keefe.

We don't weep worth a cent for the pitcher that went once too oft to the well (or the bar),
And our sympathy fails to excite us to wails for speed maniacs killed by a car,
And a sport, you may bet, never suffers regret for the smoke of a burned-out cigar.

Yet a sigh we may sound for a champion downed with a punch in his battle-bent slats,
Who, unable to rise, has to see through puffed eyes his opponent receiving congrats.
So we shed a small tear in the damp atmosphere as we think of the fate that was Bat's.

For it's hard when when you've faced all the scrappers who haste to punch holes in a champion's chin,
And you've battered 'em herd till th eir beauty's so marred that they wouldn't be known by their kin,
To lie prone in the ring where you once had been king and be told that your name is Has-Been.

But you've company great in your present estate. You should sign with Fitzsimmons, old Bob.
For a lecturing tour where the coin will be sure in the maddening rush of the mob,
Who would list to the sighs of the fighters unwise who have lingered too long on the job.

WHAT THE SCIENCE OF EATING IS TEACHING US

By Wm. S. Sadler, M. D.

It is literally true that we are made from what we eat. The indifference of the American people to the science and art of eating is truly amazing. For purely commercial reasons some have given earnest study to scientific cattle feeding, but there are very few people in this country who are acquainted with the principles of scientific self-feeding.

Thousands of dollars are spent by the Government to promote the health of hogs and advance the science of cattle feeding, but not a cent to preserve the lives and promote the science of baby feeding.

Of the many fads and fancies of the present generation regarding diet there is one that probably has come to stay, and that is the recent agitation looking toward a more thorough mastication of the food, commonly called "Fletcherizing."

There is little doubt that mastication can be overdone, that too little food can be eaten. The author believes in rational, thorough, simple mastication, but not in any such extreme teachings as would lead to the rejection of every bit of fruit, vegetable or cereal pulp that cannot be completely liquefied. We urge upon all thorough mastication as a scientific prerequisite to good digestion.

We do not believe in any rule or set of regulations for chewing food a certain number of times or anything of that kind. While there is an occasional person whose health and digestion might be interfered with by overmastication and consequent undereating, we feel that ninety-nine out of a hundred of those with healthy or sick stomachs would have their health and nutrition greatly improved by employing more mastication than is generally practised.

Thorough mastication is the only sure way to prevent overeating, in fact, the only safe way. When, as the result of proper mastication, all food is tasted preparatory to being swallowed, nature will remove the appetite when a sufficient amount of food has been eaten.

A good appetite ordinarily means a good digestion. The digestion is seldom very good when the appetite is poor. If you have a poor appetite the thing of first importance is to look yourself over, find out what you can do to get a good, sharp, keen appetite for food.

Are you getting a proper amount of physical exercise? Do you drink a sufficient amount of water? Take an inventory of your physical habits and do not rest satisfied until you have acquired the greatest of all food sauces—a good appetite.

The human appetite will probably never become a wholly safe guard in the wise and hygienic selection of food being a highly specialized nervous function and subject to so many disturbing influences, as well as being so largely a creature of education and habit. It will probably be found necessary to constantly guide and correct its choice by the higher centres of human reason and scientific judgment.

Nervous Headache
AND MUSCULAR RHEUMATISM DISAPPEARED WHEN THE NERVES WERE RESTORED BY DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

Feeble, wasted, starved nerves often make their condition known by nervous headaches. This was one of the first and most marked symptoms.

If you are at all subject to rheumatism you have noticed how much worse it gets when the system gets run down.

Both nervous headache and muscular rheumatism disappear when Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is used to rebuild and revitalize the wasted and weakened body.

Mr. James Riley, moulder for the Waterous Engine Co., 46 Jarvis St., Brantford, Ont., writes: "I suffered for years with muscular rheumatism and as I also had frequent and severe attacks of nervous headache I concluded that the trouble came from the nerves and began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. As I continued this treatment the rheumatism was gradually driven out of the system, my nerves got stronger and steadier and the headaches disappeared. I consider Dr. Chase's Nerve Food a splendid nerve regulator and health builder."

You cannot possibly make a mistake in using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food when the nervous system gets run down, for, by forming new, rich, blood this great food cure builds up the nerve cells as nothing else can.

When you have made up your mind to test this treatment, go at it in earnest and keep at it regularly until you feel again the joy of health and vigour.

50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, all dealers; or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

OBITUARY.

FRANCES C. P. STONE.

The many friends of Miss Frances Cora Lillian Stone will learn with deep regret that she passed away at her late residence, 618 Bethune street, on Saturday evening. She had been ill for some weeks. She was sixteen years of age and was the second daughter of Mr. Giles Stone. The late Miss Stone was of a loving and amiable disposition and was a favourite with all who knew her. She was a faithful member of St. John's church and a regular attendant at the Sunday School. At all services at the above church yesterday feeling reference was made to the death of the deceased. Besides her parents, one sister and one brother are left to mourn her loss.

The funeral took place this afternoon at 2.30 from the family residence, 618 Bethune street, to St. John's church and thence to the Little Lake cemetery. It was largely attended, many sorrowing friends turning out to pay their last token of respect to the memory of the deceased, who, by her estimable qualities, had endeared herself to many during her lifetime.

EDWARD THOMPSON.

The death occurred on Saturday night at the Nicholls Hospital of Mr. Edward Thompson, of Havelock. He passed away after a lengthy illness. He was seventy-five years of age and had been a resident of Havelock for a number of years, where he was well known and highly respected. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity.

The remains were taken to Havelock at noon to-day and the funeral took place there this afternoon.

MRS. JOHN GILLESPIE.

A well known and highly respected resident of Peterborough passed away yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the person of Sarah Jane Rose, wife of Mr. John Gillespie, 195 Sherbrooke St., whose death occurred after a lingering illness. The deceased had been in poor health for some time with diabetis and Bright's disease, which latterly developed into dropsy.

The late Mrs. Gillespie was born in Norwood, but had lived in Peterborough the g reater part of her life. She h ad a wide circle of friends and acquaintances, who will deeply regret to learn of her demise.

Her husband survives her, and in addition there are three daughters and two sons left to mourn her loss. They are rs. J. H. Garbutt, of Smith, and Miss Annie and Miss Ada, of this city, Mr. R. D. Gillespie, of Sault Ste. Marie, and Mr. Herbert Gillespie, of Peterborough. One sister, Miss Mary, of Vancouver, B.C., and two brothers, Alex. and James, of Peterborough, also survive.

The funeral will take place to-morrow, Tuesday, at 2.30 o'clock. It will be private, and the family requests that no flowers be sent.

"MY VALET" HAS CHANGED HANDS

Jas. Duffy, of Cressman's Furnishing Department, the New Owner.

After some twenty years in the men's and women's tailoring and alteration business, in many of the leading Canadian and American cities Mr. Duffy has acquired a thorough knowledge of the business in all its branches. For the last two years Mr. Duffy has had charge of the alteration and finishing department of A. W. Cressman's department stores and has proven his ability in his line, and is bound to retain the present large custom of the well-established business with the men who are not entirely satisfied with the ordinary "My Valet" work of the monthly contract plan. Mr. Duffy, having a thorough knowledge of pressing, as done by the highest class tailors, intends to not only do as good work himself, but to employ only proficient help and to personally supervise all jobs turned out. This is certain to meet with the favour of all smart dressers in Peterborough, and will eventually convert many men to the "My Valet" system of keeping their wardrobe in good condition. The key changes hands on Wednesday, and Mr. Duffy will have complete charge.

All classes of cleaning, pressing and repairing of men's and women's clothes will be done in a most satisfactory manner in the future, under the new management.

JAS. HALL WILL BE COURT MARTIALLED

Man Who Confessed to Murder of Anna Schumacker Told False Story.

Portsmouth, N. H., March 5.—Whether the fake murder confession of James Hall, the naval convict who declared himself guilty of the murder of Anna Schumacher at Rochester, N. Y., in order to gain his discharge from the naval prison here, will accomplish Hall's end, is to be decided by a court martial. Hall was discharged from the United States service and turned over to the New York authorities but later when his confession was proven false he was returned here. Now as doubt exists whether his discharge, even though fraudently obtained, is not valid, the court martial has been ordered from Washington to determine the man's status.

Lieutenant E. L. Bigler, U. S. M. C., has been named as Judge Advocate of the court martial which will convene within a few days

In the specifications the naval authorities set forth that Hall's statements were false The manner in which Hall's discharge was taken from him and the fact that he has been once discharged from the service are two of the questions involved. It is contended in behalf of Hall that the court martial board has no jurisdiction.

At the time Hall made the false confession he was a prisoner aboard the ship Southery.

Latest Development in Philadelphia Strike—Unions Play Strong Card—Opinion Expressed That Strike Will be a Fizzle.

STRIKERS TAMED

Philadelphia, March 8.—The labour unions played their left bower yesterday—a boycott. Orders have been sent to every labour union man in Philadelphia not to patronize stores that sell supplies to the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company or its employes. They estimate that they can deprive the merchants of this city of $1,000,000 worth of business a day, and that th y can force the business interests of the city to take their side in the fight if the pressure is maintained long enough and severely enough.

Saloon keepers are complaining of their bars being banned because they have sold beer to the loyal employes of the Rapid Transit Company. Storekeepers in Kensington, Germantown, Frankford and other centres of the strike have been hurt solely.

Something tamed the strikers today. Although the manufacturing districts were crowded with idle men who stood on the street corners and jeered the carmen and policemen, they did not lay a hand to a brick or dare to shove a bluecoat.

Undoubtedly the firm attitude of Mayor Rayburn and his director of public safety had agreat deal to do with restraining the men on strike and their sympathizers. After the decision of the Mayor and his advisers to arrest the labourleaders who are responsible for the present condition of affairs became known, the leaders hurriedly sent word to their lieutenants actively in command of the strikers to keep their men peaceful and discourage anything like rioting.

It was learned on authority this evening that another outbreak of rioting will mean the execution of warrants against the committee of ten of the Central Labour Union and other leaders who are abetting the big strike. Both the Mayor and Henry Clay, the director of public safety, believe that the strike will fizzle out.

Troops to be Ordered.

An interesting bit of news this evening was that a detachment of Federal troops might be sent here to protect government property.

The information here is that the 45th Company, United States Coast Artillery, has been ordered to get ready to come here the minute the order is given, and that a company of artillerymen from Governor's Island may be added to the Federal troops sent here.

May Call Out Other Men.

Chicago, March 7.—Labour circles heard the statement to-day that Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labour, is in Chicago for the purpose of consulting labour leaders with the view of calling a strike of car men in Cleveland, Pittsburg, Omaha and San Francisco in sympathy with the Philadelphia car strike.

The Philadelphia Traction Co. is said to be a large holder of securities in the traction companies in those cities.

President Gompers would neither affirm nor deny the report that his chief mission heer was to consider the question of calling out the street car men in the four cities mentioned. "It's a matter I don't care to discuss" was all he would say.

CANADIAN PACIFIC
Parlour Car Notice.—Commencing Monday, March 7th, parlour car will be attached to local trains leaving Peterborough at 7.55 a.m. and Toronto at 5 p.m. Seats in this splendid car only 25c extra. Seats reserved at City Office. 6d-52

The Stock of an Art Store

is most difficult to describe. To say it is artistic, or exclusive, or select, is vague and amounts to little; particularly when similar claims are made by many others.

Words cost nothing. It is so easy to say our stock is better, cheaper, more artistic and desirable than that of others; but such assertions are not always convincing to one of knowledge and experience.

Therefore we ask that you personally come and see what we have to offer. We shall gladly accept the verdict of your judgment. Upon this basis we ask your patronage, for by this policy we have won recognition from a discriminating and experienced clientele. But again we say, come in and see for yourself. We are supremely confident that you will not be disappointed.

Wife And Children Nearly Caught In Burning House; Husband Was At Work

Lurid Reflection in South Western Sky Told a Distressing Story of the Total Destruction of a Cosy Home in Suburb of the City—Residence of Jas. Belleghem Wiped Out With Household Effects.

FAMILY OUT IN TIME

While James Belleghem was at work at the C. G. E. last night, fire broke out in his home about eleven o'clock, burning everything but the front steps, and almost catching his wife and four children as they slept. In the short space of one hour his home, which was located west of the Sand-Limestone brick factory, had disappeared, the lot being licked as clean as it was before the building was erected last fall, the only reminder of the house being the open cellar, nearly filled with ashes, with a little pile of bricks in the centre, where the chimney fell, after the rest of the cosy little dwelling had been demolished.

The locality is known as Hurleyville. Last year Mr. Thos. Hurley broke up into building lots his property west of the Sand-Limestone factory. A number of houses sprang up and among them was the residence of Mr. Jas. Belleghem, which, it is learned, was erected in the fall. It was a frame building on the east side of Western Ave., a road opened through the property and running north and south.

About fifty yards away on the opposite side lives Mr. John Billington, while one hundred yards to the north is the home of Mr. Jas. Scrice. Other residences are more remote, and for this reason the fire gained rapid headway.

Mother's Story.

Mrs. Belleghem, when seen by an Examiner reporter, while the fire was still in progress, could scarce remember exactly what had happened. Her husband is one of the many employees of the C. G. E. works, who are now on night duty, and was, therefore, absent when the fire broke out.

According to Mrs. Belleghem she had prepared a dish of bread and placed it beside the kitchen stove. The fire was a moderate one, but had been arranged to burn slowly. "The time. "The baby had been fretful, was not very well, so I went up stairs and lay down beside her. It seemed that I had only closed my eyes when I woke with a smothering, burning feeling in my throat. The room was so full of smoke that the lamp which I had left lighted had been extinguished. After that I don't know just what I did. The children wanted to go back to bed and it seemed an age until I got over here. I remember screaming and crying for help ,but it all happened in a daze."

Mrs. Bellghem was sitting at a front window in the home of Mr. Billington. Across the way she could see her home fast disappearing before the fire fiend. She finished talking and sighed wearily, seeming to shudder as she recollected the awakening in the dark room almost suffocated by the smoke she had been breathing.

Heard the Screams.

Mr. Billington said he had been awakened by one of his children. He heard the cries for help and hurried as quickly as possible across the way. The fire even then had spread throughout the entire rear of the house, and the fierce wind from the west fanned it into a fury.

Scarcely a thing was saved. Mrs. Belleghem threw a huge trunk of clothes from an upstairs windaw, but she could not recollect how she had accomplished it. A sofa and a few other articles were hurried from the house by Mr. Billington, but they were scarcely worth mentioning.

And such a night to be turned out homeless! The wind swept across the fields, apparently converging at the little fire swept home. The flames spent themselves on the rear of the building, wiping out everything, even to part of the clothes line. They then crept forward in the teeth of the wind and, sheltered by the front wall, ate out the front portion until the wind blew it into the cellar, which, at that time, was raging with the fierceness of a huge blast furnace. The chimney stood alone in the flames long after floors and walls had been reduced to ashes, but a fresh wind blew up, and it, too, fell into the confused heap of fragments in the cellar.

The fire brigade was called out, but could not get within a mile of the blaze, and the little frame building was devoured without even the suggestion of assistance. One young man —and there were only a few around— picked up a chair and hurled it in the cellar, probably to keep the blaze a-going.

Not more than a dozen p rsons reached the scene of the fire. They had to cross several fields in doing so and sank into different shallow pools that were covered with a treacherous, thin coating of ice. After the front wall had fallen the few who had braved the weather started for their home. Mrs. Belleghem and the four children, the eldest of whom is but four years, remained at the front window of the neighbour's residence and the husband had not arrived from the C. G. E. works.

It is understood that Mr. Belleghem had not entirely paid off the cost of his house, and this, together with the loss of his furniture, will be a severe blow. However, it is fortunate that his wife and family made their escape as a serious fatality might have occurred had not Mrs. Belleghem awakened at that particular moment.

Mr. Belleghem is engaged in the punch press department of the C. G. E. Co. The cause of the fire, while not exactly known is attributed to the kitchen stove, although it is only a surmise as how the flames got under way. This mornin, the front steps were all that remained of the comfortable dwelling, which the husband left last night on starting for work, and which he was proud to glance back at as home.

COUNCIL DECIDES TO ASK FOR TENDERS FOR THE MARKET SCALES

Property Committee Report Caused a Little Discussion at Council Meeting---Part of Clause Regarding Dan Spence Ambulance Struck Out---Some of the Members Objected to Changing of System of Running the Market.

The adoption of the report of the Property Committee, at the meeting of the City Council last evening caused a little discussion before it was adopted. The Dan Spence ambulance came in for more consideration. Ald. Turner thought that the latter part of clause one, namely "that it be given to D. Belleghem on April 1st, 1911," should be struck out, and made a motion to that effect. He did not think that the Council should bind itself in that way. The Council of 1911 could decide who should have it next year. Ald. Duffus thought along the same lines as Ald. Turner. He seconded the motion and it carried.

Clause four, on motion of Ald. Bradburn and Ald. Duncan,

A communication from Hall, Medd and Davidson, solicitors for Mr. Belleghem, stating that six months' notice, in case of releasing the contract, must be given. In the event of it not being granted they stated Mr. Belleghem would claim the six months' remuneration.

Ald. Duncan said that he had consulted the City Solicitor and had been informed that they could drop the contract at any time.

Clause four, on motion of Ald. Bradburn and Ald. Duncan, was referred back to the committee.

Ald. Turner wanted an agreement allowing them to have the sign on the island for a certain number of years, and Ald. Duncan wants the firm to submit a plan for the proposed sign.

Ald. Duffus asked regarding the clause about the market scales. He thought that the present system could not be improved upon.. He had made inquiries from various farmers and they all said that they were receiving the best satisfaction under present conditions. Ald. Duffus moved that clause five be struck out and that the present system remain.

Ald. Turner was of the opinion that it would be better to follow out the suggestion of the committee. The Council could then find out what the market was worth.

Ald. Duncan stated that Mr. Ball would have the same opportunity as anyone else to secure it.

Ald. Phelan said that he had made enquiries and the present system seemed entirely satisfactory to every one. He seconded Ald. Duffus' motion.

In voting on the motion Ald. Duffus asked that the yeas and nays be taken. The result was:

Yeas—Ald. Duffus and Ald. Phelan.

Nays—Ald. Batten, Ald. Metheral, Ald. Turner, Ald. Gillespie, Ald. Bradburn, Ald. Buller, Ald. Morgan, Ald. Duncan and Ald. Hicks.

To the Council of the City of Peterborough.

Gentlemen,—Your Property Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

That the date of the beginning of the agreement with A. Comstock for the care and service of the Dan M. Spence ambulance be April 1st, next, and that it be given to D. Belleghem on April 1st, 1911.

That the Chairman of this committee obtain plans for a building for an Isolation Hospital, the building to cost, complete, not more than $12,000 furnished.

That the matter of the band instruments be left in the hands of the chairman of this committee.

That the request of J. J. Turner & Sons to be permitted to place a sign on the island north of the Canadian Pacific Railway bridge be granted, provided they at the same time put up and maintain a sign alongside of it advertising the city, and agree to remove their sign at any time when notified by the Council to do so.

That this committee be instructed to advertise for tenders for the market tolls, and charges for the year beginning April 1st next, and that the present market clerk be notified to that effect, and that this committee be given authority to let the contract and complete the necessary papers.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. H. DUNCAN, Chairman.

SPECTACLES
Should be Changed

Frequently people will get spectacles which suit them, and then go on wearing them for years without having their sight tested to discover whether anychange has taken place. This is wrong. All who wear glasses should have their eyes tested at intervals, even if the necessity for such be not apparent to them. As a general rule, spectacles for close work require changing about every three years, but it is desirable that the sight should be carefully tested every 2 years.

EASY CHARITY.

The Rockefeller donations—a more suitable term would be Rockefeller restitutions—are attracting considerable attention and evoking a good deal of laudation. While the distribution, which Mr. Rockefeller has decided upon, of the greater part of his immense fortune of some 300 million dollars for education and charitable purposes, will, no doubt, do a great deal of good, this action is to be regarded, whether so intended, or not as restitution rather than beneficence. It is not a matter of much doubt that a greater part was unfairly accumulated, by the artificial exaltation in price of commodity, which is a necessary of life to millions of the poorer people of the United States—the wealthier burn gas or use electricity, not coal oil. Therefore on a line of strictly just reasoning, a very large part of Rockefeller's millions belongs to millions of the people of the United States. In his hands under the new dispensation, it will doubtless do much good, but if the people from whom it was cleverly captured had been allowed to retain it, they could have spent it with advantage on their families who stood and still stand in need of bread and shoes and clothing, much more than of a college education or even Rockefeller Sunday school lessons. Most people have a weakness in the way of preferring to spend their own money. If millions of United States citizens could have had a voice in the matter they would have voted for retaining and spending their own, instead of making Mr. Rockefeller trustee of some 200 or 300 millions of their money. He can well afford to be liberal and benevolent with other people's money, on the same principle that Artemus Ward could easily afford to make patriotic sacrifices by a willingness to send all his wife's relations to the war to save the union. It is not risky to assert that fortunes like those amassed or appropriated by Carnegie and Rockefeller did not grow by accumulation of the legitimate profits of industrial or commercial enterprise. Carnegie and Rockefeller are not in the same class with Robin Hood—he robbed the rich to give to the poor. He did not rob the poor to give superior educational advantages to the sons of the already rich. Rockefeller's and Carnegie's charities may well be described as easy charity.

comfort, "hasn't the life of a dog." Policemen are after him; but as the average "cop" is hardly a Bisley winner, his inference with canine comfort has chiefly a moral quality. But it is more serious when the antagonism to the dog take the form of a laxative. The average dog is hardly worth a dollar as a matter of usefulness; but from sentiment many are willing to pay that tax. And the dog has his place in politics. As the law stands the dog may use his influence, by petition of his owners to induce a township council to suspend the tax; but there is no provision for its re-imposition on petition. In view of the ravages among sheep, made by dogs, which was a subject of lively discussion at the Winter Fair, legislataion, in a line with the spirit of that discussion, has been introduced into the Ontario Legislature by Mr. Bowyer. This law if passed will impose an absolute tax on dogs, with $2 for second dog owned by one person; and a special tax of $5 on every bitch except in the case of breeding kennels, when a blanket tax of $10 is provided for by the bill, which is entitled "An Act for the Protection of Sheep and to Impose a Tax on Dogs." A measure of this kind will tend to promote the survival of the fittest, and eliminate the cur who not being worth its food, is underfed and being in a chronic state of hunger, is tempted to lunch off the farmers' flocks. It is principally the mongrel curs that make themselves nuisances as well in towns or cities. The owners of dogs in both country and city are to blame for the legislative agitation against their dogs. They do not keep them under proper restraint, but permit them to create all sorts of annoyance and damage. The beauty of our city streets consists in some sections in our open lawns with their bright setting of flowers; but the destructive work of dogs not only interferes with the plans of the owner, but deprives the passing public of the view of a beautiful unruined flower plot. Then the dogs whose owners allow them to lie in wait and, when the time comes, pounce upon and frighten horses attached to vehicles, are greatly to blame for the public prejudice felt against the untrained and unrestrained dog, which is a nuisance, only a nuisance and that continually, and brings the whole race of good dogs under the condemnation —"Give a dog a bad name and you hang him."

WATERWAYS DEVELOPMENT.

Montreal, the great commercial metropolis of Canada, largely owes its existence to the streams of traffic from every point of the interior of the Dominion, converging at it, as a centre.. And a very large part of this traffic comes through our splendid system of canals, so that Montreal owes its thrifty existence to our canal systems. We do not perhaps realize the extent and importance of our canals. We have, embraced in our system, nineteen canals, all playing their part in the great scheme of transportation. It is said that some of these canals should not be constructed, and it is further said that the Trent canal should not be built. To this Hon. G. P. Graham, in a speech before the Ontario Liberal Club in Toronto says:

"When the Trent Canal is constructed from lake to lake the country along it will become the greatest resorts of tourists in the world. Its beauty is not known. When it is opened up, to say nothing of the benefits derived from freight rates, that country will become one of the great pleasure resorts of America and you know that people who come in thousands spend thousands of dollars."

Even in this matter the canal is of great importance to the district it serves, of which the City of Peterborough is the practical centre and distributing point. Scotland and Ireland are examples of the territorial benefits derived from the tourist traffic, of which they have become the attractive point. There are wide districts of both countries which owe their comfort and competence, if not the very existence of the inhabitants to tourist travel. In the aggregate millions of dollars are spent by travellers who throng to enjoy the scenic beauty, which does not surpass in character, nor to any degree approximate in extent, the scenic beauties so generously spread along the line and contiguous and adjacent to the route of the Trent waterway. The only advantages which the Irish, Scotch and Swiss tourist regions offer are the historiacl associations connected with them and the greater extent of the world's knowledge concerning them. The same applies to the St. Lawrence and the Muskoka districts. When our own Trent Valley waterway regions are as well known they will be as well patronized; and the publicity department of Peterborough, wherever in its embryonic state it lies, should be aroused to the importance of including our magnificent entourage of tourist resorts among the more material attractions as an industrial centre, the city presents, in any advertising scheme that is formulated. In this connection, it might not unwisely be suggested that our new publicity commissioner should have the tourist region of Peterborough included in his portfolio. Here is a splendid opportunity for a most useful publicity side line.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The by-elections in Quebec keep the Liberal government a Gouin concern.

During the past ten years the railway mileage of Canada has increased thirty-seven per cent—from 17,000 miles to 25,500 miles, and the record is rapidly growing.

There are 892 newspapers in Canada, divided among the various provinces as follows: Ontario, 525; Quebec, 117; New Brunswick 39; Nova Scotia, 62; Prince Edward Island, 12; Manitoba, 79; Saskatchewan and Alberta, 25; British Columbia 33. Eighty of these journals are represented in the press gallery of the House of Commons.

Hon. G. P. Graham defines the problem of transportation, as "the carrying of goods from one point to another, at reasonable rates, at a fair rate of speed and with retention of the original quality." The Dominion government by a system of cold storage on steamers and railway trains, has provided for the safe carriage in good condition of 25 or 30 millions yearly of cheese, butter and fruit.

Finance Minister Fielding has demonstrated that the proper way to make money is to make it. The Canadian mint has made a gross profit of $194,958.71 since it was opened Jan. 1st, 1908. After allowing expenses including $13,100 for interest on the cost of construction, the net profit has been $63,857.86. To add to the circulation of Canadian silver coins and thereby increase the profit of minting, the government has deported since August 30th, 1908, American silver to the full value of $561,760, at an expense of $519,640.19.

Cook, the counterfeit North Pole discoverer may not be lone in his dubious glory. A committee of the United States Congress wants to be shown proofs before it recognizes Peary's claim to the discovery of the North Pole. Members of the National Geographical Society, appeared, urging a government reward for Peary's alleged discovery. They declined to submit proof except in confidence. But the committee of the United States Geographical Department, was obdurate and said every application for reward, unaccompanied by proofs to be made public, would be pigeonholed.

SEVENTY MILLION DOLLARS BROUGHT BY IMMIGRANTS

Rochester Paper Estimates Amount of Money Carried Into Canada During the Last Year at This Sum.

LEAGUE HAS BEEN FORMED

(Rochester Democrat.)

The National Liberal Immigration League is the name of an organization whose aim is a proper regulation and better distribution of immigration. By proper regulation it does not mean exclusion but an open door and brotherly welcome to all worthy comers, with kindly help to put them in the way of becoming useful and prosperous Americans.

It has, indeed, another mission. It wants to keep good Americans from leaving this country. That sounds strange, doesn't it? We haven't been accustomed to think of this as a country from which many would care to depart.. Yet many are departing—many of our "bone and sinew"; and they are taking with them not only useful citizens and coming citizens, but much valuable wealth as well. Let us quote from one of the leaflets of the league:

The Canadian immigration from the United States in 1897 was 2,412, or 11 per cent. of the whole. In the course of the fiscal year of 1905-06, the number of migrants from the United States over the Canadian line was 57,919, or 30.6 per cent. of the stream. In 1908 the number who concluded to transfer their homes to the Dominion numbered 59,832. They constituted almost exactly two-fifths of the total Canadian immigration for that year. Between January 1, 1897, and March 31, 1909, out of a total of 1,066,651 immigrants, 425,470 were from the United States. Of this number 209,603 entered Canada within the last six years. This is at the rate of approximately 50,000 a year.

In the year 1907-08 the American immigrants carried into Canada $52,000,000 in cash and settlers' effects. This was a trifle less than a thousand dollars a head, including women and children. In the last fiscal year it equalled almost exactly this amount per capita.

As a matter of fact it has been estimated that in the last calendar year close to $70,000,000 went from the United States into Canada to stay permanently, there going with it as many good Americans as would populate one-third of Rochester.

It is easier to lament such an exodus than to check it. But it is the belief of the league that if there were better advertisement of the agricultural possibilities of our South and a more systematic development of migration in that direction, many who now seek betterment of prospects by crossing the Northern line into the Northwest provinces of Canada could be persuaded to remain under the Stars and Stripes. And it is arranging to conduct an educational campaign having this purpose in view.

We wish it success. This country needs all the good farmers it can secure. Every mover into Canada leaves a gap which we must fill.

Debate End In Sight

Arthur Lachance, M.P. for Quebec Centre, Says Canada Needs a Navy In Case Anything Happens to the Empire—Alberta Member Says Resolution Hasn't Been Lived Up to by the Government.

Ottawa, March 8.—The navy debate is still dragging out its weary length, but to-day will probably see the end of it, or at least the end of the first stage.

Arthur Lachance, Liberal member for Quebec Centre, resumed the debate yesterday. He supported the Government bill on the ground that it was necessary for Canada. The tendency of Empire was to break up, he said, and if the British Empire broke up, Canadians would need a navy to defend themselves. If the Empire did not fall, they would need the navy to help to maintain the supremacy of the British navy.

George H. Perley of Argenteuil, a Quebec Conservative, supported R. L. Borden's policy. The Government had put forward its scheme as a fulfilment of the wishes of the British Admiralty, yet there was nothing to show that the British Government even approved of the proposal.

John Herron, Alberta, said that last year he had not altogether approved of the resolutionfi which was unanimously passed by the House, but he was prepared to take his share of the responsibility for what had been done. He stood by it until the Canadian delegates had returned from the imperial conference, and had shown that they did not intend to stick to the resolution. Nor did the bill attempt in any way to carry out the terms of the resolution.

Mr. Herron concluded by reading a letter from a former German naval officer, now domiciled in Canada and a naturalized British subject, which urged more strongly than anything said in the House, a direct contribution to the British navy.

Other speakers were: C. S. Crocket, York, N.B.; F. R. Lalor, Haldimand, and Peter Elson, Middlesex, who supported Mr. Borden's amendment, and D. H. McAllister, Kings and Albert, N.B.; J. P. Turcotte, Quebec County; and Dr. Molloy, Provencher, Man., who supported the bill.

In the House yesterday Clarence Jameson of Dighy quoted a press despatch to the effect that Canadians at Sault Ste. Marie are paying a cent and a quarter per pound duty on fish which had been caught in Canadian waters.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that if the fish had been shipped into American territory and then shipped back, as appeared to be the case, the duty would certainly have to be paid. He promised to have an enquiry made.

Glen Campbell (Dauphin, Man.) asked the Minister of Agriculture if the feeding place between Ontario and Yorkton, which had been contaminated by the recent shipment of a horse suffering from glanders, had been disinfected.

Mr. Fisher replied he had called the attention of the veterinary director-general to it, and Mr. Campbell declared that he knew that nothing had yet been done.

No Grocery Combine.

Toronto, March 8.—That there is no combine among the grocers, is the judgment of Chief Justice Falconbridge in the action tried about two years ago against the Grocers' Guild. The findings of his lordship are in brief as follows:

"The defendants have not, nor has any of them, intended to violate the law.

"Nor have they, nor has any of them, intended maliciously to injure any persons, firms or corporations, nor to compass any restraint of trade unconnected with their own business relations."

Bomb Outrage at Lisbon.

Lisbon, March 8.—Two bombs were hurled into a room where a party of clerical candidates were dining yesterday, and the explosions killed two of the diners and wounded seven others, including the priest who was presiding.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

OPERATION HER ONLY CHANCE

Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lindsay, Ont.—"I think it is no more than right for me to thank Mrs. Pinkham for what her kind advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. When I wrote to her some time ago I was a very sick woman, suffering from female troubles. I had inflammation of the female organs, and could not stand or walk any distance. At last I was confined to my bed, and the doctor said I would have to go through an operation, but this I refused to do. A friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now, after using three bottles of it, I feel like a new woman. I most heartily recommend this medicine to all women who suffer with female troubles. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills and think they are fine."—Mrs. FRANK EMSLEY, Lindsay, Ontario.

We cannot understand why women will take chances with an operation or drag out a sickly half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, without first trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration.

Christian Herald Editor Dead.

New York, March 8.—Dr. Louis Klopsch, editor of The Christian Herald, and known the world over for his philanthropies, is dead, aged 58 years.

Since 1892 Dr. Klopsch has raised and distributed more than $3,300,000. The Czar of Russia gave him a special audience in 1892, and in 1898 he was thanked by the Governments of India and Great Britain for his aid in the time of famine. He was one of the three U. S. commissioners to relieve the starving Cuban reconcentrados, and he had been decorated by King Edward and the Emperor of Japan, and received by King Christian of Denmark and the King of Sweden.

Locked Pastor Out.

St. Catharines, March 8.—Prominent members and officials of the Church of Christ Disciples of Beamsville, who objected to what they claimed were autocratic actions of their pastor, Rev. S. M. Jones, on Saturday notified Mr. Jones that they would not allow him to use the church the following day, and to make sure their wishes would be carried out, they changed the locks on the church doors. Mr. Jones hired the town hall and held service there. Rev. Mr. Abbott of Toronto preached in the church. The Disciples have a pretty large following in Beamsville. Mr. Jones has been in charge of the flock for about ten years.

Sample Rifles Sent.

London, March 8.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—At a meeting of the council of the N.R.A. a letter from the secretary of the Dominion Rifle Association was read, stating that three Ross rifles had been despatched for submission to the council.

On receipt of the letter on Saturday the secretary of the N.R.A. wired a member of the council at Liverpool asking him to enquire at every steamship office for the package containing the rifles. He failed to find it, so as the rifles had not arrived they could not be submitted to the council yesterday. The matter has been postponed until the next meeting of the council early in April.

Strike to Spread Through U. S.

Chicago, March 8.—President Gompers of the A. F. of L., would neither affirm nor deny a New York report that his chief mission here is to consider the question of calling out the street car men in the four cities of Cleveland, Pittsburg, Omaha and 'Frisco, in which traction lines of the Philadelphia Traction Co. is situated.

"It's a matter I don't care to discuss," was all he would say.

To Organize the Unemployed.

St. Louis, March 8.—James Eads How, the millionaire "hobo," who has organized the unemployed into the National Unemployed Association, has been requested to go to Philadelphia to take charge of the unemployed there and prevent their being used to prevent the general strike of labor unions.

Hon. Geo. W. Ross Seriously Ill.

Toronto, March 8.—An Ottawa special last night announced that Hon. Geo. W. Ross, former Premier of Ontario, is seriously ill. A few days ago he had a stroke of paralysis, and is now in his room at the Hotel Cecil. His condition last night was regarded as serious.

New Party In Reichstag.

Berlin, March 8.—Three sections of the Radical party have voted to unite under the name of the "Progressive party," which henceforth will form a compact body of fifty members in the Reichstag.

Schwab's Way.

Bethlehem, Pa., March 8.—President Charles M. Schwab of the Bethlehem Steel Co. has refused all the demands of the striking steel workers. He had his decision published in a special edition of a local newspaper.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Major J. E. Hutchison of Ottawa may be commandant of this year's Bisley team.

The Pope yesterday received in farewell audience the Most Rev. Louis Nazaire Begin, Archbishop of Quebec.

Editor John Houston of Fort George, B.C., is not dead after all, though his obituary was printed all over Canada last week.

Edward Payson Weston has passed through Trinidad, Col., on his eastward walk across the continent. The schools were closed in his honor.

J. J. Brown, a Sydenham Township farmer, noticed a broken rail and flagged a C.P.R. freight near Owen Sound in time to avert an accident.

The C.A.P. understands that on the establishment of the Canadian Northern Railway steamship line the Great Western Railway agents throughout Great Britain will act as agents for the steamship line.

Fought Duel, Then Made Up.

Nice, France, March 8.—Dr. Doyen, the French scientist, and Capt. Van Langendonck, of the Belgian army, fought a duel at the hippodrome at noon yesterday. At the second attack Dr. Doyen pricked the captain's right forearm, whereupon the seconds stopped the combat. The duelists were reconciled.

The affair followed a scene in the Casino Sunday, when the scientist accused the captain with having insulted Madame Doyen.

To Shorten Parliament.

London, March 8.—Premier Asquith announced in the House of Commons yesterday that the resolutions concerning the House of Lords, which are to be submitted by the Government on March 29, would include a proposal for shortening the duration of Parliament.

It is presumed that the recommendation will be for Parliamentary terms of five years instead of seven years as at present.

Aged Farmer Suicides.

Owen Sound, March 8.—Apparently despondent over not being able to meet the rent on his farm, which was due in a short time, James Watson, aged 70, a farmer near Kilsyth, seven miles from here, hanged himself early yesterday morning. Besides his widow he leaves a family of sons and daughters, who are reputed to be well off.

Athol G. Robertson Arraigned.

Toronto, March 8.—Athol George Robertson was arraigned in police court yesterday morning upon a charge of conspiracy to defraud Joseph Kelly and others by the sale of stock in Eatabies, Limited. Robertson looked sad and lonely as he pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by a jury. None of the four goats which form the assets of the company was with him in court.

He was remanded a week, as was Joseph Gurofsky, who appeared with him upon the charge, having given himself up to the police just before the opening of court. Detective Guthrie has left for Manitoulin Island to bring back Milton Worth de L'Horbe, president of the company, to face the charge with the others.

Politics In France.

Paris, March 8.—Fernand Labori, the lawyer and radical Republican member of the Chamber of Deputies, following the examples of M. Lasies, anti-Semile, and M. Gauthier de Clagny, revisionist, who are retiring from Parliament on the ground that the opposition is impotent, announces that he will not stand for re-election.

M. Labori declares that although he is an ardent republican he can no longer serve the best interest of the country in the present state of Parliamentarism, which he says makes political life a perpetual compromise with power, demagoguery and money.

Premier Writes to Little Girl.

Kingston, March 8.—Little Laura Barrager, daughter of George Barrager, Big Island, tired of playing, asked her mother to let her write to Premier Whitney, and she agreed. She got back this reply:

"My Dear Laura Irene Barrager,—I received your letter asking for my picture, and now enclose you one. You say you are glad the Tories got in—so am I. Yours very truly, J. P. Whitney."

Immigration Officials Withdrawn.

Windsor, Ont., March 8.—As a result of complaints being lodged with the city council regarding the overbearing manner of the United States immigration officials stationed at the Windsor ferry dock, Commissioner Frick of Detroit, Sunday, withdrew his men from Canadian soil. For the past few years these men have worked on the Canadian side of the river by courtesy of the Canadian Government.

Spend Too Much on Sport.

Ottawa, March 8.—"While $5 is the amount the Ottawa Presbytery suggested each congregation should give towards supporting Jewish missions, men in Ottawa can give $5 for a single ticket to see a hockey match that lasts only a few hours," said Rev. J. H. W. Milne, in addressing his congregation at the Glebe Presbyterian Church here.

Queen's Professor to Go West.

Kingston, March 8.—Weyburn, Sask., High School held out good inducements to Prof. John Marshall, assistant professor of English at Queen's University, to assume the principalship, and it is understood he has accepted.

He once taught at St. Thomas High School.

Body Cut In Two.

Gananoque, March 8.—The frozen remains of a young man unknown was found in the G. T. R. tracks between Thousand Island Junction and Mallorytown yesterday, completely cut in two.

Anti-Profanity Club for Railwaymen.

Kingston, March 8.—R. S. Logan, assistant to the second vice-president of the Grand Trunk Railway, has written George Baskin, who had entered a complaint, that he agrees that there is entirely too much bad language used, and especially about railway premises, and that an anti-profanity organization might be of some assistance in limiting the habit.

POST CARD COLUMN.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

In answer to an Englishman and A. S. A. Vt's letters of the 5th inst. Childish or not I still maintain that the battle mentioned was not won by Canadians. Can oyu contradict it? You must be quite sore to call the subject childish and saying I ought to have better sense, and fancy you calling me Old Sweet. I'm just beginning to wonder if your number is dry yet. I am, yours truly,

S. A. V.

P'boro, 7-3-10.

Peterborough, arch 7th,

Dear Sir,—One day a man jumped off a dock in one of the large cities and was trying to commit suicide. A policeman saw him and protested, and covering him with his revolver called to him to get to shore as quickly as he could or he would blow his brains out, and gave him to understand that he would not commit suicide around here if he could hinder it.

Those people in our churches who can see no difference between the House of God and a restaurant, between the sanctuary and a common play house are committing spiritual suicide, and they will not be allowed to do so around here if I can hinder it. Hence the loud protest, and hold up metaphorically speaking. From yours, JNO. CARLISLE.

Was Weak and Nervous.

Heart Would Stop Beating.

Mr. Paul Poulin, Cascapedia, Que., writes:—"About five years ago I gave up all hope of getting better of heart trouble. I would nearly choke, and then my heart would stop beating. I could not lie on my left side, and became so nervous and weak I could not work. A friend told me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and before the first box was taken I was almost well, and the second box completed the cure. I have advised many others to try them, and they have all been cured of the same trouble. I have offered to pay for a box for anybody they do not cure."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a specific for all diseases or disorders arising from the heart or nerve system. They make the weak heart strong and the shaky nerves firm by imparting a strengthening and restorative influence to every organ and tissue of the body and curing palpitation of the heart, dizziness, sleeplessness, anaemia, twitching of the muscles, sensation of "pins and needles," general debility, lack of vitality, etc.

Price, 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co. Limited, Toronto, Ont.

REV. E. A. PEARSON AT ALL SAINTS

The Rev. E. A. Pearson gave a most interesting lecture on his trip through Italy to a large number of the All Saints' Young People last night. He illustrated his lecture by a large number of beautiful slides, thrown on the screen by Mr. H. O. Fisk. The audience accompanied Mr. Pearson through Pisa, Milan, Florence, enice and Rome, seeing the remains of ancient history and the glory of ecclesiastical history, which centres so largely in Italy. Hearty votes of thanks were given to Mr. Pearson and to Mr. Fisk.

The lecture was followed by an interesting programme.

TO INLAND AUSTRALIA FOR YOUR HEALTH

ROUND TRIP ONLY $1.00

If you are a catarrh, asthma, or hay fever sufferer, what would you say if the above offer was made to you?

How would you like to go to the mountainous forest of pine and eucalyptus, where catarrh and asthma do not exist? Where people do not have to hawk every morning, to spit out the lump of disgusting mucus? Where the healing, antiseptic balsams purify the air and kill the germs?

You can't go to this ideal spot, of course. You haven't time, and possibly not money. But you can, for $1. bring the healing balsamic air from these forests right to your home; you can kill the germs of catarrh at home, without losing a minute's time.

Ask Wm. Madill about Hyomei, the Australian dry air cure. Get an outfit, which includes inhaler, for $1., breathe the same air that you would find in Australia, and if it does not heal the raw membrane and cure your catarrh, snuffles, cough, cold or asthma, you can have your money back.

MI-O-NA Cures Dyspepsia.

Your money back if it don't. Gives immediate relief from heartburn, sour stomach, stomach distress and sick headache. 50 cents a large box at

BY-LAW TO BORROW MONEY TO BUILD POWER HOUSE

Will be Submitted to Ratepayers for Their Approval on April 19th —Regular Meeting of the City Council Last Evening.

BUSINESS TRANSACTED

The regular meeting of the City Council was held last evening, Mayor Morrow being in the chair, and all the members being present, with the exception of Ald. Graham. Among other matters decided upon was the submission of a by-law to the people to provide for borrowing $70,000 to develop electric power at the waterworks, the debentures to be for twenty years and to bear four and a quarter per cent. interest with a sinking fund based on four per cent. Tuesday, April 19th, was the day chosen for the by-law to be submitted to the ratepayers. The Council also instructed the Property Committee to advertise for tenders for the market tolls and charges for the year, beginning April 1st, next.

Communications.

Mr. W. Wrigley, secretary of the Ontario Retail Hardware and Stove Dealers' Association, wrote the Mayor asking what inducements the City Council might offer in order that the annual convention of the association might be held in Peterborough next year. About 600 hardware merchants, jobbers and manufacturers attended the recent convention in London. For the convention the Association would require a meeting hall, capable of seating 250 to 300 persons, and armouries or exhibition hall in which a trade exhibition could be held. The exhibition at London required over 5,000 square feet, and a larger place will be required next year. — Legal and Reception Committee.

The following statement of tax roll was submitted by Tax Collector Green:

To total am't. on roll, '09..$182,029.12
By total am't. deposited.. 172,320.48

Less 20 per cent. discount on first payment..... 2,652.59

Balance .....$ 7,074.05
Amount taken in February and deposited .....$ 3,156.90

The above statement was received.

An invitation to attend the second annual convention and exhibition of the Canadian Cement and Concrete Association, to be held in London, March 29, 30 and 31, and April 1st, was received.

A communication from a Stewart street resident, complaining of the dog nuisance was referred to the Legal Committee.

Messrs. Ruddy and Burnham, barristers, on behalf of Mr. S. Edwards, wrote, claiming $52 damages, done to Mr. Edwards' property on London St. by a stoppage in the main sewer.—Referred to Board of Works.

The notice regarding the closing of Quaker St. was read by City Clerk Armstrong.

Deputations Heard.

A deputation from Aylmer street, south, was heard. One of the number asked if anything was going to be done in opening up the street and that if a sidewalk would be built soon. His Worship, the Mayor, informed the residents from Aylmer street, south, that the matter would be attended to in the very near future.

A couple of residents from Albert street were at the Council meeting last night. Messrs. Skuce and McDonald, the two men present, stated that there were fully four inches of water on the north side. Last year, they said, with the exception of one month, the water was quite deep on the sidewalk.

Ald. Duffus moved, seconded by Ald. Duncan, that the street commissioners make a report on the conditions of the streets in several places where they have been reported with water on them.

Finance Report.

To the Council of the City of Peterborough.

Gentlemen,—Your Finance Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1.—That the City Treasurer write the Peterborough Radial Railway Company that if the arrears of taxes are not paid the land will be sold in due course of law.

2.—That $1,000 be paid to the Central Charity Board to cover their overdraft, and that they be paid their $2,800 for current expenses in monthly instalments.

3.—That no action be taken on the account of Dr. Young for $400 for services as Medical Health Officer during the time of the smallpox epidemic.

That a grant of $150 be made to the Salvation Army Band on the same terms as last year.

That the arrangement made with the Bank of Toronto in 1908 to carry the city's accounts, the bank to allow the city on all credit balances 3¼%, and to charge the city 4¾% on debit balances up to the amount of the combined credit balances, and 5 per cent. on all debit balances in excess of the combined credit balances be renewed for 1910.

That a grant of $550 be made to the Peterborough Horticultural Society on the same terms as last year.
